STATE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE VOTES AGAINST PRIMARY

Decides On Convention In May; Action Seen As Victory For Coolidge.

Alabama Republicans will not enter the Alabama presidential primary, it was decided here Saturday at a meeting of the state Republican executive committee, but will elect delegates in state convention Tuesday, May 20, 1924. This, it was said, is a victory for the forces supporting President Coolidge.

The vote came on a motion by C. B. Kennamer, United States district attorney, of the Northern District, of Birmingham, as a substitute to one by Judge C. R. Lunsford, of Marion, to go into the primary and to so notify the national committee. The vote on Kennamer's motion was 37 to 2.

Despite this, however, Lunsford made a determined fight, charging that the entire committee had been hand-picked and that it did not represent the sentiment of Alabama Republicans.

Lunsford, on the other hand, was pictured as an adherent of Pope M. Long, of Cordova, who heads the Long-Aubrey Thomas wing of Alabama Republicans as opposed to the O. D. Street faction, with which Kennamer is affiliated, and as "betrayers of their party and pie hunters."

"You are the Judases and the pie hunters and the pie eaters," Lunsford replied, launching into a long tirade against the Street faction, which quickly assumed the proportions of a running debate, with the Marion judge in the midst of pandemonium fighting brilliantly, though losing.

The state executive committee was called to meet the day before the state convention, also in Birmingham. It was also decided that one delegate would be elected for each 200 voters, with four alternates, except where a bona fide Republican organization exists, in which sections the voters themselves will select their own delegates.

Lunsford, representing the Long-Thomas faction, is held to be a backer of Hiram Johnson, while the Street branch all along has been considered for Coolidge.

The Long-Thomas wing of the party in Alabama at a conference here several days ago selected W. L. Chenault, of Russellville, as a candidate for the Republican party in this state. At that conference a statement was issuel criticizing the wing of the party under alleged control of Oliver D. Street, national committeemen from Alabama. After Chenault had been selected by the so-called anti-Street faction of the party, spokesmen for the conference said unofficially that Senator Hiram Johnson was expected to come here shortly to make several addresses in this and adjoining states. The inference was drawn that Chenault might support Johnson. Mr. Chenault and other leading Republicans were holding an executive conference at Montgomery Saturday and it was announced they would have something to give out later.

COOLIDGE INTENDS TO OFFER NO FIGHT HERE IN ALABAMA

Hiram Johnson Will Have Republican Primary To Himself in Alabama.

Washington, Dec. 29.—President Coolidge does not intend to compete in the Alabama primaries against Senator Hiram Johnson, his only avowed opponent for the Republican nomination next June.

Announcement to this effect by the president's frends here Staurday followed swiftly on the heels of Senator Johnson's decision of Friday that he would enter the primaries of Alabama, and it occasioned considerable surprise in political quarters in view of the well-understood policy of the Coolidge managers to contest for delegates in all states.

The reason for the Coolidge announcement, however, was not long in forthcoming.

Law Bars Coolidge.

It has been discovered by the president's friends that under the intricacies of the Alabama primary law, he could not enter the primary there as a candidate in his own name.

And it was also discovered that the Republican National Committee, at its meeting here a few weeks ago, had thoughtfully provided for just such a contingency by adopting a resolution to the effect that those states where the law could not be complied with the committee will seat only those delegates at Cleveland next June that are chosen in state and district conventions.

Thus it would avail the Coolidge managers nothing to compete in the primary by proxy, for delegates so chosen would not be seated under the committee's own resolution. The same, of course, applies to any Johnson delegates that might be elected.

Whether Senator Johnson will also withdraw from the Alabama primary, in view of these developments, was not decided Saturday night. Senator Johnson said he did not know, and would not decide until his representatives, who are now in Alabama studying the situation, report to him.

The Alabama primary law is one of the most peculiar extent, ranking second in this respect only to that of South Dakota.

The Alabama Legislature some months ago passed a law that only a citizen and resident of Alabama can be a candidate for the presidential nomination, and that the man receiving the preference shall select the delegates to the national convention. The law was sponsored by friends of Senator Oscar Underwood, Alabama's favorite son, for the Democratic nomination.

Under this law, a candidate of alien residence would have to enter by proxy, i. e. designate some resident of Alabama, to run for him with the understanding that if given Republican preference he would throw the delegates to the support of the particular candidate for whom he was running.

Sagaciously facing this situation, administration supporters in the national committee here earlier in the month put through a resolution which said in part:

"That in selecting delegates and alternates to the national convention, no state law shall be observed which hinders, abridges, or denies to any citizen of the United States eligible under the constitution to the office of president or vice-president, the right or privilege of being a candidate under such state law for nomination for president or vice president; or which authorizes the election of a number of delegates and alternates from any state to the national convention different from that fixed in this call."

Further on it was stated that in states where the state law could not be observed by the committee, as in Alabama, delegates could be chosen by state and district conventions.

There was evident Saturday night in Johnson headquarters some ill feeling over these developments, for even Johnson managers concede that President Coolidge's friends and supporters will dominate any district or state conventions in many of the states of the so-called solid south.

Republican organizations in most of the southern states are at best but skeleton organizations, subsisting largely on administration patronage and thus an administration in power usually controls the situation.

The resentment by the Johnson managers was based, however, principally upon action of the national committee in voting to seat only Alabama delegates chosen in conventions. —Birmingham News.

Disfranchisement In The "Solid South"

By J. B. Gordon

Alabama recently enacted a law which prohibits any American citizen eligible for the Presidency from seeking support in Alabama unless he be a citizen of that state.

Alabama's action is the logical outgrowth of the system of disfranchisement of American citizens which prevails in every state of the Democratic "Solid South," in violation of the United States Constitution and in defiance of the principles of representative government. This constitutes the most malignant cancer upon the American body politic today.

It began shortly after the southern states were re-admitted into the Union upon their promise to observe and obey the American Constitution by their disfranchising the negro in defiance of the 14th and 15th amendments. This action was denounced by the Republican party. The right of the emancipated negro to the ballot was upheld by the Republican party. The South then proceeded to disfranchise white Republicans in southern states.

Now the malignant forces which it turned loose threaten to turn upon the Democratic party itself. Having used the weapon of disfranchisement so successfully upon southern Republicans, both black and white, Alabama Democrats now employ it to bludgeon northern Democratic aspirants for the presidential nomination.

Were the evils of this southern practice of disfranchisement confined to the southern states and visited only upon the heads of the Democratic party, the rest of the country would not be necessarily concerned, but such is not the case.

The South claims and obtains representation in the United States House of Representatives on the basis of its negro and white Republican population. But having used these for the basis of obtaining seats in the House of Representatives, southern Democracy proceeds to refuse its negro and its white Republican citizens the right to go to the polls and vote for representatives in Congress. Eighty members of the House of Representatives from the "Solid South" are holding their seats because by "shot-gun" policy and by dishonest and fraudulent elections the exercise of citizenship of a majority of their communities is prohibited. It is a plain statement of a disreputable fact that there has not been an honest, free election in the solid Democratic South for a quarter of a century.

But the evil extends higher and further. A state's vote in the electoral college is based upon its representation in both branches of Congress. The "Solid South" casts 114 electoral votes in every presidential election. Everybody knows that these votes are sure to be cast for the Democratic nominee regardless of who he is or for what he stands. Everybody knows this is true because honest elections and the free exercise of the franchise is impossible in any of the "Solid South" states.

The Republican party starts into every presidential campaign with a handicap of 114 votes to overcome before it can "begin even" with the Democratic party in a contest for the Presidency. There are certain states in the North which are battlegrounds every presidential campaign. If the Republicans, after an intensive fight, succeed in carrying New York, Indiana, New Jersey, Ohio, Nebraska and West Virginia they have succeeded merely in carrying enough states to balance the 114 electoral votes from the "Solid South" and they must then go out and beat the Democratic party in the remaining northern states.

Or, to put it another way: Democratic disfranchisement of Republican voters gives to the "Solid South" in every presidential election, without any contest whatever, a sufficient number of electoral votes to wipe out the electoral votes of the Republican states of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maine, Illinois, Iowa and Kansas.

The Democratic "Solid South" attempts to justify its defiance of the Constitution, its disfranchisement of American citizens, its undermining of representative government, its pollution of elections, upon the ground that its action is necessary in order to have a "white man's government." If that be true then it should be limited in its representation in the House of Representatives and in the electoral college to the number of white men in the South who govern. That would give the South a "white man's government" in exact proportion to the white man's government in the rest of the country.—National Republican.

Details Of The Fight In Probate Office Is Fully And Truly Explained.

Editor Union-Banner:

I am sorry it is necessary for me to write an explanation of the difficulty which occurred in my office a few days ago, and if Mr. Hand had not said that I took undue advantage of him and struck him from the rear I would not have had any thing to say.

The facts are that Mr. Hand and G. C. Walker came into my office and asked for the poll tax books. We three went to the commissioners' court room to get them. Mr. Hand and Mr. Walker each picked up a book and Mr. Walker asked me if they could not work in the commissioners' court room. I stated to them that I was doing the same kind of work they were and that I had to wait on the office and was compelled to have some private place for my papers and I said besides if I left Mr. Hand in the office he would insult the lady clerks in my absence. Mr. Hand in a very bold manner asked "What ladies?" Mr. Walker at this point picked up his book and walked out. I replied to Mr. Hand that he knew how he had insulted the clerks in my office while I was out of town and I further said to him, "You have repeatedly slandered me and you told Mr. Tom Hubbard and others that you would be glad to hire a car and bring them to Clanton and show them that you would tell me to my face that I was a thief, and that you were after that thieving Reynolds bunch." Mr. Hand in a very bold manner said, "I can," and then I slapped him and about the second slap he went down with me on top of him, and in a moment Mr. Sam Pate, Dewey Rockett and Jim Grant came in the office and separated us. Mr. Hand is mistaken in saying that I took advantage of him for we talked some few minutes face to face and the slap I hit him was from the front.

In this same piece I am publishing affidavits of Mr. T. J. Hubbard, W. H. Conway, J. A. Rogers and Mr. J. L. Gore, concerning the way Tom Hand has been slandering me. There is also published the statement of Miss Burnett in regard to the manner of Mr. Hand and Mr. Pickens, and I ask, is there a single respectable person in this county who would not have resented such insults? The worst criticism I have heard was that Mr. Hand came out too easy.

Sometime before this difficulty I had heard that Mr. Hand was talking about me slanderously, saying that I had destroyed many of Rev. Messer's votes, had changed records here in the office and many other untruthful things. I asked him about it one day and he said it was not true and said that he was my best friend and that there was a crowd here trying to worry me to death. He further stated that Dr. Johnson had told him that I had diabetes and would not live this term out, and Mr. Hand told me not to let them worry me but to go out to Mineral Springs and stay there and forget all about this matter. He said I got Rev. Burns and Crysell to go there and they both got better and if they had remained

MUSGROVE ENTERS STATE PRIMARY TO FIGHT UNDERWOOD

Formally Files Declaration of Candidacy; Says He Will Beat Senator Underwood.

Flying the banner of prohibition, the presidential boom for L. Breckenridge Musgrove, of Jasper, was formally inaugurated in Alabama late Saturday afternoon, when declarations were filed with R. B. Evins, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, in Birmingham, and S. J. Blan, secretary of state of Alabama, in Montgomery.

Mr. Musgrove's hat was tossed into the ring after a day of conferences, in which it was reported that William Jennings Bryan, defeated presidential candidate of the past, was behind the Musgrove campaign and would bring his forthcoming fact directly before the American people.

Mr. Musgrove filed his declarations late Saturday afternoon, after which he notified newspaper men of his intentions of not only "capturing" Alabama's delegation, but also of entering campaigns in other states of the union where there is a "wet" candidate.

Although Mr. Musgrove's prospective candidacy for the nation's highest office had been anticipated for several months, not until Saturday was it indicated that the Walker county man was seriously considering extending his campaign beyond the boundary lines of Alabama, as heretofore it was believed that Musgrove was actuated by unfriendliness to the Underwood cause in participating in the state primary as a presidential canddiate.

Mr. Musgrove was positive in his determination that he will capture Alabama's votes in the forthcoming national convention of the Democratic convention.

"Of course I will defeat Underwood," he said. "Four years ago I did so, but was 'outcounted' by a small majority. At that time, it will be recalled, there were two bona fide prohibition candidates in the field; namely, Judge Weakley and myself, even then, I know that the majority of votes were cast for me."

Mr. Musgrove was positive in his declaration that he had lost in the last senatorial campaign by alleged underhand methods.

'Everyone knows that, even if I was not to enter the race against Senator Underwood for president, there would be, somewhere in this state of ours, a strong, united opposition to his candidacy," Mr. Musgrove added with some emphasis.

"I am dry and Underwood is wet," he continued. "But recently, in Senator Underwood's declaration before the Alabama legislature he says in reference to prohibition, that he "believes in enforcing the law.' He did not say that he is for prohibition, however, and if he does not believe in enforcing the law, he would be incompetent to hold office of any kind."

REYNOLDS TO BE TRIED

Next Saturday has been set as the date for the trial of Judge L. H. Reynolds for the alleged attack on Mr. Tom Hand in the probate's office a few weeks ago. The case will be tried in the Mayor's court of the town of Clanton. We have not learned where it will be tried but we suppose it will be either in the court house or in the office of Mr. J. B. Atkinson.

there he honestly believed they would be living today.

I accepted Mr. Hand's statement as being sincere and dropped the matter until I was told how he was continuing to talk about me. It was more than any reasonable man could have stood and I often wonder that if it had been some one other than me, Mr. Hand would have come out worse than he did.

It seems that I have enough for one man to bear, as there is a special crowd, who for years have made it their special business to sander me in my business, politics and all other undertakings. If some of them around Clanton were up for vagrancy, the only business they could offer in defense of the suit would be that of slandering me.

I would just like for the public to ponder for one moment as to what has happened to a large portion of the crowd that took it upon themselves a few years ago to show to the world what I was. May I ask if the search light of truth had been turned on some of their lives like it was on mine, they would have withered like a plucked daisy under the noon day sun.

When there is a chance to start something on me the gang a gets together, send out the wise men to get up affidavits, false or otherwise, some to do one thing and some another; but the main purpose being at all times to ruin me if possible. But how different! If something starts on one of their upper set, they all get together to fix it up. It has been teachers, preachers, policemen and many others. It makes no difference, the matter is "whitewashed."

I could write probably volumes upon the way I have been slandered, intimadited, threatened, blackmailed and a thousand other ways mainly to make me quit the Republican party. It was realiably reported to me that one of the highest officials in the Democratic party has said that if I did not resign I would be put in the penitentiary. Another prominent merchant has said that they had two hundred Democrats and two hundred Republicans in the county who were after me and would not stop until they got me one way or the other. I want to make one thing plain, however, that I am not going to quit the job and run off. The people, by their vote, have put me in this office and I will stay here until the highest court in the land says I must get out.

I say here to Mr. Hand or any other man that it is cowardly for a man to talk to another to his back and in his absence, and such conduct as that I think should be rectified.

If the people of this county will recall, I have had every possible scheme worked upon me that the diabolical mind of man could devise. It was some of the same crowd who, a few years ago, had my home searched in my absence with only my wife and sick daughter at home. It is the same crowd who are not man enough to meet me face to face but must take advantage of me to my back or in my absence. To show you the method, a lawyer of Clanton, Mr. Gerald, at the close of a law suit at Maplesville recently, when my name had not been mentioned, proceeded to say the bases and vilest things about me which was so bad that a Democrat took it up and told Mr. Gerald to his face that he looked on him as being a bigger crook than I was. Mr. Gerald thanked him, got in his car and rode away. This Democrat is ready, in fact anxious, to go with me to Mr. erald and face him in what he said.

To give you a further idea the leaders in the contest case against me are not willing that our regular circuit judge try the case and have gone to another circuit jdge in the state and tried to have him prejudiced against me and to have him prejudice the case, hoping that he will be appointed as special judge to try the case.

I had overlooked one matter, that is what Mr. Hand said about Dr. Johnson binding up his wounds. I never saw one drop of blood. The Chilton County News said the doctor had ordered Mr. Hand to go to bed. I think though if you will inquire from the people at Jemison, you will find that Mr. Hand has hardly missed a day off the streets of Jemison since the trouble occurred.

Mr. J. F. Thompson mentioned my name in his letter and he made a correct statement about what I said. The two lady clerks told me that Mr. Thompson was courteous to them, and in the same conversation I told Mr. Thompson that he was an intelligent man and he could form and opinion of men with whom he associated and that he would be held responsible by the public for those associated with him, and he said it would not occur again.

I want to say that Mr. Heard, Walker and Curry have always been nice and courteous in my office and I believe they will say that I have accorded them the same courtesy.

As those present, I will state that neither of my sons, Grady nor Omar, were present at the difficulty and did not arrive until it was over. Sheriff Littlejohn was not there and I did not see him for some time after it was over, neither was Mr. J. Z. Mims present. Mr. Hand did not ask for protection in my presence. In fact he asked no one for protection. As I have stated the first parties there were Dewey Rockett, Sam Pate and Jim Grant.

Mr. Hand seems to try to excite sympathy but I think when a man gets into a man's play he should be able to assume a man's role. I am also four years older than Mr. Hand and it is not my intention to misstate the facts.

This matter will be tried in the city court next Saturday, Jan. 5th, and I wish every man and woman in the county would come and hear the case. It is my intention to introduce the whole truth, in order that the public might form their honest opinion.

Mr. Hand and Mr. Pickens came into the Probate office and asked for the poll tax books, Mr. Culp and I carried the books from the Commissioners' Court room into the vault, and as I turned to go back to my office, Mr. Hand asked me to wait a minute and said he wanted to show me the poll list that we had given to them, he said it was the bigest mess he had ever seen. He said that you all say that Mrs. Pearl Atchison's name and ..ot only her name but about a half dozen other names were on that list twice and he called over several names, and said that they did not vote twice but it was my copying. I told him I did not copy the poll list and before I could tell him who did copy it Mr. Pickens said: "no, I don't think she did but the other girl in the office did." Mr. Hand said it makes no difference who copied it, it is wrong and they did not vote twice to my knowing.

Mr. Pickens then asked for Judge Reynolds, I told him that he was out of town and he said he will be out all day, will he? Mr. Pickens said that I cannot understand about the other poll list he gave me but guess its some more of Judge Reynolds' copying and Mr. Pickens said I guess there is no use in getting mad at you about this, Judge Reynolds is the man we want to see. The manner in which they spoke to me was very abrupt and ungentlemanly. I then went across the street to Mr. Omar Reynolds' office and told him what was said and the manner in which they spoke to me. He then came over to the office and went into the vault where Mr. Hand and Mr. Pickens were. After Mr. Reynolds left I heard Mr. Hand say to Mr. J. L. Gore that Judge Reynolds and all the other side were crooked.

State of Alabama, Chilton County:

Personally appeared before me, A. A. Conway, a Notary Public in and for said county in said state, T. J. Hubbard, who benig by me first duly sworn deposes on oath and testifies as follows:

I was present on the streets of Jemison, and in the presence of Tom Hand when he made the following statement, that Judge Reynolds was a crook, and that he would go down in a car and take me with him and tell Judge Reynolds that was a crook and that he, Tom Hand, was after that Reynolds thieving bunch.

Shortly after this I communicated this to Judge Reynolds, which was before the trouble between Judge Reynolds and Tom Hand in the court house at Clanton during this month.

T. J. HUBBARD.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this hte 31st day of December, 1923.

A. A. CONWAY, Notary Public.

Statement of Omar Reynolds.

On Friday, December 14th the janitor from the court house came to my office about 8:30 o'clock in the morning and told me that Miss Delene Burnett, the clerk in the Probate office wished to see me. I immediately went to the Probate office, and she informed me that J. J. Pickens, Tom Hand and J. F. Thompson were in the vault and had asked to see the tax books. Miss Burnett also told me that the men had told her in substance that the poll list was wrong and that Mrs. Hance Alred's name and Mrs. Pearl Atchison's name and some other names were not on the list twice. Miss Burnett seemed very much excited and I then went into the vault where Tom Hand, J. J. Pickens and Fritz Thompson were. I stated to the three gentlemen that I had supervised the making of this list and that the names mentioned were on the list twice and that there were four names that the election managers of Beat 4 had writen down that we could not read. Mr. Pickens then stated to me that "That's all right, and we believe what you say about it." I then stated to the gentlemen that if they desired any further information in regrad to the books or otherwise in the Probate office to do their talking with me and not with Miss Burnett.

After assisting them a few minutes with the books I left the vault and went back to my office. Miss Burnett then came to my office. Apparently she was very much excited and I asked her to tell me what the men had said to her. She did so. Judge Reynolds being in Washington at this time and no one being in the office but the two ladies, I felt under the circumstances that I should help them to manage the office. I had a conversation with with Mr. Tom Rockett and Mr. J. Osmond Middleton and Mr. John L. Gore, and it was decided for protection to ourselves that in the absence of Judge Reynolds we should have a man in the office, and Mr. Gore said he would stay. Mr. Rockett and I then went back to the vault where we found J. F. Thompson, Tom Hand, G. C. Walker and H. M. Simpson. I stated to the gentlemen that the books were at their liberty, but that we should keep a man in the vault. Mr. Thompson then stated to me that it would be perfectly alright. I stated to the gentlemen that we did not doubt their honesty and in fact stated to Mr. Thompson that we had respect for him but that there was a man among the crowd whom we could not trust, and stated that it was Mr. Tom Hand. I then stated that it had been reported to us that Mr. Hand had carried things out of the office, and that we could not trust him. At this Mr. Hand seemed to become very much excited and stated that he did have an eraser and would produce it in court at the proper time. I then stated to the gentlemen that we were glad to give them the liberties of the office as the law allowed but that we would expect that they likewise offer themselves in a presentable and gentlemanly manner and then referred to the way in which Miss Burnett had told me they insulted her. I then stated to Mr. Thompson that the young lady did not say his conversation or demeanor was insulting but that she referred to Mr. Hand and Pickens. I then stated to

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church Society will be held at the church Wednesday evening, Jan. 9th, preceded by a dinner tendered by The Ladies Aid Society to all members of the Church and Sunday school or other organization affiliated with the church, together with all who consider this to be their church home. This dinner will be served promptly at 6 o'clock, P. M., and followed after a social hour by the business meeting.

In a talk with Mr. Goodgame, manager of Thorsby Warehouse and Gin Company, to which the Thorsby Electric Light plant has recently been sold, we learn that the machinery is to be moved on Thursday of this week to its new location, at the Warehouse company plant, and will probably be out of commission for two days and nights. When started again it will be under improved conditions which will provide better lights and more hour service, running at night until 10:30 regularly, and later when occasion requires, starting again about 4 o'clock A. M., and running as long as light is needed by a majority of patrons.

We hope that the extensive preparations Mr. Wade is making to transform his store building into a Moving Picture Theatre, are drawing near completion and have a substantial character that looks as if he intends it to be permanent. It is hoped that he will be wise enough in the selection of subjects displayed to meet the approval of a people who are sensitive about having anything in the nature of "shady" pictures presented, but will heartily welcome first class Photo-plays that are entertaining and instructive. Mr. Wade is not ready just yet to definitely announce his opening.

Now that we are starting on a new year let us all pull together to make Thorsby a better place than ever in which to live. First let us have a clean town, morally and physically. This is distinctly the duty of our Town Council, who seem to think their chief concern is to assess and collect taxes and then spend the money. There is law and ordinance enough, if enforced, and only the duly constituted officers of the town have authority in this matter, to prevent sweeping dirt and papers into the street, an early walk along our sidewalks will find several industriously doing this very thing. Next there are some who seem to think that our sidewalks, or so much of them as they desire to occupy, belongs to them. A proper enforcement of our ordinances would soon convince them that others have some rights which they are bound to respect. On almost any Saturday afternoon there are spots on our sidewalks which both for filth from spitting and from the crowd assembled, just standing around, make it to say the least, very unpleasant for a lady to try to navigate these shoals, where it should be fair sailing. The ladies have rights in this matter and frequently have need to use their streets. Another thing that will make a more attractive town would be to have the merchants give more attention to making attractive display in their windows. There are a few examples worthy of emulation, but most of them are not. Make your windows pictures.

WEST CHILTON

Happy New Year.

The holidays have passed and everything is about normal again.

On Christmas day the sun shone brightly and a truck load from here at an early hour was on the way to Centerville to one of Bibb county's annual Christian Harmony singings. Arriving on time we found the singers in full swing with Prof. Thompson chairman. It was the best Christian Harmony singing we ever attended. The singers seemed so much in earnest and so reverential toward the service. One half or two-thirds of the class were girls, boys, and young men.

One of their boys, Arthur Deason, is the finest boy director we ever heard in the Harmony music. He is wonderful. The center of the attraction for the day was the directing by little Etoile Palmer, probably not ever ten years old. She had the appearance of those beautiful large dolls we see on the market, yet her directing was equal to professional leaders. Dinner was all that could be desired.

Among the visitors we noted our friend J. A. Deason of Childersburg. The singers in Chilton remember him.

En-route we had the pleasure of meeting our old friend Dock Smitherman. He is very well known in Chilton. Also Robert Fleming, an old Chilton boy, now one of Birmingham's business men.

Those composing our company were Z. J. Jones and part of family, S. J. Smith and part of family, J. D. Hodgens and family, L. F. Martin, Mrs. Tempie Crumpton, L. D. Atchison, driver, H. T. Hodgens and family.

Returning we reached Randolph, then the truck absolutely refused to go farther, but kind friends were present to assist us to our destination. So while "Fair Luna" flooded the landscape with her mellow light we came in a tired, but happy crowd.

Died on Dec. 8.—Rev. J. E. Champion, a good man is gone.

Mr. Joe Thrash and Miss Nelle Waldrop were recently married and have gone to Herrin, Ill.

L. D. Atchison spent the week-end at Childersburg.

S. N. Waldrop came down from Quinton for the holidays.

Mrs. Belle Smith visited C. C. Atchison's family last week.

Several of the boys from Quinton came home for the holidays.

J. T. and Oscar Waldrop of Herrin, Ill., visited the home folks last week.

With hope we begin the New Year, ignorant of what it will bring us. "But far down the far vista blythe New Year we see,
The dawn of the beautiful sabbath to be."

We wish the Union-Banner (the best county paper we ever saw) a Happy New Year. Long may it waive.

No man has ever yet risen to dispute the proposition that the only sure way to reduce taxes is to repeal the tax. An attempt at shifting is always a deception.

The Mellon plan for tax reduction is far more important than would be indicated by the saving of some $325,000,000. It would set an example to the states and municipalities which they could not fail to follow.

Since the present rulers of Russia refuse to recognize the binding obligation of contracts made by the previous rulers, we wonder why they do not repudiate the sale of Alaska to the United States and claim re-possession.

We are publishing this week an ordinance for the Town of Clanton which has for its object the regulation of dogs running at large in town. We wish to commend the Town Council for this act. So many useless dogs running all over town is not only dangerous but is a menace as well, and especially is this true during the season of mad dogs.

We are forced to wonder what has become of that organization in Clanton called the Ku Klux Klan that was going to stand squarely behind the enforcement of law and order. From recent developments it seems that the worthy intention of that organization has slightly miscarried around Clanton. We have had a mighty good opinion of the local klan, but if it is going to tolerate such minipulations as this, we are not so sure about it.

The way that the political coterie of Clanton tries to smuggle dirty tricks of their own bunch is indeed amazing. If the clique here had their way about it, one of their bunch could commit the most heinous crime imaginable, they would cover it over and the next time they got a chance they would honor him with the highest office within their power. But let some lie get hatched out about a Republican and see what they do their best to make of it. They talk it at every opportunity, and every time one of them gets through with it it sounds ten times worse than it did at first.

THE COX KNIFE CUT

Mr. McAdoo need not worry very much over the announcement of the candidacy of Cox for the Democratic nomination for President. Of course that candidacy will cut into the McAdoo strength to a considerable degree, but the Cox strength is something that McAdoo could not get in any event. The friends of Mr. Cox have a very clear idea of the amount of McAdoo strength they did not get in their efforts to elect Cox in 1920. Retribution will be swift and sure.

SAFETY FIRST IN PHILIPPINES

The president of the Philippine-American Chamber of Commerce declares there is no danger of an insurreection in the Philippines, and that the better class of the natives and the business men of the islands do not want complete freedom. That is the view held by most Americans. The condition of the Filipinos will be infinitely better if they remain under the protection of the United States and if American capital is permitted to develop the resources of the island, free from the uncertainties of native rule.

LET SOVIET BE HONEST

Regardless of any specific facts that may be shown on some controverted points in the discussion concerning Russia, the American people will not lose sight of the fundamental fact that the present regime has refused to recognize the binding obligation of contracts honestly made and also refused to recognize the right of title to property honestly acquired. There can be no permanent social organization in any country where these fundamentals are ignored or rejected. Confiscation is a polite word for theft, but it does not deceive anyone of intelligence. The people of the United States want friendly relations with the people of Russia, but not under the leadership of men who refuse to uphold the first essestials of sond private and public business.

THINGS GETTING BALLED UP

Judging from the reports that are generally rife around here Clanton, from an official standpoint, is kindly getting its business muddled up. It seems that those in authority are trying to keep things kindly patched up, but in our way of looking at it, they are making a mighty poor out at it. No one wants to talk it much, but everybody is talking it just the same.

Some three weeks ago Messrs Jesse Baker and Roland Taylor suspicioned that someone was going into their store at night while they were away, so Deputy Harvey Foshee was asked to remain in the store one night and see what he could find out. Shority after midnight Mr. W. H. Kendrick, night police, entered at the front door of the building and came in right on top of the officer. Mr. Kendrick was placed under arrest by Mr. Foshee and carried to the Sheriff. Mr. Kendrick put up the plea to the officers that he was in the store to look after some things he had in the store.

Only a few months ago, Mr. Kendrick sold to Baker & Taylor his interest in this store, and it is said that Mr. Kendrick still kept some of his papers and probably a few other articles in the store. Mr. Kendrick was supposed to have turned over to Baker & Taylor his keys to the building, but somehow he still had one of the keys in his possession. Mr. Kendrick attempted to explain why he had the key and why he entered the building, but his explanation was not very satisfactory. However, the officers agreed to let him go until morning and that they would investigate the matter further. The next morning the owners of the store and the officers of the Town of Clanton were told about what happened.

The thing rocked along until Satday of last week, when Mr. Kendrick was tried in Mayor's court before Mr. J. B. Atkinson. We learn that Mr. Kendrick was turned loose and still remains in the employ of the town as night police.

Whether or not anything more is going to be done about the matter, we are unable to say, but from the action of the Mayor's court it seems to be settled.

Now, the question arises, can the Town of Clanton afford to let a thing like this go by without giving the matter a thorough thrashing out? It seems that the town has been attempting to keep the affair covered up and has tried to ooze out of it without hurting anyone's feelings. We will say frankly, that this kind of stuff cannot get anywhere very long. Just because everybody here likes Mr. Kendrick and because he stands high in several secret organizations is no reason why anything should be smuggled, and the dignity and honor of the town and its officials depends upon a thorough investigation and legal disposition of the whole thing. We for one say, let's have it thoroughly probed and disposed of according to law.

Also there is a report out on the head of Clanton's leading institution that is not exactly becoming to the high position which he occupies, and this report is pretty well founded too. Every effort in the power of the political ring of Clanton is being exerted to smother this report as they do all such things wherein some of their crowd is implicated; but here's hoping that the thing is investigated to the bottom and everything brought to light. If the man is innocent then stop the dirty report and if he is guilty let him suffer duly for it.

This way of covering dirty things up just because they are on deserving elects is not going to pass in Chilton County—not as long as The Union-Banner stays here. We are going to report the facts, let the result be as it may.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE TAX-CUT PLAN

It will be a sad day for the Senate Democrats if they accept the stand taken by their leaders on the Finance Committee. Senator Simmons declares himself against the major features of the Mellon tax reduction plan, and thereby sets himself squarely in opposition to the taxpayers of the United States who, almost as a unit, are behind the Mellon schedule of tax cuts. The party is headed for certain oblivion if it stands in the way of the greatest financial relief that has been offered to the nation in years. If Democrats assist the Republicans in writing the Mellon recommendations into law they are entitled to the credit for so doing, and the country will accord it. It is a time to put partisanship aside and vote for the common good. Democrats and Republicans alike pay Federal income taxes, and are engaged in business that suffers the handicaps of high assessments. The Mellon relief will be spread among them all, irrespective of party, and it ought to receive the approval of all legislators, irrespective of party.

FROM A FORMER RESIDENT OF CHILTON COUNTY

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 1, 1924.

Dear Editor:

In renewing my subscription for your valuable paper, wish to state that I consider this money well spent. Although it has been more than 30 years since I was a resident of your county, I can still boast of a good many friends and relatives in Clanton and vicinity and still take a lively interest in them as well as in the affairs of your town and county.

Respectfully
THILO FIERING.

THAT MISCHIEVOUS DRIVER AND THE ROCKY ROAD

MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT

It is hardly to be expected that, under normal conditions of training, army officers will be good business managers. The usual course of training for military service does not include business management. The chief purpose of military education is to prepare men for the organization, the drilling, the equipment, and the maneuvering of troops. The army officer must be so thoroughly trained in military tactics and strategy that his mind works quickly and accurately in grasping and solving a military problem. This is true not merely of military training but of every other science, art, profession or occupation.

Intensive training in any line necessarily means a considerable if not a complete neglect of other lines. Eminent doctors, lawyers, preachers and authors are frequently, if not usually, poor business managers. That is because their sccess in their own profession has been acquired by concentration of mind upon the one subject to the virtual exclusion of every other. The successful financier is often densely ignorant on most other sbjects. It is no disgrace to the members of one profession to be ignorant of the details of another.

An army officer, like a football player, must be so thoroughly familiar with every phase of his game that when a situation is suddenly and unexpectedly presented, his mind will grasp its full significance instantly and will dictate the course he should pursue without long delay in stdying cases and effects. The commanding officer must not only know how many soldiers he must send to meet an adversary, but he must know, without stopping to look up authorities on the sbject, how many men can be moved over a certain road in a limited amount of time, and how long it will take to move ammunition, food, ambulances, etc., to the same spot. When a man has filled his head with this sort of knowledge, he has probably done so to the neglect of most other subjects.

That explains why Secretary of War Weeks, upon the recommendation of assistant secretary Dwight W. Davis has recently thought it advisable to establish a school of business in the War Department. Army officers will be given courses of instruction in business methods and these men first instructed will form the teaching force for a regular school of business in the army. After they have completed their regular course of taining in military science they will be trained in business management so that they can the better and more efficiently conduct the business affairs of the military branch of the government. Not all army officers will be given this training but a suficifent number to conduct the more important business affairs of the army establishment.

THE PINT JAR METHOD HOT LUNCH

The public health nurse of Ramsey County, Minnesota, has a novel plan for serving hot lunches in the rural schools of her county which she calls "The Pint Jar Method Hot Lunch." Each child brings from home some particular kind of food in a tightly closed Mason pint jar. Upon reaching school the par is set on a rack in a clothes boiler. This boiler is partly filled with water and placed on a two-burner oil stove. At the morning recess the stove is lighted and by noon the contents of the jars are hot. Then monitors distribute the jars and the children supplement the warm dish with the cold food in their lunch baskets. Each child has his initials scratched on the cover of his jar in order to insure indentification. The nurse recommends the following kinds of foods for the jars: Cocoa, milk, soups, certain kinds of fruits and vegetables, macaronia, rice, creamed eggs, baked beans, and stewed meat. The equipment required consists of a two-burner oil stove, a clothes boiler, rack, and hot can lifter.

THE UNION - BANNER PLEASED WITH RESULT OF CLUB OFFER

The results obtained from the special club offer of three or more subscriptions for one dollar each, which we had on all during the month of December has been very gratifying indeed. Our friends all over the county, and several outside the county, have shown their interest in the paper and its cause by working hard in our behalf.

Newspapers very often put on subscription campaigns and give away automobiles, pianos, talking machines, etc., in which cases the subscribers themselves get no benefit from the money expended, as in such cases the full subscription price is charged and a high price has to be paid to a contest manager. But in our case we deemed it best to give all of our friends the benefit of the reduction instead of having someone from some big city take it away in the form of comission. And our many friends have taken advantage of this liberal offer.

From December 1st, 1923 through January 1st, 1924, we wrote a total of 274 receipts, about half of which was new subscribers. Last Monday was our record day, during which we took in 63 subscriptions. Saturday before was not bad with a total of 38. Since the paper was published last week we have written 143 receipts.

The Union-Banner is greatly indebted to its friends for this splendid result. The people show that they appreciate our efforts to give them a good newspaper, and they are doing all they can to help us. In return for these favors, we pledge ourselves to give you all we have got under our shirt. We are starting out on the New Year with the firm determination to make The Banner better than ever. So, again we thank each and every one.

EVERYBODY PAY YOUR POLL TAX

February 1st, 1924, is not long off, and Mr. Rockett says that people are paying their poll tax mighty slowly. Now, this is not only a privilege but a duty of every person who is otherwise eligible to vote. If you haven't enough interest in your government to want to vote, then you ought to have enough interest in your schools to pay $1.50 into that fund. So, we wish to urge everyone of voting age to look after this important matter. And it would be unwise for everybody to wait till the last few days, as a big rush would result. Don't put it off but go now and look after this matter.

UNION GROVE NEWS

Health of this place is fine at present. Everybody has been enjoying Christmas just fine.

Several from this place visited the singing at Thorsby Sunday and reported a nice time.

Miss Myrtle Dorminey of Birmingham has been spending the Holidays with home folks.

Misses Pearl Chandler, Mollie Vinzant and Edna Robinson and Mr. Bernie Chandler spent Friday in Maplesville with Miss Ethel Mize. Miss Mize returned home with them Friday night.

Messrs Bernie and Arthur Chandler and Misses Ethel Mize, Myrtle Dorminey, Leone Hall, Lurline Martin, Pearl Chandler and Miss Annice Davis spent Sunday with Miss Rebecca Dorminey.

There will be a New Year's service at this place next Sunday morning, the 6th. Sunday school at 9:30. Everybody that comes bring one cent for every year old you are. Everybody is invited to come and bring some one with you. We have a program for the morning. Don't forget to come next Sunday.

FAMILY REUNION

There was a family reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collum near Providence (Beat 13) on Thursday, December 27. Those present were Mrs. S. M. Collum, grand-mother of all the children, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collum; then the children were Mrs. Pete Gentry and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Collie Glass and two boys, M. and Mrs. J. W. Collum and four children, Mrs. J. N. Northcutt and five children, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Atkinson and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Cobb and two little girls, Mrs. Vollie Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Matthews and Irona and Frances Collum.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Mellard Martin of Pelham, who were visiting her grand-mother.

Although the gathering was a surprise to the family at home it was enjoyed by all and we regret that the other two sons-in-law were not there.

Mr. M. F. Lett of Route 3 was a caller at our office Monday. He left with us a fresh cotton bloom and a small peach which had just shedded off the blossom. Mr. Lett said that if the warm weather held out a little longer he thought he would be able to make two crops of cotton and peaches this season.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The giant five-stage electric pump, Company at Gadsden last May for which was purchased by the Alabama the purpose of pumping out the old Etowah mine, arrived Christmas day and will be installed as early as possible. The delay in delivery was due to the fact that the machine had to be built from special plans and specifications. The pump will be used to clear the water out of the mines, which were abandoned 10 or more years ago. When they are dry the Japanese corporation, which owns openings on the same ridge, will be able to work them. The Alabama Company expects the Etowah mines to supply all of its red ore requirements.

The Tuscaloosa county board of revenue has adopted a new road law to protect the roads, following rains, from being damaged by heavily loaded trucks and wagons. The new law became effective January 1. The law describes the maximum load that may be hauled over the roads of the county following rains amounting to one-tenth of an inch. Another provision of the law prescribes that drivers must not lock the wheels of their wagons when traveling down hill or travel in water ditches along the road. The maximum penalty of violating this law will be a fine of $500 or 90 days on the road, or both.

The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers as plaintiff in error has thrown the suit of J. W. Green, of Selma, pending for about five years, into the United States supreme court by petition for writ of error filed with the supreme court of Alabama. In this litigation Green sought damages from the brotherhood for his expulsion from the order and was awarded the sum of $12,500 by the final decision of the Alabama supreme court.

In the first two months of the present year a total of 150 prisoners who were sent to the Alabama penitentiary were convicted of violating the prohibition law. In the entire fiscal year 1922-23 a total of only 370 prisoners were sent to the penitentiary convicted of this offense. The above figures are from a summary for October and November, which has just been compiled and made public from the office of Roy L. Nolen, associate member of the state board.

Announcement has been made by Commissioner of Game and Fisheries I. T. Quinn, at Montgomery, of the appointment of game wardens for eight more counties, as follows: Shelby, T. E. Walton, Columbiana; Escambia, W. J. Godfrey, Brewton; Autauga, Leonard Carter, Autaugaville; Jackson, J. T. Wheeler, Scottsboro; Wilcox, C. D Thompson, Camden; Greene, W. A. Gordon, Eutaw; Geneva, W M. Rushing, Samson; Macon, B. F. Wells, Tuskegee.

Determined efforts to delevop the territory through which the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia Railroad operates are said to be indicated in the fact President C. E. James, of that road, has begun drilling for iron ore near Pigeon Mountain with the expectation of uncovering vast deposits. Should he succeed in locating them as experts predict that he will do it is understood that a blast furnace will be built somewhere near the property.

The Alabama public service commission has ordered a reduction in rates on gravel from Myrtlewood, Hazen, Orrville and Martin, on the Myrtlewood branch of the Louisville and Nashville to Linden. The reduction ranged from 7 to 13 cents per ton. The case which resulted in the lowering of the rate was a complaint from Salisbury & Co., who have a contract for building a road near Linden.

Birmingham is growng at a phenomenal clip and now has a population well in excess of 225,000, according to views expressed by city officials and other civic leaders. The federal census in 1920 gave the city a population of 178,806. The 1930 census, in the view of leading citizens, will find the city close to the 225,000 mark.

AARON—BIRDETT WEDDING

On last Sunday, at the home of Mrs. T. B. Hunt near Prattville, occurred the marriage of Mr. Willie Aaron of Cherokee Bluffs to Miss Jewel Birdett of Prattville.

Mr. Hunt is an employee of the Alabama Power Company, having worked at Mitchell Dam until a few months ago, when he was transferred to Cherokee. The young bride is the beautiful daughter of Mrs. Birdette of Prattville, Route 3, and formerly of Verbena.

For "Three Score Years And Ten" The L&N Has Served You

For seventy years, the L. & N. Railroad has served the people of the South.

Beginning in a humble way, this Railroad has grown into one of the great transportation systems of America, operating a net-work of 5,000 miles of track running from the Ohio to the Gulf; entering and serving thirteen states, a dozen or more large cities, and the vast urban and rural population between, and giving constant employment to more than 50,000 men and women.

It has materially assisted in the building of the splendid agricultural and industrial territory developed in the heart of the Southland.

The L. & N. has never failed to pay every dollar due its workers, its creditors, its bondholders; and during a majority of these years has paid dividends to its stockholders.

This Railroad owns and pays taxes on property valued at more than three hundred and seventy million dollars—and is constantly adding to this investment.

The L. & N. enters its seventy-first year, bigger and stronger and better able to serve.

In order that you may know more of the accomplishments of this Railroad, as well as the problems which confront its management, these informative bulletins will continue to appear regularly in this newspaper.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

LOCK 18 DAM NOW ASSURED

Citizens of Etowah county have heard with much interest of the sale to the Alabama Power Company by the state of a portion of the state prison farm No. 5, seven miles northwest of Wetumpka on the west bank of the Coosa river.

The tract is about one and one-half miles above the site owned by the power company upon which it proposes to erect a hydro-electric dam, to be known as Lock 18. The land purchased this week wil lbe covered by the impounded water which wil lresult when the new dam is completed.

According to the Montgomery Advertiser, the state board of administration, which closed the deal, called attention to the fact that the land did not in any sense constitute a potential sie for hydro-elecric power development, "the site for the proposed Lock 18 being located down stream on the Coosa a distance of fully a mile and a half. This site was designated some time ago by federal power commission, it was stated."

The state received a good price for the property, $100,000 for 106 acres. The company expects to spend from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 in construction of the new dam. When it is completed, it will add a substantial sum to the taxable property of the state.

Etowah citizens are especially interested because completion of the project will be another long step in opening the Coosa river to navigation to the Gulf. Construction of the proposed dam will eliminate the necesisty for several smaller locks and dams, and will reileve the government of millions of dollars of expenditures in the work of opening the river.—(Gadsden Journal, Dec. 22, 1923.)

A COTTON PROGRAM FOR 1924

New Orleans, La., Jan. 1.—"From evidence abundant in every state and neighborhood, the South can grow cotton profitably this year with average weather if the producers generally make use of the knowledge already acquired on weevil control," says the Federal International News, published by the Federal International Banking Company of New Orleans. Successful farmers, weevil experts and trained observers agree upon a program of:

"Small acreage, heavy fertilization and intensive cultivation.

"Selected seed of early-maturing varieties.

"Picking up and burning fallen squares.

"Treatment with calcium arsenate when and as conditions advise.

"These methods in 1923 yielded profits even in the regions of heaviest infestation. With average weather in 1924 they will yield profits even with a larger crop and lower prices."

The program is compiled from recommendations and experiences of successful farmers and specific advice by Dr. W. E. Hinds, State entomologist of Alabama; J. N. Harper, director and agronomist of the Soil Improvement Committee of the Southen Fertilizer Association, and J. A. Evans, assistant chief of cooperative extension work conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture and agricultural colleges of the South.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court, in Equity.

Robert L. Henderson, Complainant, vs. L. M. Henderson, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and postoffice address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said L. M. Henderson to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 15th day of January, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 13th day of December, 1923.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

A hearing on the project of the Gulf Ports Terminal Railway to build a bridge acros Mobile Bay will be held in the United States engineer's office in Mobile during the latter part of January, Major Earl North announced. Elwood McLaughlin, president of the Gulf Ports Terminal Railway company, has been advancing the project for a number of years. He has built a railroad about 20 miles out of Pensacola and proposes to come into Mobile via the bridge.

Gus Martin, an alleged rum runner, was caught with seven gallons of whiskey in an automobile in East Gadsden, and has been locked up in the county jail Sheriff Leath, who made the arrest, states that Martin was asleep in the car when found, having became exhausted by a long ride from the wilds of Cleburne county.

Much interest has been shown at the state capitol in the report that Gov. W. W. Brandon will go into the record in the case of Theo Lacy to consider the granting of a permenent parole to Lacy, who was sentenced for alleged embezzlement of around $100,000 in state funds as chief clerk of the convict department under the O'Neal administration.

Ground has been broken for the new cotton tie buckle plant at Attalla. The site is on Third street and the work of construction is being supervised by Superintendent Todd. It is said that this is to be the first of a series of small plants to be located in the district to consume raw iron and steel made at Attalla.

1923 was the greatest year in the history of the telephone industry in Alabama in the matter of additional investments, new construction work and the number of new telephones installed, Southern Bell Telephone officers said. It is estimated that gross additions to telephone plants in Alabama during the year amounted to more than $1,000,000.

E. M. Tuttle, well known truck grower of Morgan county, had on the streets a load of cabbage from the third crop grown by him this year. The cabbage, he said, came to maturity this winter without any protection from the weather. The cabbage was grown on Mr. Tuttle's farm at Austinville, two miles from Decatur.

Distribution of the satsuma crop is becoming more extensive every year and new markets are being opened up, which it is predicted will soon demand double Mobile's present output, according to officers of the Gulf Coast Citrus Exchange. The shipping season is practically over, but the fruit will remain in local markets for some time, it s said.

Rates on gravel and sand to all statibns on the Southern railroad between Selma and York and between Selma and Akron, also all stations on the L. & N. between Selma and Beatrice, including the Myrtle branch are reduced in a formal order issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

The Anniston branch of the Salvation Army distributed 53 baskets of food for Christmas dinner to as many families, gave Christmas stockings and other treats to 250 children, furnished 109 garments and 16 pairs of shoes to needy persons during the holiday period, according to a report of the commandants given out.

Investigated deaths from natural causes, headed the list in Jefferson county, during the year just with 408, according to the annual report of Coroner J. D. Ramsay. Accidental deaths followed with 246, homicidal, third with 178, and suicides last with 16.

The Alabama Company at Gadsden is hurrying the work of repairs on its furnace No. 1 in order to get it back into production not later than February 1, according to information. It is said the company is anxious to have the stack blown in at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hollingsworth of 2500 Noble street, Anniston, held one of the most interesting family reunions of the Christmas season. Seven sons, two daughters, five daughters-in-law and 20 grandchildren were in attendance.

Governor Brandon has accepted an invitation to attend the unveiling of the head of Robert E. Lee at Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, January 19, the birthday of the Confederate army chieftain.

Dora, a fast growing mining town, in the eastern part of Walker county, is making plans to pave the main streets through the city at an early date, according to Dora citizens.

An order was issued by the Alabama public service commission allowing the Southern railway to discontinue the station at Millsite in Shelby county.

Plans for Jefferson county's new administration building will be ready for submission to the board of revenue for approval within about two weeks, H. B. Wheelock, architect in charge, stated.

A gift of $3,000 to the Baptist orphanage in Troy added greatly to the pleasures of Christmas Day. This gift was made by Mr. and Mrs T. R. Jones, of LaFayette, who gave the check in memory of Mrs. Jones' parents, Reuben and Matilda Kinkle Gilder.

WORDL'S NINTH SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

World's Ninth Sunday School Convention Will Be Held In Glasgow Scotland, June 18th to 26th, 1924.

Alabama is entitled to twenty delegates to this great Convention and already a number have signified their intention of going. Ships will sail June 7th from Montreal, New York, and Philadelphia, carrying delegates to this Convention.

Plans are being made for pre and post Convention Tours for those who wish to visit the Holy Land and Egypt.

Anyone interested in attending the World's Sunday School Convention, should write to Tom V. Ellzey, Secretary, Alabama Sunday School Council, 701 Shepherd Bldg., Montgomery, Ala., or World's Sunday School Association 216 Metropolitan Tower, New York City, N. Y.

Correspondence courses in radio reception and transmission are offered by the engineering extension department of the Pennsylvania State College. More students have enrolled in the radio courses than in any of the other correspondence courses offered by the department.

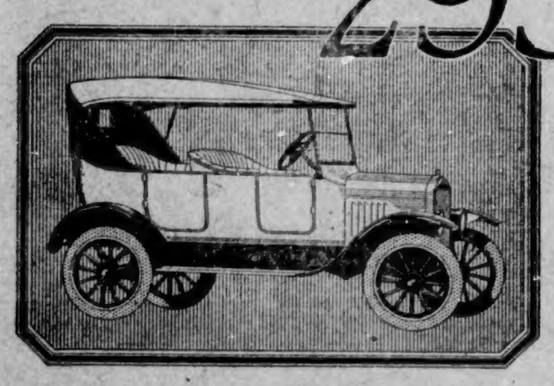
The New Touring Car $295 F.O.B. DETROIT



A Striking Value—at $295

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.

JUDGE REYNOLDS AND OTHERS REPLY TO HAND'S LETTER

the gentlemen that the office was without the protection of a man and that we were here ready to protect Miss Burnett.

Mr. J. J. Pickens was not in the office when this conversation occurred, there was only present Mr. Thompson, Walker, Simpson, Hand, Tom Rockett and myself. Mr. Hand and Mr. Thompson did practically all the talking and they denied that they had insulted the young lady and practically the rest of the conversation was in regard to this. Finally John Gore came to the office and we left him there and I then went back to my office. In a short while Miss Burnett came running over to my office again and said that Mr. Gore and Mr. Hand were fussing. Upon arriving at the Probate office the trouble had ceased and I only heard what the men had to say concerning it. There was no more disturbance that day.

Mr. Hand is mistaken about me being present at the time of the trouble on Dec. 18, between him and Judge Reynolds, as I was not informed of the trouble until it was all over.

OMAR L. REYNOLDS.

The part above in which Mr. Reynolds states that I was present is correct.

J. T. ROCKETT.

I was in the Judge of Probate office and heard a fuss as of some one scrambling in the Judge's private office and went in to see about it, when I got there Judge Reynolds and Tom Hand were in the passage way between the commissioners' court room and the Judge's private office. About the time that I saw them Judge Reynolds either pushed or slapped or they tripped and fell into the private office, with the Judge falling on top. I then tried to pull the Judge off and saw that I was not able and then called Sam Pate in the office to help me separate them. About the time that Mr. Pate came in there also came in Jim Grant, W. G. Culp and Harvey Foshee and that was about all and we separated them. This was all that I saw of the trouble except Judge Reynolds and Mr. Hand continued to fuss some few minutes afterwards. Mr. Hand then left and came back with J. J. Pickens, Victor J. Heard, Grover C. Walker, G. D. Retherford, Tom Curry and there was also at that time Jim Grant, W. G. Culp, Sam Pate, Omar Reynolds, Joe Gore and a few others.

DEWEY ROCKETT.

On request of Omar L. Reynolds and Tom Rockett I went to the office of the Judge of Probate to be present in the vault while Mr. Fritz Thompson, J. J. Pickens, Tom Hand and H. M. Simpson were checking the poll tax books. Mr. Hand stated that he had to go to Columbiana on that day as he had an engagement there with several parties. Leaving the vault and in a very short time he returned and stated under the circumstances that he could not leave here that day as this bunch of crooks had charged him with being crooked and I asked what bunch did he refer to as being croowed and he said Reynolds was not only crooked but all on the other side.

JOHN L. GORE.

CLAUD M. BAER IN POST OFFICE

Mr. Claud M. Baker is now working in the Clanton post office in the capacity of Clerk-Carrier, he having received the highest grade in the recent civil service examination for that position. Claud is a fine young man, and we are glad to hear of his success. He has been in Tupelo, Miss., for the past two years working in the Fisheries Department of the Government.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Walker Spairs, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton county for murder on December 8, 1916, and was given a life sentence, will make application before the State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole.

1-3-3t pd. WALKER SPARIS.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By vertue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of said County, was commanded to make the sum of one hundred fifty-three and 52-100 dollars, cost of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the March Term, 1923, of said Court, against Mary Fitzpatrick, N. C. M., by her next friend, H. T. Fitzpatrick, in favor of officers of the court, I have levied upon and will sell to the highest bidder for cash at public sale, at the court house door of said county, between the hours of 11 o'clock, A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., on Monday, the 4th day of February, 1924, all the right, title and the interest of the above named Mary Fitzpatrick, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

West half of NW quarter of N half of SW quarter in Section Twenty (20), Township Twenty-two (22) North, of Range Sixteen (16) East, and containing 159.60 acres more or less, except the mineral right, situated in Chilton County, Alabama.

This, the 28th day of December, 1923.

SOUTH CALERA ITEMS

After we have been enjoying the Christmas holidays, we hope you will permit us to tell a few of the happenings around home.

Mr. E. D. Crim and Mr. S. N. Rogers left Friday for Cherokee Bluffs where they both expect to secure positions.

Miss Ruth Mooney has returned from Columbiana where she has been spending the holidays with home folks. She began her school work Monday morning.

Mrs. W. M. Clark and daughter, Mamye, have been visiting in the Magic City since last Friday. They returned Sunday night.

The community will miss Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Busby very much as they will make their future home in Selma. They left Thursday morning.

Miss Lillie Walker and Miss Mexa Tate accompanied the former's brother to Birmingham last Wednesday, returning Thursday.

There was a singing given at the home of Mr. Jim Armstrong last Sunday night. Most of the young people were present and I feel sure everyone had a nice time.

Mr. Holen Crim was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Badie Watts of Birmingham during part of the holidays.

Mr. Homer Martin spent the Christmas holidays at home in South Calera.

Mrs. Arthur Busby and son, Henry Lee, from Birmingham were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Busby from Pelham were visitors in South Calera during the holidays.

Mr. M. T. Busby attended the Conference at Leeds last week, also visited his son while there. He returned Sunday night.

There was an enjoyable entertainment given at the home of Mr. W. M. Jones last Wednesday night. Everyone had a nice time.

Mrs. Henry Robinson from Pelham was visiting relatives in South Calera last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams, formerly Miss Bessie Busby of South Calera, who were married during the holidays, will make their future home in Birmingham. We wish them much happiness.

Mr. Charles Busby from Marvel was home for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Homer Martin was in the Magic City Saturday.

The community regrets very much that Mr. Jim Armstrong and family are moving away from South Calera, but we are very glad to have with us Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burgess, formerly of this place.

Misses Mamye and Catherine Clark began school on last Monday after a vacation of one week.

Miss Lutie Jones and Miss Mexa Tate were the guests of Miss U. V. Busby last Thursday.

Miss Hazel Cox entertained at her home last Tuesday the following guests: Mr. Alza Martin, Miss Lutie Jones, Miss Mexa Tate, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Busby and Mr. Leon Busby.

Mr. Charlie Busby and family from Jemison were in South Calera last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox Busby from Pelham visited relatives at South Calera during the vacation.

Mr. Roy Virgin from Birmingham spent a few days last week in South Calera on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Sarah Crim, who was carried to the infirmary in Birmingham last week is reported to be doing nicely. We hope she will soon be able to be at home again.

Mr. O. C. Busby from Marvel spent part of last week with home folks in South Calera.

Miss Elva Barefield and friends were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Busby last Sunday.

Mr. Amy Boswell spent Sunday in South Calera returning to Pelham Sunday night.

Mr. Delmas Lawley from Birmingham was the guest of Mr. Holen Crim for a short while during the holidays.

With best wishes for the New Year.

LOMAX NEWS

Health of this place is very good at present.

We have had a very quiet Christmas at this place this time.

Mr. A. A. Jackson and family from Birmingham spent the holidays with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wells visited relatives at Randolph the first of last week.

Mrs. Callie Culp and daughter, Miss Senara, of Liberty Hill, spent Tuesday night and Wednesday with her brother, R. E. L. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Hester from Leeds spent last week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Daniel.

Misses Dovie and Lucile Honeycutt from near Friendship spent part of last week with Miss Annie Ward.

Mr. R. E. L. Ward and family visited Mr. H. V. Honeycutt and family last Thursday.

Miss Nora Lee Lesley from Thorsby visited her friend, Miss Pearlee Barrett Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. W. G. Robinson and children spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Hollie Price.

Mr. Bennie Wells and family visited Mr. C. C. Burnette Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wells visited the latter's grand-mother, Mrs. Giles, near Cane Creek last week.

Mr. R. E. L. Ward and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Riggins.

Mr. Claud Muncher and several other boys from Leeds were visitors to Lomax during the holidays.

AN ORDINANCE TO BE ENTITLED AN ORDINANCE

To regulate the running at large, within the Town of Clanton, Alabama, or within the Police Jurisdiction of said Town, of dogs, and to declare a violation of this ordinance a misdemeanor and to provide the punishment therefor.

Be it Ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton:

Section 1. That it is ascertained and determined by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, that at the present time there is an epedemic of rabies among dogs in said town and within the police jurisdiction of said Town, and that it is to the best interests of the citizens of said Town that said epedemic be controlled.

Section 2. That for a period of sixty days from and after the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to allow or permit any dog to run at large within the Town of Clanton or the Police Jurisdiction thereof, unless the same shall be muzzeled with such a muzzle, that will prevent such dog from biting any person or animal.

Section 3. That any person, firm or corporation violating the terms of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction must be fined not less than One ($1.00) or more than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars.

Section 4. That it shall be the duty of the police officers of said Town of Clanton, to kill any dog found running at large within said Town or the police jurisdiction thereof, in violation of the terms of this ordinance, after its passage.

Section 5. That should any section of this ordinance be declared unconstitutional or illegal it shall not affect any of the other sections thereof.

Read, introduced and adopted this, the 31st day of Dec., 1923.

ADA M. ATKINSON
Clerk.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to say a few words from this place.

Our Sunday school met in regular session Sunday, but there were not as large a crowd as we could have had; but we had Sunday school just the same. We hope there will be more present next Sunday.

Health is very good at this place at present.

Our literary school is good and we think we have a good teacher.

There will be preaching at this place second Sunday, by Bro. Faulkner, at eleven o'clock. We hope there will be a large crowd present.

Mr. and Mrs. Holesombeck dined with Mr. J. W. Abbott Sunday.

Miss Jewel Scott was the guest of Miss Alma Watson Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Scott spent the night with Mrs. Holesombeck Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Watson dined with C. W. Scott Sunday.

Mr. Vernon Edwards and wife returned to their home near Tuscaloosa Saturday, after a few days visit among friends and relatives at this place.

Miss Berthyle Johnson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hattie Strother of Ensley.

Mrs. Etta Clark returned to her home at Silura Saturday night.

LIBERTY HILL SINGING SOCIETY

Our singing society met last Sunday afternoon to elect a new president, as our former president, Mr. Glover Smith, was leaving us. We elected Mr. Leonard Culp to serve for president this year. After electing new president we rendered a short but interesting program that everyone seemed to enjoy.

The directors for the afternoon were Messrs Glover Smith, Zack Lowery, Leonard Culp, and Gresham Smith, Misses Frances Lowery and Claudie Smith; also three quartets sang by Messrs Glover Smith, Leonard Culp, Alphus Littlejohn and D. W. Ward; one duett by Messrs Frank Mastin and Glover Smith. The organists for the afternoon were Misses Lillie and Clautie Smith, Bonnie Littlejohn and Mrs. Marie Littlejohn.

JOHN ROLLINS,
Secretary.

NOTICE ROAD HANDS AND TRUCK OWNERS

All persons desiring to pay the road fee of $5.50 instead of working the road seven days, may send me a post office money order for this amount, stating the Beat they live in and their address, and I will send them a receipt for same.

There will be no wagon tax this year, but all parties with trucks may get license at my office. After March 15th there will be an extra fee charged for issuing license for trucks.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

A BIG ADVERTISEMENT

You will notice in The Banner this week a big double page advertisement of the Hohenberg-Lacy-Farrow Mercantile Co., of Wetumpka. These hustling merchants put on this big Clearance Sale every year and advertise it extensively. They are offering some mighty attractive bargains. Read the adv.

1924 GREETINGS SENT COUNTRY BY PRESIDENT

Washington, Dec. 31.—President Coolidge tonight extended New Year's greetings to the American people in a message which said:

"At the end of the old year and the beginning of the new, it is well to take account of our spiritual, moral and material resources and seriously appraise the progress of the past 12 months and the prospect of advancement in the coming year. The nation has made a record of gratifying accomplishments. There is every reason to believe advancement will continue in the coming months.

"It is a pleasure to extend the heartiest of New Year greetings to the American people and express the hope and confidence that 1924 will bring them a full measure of prosperity and happiness."

REPLY TO J. N. SCOTT

I notice in last week's Union-Banner a letter from Mr. J. N. Scott, in which he criticizes the new road law of Chilton County. Mr. Scott advances the idea that the roads could be worked better by the old hand-working system. Well, Mr. Scott, we have been trying this very system which you advocate for the past half a century, and it seems that if the plan was as good as you claim it, your roads up there would be in better shape than they are now.

We have made this change because the old system fails to function properly, and we would ask you to wait until the new plan fails, before you criticize it. We hope that the kickers of Chilton county will do unto the roads of the county as they would have the other fellow do, and that is to work more and kick less.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER,
Commissioner.

MRS. NETTIE BAILEY WILBANKS

On Thursday, P. M., December 27, 1923, as the hands of the clock slowly passed four the sweet soul of Mrs. Nettie Bailey Wilbanks faded away. Of all the tender care that was given, God saw he had a place more precious for her in Heaven. She is survived by her husband, G. T. Wilbanks, Clanton, Ala., three sons, Thos. E. Wilbanks, Montgomery; Jack and Wheeler Wilbanks, Birmingham; and four daughters, Mrs. F. E. Fiquett, West Point, Ga.; Mrs. J. Mell Martin, Clanton, Ala.; Mrs. E. L. Hartley and Miss Carl Wilbanks, Montgomery, Ala., besides a host of other relatives and friends.

The remains were laid to rest in Clanton Cemetery Friday afternoon after a beautiful short service at Clanton Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. H. G. Williams of Cincinnati, Ohio, who happened to be visiting relatives and friends in Clanton. "Lead Kindly Light" and "My Father Knows" was beautifully rendered by a quartette composed of Messrs Percy Pitts and Jesse Jones, Mrs. Jno. T. Elils and Miss Della Latham.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE URGES THE PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

Since our people are rather indifferent about paying their poll taxes this year, we wish to urge upon the Republicans of Chilton County the importance of attending to this matter. If you will just consider the matter a little you can readily see that there is too much at stake for you to ignore paying your poll tax. Next year, we elect a president, and there will be several elections of importance. So, in order that you may be pemitted to vote, pay your poll tax before February 1st, 1923, and don't wait too late.

Yours for a strong party,
W. G. CULP, Chairman.
J. Z. MIMS, Secretary.

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Allow us a small space in your paper to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and help shown us during the recent illness and death of our grandfather, N. O. Andrews. May God bless you all.

TYREE LANDERS,
BIRDIE LANDERS,
E. O. ATCHISON,

DR. GRAGG SICK

We learn with regret that Dr. V. J. Gragg is sick again. He has been in the Central Alabama Hospital for the past few days. We sincerely hope that the doctor's case is not serious but that he will be up again real soon.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely thank the good people of Jemison and Clanton for their kindness and sympathy in the sickness and death of our dear wife and mother.

Mr. G. T. WILBANKS and family.

We have been looking for our dividend on that United Farmers Canning Factory stock which we purchased last year. We wonder if it got misplaced in the mails somehow, eh?

Houston Post (Dem.)—Republican that President Coolidge is, we do not hesitate to say that he has a cool head, a ruly tongue, a good backbone and a dependable intestinal structure.

How Mothers Friend aids Expectant Mothers at Child-birth

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could scarcely walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at childbirth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

EARLY ACTION ON SHOALS EXPECTED

House Committee Will Meet Tuesday To Discuss Project.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Prompt action by Congress to sell the government's nitrate and power project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was forecast Saturday night when it was announced that the House military affairs committee will meet next Tuesday to consider the offer of Henry Ford for the property.

The majority of the committee interprets President Coolidge's remarks with respect to Muscle Shoals in his annual message to Congress as constituting a virtual endorsement of the Ford offer, although the Detroit automobile manufacturer has been waging an unsuciessful campaign in and out of Congress for more than a year to obtain control of the property.

The committee has under consideration a bill by Representative McKenzie, Republican, of Tennessee, providing for the sale of the Muscle Shoals power plants to Ford, and it is expected that arrangements will be made to hold public hearings on the McKenzie bill beginning Jan. 16. This will mean the opening up of the whole Muscle Shoals question.

The committee will consider also the proposal by Congressman Madden that the government use the $3,500,000 obtained from the Alabama Power Company for the Gorgas steam plant, formerly one of the units of the Muscle Shoals plant, in construction of a new steam power plant at Muscle Shoals to restore the project to the condition in which it was when Ford made his offer.

It is expected by members of the committee that other offers for the Muscle Shoals plant in whole or part, will be received by the government after the legislation has been taken up in committee. For some time there have been reports that the Alabama Power Company is to submit a bid for the entire plant under terms that may prove more attractive to the committee.

Congressman McKenzie said such bids would be welcomed and given careful consideration by the committee.

"I am not wedded to the Ford offer," he continued. "I went the government to get rid of Muscle Shoals plant on the best terms and conditions possible, but the government should get rid of these plants to stop their drain on the treasury. The plants should be put to good use and electric power should be made available. I will support the best offer the government receives and I have heard there are to be other offers than that made by Mr. Ford."

J. E. BUZBEE GETS JASPER POSITION

Pres. Coolidge Disregards Bankhead In Naming Street Supporter For Postmastership.

Washington, Jan. 8.—President Coolidge sent to the Senate Monday the nomination of John E. Buzbee to be postmaster at Jasper, Ala., in place of Mrs. N. S. Coleman, whose commission expired Dec. 28, 1923.

Buzbee had the endorsement of the Street Republican faction in Alabama, who brought strong pressure upon the powers that be at Washington to appoint him.

Congressman Bankhead went to the Postoffice Department and urged the retention of Mrs. Coleman, but the officials frankly informed him that the pressure was so great by the Republican organization in Alabama that they would have to make a change in postmasters.

Buzbee has been active in connection with Street faction politics and gets an office with a good salary attachment. Mrs. Coleman is the widow of one of Jasper's ablest and most prominent lawyers.

This was the only instance in which Congressman Bankhead went to the department in the interest of any postmaster in his district included in the presidential class.

PROF. PEGUES RESIGNS AS HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Prof. Ira Pegues, who has been at the head of the Chilton County High School for the past five months, last week tendered his resignation as principal to the County Board of Education, and his resignation was accepted by the board. No one has as yet been appointed to take his place, but Prof. Peterson, first assistant of the school, is supervising it temporarily.

Prof. Pegues was here the latter part of last week winding up his business and has now gone to his home in Jackson County.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AT COURT HOUSE

Rev. Walter M. Crawford of Omaha, Nerbaska, Soverign Auditor for the Woodmen of the World, will make an address on Woodcraft at the court house in Clanton on Monday night, January 14th at 8:00 o'clock. This will be a public meeting and everybody, ladies, gentlemen and children, have a cordial invitation to attend.

DATE SET FOR CONTEST

It is announced that the attroneys for both C. D. Measer and L. H. Reynolds in the contest case for the probate judgeship of Chilton county have agreed on the date for the beginning of the investigation, which date is the first Monday in February, 4th. The date was first set for January 7th, but at the request of Measer's attorneys, the date was postponed.

M. B. O. Blow, a pomising young Republican of Beat 9, was in Clanton Wednesday to pay his first poll tax. All the other young men of our county of voting age who have not already paid their poll tax should follow the example of Mr. Blow and attend to this important matter before the time expires February 1st. Mr. Blow has not yet registered but he is paying his poll tax now so that after he qualities with the Board of Registrars he will be a legal voter.

FEDERAL MARSHAL FINISHES SHAKE-UP

Deputy J. A. Wall Released and is Succeeded by J. Sherman Johnson of Andalusia

United States Deputy Marshal J. A. Wall who has served the middle district office of the government marshal since July, 1914 will be succeeded by J. Sherman Johnson of Andalusia under the reorganization of personnel of the force under the adminstration of Marshal Douglas Smith, it was announced Saturday.

R. R. Covington, of Troy will be succeeded by J. W. Daughtry of Hartford who will in the future operate from Dothan. Appointment of a successor to Deputy Covington completes reorganization of the field department at Andalusia leaving only one deputy, A. J. Gibson to operate in Montgomery. Mr. Smith stated should he find one deputy insufficient for needs of the local office he would apply for additional men to the Washington office.

Deputy Wall is one of the most widly known men in this section of the state, he having been prominently identified in narcotic work of Federal forces and in serving civil papers durnig his tenure in office. He was also a prominent figure in raids conducted by Federal forces several years ago, or up until the period when criminal work was eliminated from his duties.

BANKER A. T. RUDDER DIES IN MONTGOMERY

The announcement of the death of Mr. A. T. Rudder, cashier of the Marbury Savings Bank, which occurred in a Montgomery hospital Sunday was a heavy shock to the many friends of the man and the bank who cover a large territory in this section. Mr. Rudder has been very active in business in Marbury for the past several years and was a man whom everybody enjoyed associating with and doing business with. He was, we are sure, the leading figure in the progress of the little town of Marbury, he having taken a very active interest in the affairs of the town and especially in its educational advancement. The Marbury-Mt. Creek high school, which is a very healthy and going institution was made so in a great part by the efforts of this noble Christian man. The place vacated by the death of Mr. Rudder will be a diffiqult one to fill.

It is reported that the death of Mr. Rudder has been such a sudden shock to the Marbury Savings Bank that that institution will almost be compelled to suspend business. However, we hope this report is untrue and that someone can be obtained to fill the vacancy, as the suspension of the bank will be quite a back-set to the thriving little city. It is indeed regrettable that the All-Wise saw fit in His wisdom to call this useful figure from the walks of men.

PASTOR McLENNAN PREACHING

Pastor Walter P. McLennan of Birmingham, who has been preaching at the Seventh-day Adventists tabernacle in Clanton every night for the past week, announces that he will continue to preach every night at 7 o'clock during the remainder of his week ann very likely all next week. Pastor McLennan is preaching some wonderful sermons that are worth everyone's trouble in going and hearing.

CHURCH NOTICE

ALABAMA FARMS WILL GET POWER

A Far-Reaching Agreement Is Arranged By Auburn And Corporation.

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 5.—Definite arrangements have been completed between the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the Alabama Power Company whereby research work of a more comprehensive nature than ever before attempted will be conducted to find practical means and methods of supplying Southern farmers with hydro-electricity, according to announcement made Saturday by President Spright Dowell. Sufficient funds have been appropriated by the Alabama Power Company to cover the cost of experiments over a three year period, during which research work in electrifying agreculturei will be done and practical studies will be made on farms located in different sections of Alabama.

Discussion and consideration of this project have been in progress for some time and, now that the agreement has been signed, actual work will begin immediately.

As explained by Dr. Dowell, the Alabama Power Company will furnish electrical engineers, who will work in co-operation with agricultural engineers of the experiment station. They will determine how electric power may be delivered to the farms of Alabama, and utilized in farm homes and in farming operations to provide the same benefits enjoyed by city dwellers.

CHILTON PRODUCES 8,059 BALES TO DECEMBER 13

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of Census, announces the preliminary report on cotton ginned in Alabama for the crop of 1923 up to December 13th. This report gives Chilton County a total of 8,059 bales, as against 11,795 bales up to the same date last year. The total for Alabama this year was 591,401 and 812,088 up to the same date in 1922.

In the early part of the ginning season it was estimated that Chilton County's crop would be around 6,000 but it went above this mark a little better than two thousand.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN SESSION

Important Modifications Made To New Chilton County Road Law.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton county was in session at the court house Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This was a special session for the purpose of considering the road working law of Chilton county. Following is a digest of the most important things passed upon by the court:

No truck or wagon will be permitted to haul a load over 10,000 pounds, including the vehicle, over the public roads of Chilton county.

No person can haul lumber, timber, cordwood, crossties, logs or ore over the public roads of Chilton county within twenty-four hours after a rain of twenty minutes from the 1st day of May to the 1st day of December, and thirty-six hours after a like rain from the 1st day of December to the first day of May. All other vehicles are prohibited from carrying over 800 pounds during said time.

There will be appointed one road supervisor for each voting precinct in Chilton county.

There is a license on all trucks which will be delinquent after the 1st day of February. All persons subject to road duty can pay the probate judge $5.50 on or before the 1st day of March which will exempt them from road work for the year.

COUNTY TREASURER'S REPORT

The probate judge of Chilton county has filed with The Union-Banner the semi-annual report of the county treasurer of Chilton county. The report reached us a little too late to be published this week but will be carried next week.

HAND-REYNOLDS TRIAL AT COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

At the trial of Mr. Tom Hand vs. Judge L. H. Reynolds on the charge of affray, held at the Court House last Saturday, Judge Reynolds was found not guilty. The trial was held at the court house by the Mayor's Court of Clanton. Dr. V. J. Gragg, Mayor of Clanton, being sick and unable to be out, Mr. J. B. Atkinson presided over the trial. The trial opened about 10 o'clock in the morning and was not finished until after noon about 2:30 o'clock. There were a number of people present from several precincts of the county, and everybody seemed to be pleased with the disposition of the case.

PLEASANT HILL

Remember next Saturday and Sunday there will be preaching at this place by Rev. Pope Hail and also singing in the afternoon. Everybody come.

I am glad to say we had a wonderful Christmas. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. We had several entertainments in our homes. Everything went off nicely.

Onnie Martin, Colonel Blow, Willie Martin, Jadie Samons, Miss Virgie Cost, Luria Samons and several ohters visited Miss Sophia Martin Sunday.

Latest Record Gives State 126,642 Cars With Annual Revenue of $1,532,614; 8,078 Ten Years Ago.

From 1914 to the close of the fiscal year on September 30, 1923 the number of automobiles owned and operated in Alabama increased from 8,078 to 126,642. In like proportion automobile revenue to the state increased from $68,010 in 1914 to $1,532,614.

These figures showing the remarkable increase in the number of automobiles owned by Alabamians, over a period of a comparatively short space of time, and the tremendous increase in the state's revenues from this source, were recently compiled by State Tax Commissioner Frank C. Marquis.

Already, Commissioner Marquis stated over 160,000 motor vehicle license tags have been issued in Alabama for 1924 and in anticipation of a further increased demand, enough tags have been ordered from the manufacturer to date, for 200,000 cars. The figures for 1923 alone would indicate that there is one automobile in Alabama to every 10 adult citizens.

Since 1920 it is pointed out, receipts from the issuance of automobile license tags have gone for the retirement of state highway improvement bonds, except for the percentage provided for the county or incorporated city.

Commissioner Marquis estimates that from 1920 up to and including 1923, the cost of operation of the automobile tax division of the state tax commission, is about 2 per cent of the revenue realized.

MORE SIDEWALKS TO BE BUILT IN CLANTON

Work begins today on the paving of all the sidewalks on both sides of Seventh Street between First Avenue at the post office and Fourth Avenue at Maddox's warehouse. Mr. C. B. Cox has the contract to do the work. This improvement will add materially to the appearance as well as usefulness of this street.

The date for paying poll tax is drawing near the close. February 1st is the last day. If you have not paid or know anyone who has not you should get busy and attend to it while you have the opportunity. Everybody regardless of political inelination should pay their poll tax. No one should be satisfied to live in this geat country of ours without exercising their inalienable right as a citizen of this commonwealth. Pay you poll tax now.

Prof. W. E. G. Sutton, principal of the Verbena High School, was in Clanton Monday afternoon. Prof. Sutton is a hustler and is making a good showing of the Verbena school.

Mr. F. H. Vinzant of Jemison Route 4 was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday of this week.

SHEPHERD NAMED

Tuscaloosa Automobile Dealer Is Appointed To Board of Revenue.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., January 5.—Joe H. Shepherd, local automobile dealer, and one of the most prominent and best known of Tuscaloosa's citizens, was Wednesday named by Governor Brandon to fill the unexpired term of John C. Shamblin on the county board of revenue, following Mr. Shamblin's resignation Jan. 1. The choice of Mr. Shepherd by the governor is receiving general commendation throughout Tuscaloosa, because of his known interest in the development of the county and especially in good roads for the county.

Mr. Shepherd has been in Tuscaloosa for a number of years, having enterad the wholesale grocery business here in 1910, and later acquiring extensive coal mining interests. In 1918 he disposed of all his interests here and became district sales manager for the Lewis-Hall Iron Works of Detroit, with a territory of 14 Southern and Western states. As the firm with which he was associated made a specialty of building steel bridges and heavy road machinery, Mr. Shepherd made quite an extensive study of road building and the economic maintenance of roads, which knowledge is expected to result in much good to Tuscaloosa County through his appointment to the board of revenue.

Mr. R. L. Wells of Route 2 was a visitor to Clanton Monday. While here he paid a visit to The Union-Banner. We were glad to see him.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The state highway department will advertise for bids on another link of the paved highways which is to connect Birmingham with Montgomery before the expiration of the month of January, according to information. The new section will be in Chilton county, and will extend half way across that county, from the Shelby county line to Lomax, a distance of 17 miles. The entire distance through Chilton county was considered too much to be handled as a single project, being 34 miles, and was divided into two sections, to be handled as separate projects.

Rabbits have been scarce in the market at Huntsville all this season and people in the country declare that there are not many of the little animals to be seen. Some of them claim that the rabbits were almost exterminated during the summer by the profuse use of calcium arsenate and other poisons that were spread in the cotton fields to exterminate the boll weevil and cotton caterpillars and that the poisons got on other vegetation as well as cotton, the rabbits ate it and died. Whether or not this is the explanation, very few rabbits are being seen this season, it is declared.

Held in the Tuscaloosa county jail charged with the killing of an unidentified girl, whose body was found in a burned negro church about four miles from Tuscaloosa on the Watermelon road, Alf Winchester has been indicted by the federal grand jury on three charges of violation of the federal narcotic laws. One charges the selling of narcotics, another dealing in narcotics and the third charges having narcotics in his possession. The indictments came following investigations by the grand jury and it is said they were based upon information supplied by three named persons.

R. B. Pinson, a 72-year-old farmer, who lives on the Eulaton pike a few miles west of Anniston, has demonstrated conclusively that farming can be made profitable in this section by clearing from a small farm $259.60 with an outgo of less than $10. Mr. Pinson had on his credit at a local bank on the first day of the year that amount of money from his 1923 operations, besides 50 bushels of corn, two and one-half tons of hay, 90 dozen bundles of oats and a large number of chickens and plenty of produce about his home.

The state board of agriculture has adopted uniform grades, the same as those applied to by the federal government, for cabbage, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes and peaches, effective Feb. 2, and adopted tentative grades for strawberries. The board will meet Jan. 28 at Mobile, that city being selected for the meeting owing to the large trucking industry in its vicinity. The board on this occasion will make a survey of the satsuma, potato and cabbage areas of Mobile and Baldwin counties.

The Curry community, 10 miles north of Jasper, is a fast growing section of that part of the state. The new Curry consolidated high school was one of the first in north Alabama. This school would be a credit to any of the county high schools in the state. One of the features of this school is the vocational training, consisting of real farming, which provides practical agricultural experience. The Curry district is composed of seven large school districts, being the largest district in the state.

The Oak City Furniture factory, with a capitalization of $25,000, Tuscaloosa's newest manufacturing enterprise, has just started operation and commenced making porch swings at the rate of 150 to 200 per day. Eight thousand are to be manufactured in the present lot and this will keep the plant busy for some time. The output of manufactured goods will be gradually increased, according to the demands and will be shipped to all parts of the country.

The annual meeting of the Cleburne Farm Bureau will be held ta the courthouse in Heflin Saturday morning, Jan. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCurdy, who recently celebrated the sixty-ninth anniversary of their wedding, have moved to Anniston with their daughters. He is 92 and she is 91.

Hearings on the general citation issued by the Alabama public service commission to all carriers on fertilizer rates will be held at Montgomery January 14.

Mr. R. T. Grant of Cooper was here Saturday attending to some business matters.

FARMERS ARE BUYING FERTILIZER EARLIER

Advantages of Co-operative Buying in Advance of Needs And Mixing at Home Are Declared by Auburn Workers.

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 7.—Acting upon the recommendations made by Farm Bureau officials and the county demonstration agents, Alabama farmers are securing their spring supply of fertilizer earlier than usual this year, according to information reaching Auburn from several counties. Before the holidays a cargo of nitrate of soda was received by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and carloads scattered to many sections of the State. This is regarded as the beginning of the fertilizer shiping season, which will continue several weeks.

Early buying of fertilizer on the co-operative plan has a large number of advantages, in the opinion of representatives of the Agricultural College here. By having it arrive at this season of the year work in receiving and hauling it out does not interfere with regular farm work as much as it will if received later. If all ingredients are on hand it may be mixed and made ready before it is needed next spring.

By buying fertilizer co-operatively there is a direct saving of several dollars per ton, and a much larger indirect saving in the form of larger yields.

During the last few years buying of fertilizer on the co-operative plan has increased by leaps and bounds in Alabama. Indications are that 100,000 tons will be bought in this way this year. It is being handled by the State and County Farm Bureaus.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE CO. OPERATOR CONTRACT

State of Alabama Chilton County.

This contract made and intered into this the 1st day of January,1924, by and between the Peoples Telephone Company, inc., hereinafter refered to as the company, and G. W. Culp hereinafter refered to as the operator, witnesseth.,

1. That the Operator hereby agrees to operate and maintain the Central Office, and all lines, now owned by said Company, inside of the incorporated limits of the city of Clanton, Alabama, to build all new lines and maintain same. In consideratoin of the above the Company agrees to pay said Operator $100.00 per month, and furthur agrees to pay the rent of the house, in which the Central office is now located, also to furnish two tons of coal per year.

2. The company also agrees to furnish all necessary material for repairing and maintaining of said Central office, including the telephone lines within the corporate limits of the town of Clanton, Alabama, and the company further agrees when the necessity arises for the removing or replacing heavy telephone poles, within said incorporate limits, that said company will furnish all necessary help to erect the same to said operator.

3. Said operator agrees to operate the Central office and to maintain same, and to render Central service promptly when called; further and to allow no one Central service after Jan. 15th, 1924, unless the party calling has paid Post right and Central fees, inside the Corporate limits of the town of Clanton. Operator further agrees to make the proper reports to the President of said company; and further to requisition to said President of said Company for all actual necessary material for the upkeep and maintenance of said Central office and Telephone lines of said company, within the incorporate limits of the town of Clanton, Alabama.

4. Operator further agrees to investigate all complaints made relative to the service of said Central office and lines, within said city limits, and to trace the same out, including making any necessary repairs, either at said Central office, or on said lines, within said city limits. Further, Operator agrees that in the case of any complaint in the nature of trouble with said Telephones, or lines out side of corporate limits of the city of Clanton, Ala., that he shall at once call up the Director of said Line and give him notice of said trouble on said line, together with the nature of said complaint, outside of the corporate limits of the city of Clanton, Alabama.

5. It is further agreed by and between the Company and the operator, that should the operator fail to carry out this contract, or any part of same, hereinbefore mentioned, including the maintenance and operation of said company's office and lines; and upon ten days notice given said operator by said President of said Telephone Company, said operator agrees to vacate said house, where said Central office is located, together with Central office and all equipment, and turn the same over to the President of said Peoples Telephone Company, within the above mentioned ten day's time after notice.

Signed in duplicate, this the 1st day of January, 1924.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS AT ONE WITH FORD

Washington, Jan. 7.—Replying to the remark of a prominent Democrat that Henry Ford can not carry all his admirers into the ranks of the Coolidge supporters, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., says that "this is undoubtedly true, but the same line of reasoning which carried Ford into the Coolidge ranks will carry his admirers also.

"Probably there are not over a thousand voters in the United States who would vote for Coolidge just because Ford is going to vote for Coolidge. But there are hundreds of thousands who will vote for Coolidge because they have reached exactly the same conclusion that Ford reached—that Coolidge is trying to do what is right and that the country will be safe under his leadership.

"While we have had misfortune in some places, there was never a time in our history when a larger proportion of our people were prosperous and happy. Why change?

"That is the question Ford asked and it is the question hundreds of thousands of others are asking. Others were asking it before Ford did, but because of his fame as an automobile manufacturer, his statement of the question received wide publicity.

"The people of the country will not vote for a change unless someone shows them a good reason for a change. No one has undertaken to do that yet. No one undertakes to show in what respect the country would be better off under the leadership of any one else."

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Mrs. Housewife! Do You Favor Food Law Enforcement?

You appreciate the vital importance of pure and fresh drugs—drugs that are prepared and packed under fixed government regulations.

How about foods? Aren't they just as important? Take baking powder, for instance—it is useful only when it produces its maximum of leavening strength in the breadstuffs—bakings that are easily digested, which in turn aid towards perfect health. Lack of leavening strength means flat and soggy bakings which are surely indigestible.

The pure food laws of our country have standardized baking powder—they require that it contain 12% leavening gas at the time of sale to the consumer. Why is it that these laws have not been applied to baking powder mixed with flour and sold in sacks as self rising flour?

Thousands of barrels of self rising flour are annually sold in our southern states without any regulation by pure food measures, except in Texas.

Any grade of flour and any quality or strength of baking powder can be used in making self rising flour and sold to the unthinking public without official criticism.

Numerous baking and laboratory experiments have been conducted by state chemists and other investigators. They found a surprising amount of this mixed flour to be so deteriorated as to be productive only of heavy, soggy bakings.

Do you want to eat foods made from self rising flours that do not contain the necessary leavening strength—foods that are hard to digest and a detriment to health? Do you want the law to protect you in this instance as it protects the user of medicine? It is for you and others interested in public health to decide.

Remember Calumet Baking Powder meets every requirement of the law—that it retains its great leavening strength to the last spoonful.

Packed in tin—keeps the strength in.

POOR OR

STATEMENTS REGARDING MR. KENDRICK

Mr. W. H. Kendrick, who we understand has recently resigned the position as night police of Clanton, hands us a couple of statements from men who knew him before he came to Clanton, which we gladly give space to. We hope that our readers and the public in general will read these statements and take them for what they are worth. No one in Clanton, we are sure, wishes to unjustly accuse Mr. Kendrick, and we hope by the publication of these letters that the matter may be somewhat cleared up and justice may be brought to bear on all concerned:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that I have known and been acquainted with W. H. Kendrick, the bearer hereof, for a period of Twenty-five years; that during my Term of office as Judge of Probate of Elmore County, Alabama, Mr. Kendrick had charge of one of the road working outfits; that during said term the said Kendrick handled at least $40,000.00 of the County's money without bond and made a perfect report on same; that his work for the county was most satisfactory; that he was honest with the county, prompt, industrious and efficient in his duties as such Road Foreman; that he held the office of Registrar of Elmore County, Alabama, for a period of 8 years, in which said office he proved himself to be an honest, upright and just citizen and proved himself worthy of every honor that had been bestowed upon him.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend him to any person, firm or corporation who desires to employ an honest, industrious, energetic and upright Christian gentleman, who at all times will give to his employee the best that is in him.

Respectfully submitted,
M. D. STILL.
Ex-Probate Judge, Elmore Co.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to say that I have known Mr. W. H. Kendrick for 25 years, much of that time intimately associated with him. It is my pleasure to say that he is a gentleman in every respect. His truth and honor are above suspicion, and he is a good citizen from every standpoint. A loyal Sunday School worker, a man who stands for morality and uprightness, personally and for the community. He is always found supporting a moral and uplifting cause. He will be a valuable acquisition to any community.

Yours truly,
G. H. HOWARD.
Probate Judge, Elmore Co.

RIDERSVILLE DOTS

Everybody is hugging the fires and wishing for a little warm weather. Some people are hard to please.

The community witnesed an awful wreck Saturday night, when the freight train No. 51 was derailed at Martin's Creek trestle. Mr. Scott Welch was the engineer. No one was hurt, except by the cold wind.

Everybody is asked to come to Sunday school next Sunday and start the year right.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Maness have returned to their home at Lawley, after spending the week-end with Mrs. Maness' mother, Mrs. W. F. Reynolds.

Mrs. Edwards and two children and Mr. Chester Nichols of Perry County were visitos of Mrs. S. Osburn last week-end.

Mrs. Dewey Prestly and baby LeRoy, are visiting Mrs. Prestly's mother, Mrs. J. P. Milstead.

Mrs. J. A. Hand of Polas has returned to her home after a visit with relatives here.

Several enjoyed a "Buck" dance given by Mr. Shelly Barnes Monday afternoon in Mrs. Will Smithers' home. Mr. Kelley played for them.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Some people have got the idea into their heads that The Union-Banner has joined forces with the lawless element of Clanton and that we have decided to do our bit toward hindering the enforcement of the laws of our city and county. We wish to say here and now that a careful retrospective glance over the past record of this paper regarding the subject in mention will show how we have always stood on the matter and also how we intend to stand on it in the future. We know that the laws of our city, county, state and nation are statutes that are as sacred to the hearts of American citizens as are our own birthrights, and that all good citizens should abide by these laws and that all others should not be allowed to ignore them. If the time should ever come (and we don't want to be here when it does come) when those who want to trample the laws under their feet get the upper hand of the country, we will in a very short period of time go down into the ghastly pits of eternal hell. So, we stand now as we have always stood, regardless of the opinion of any officer, citizen, man or beast, squarely behind law enforcement, allegiance to the American Flag, cleaner politics, better government, better schools and a better country in general. And so long as we are permitted to retain our present thinking facilities and the opportunity to speak we will be found everlastingly hammering behind these propositions and doing our utmost to keep them hoisted above the range of the missiles of the contriving adversary. The thing we advocate and contend for is simply a square deal for everybody regardless of who it is. If a slum violates the law and a noble violates the law feed them both out of the same spoon. This is our contention heretofore, now and forever hereafter.

COLD WEATHER SAID TO BE GREAT HELP TO FARMERS

In the estimation of the State Department of Agriculture the recent extreme cold snap visited upon the South has meant an enormous benefit to the farmers of this section of the country. It is said by that department that the wholesale destruction of boll weevils by the cold will net the farmers thousands of dollars in the way of protection to their cotton this coming season.

Saturday and Sunday the thermometer flirted down close to zero, which is said to have been the coldest weather since 1899. The government weather bureau at Birmingham issued the statement that the temperature of that city dropped even lower than it did during the extreme cold waive in the winter of 1918.

It was a common sight the first of this week to see Fords and automobiles frozen up until they had to be pulled off to be cranked, and numbers of them were frozen so badly until radiators and even several engines were severely injured.

The plumbers of Clanton have been doing a rushing business in Clanton since the water pipes began to thaw. Many of them were badly frozen and burst up where the water was not drained out before it got so cold.

The weather was kindly pinching and the cold wind was rather unpleasant, but we are glad to have a cold snap once in a while as after it is over general health conditions are better and everybody feels rejuvenated and more anxious to go about their daily tasks.

WORTH YOUR ATTENTION

We are publishing this week under the heading "A Wonderful Sermon" a condensed treatise of the sermon preached by Pastor W. P. McLennan of Birmingham at the Seventh-Day Adventists tabernacle in Clanton. In this day of anxiety and general unrest among all peoples it would not be amiss for us to drop a thought or two along the lines of this sermon. The subject: "Is the World Getting Better?" is one that is continually on the minds of people. We all want to hope that it is getting better, but as Col. Graves puts it, "We had better be truthful pessimists than optimistic liars." Read the sermon.

Delinquency in studies decreased 60 per cent last year at Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis. It is believed by the college authorities that the improvement was largely the result of freshman courses in how to study.

MR. KENDRICK NOT ON AS NIGHT POLICEMAN

In publishing the article which we did last week about Mr. W. H. Kendrick and the Town of Clanton, we did it under the impression that the above named party had been retained on the position as night police of Clanton after he was tried in Mayor's court last Saturday, Dec. 29th. Since that time, we have learned that immediately after the trial, Mr. J. B. Atkinson who tried the case as acting Mayor and who is also a member of the Town Council accepted Mr. Kendrick's resignation pending action by the City Council which was to meet the following Monday. However, Mr. Kendrick was asked to assist on the force on the night of the 29th, which Mr. Atkinson says was done on account of the emergency brought on during the holidays. The fact that Mr. Kendrick had resigned had not been reported to us when we printed the paper last week. In fact, the editor of this paper went to Mr. Atkinson's office Tuesday morning of last week for the purpose of finding out what disposition had been made of the matter. We asked Mr. Atkinson, "Have there been any changes made in the police force?" to which question Mr. Atkinson answered, "No." Mr. Atkinson was busy, so we did not detain him for further explanation. We naturally judged from this answer that Mr. Kendrick was still on the force as night police. Mr. Atkinson says that what he meant by saying there had been no changes was that the city council had not changed his action in accepting Mr. Kendrick's resignation which was tendered on the day of the trial.

Had we known that Mr. Kendrick was no longer on the force, we would not have mentioned the matter, but from what Mr. Atkinson told us and after seeing Mr. Kendrick on duty after the trial, we concluded that Mr. Kendrick was going to be kept on as night police. So, it was under this impression that the article was written. If this fact had been made clear, we would have offered no criticism whatever.

It was our information and we stated in the article last week that the report of the arrest of Mr. Kendrick was made to the city officials the next morning, at the same time it was reported to Mr. Baker. But upon further investigation we find that it was not officially reported to any of the city officials until about two weeks later. This report was a gross injustice to the officials, and the blame for the delay lies not on the officials but on those who knew about it and did not report it to the proper authorities. The matter was held out of court until it was the general talk of the public. Of couse, the trouble was that Mr. Baker did not want to have anything to do with it since he and Mr. Kendrick were such good friends. But the matter should have been reported to the authorities at once so that an investigation could have been made earlier.

As soon as the Town was officially informed of the matter, they got busy and as hastily as possible passed on it. The delay occurred before it was placed in the court. As for the decision rendered by the city court will say that we have read the testimony which was copied by a stenographer during the trial, and this testimony is widely different from the rumors that are generally spread. In our estimation, there was nothing reported in the city court that justified conviction. According to the evidence Mr. Kendrick has been falsely accused and the court is due no criticism for its action in acquitting him. The fact that Dr. Gragg was sick and confined to his room for the past several days rendered him unable to take any part in the trial as Monday of this week was the first day he was able to be out.

It appears now that the town officials have made a thorough investigation of the matter as hastily as they could after it was reported to them and have disposed of it with justice to all parties concerned. So, the management of this paper willingly and cheerfully takes this means of clearing the city court and the city officials of the charges preferred against them last week.

DEMOCRATIC BUNK vs. OFFICIAL RECORDS

Washington, Jan. 7.—In 1920 the Democratic tariff law was functioning in all its glory and all the rest was gloom. Our imports for that fiscal year attained the highest total in our trade history, namely, $5,238,000,000. That meant a per capita of foreign goods entering this country of $47.22. According to the Statistical Abstract of the United States 65 per cent of these goods came in without the payment of a cent of customs duty. The average rate of duty on all imports sank to the low record of 6.38 per cent, and on dutiable goods to 16.4 per cent.

In 1920 we imported over $1,500,000,000 worth of food stuffs, $387,000,000 worth of textile manufactures, $40,000,000 of leather manufactures, $24,000,000 in hats and materials, and $157,000,000 in manufactures of wood, lumber, shingles, etc. These were all new records up to that time.

Now, by all the canons of Democratic faith and political exegesis, a three and a half billion increase over pre-war imports should have made the cost of living in 1920 decline. Eight years before the Democratic party had campaigned the country on the issue of free trade versus protection. The latter was blamed for the high cost of living. The former was held up to the American people as their only means of breaking the strangle hold which the wicked trusts had on the country. "Give us control of the government and we will give you low prices on the things you eat and drink and wear and use for housing," was the Democratic promise to the voter. A rift in the Republican ranks gave them a chance to make that promise good and they immediately undertook to reinstate their near-free-trade totem while flaunting President Wilson's solemn declaration that not an industry in the country would be harmed, a statement which was followed by another soon after to the effect that the industrial depression was merely a state of mind. Within seven months of the passage of the 1923 tariff law over 4,000,000 men were out of work, and only the outbreak of the European War saved us from bread riots.

On September 22, 1922, the policy of protection was restored and the Fordney-McCumber tariff went into effect accompanied by the most dismal foreboldings on the part of the Democratic Party and the importers' combine which had been pocketing profits ranging from 150 to 2500 per cent on imported commodities. By the first of October, 1923, a full year under the Republican law, $3,835,000,000 worth of commodities had been imported of which $2,182,000,000 came in free. The law was admittedly framed to protect the farmer and the manufacturer and it has done so, to our foreign competitor. Itemized figures covering the full year have not yet been compiled, but the totals above mentioned speak for themselves.

The day after Christmas the United States Bureau of Labor issued an announcement showing that "the cost of living was one-fifth less in September this year (1923) than in June, 1920, when the highest point in living costs since 1913 was reached. A decrease of 20.5 per cent in the total cost of living in the United States as determined by a consolidation of the figures for thirty-two specified cities." And this under the protective policy.

Three days before this announcement was published the Democratic National Committee set a flat one billion dollars as the cost of the tariff to the Christmas shoppers, and throughout the year they had been asserting that the tariff added $4,000,00,000 annually to the cost of living. What have they to say now in view of the official records?

EVERYBODY PAY YOUR POLL TAX

February 1st, 1924, is not long off, and Mr. Rockett says that people are paying their poll tax mighty slowly. Now, this is not only a privilege but a duty of every person who is otherwise eligible to vote. If you haven't enough interest in your government to want to vote, then you ought to have enough interest in your schools to pay $1.50 into that fund. So, we wish to urge everyone of voting age to look after this important matter. And it would be unwise for everybody to wait till the last few days, as a big rush would result. Don't put it off but go now and look after this matter.

Vocational schools in several Michigan cities have assisted the State organization of parent-teacher associations by printing without charge its monthly bulletin for distribution in their respective districts.

CROWDING HIM

MR. PEGUES MAKES STATEMENT

He who steals my purse steals trash, but he that robs me of my good name takes that which can not help him but the taking does me irreparable injury.

For one to criticize my teaching troubles me none at all. To assail my character, the only capital God has given, is an entirely different question. I challenge the man or woman who says I have had any immoral relations with any high school girl or any other girl to produce prime facie evidence, not "hear say" or "he says" or "she says." The person who claims to have seen me through the office window in a position unbecoming a gentleman, is absolutely mistaken. That person may be honest in what that person thought that person saw, but that person lied. Any person who fails to present direct testimony of my unbecoming acts, is hereby branded as a dastardly, cowardly, infamous and pusilanimous liar.

I went to Thorsby last Tuesday night and asked Mr Billingsley to bring the county board together, to question every high school pupil and teacher, since they alone are in a position to speak intelligently on the question. All others were going on "hear says." After seeing Mr. Billingsley I caught the train for Montgomery to see the State Department of Education. The fact that I was not back Wednesday morning seemed to have set on fire those who are trying to find a mote in some one else's eye. Friends of mine sensing the tenseness of the situation and knowing that mad men have no reason, got word to me at once not to return until a few had had time to think. The person lies who says I left because I was scared. Those who advised me to see the State Department of Education know that I was afraid to go because of what people might think of my going.

I am not a coward, but I consider myself able to discuss any matter calmly and avoid a fight with any person of reason. I have too much sense to be drawn into a scuffle where two are present against me alone. If the other should shoot, both would swear the killing was due to accidental discharge of a gun in the scuffle. I repeat, I am not a coward, but I have no desire to be killed in a way to give the murderer an alibi. I will get into the ring with the boxing gloves against any man my size who has slandered me. Let him now speak or forever hearafter hold his peace.

Volumes have been poured out about some letters I wrote. Those letters may show my personal fondness for that pupil, but they certainly show no immoral act or immoral intent.

I gave one girl a present, yes. I gave two girls and one boy a present each. That is a helluva lot of evidence isn't it? Only a depraved mind or a personal enemy would think anything of that fact.

Before I came back to Clanton I wired Mr. Middleton to guarantee fair play. He did his best and had assurance of it, but I lacked a helluva lot of getting it.

Respectfully
IRA PEGUES.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Walker Spairs, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton county for murder on December 8, 1916, and was given a life sentence, will make application before the State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole.

Mr. E. D. Hand of Route 2 was a visitor of our office Tuesday. We were glad to have Mr. Hand call around to see us.

Don't cough at night!

AVOID wakefulness by taking Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey just before going to bed. It loosens phlegm, soothes irritation in throat and chest and prevents the exhausting coughing spasms. Made of just the medicines that up-to-date doctors recommend—combined with the old-time favorite, pine-tar honey. Its taste is pleasant, too! Keep Dr. Bell's on hand for all the family.

All druggists. Be sure to get the genuine.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Constructive Thinking.

This title and trticle were suggested by an incident which makes a very good sequel to what we wrote last week concerning Mr. Sereno C. Norton. In a letter received from him a day or two later he stated, "Just before leaving on his western trip he was called into the manager's office at the experiment station, where he is one of about fifty Chemists employed, and told that headquarters, at Wilmington, Del., considered his work, for the past year, to be the best of any man at the station." An outstanding example of constructive thinking and organization. Could greater commendation be condensed in so few words?

There is very little of real progress achieved in this world that is not the result of "Constructive Thinking." This sort of think has a distinct appeal to the writer who has had considerable personal experience along precisely these lines, and whose "Constructive Thinking" revolutionized not only one but several methods of doing things, until the use of his inventions have become so universally adopted that their product enters practically every home in the civilized world, wherever goods are bought in metal containers. Many things are in common use today that never existed until our "Constructive Thinking" produced them, and although it is from thirty to forty years since most of them were brought out. No better way has ever since been devised. On the other hand the very fact that these things and methods were devised, has set many others to "Constructive Thinking" and the result has been a great forward movement for a revolutionary character in the working of sheet metal into the various forms in which the products of this industry are commonly found today. "Constructive Thinking" utilizes the forces of nature, builds great industrial organizations, schools, churches and hospitals, teaches mankind how to achieve the fullness of life by being a blessing to others through giving of ourselves.

The Fighting Eagles will meet the Montevallos Friday afternoon, Jan. 12th. We are going to win. Who says so? We all say so. Fifteen Rahs for Coach Lefstead, fifteen Rahs for the team!

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Howard entertained quite a company of friends on New Years night, in honor of Mrs. D. K. Henderson, (nee Clara Soberg) who has been spending the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg. Mrs. Henderson left Thorsby last Tuesday morning, for Birmingham where she will spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Walter L. Morgan, and will then return to her home in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Howard C. Junkerman, who has been ill for several weeks was carried to a hospital at Tuscaloosa last Tuesday. Some arrangement will be made for the care of his mother who is aged, sick and on account of the illness of her son is temporarily left alone, but not among strangers or without friends

The severe weather of the past week has greatly handicaped the work of removal and fitting up Thorsby electric light plant. In conversation with Mr. Wm. H. Goodgame, the new manager, Tuesday morning, we were told that they expected to be ready to turn on the lights by Wednesday night.

The "Queen Esther class" (young ladies and with Miss Jenkins as their teacher) of the Congregational Sunday school, are preparing to give a play at Bates Hall Saturday night, January 19th. From past experience in such matters we feel confident that they will give a very interesting entertainment.

January 14th the Thorsby Lyceum course will have its third number. Rahmona, the Magician, will entertain the people. All come and help solve the mysteries solved right before your eyes.

Messrs. "North-Wind" and "Zero Weather" Saturday night had no terrors for the Literary Society. Fifty Crescendos and Jeffersonians gathered at the Girl's Dormtiory and spent the evening playing games, charades, and in contests.

Mrs. Harry V. Thompson left for Birmingham last Thursday with the expectation of remaining there for an indefinite time.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald spent Tuesday in Clanton.

Mrs. C. R. Foss entertained Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. James Biggs and Mrs. D. K. Henderson. After spending an afternoon in social intercourse and renewing old acquaintances, appetizing refreshments were served.

Mrs. James Biggs left Thorsby last Monday for her home in Atlanta.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon, Jan. 10th, at the home of Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon, Jan. 17th, at the home of Mrs. Martha Grothey.

SOUTH CALERA

Mrs. Angeline Busby from Birmingham was visiting Mrs. David Green in South Calera last Monday.

We hear that Mr. Walker is planning to move to Birmingham. The community will miss them very much.

Miss Ruth Mooney spent last weekend at home in Columbiana. She returned Sunday morning.

Mrs. Sarah Crim, who has been in the infirmary in Birmingham is able to be at home again. She came home lsat Friday night.

Miss Mexa Tate spent last Tuesday in Calera attending a meeting of the W. M. U. in the afternoon.

Mr. Henry Killingsworth and family have recently come back to Alabama from Louisiana where they have been living for some time. They were formerly of this place and we hear they are going to make their home here again.

Mr. Oulan Busby from Leeds, Ala., came down to visit his parent's Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Busby last Saturday, leaving Monday to go back to Leeds.

Although Mr. Elwood Armstrong has moved away from South Calera, he comes back real often.

On last Tuesday night the older people enjoyed a singing in the old books at the home of Mr. M. T. Busby, while the young people enjoyed games of various kinds.

Mrs. Henry Killingsworth and children were guests of Mrs. G. S. Tate on last Monday night.

A number of young people of South Calera spent a while with Miss Lutie Jones last Friday night.

Mr. Leon Busby entertained a number of friends at his home New Year's Day. Those present were: Mr. Home Martin, Mr. Alza Martin, Miss Lutie Jones, Miss Hazel Cox. In the afternoon several games of Rook were enjoyed.

Next Thursday night is PRAYER MEETING night.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

Here we come for a short chat, as news is mighty scarce over here, but of course, we are all living.

That paty or dance that Mr. McGee gave last Saturday night was one week ago was simply fine. There was a large crowd and good dancing. Think every one had a good time.

We all regret to learn that our good friend, Mr. Wilcox and family have moved away from our town. We hope they will be back to live in our community again shortly.

Folks, we know its been mighty cold to go to Sunday school, but you know, if you mean what we read and learn, the dear Savior alone will hender us from doing or saying things that will be "deathramental" to us.

We learn with regret that Mr. Fox and family, one of our long residers here, has recently moved to Birmingham. We hope that they will like their new home exceedingly well.

Mr. Spivey, of this place, has moved into the house where Mr. Fox has moved from.

Two car loads of young folks from this berg motored out to a party at Mr. L. B. Broadhead's, east of this place, last Saturday night. They reported a splendid time.

82 YEARS OLD AND AS GOOD AS A YOUNGSTER

"7 or 8 years ago I was a very sick man. Doctors said catarrh trouble of stomach and bowels, affecting the liver and heart. For more than a year I wanted to die, but could not. Upon the advice of a friend I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and although 82 years old I now feel as good as a youngster." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. —Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

SARDIS DOINGS

Mr. Harmon and Miss Bernice Broadhead gave a little party last Saturday night, Jan. 5th.

It was so awful cold there wasn't a very large crowd there but yet we had a good time. Several young people from Maplesville were there and two other young men from Jones, Ala.

Mr. John Burnett of Fairview or New Cedron was a welcome visitor to this community last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Oscar Adams was married to Miss Velma Headley last Sunday at the latter's home and we are wishing them a long happy life.

Mr. Union Headley of this place was united in marriage to a Miss Cleckley from some other settlement. We have not yet learned her name, but we also hope them a happy life.

There was a big dance at Albert Hayes' last Saturday night and every one seemed to have a good time.

Miss Addie Christian spent Saturday night with Miss Bernice Broadhead. They sure did have a fine time eating candy.

HIGH STEPPER

How would you, kind reader, like to hop back and forth from business on one of these "three-story" pogo sticks, the invention of a certain Mr. Gordon, of Los Angeles, California. He believes it won't be long before people in his home city take to the innovation and, once they're started, the rest of the country will follow suit.

No, thanks. Not for us. We admit Mr. Gordon's elevated pogo sticks may be the means of saving shoe leather but we'd hate to think of what would happen to our anatomy should the darn thing decide to part company with our feet while we were perched on its uppermost level. We're afraid we'd meet the pavement face to face too many times to find any pleasure in the scheme.

How about it?

Give One For Christmas

The Tudor Sedan is a gift every member of the family will share. It adds to daily happiness. It will extend the joyous spirit of Christmas to every day of the year.

This new Ford type is of an exceptionally pleasing design. Wide doors opening forward, folding right front seat, and a roomy interior make it a convenient car to use; its high radiator, broad cowl, sun visor, and large windows make it stylish in appearance. Yet it is sold at the lowest price ever asked for a Sedan—only $590 f.o.b. Detroit.

The rich, permanent luster of its finish, the quiet good taste of its upholstery, and the ornamental treatment of its full-nickeled hardware, all help to make it a car you are proud to drive.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE URGES THE PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

Since our people are rather indifferent about paying their poll taxes this year, we wish to urge upon the Republicans of Chilton County the importance of attending to this matter. If you will just consider the matter a little you can readily see that there is too much at stake for you to ignore paying your poll tax. Next year, we elect a president, and there will be several elections of importance. So, in order that you may be pemitted to vote, pay your poll tax before February 1st, 1923, and don't wait too late.

Yours for a strong party,
W. G. CULP, Chairman.
J. Z. MIMS, Secretary.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By vertue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of said County, was commanded to make the sum of one hundred fifty-three and 52-100 dollars, cost of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the March Term, 1923, of said Court, against Mary Fitzpatrick, N. C. M., by her next friend, H. T. Fitzpatrick, in favor of officers of the court, I have levied upon and will sell to the highest bidder for cash at public sale, at the court house door of said county, between the hours of 11 o'clock, A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., on Monday, the 4th day of February, 1924, all the right, title and the interest of the above named Mary Fitzpatrick, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

West half of NW quarter of N half of SW quarter in Section Twenty (20), Township Twenty-two (22) North, of Range Sixteen (16) East, and containing 159.60 acres more or less, except the mineral right, situated in Chilton County, Alabama.

This, the 28th day of December, 1923.

T. J. LITTLEJOHN,
Sheriff.

Posted at the Court House door, December 28th, 1923.

T. J. LITTLEJOHN,
1-3-4t Sheriff.

Will He Withdraw His Endorsement?

Congress is now in session.

Is it the intention of certain members to hamper the railroads by the enactment of further restrictive legislation—especially aimed to decrease the revenues of the railroads—or will they be disposed to grant the railroads a legislative holiday?

The Railroads have accepted the provisions of the present Transportation Act; and—although they have not been able to earn the rate of return permitted therein—they are spending more than $1,000,000,000 for the improvements called for by increased traffic.

Nearly all of this billion dollars is borrowed money—borrowed in good faith, with the help of Uncle Sam's endorsement, in the form of the assurance that the Railroads would be allowed to earn a fair return, based on the value of their property; and be able to pay for needed improvements.

Further legislative curtailment of railroad revenues at this time, would result in frightening off private investors upon whom the railroads must depend for new capital; this would serve to stop the construction of needed improvements; the efficiency of the railroads would be destroyed and there would come inevitably a breakdown and bankruptcy of the transportation system; and finally Government ownership with its attendant evils.

Although the L. & N. Railroad has not been able to earn the "fair return" permitted by the Transportation Act, it has, within the past year, contracted to spend for new equipment, second tracks, bridges, etc., more than $52,000,000—thus acknowledging its obligations to the public and manifesting the purpose of the management to fulfill them.

The L. & N. joins the other Roads in asking that they be let alone; that they be not further hampered, by unwise legislation, in their efforts to keep pace with and to assist in the Nation's progress.

Mr. W. H. Sartor Host To The Gun Club.

On last Tuesday evening the home of Mr. W. H. Sartor was the scene of a congenial group of his friends, when he entertained at a lovely dinner. The table held as its central onament a pretty flowering Christmas cactus and hand painted place cards bore the inscription of the members of the gun club and friends. poinsettanut cups were an added attraction to the table. A delightful four course dinner was served to Messrs. Mallie White, H. T. Pipes, R. C. McDavid, Fred Calloway, V. J. Elmore, L. C. Ross, J. B. Atkinson, L. R. Lancaster, from Birmingham, Dr. J. P. Hayes, Dr. V. J. Gragg, Dr. E. E. Upchurch, Rev. C. C. Wilkerson and Dr. S. J. Ezell. The club presented Mr. Sartor with a lovely Christmas gift. Mr. J. B. Atkinson being spokesman of the occasion. A social smoke was enpoyed after dinner.

Wednesday Bridge Club Entertained.

Miss Kathleen Mullins proved a charming hostess on last Wednesday afternoon when she delightfully entertained the members of her Bridge club. Fragrant carnations lent grace and beauty to the apartments. After a spirited game the top score was held by Mrs. John Browder, who was presented a lovely embroidered handkerchief. Late in the afternoon a dainty salad plate was served.

Mrs. McSwain Hostess.

The Wednesday Sewing club were delightfully entertained on last Wednesday when Mrs. T. C. McSwain was hostess. Christmas greens and bulbs were used to decorate the apartments. A new member, Mrs. Bama Cox was welcomed into the club.

A delightful salad plate was served late in the afternoon.

Miss Marjorie Murphy, who is teaching at Oak Grove, spent the week-end at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. P. Murphy.

Mr. C. Fenn Jones made a business trip to Montgomery Tuesday.

Mr. Will Culp was a visitor to the Capital City Tuesday.

Miss Tate has returned to resume school work after spending the holidays at home in Anniston.

MOTHERS—

Don't you know you can turn a distressed, feverish, coughing child into a comfortable and happily smiling one simply by giving

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

No Narcotics

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Miss Carter, who spent the holidays in Georgia, has returned to resume her school duties here.

Mr. Joe Maddox visited his wife, who is sick in a hospital in Birmingham, Tuesday.

Mrs. John Armstrong is spending this week in Boothtown with her brother, Dr. Clarence Roper and wife.

Miss Jean Johnson left Saturday for Nashville where she is in school this winter.

The friends of Miss Marie Thomas will be interested to know that she has accepted the position as third grade teacher upon the resignation of Mrs. Dick Hayes.

Mr. J. O. Middleton made a business trip to Columbiana Monday.

After a couple of weeks visit to Mr. and Mrs. Biles, his mother has returned to her home in Tennessee.

Mrs. W. I. Mullins is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Amzi Gowan and Dr. Gowan in Brewton.

Mrs. J. C. Jones returned Saturday evening from a weeks visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Mrs. J. S. Hubbard from Verbena was the guest of Mrs. Watts Moore Friday.

Mrs. Frank Culpepper spent Tuesday in Jemison with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Erwin.

Mr. Will Robinson is spending this week in Havana, Fla., in interest of his mills there.

Mrs. Mattie Wooley and Hoyt Reynolds have returned home from a motor trip to South Alabama.

Earl Gore left Monday for Belle Buckle, Tenn., where he will resume school duties at Webb School.

Miss Warrene Spigener has returned to Marion where she is a student this winter.

Mr. J. O. Middleton made a business trip to Montgomery last week.

Mrs. Macey Jones has returned home after a visit to her mother in Montgomery.

Miss Johnson has returned to Clanton after spending the holidays at Hamselle.

Mr. O. E. Latham from Dothan was a visitor to Clanton Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonza Parrish are the proud parents of a fine boy, which arrived at their home Jan. 3.

A WONDERFUL SERMON

The Seventh-day Adventists are holding a Colporteurs' Institute in Clanton, which began last Sunday, Dec. 30, and will continue for 10 days. The evening services are devoted to the preaching of the message which they believe is due the world to day. President C. B. Stephenson filled the pulpit Sunday night, and last night and the night before pastor W. P. McLennan, of Birmingham, did the speaking. The subject last Wednesday night was "Is the World Getting Better?" The minister said in part:

"Where is the thoughtful man or woman that has not come face to face with this question? The overwhelming iniquity and the almost unbelievable events of the past few years have forced this question upon us, and while we may not care to meet it fairly and squarely for fear of becoming a pessimist, it would be well for us to remember the language of Col. John Temple Graves, 'We would better be truthful pessimists, than optimistic liars.'"

Your speaker is an optimist and recognizes the fact that never was optimism more needed than today.

In considering the above question, let us allow facts to answer the following questions:

Is the world improving, morally?
Is the world improving, spiritually?
Is the world improving, physically?
Is the world improving, civilly?

It was Woodrow Wilson who said, "I have found that the particular thing you have to surrender to is facts." We will now call to the witness stand those who are in position to speak authoritatively. Coming to the first of these four questions we call upon the following witness:

Mr. H. G. Wells, the English publivist, observes; "The ship of civilization is not going to sink in five years time or fifty years time. It is sinking now. . ."

Mr. Alfred Noyes of international reputation says, "Practical men, with their feet solidly planted upon the earth, are looking into the future as into an immeasurable darkness, and they are not sure whether there is solid ground in front of them, or whether the next few steps will bring them to the brink of the precipice."

Dr. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., says, "At the present time murder prevails in this country to an extent unheard of in the experience of civilized mankind," and the SPECTATOR asserts, "Murder indeed has become a safe trade."

Alfred Russell Wallace, whose life work was in the interests of evolution and who was a co-worker with Darwin, gives us the following in one of his last published books: "It is not too much to say that our whole system of society is rotten from the top to bottom, and the social environment as a whole, in relation to our possibilities and our claims, is the worst that the world has ever seen."

iLsten to ex-President Wilson: "In these doubtful and anxious days, when all the world is at unrest, and, look which way you will, the road ahead seems darkened by shadows which portend dangers of many kinds."

Mr. John R. Mott, witnesses: "It is a bewildered world, a confused world. This all means an imperiled world. We see everything disintegrating, and that leads to destruction."

Current History says criminal conditions "have been steadily growing worse and becoming more alarming for at least thirty years."

Statistics show that in thirty years crime has increased 500 per cent in the U. S., or four times the increase in population, and in the opinion of the Law Enforcement Committee of the American Bar Association, "the trial of a criminal is like a game of chance, with all the chance in facor of the criminal." No wonder Judge Lindsay said the question now is not of improving but of saving society. Why, my dear people, there are in New York City alone, according to David Starr Jordan, 12,000 college men who are down and out through vice.

This world of ours is out of joint to a large degree in every particular. Mark the increase in the number of suicides. The Save-Life League has reported that there were 20,000 suicides in 1922, an advance of twenty-three per cent over the previous year. All classes and ages are affected, from a 100 year old man to a child of five; from Millionaires to those dying of starvation. In the U. S. last year fifty college professors and school teachers, nineteen preachers, fifty-two judges and lawyers, eighty-four physicians, one hundred presidents of large concerns, seventy-nine millianaires, eighty-eight bankers, took their own lives. In New York City alone the average is more than two a day. The increasing number of suicides among boys and girls is particularly noticeable. From 477 in 1919 the total jumped to 900 in 1922. Boy suicides averaged in age, sixteen years, and girls, fifteen years. And there is only one source of hope in these perilous times—it is the blessed gospel hope. Titus 2:3.

We will now notice the second question: Is the world becoming better spiritually? As to the condition of our churches, Harold J. Hamilton spoke the truth when he stated as given in the LITERARY DIEST, our churches themselves "have become hot beds of infidelity, higher criticism, and evolution. The monkey gospel is today predominant in the protestant church. The Bible has been reduced to a classic. The blood atonement is called a slaughter house religion. For lack of space we cannot record all that is going on in the greater part of the church today, showing the drift of things toward complete apostasy. The world stands in need of heart religion and the old time gospel message. As ex-President Wilson recently said: "The sum of the whole matter is this, that our civilization cannot survive materially unless it be redeemed spiritually."

Passing on to the third question, is the world becoming better physically? Positively, No. While it is true that the average length of life has increased a few years, this increase of life is realized from the minimum of life and not from the maximum. In other words, there are fewer who reach the ages of fifty, seventy-five and one hundred than there were fifty years ago, but more that reach the younger ages. As Frederick L. Hoffman, the world's greatest statistician, says, "It is evident that the decline in death rate has been at the younger ages. . . and that there is no doubt that the morality of adult ages is still decidely excessive." And the death rate from diseases due to imorality is on the increase. More than sixty per cent of men are infected with these deadly diseases.

Insanity, indicating tissue degeneracy of the brain, has increased more than three hundred per cent in the last fifty years.

Is the world becoming better civilly or governmentally? The editor of the WASHINGTON POST presents this graphic picture. "The world's governments are now regarding with keenest anxiety the state of affairs in Germany, France, and England. sibilities of the near future." Says Premier Baldwin; "Our most acute and experienced specialists confess themselves baffled. They will tell you that in all history of statecraft they are familiar with there is no other complication so obstinate as this."

This is indeed, a dark picture, but nevertheless it is a true one and in the language of our late President, "It would be a grievous error to allow ourselves to feel too confident that this is only a temporary and passing aspect." The student of prophecy, knowing the meaning of all this can sing still,

"Blest be the tempest, kind the storm,
That drives me nearer home."

These very conditions enable us to "see the day approaching." Hb. 10:25. They are a fulfillment of such Scriptures as Matt. 24:12; 24:37-39; Tim. 3:1-5, 13. The Hope of the world at this time is summed up in one sentence, "Come, Lord Jesus, and come quickly."

JUDGE REYNOLDS WRITES MORE OF THE HAND AFFAIR

Says That Thompson Makes Two Different Statements Of What Was Said.

Clanton, Ala., Jan. 15, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I do not wish to prolong the controversy which happened in my office while I was in Washington, but my attention has been called to an affidavit by Mr. J. F. Thompson in the Chilton County News of last week in which Mr. Thompson stated:

"That in company with J. J. Pickens and W. T. Hand, I went to the Record Room in the Court House at Clanton, Alabama, to work on the poll tax records on Friday morning, December 14th, 1923. Shortly after our arrival Omar Reynolds came in and stated that he would like to put some one in there to watch, as Mr. Hand had been in here before looking at the books, and gone out and made statements that there had been names rubbed off. Prior to this time, not one discourteous, unpleasant or unkind word had been spoken by anyone, in fact, Mr. Hand had not spoken to either of the clerks in the probate office. Mr. Hand was with me in the record room at work the entire day mentioned, execpt when he left for the train but returned in about two or three minutes. I told Judge Reynolds on Wednesday, December 19th in the office of Grover Walker, that it was not Mr. Hand but I was the one who asked the Clerk for the information relative to the names on the poll list. There was nothing unusual or unpleasant resulted from my inquiry. Mr. Hand was at work on the other side of the table and took no part in the inquiry I made."

In other words, Mr. Thompson states emphatically that not one discourteous, unpleasant or unkind word had been spoken by any one, and further states that Mr. Hand had not spoken to either of the clerks in the probate office. However, quite different is the statement of Mr. Thompson in his letter to The Union-Banner of December 27th, wherein he states:

"The truth of the matter is that I did not say an unkind or discourteous word to either of the ladies in the office, nor was an unkind or discourteous word spoken to either of them by any one in my presence or hearing. Neither did either of them burst into tears or go for assistance so far as I know. It certainly did not happen in the record room where I was all the time. To show that your statement is not true, Judge Reynolds said to me in

PROGRESS ON THE DRAINAGE WORK OF SWAMPS HERE

Mr. Collins Completes His Part of Work And Turns His List Over to Lawyers.

Mr. J. D. Collins, who was hired by the drainage meeting two months ago to draw up the initiative plans for the drainage of the swamps around Clanton, reports that his work of drawing up the sketch map of the project and the proper entering of the signatures to the petition have been completed. Mr. Collins has turned the matter over to the attorneys, who are getting the papers in legal form. As soon as this is done the papers will be filed with the Probate Judge, who will take the matter in hand and go to work with it in accordance with the State drainage laws.

To merely glance at the matter it looks as though the work is going forward slowly, but when one considers the enormity of the project and the fact that it has to be done in accord with the State and Federal laws touching on it, it takes time to get it all worked up. Mr. Collins assures us that the work is not at all dead but that the prospects now are very promising. A sufficient number of signatures of the land owners have been secured to carry the work on, and it is hoped that as soon as the season gets right the matter may be far enough advanced for the real work of the dredging to begin.

We will ask that everyone who is interested in the advancement of our town and community stay squarely behind the proposition and take advantage of every opportunity to push it forward. This thing means more to the advancement of the community than any other thing we know of at this time. We can't afford to let this opportunity pass.

JOHN L. GORE APPOINTED

Mr. J. L. Gore, ex-Sheriff of Chilton County, last Friday received his appointment as Federal Prohibition Enforcement officer of Alabama, the appointment coming through Judge H. W. Hargett of Birmingham, Federal Prohibition Director.

Mr. Gore left Sunday for Birmingham to report for duty. It is generally thought that Mr. Gore will be placed at Girard, Ala., to do prohibition enforcement work, however, this will be a matter for the state department to determine.

Mr. Gore will be engaged in practically the same work as Mr. Walter Gillespie has been doing in Chilton and adjoining counties for the past few years.

MR. LANDE MOVES STORE

Mr. Maurice Lande, proprietor of The Leader, is moving his stock of goods back into the old stand in the Mullins Building which was burned a few months ago. The building has been thoroughly renovated and the front painted red, so now it measures up very favorably with Mr. Lande's idea of a real store house. When he gets it chug full of brand new goods he will be ready for business in the right way.

THREE IMPORTANT ELECTIONS WILL COME OFF THIS YEAR

The Success or Failure of the Republican Party of Chilton County Depends Largely Upon Payment of Poll Taxes and Registration of Voters Within Next Few Days.

The time allowed to pay poll tax closes on the night of February 1st, and the payments so far have been exceedingly low. The Board of Registrars are now making their rounds over the county for the purpose of registering those who have become 21 years of age during the past year and all others who have not heretofore registered. So, now is the time for the Republicans of Chilton County to prepare.

There is seldom ever a year when the full strength of the party is more needed than this year. There are three elections to come off and they are all very important ones. The special election for the election of presidential delegates to the national conventions will be held in March. The regular primary comes off in May, when we are to nominate a County Treasurer, two County Commissioners and one Member of the County Board of Education. In November comes the general election when we will elect the above named officers together with president of the United States. Also there will very likely be other matters of vital importance to be voted on.

The Republicans of Chilton County can readily see how important it is for us to get busy now and within the next few days place ourselves in position to be able to stand our ground in these coming elections. The Democrats have got the down-hill pull on us since every member of the Board of Registrars are Democrats, and they are going to take unlimited advantage of this opportunity. The only chance we have to keep our party ahead of the procession is to work while we can and not wait till it is everlastingly too late.

This matter is the business of every Republican in Chilton County. If you haven't already paid the poll tax of yourself, your wife, your mother, your daughter and your son, do it now. Look around among the other Republicans of your community and see that they do the same. The plan of the Democrats is to work by making as little fuss as possible, but just because they are not making a big noise don't let them make you believe they are not working. We have got to combat these efforts by working our side of the matter, and now is the time to do it.

If you can't meet the Board of Registrars when they come to your precinct, then meet them at the court house in Clanton between January 21st and February 2nd, inclusive. While they are at the court house they are allowed to register voters from any precinct in the county.

In short, our appeal is simply this: Get all of the Republicans of Chilton County to register and pay their back poll tax while we have the opportunity—and remember we have only a few days left in which to do it.

ROWLAND W. TAYLOR MOVES TO CLANTON

Mr. Roland W. Taylor of the firm of Baker and Taylor has moved his family to Clanton to live. Mr. Taylor and his folks arrived here last Friday and their household goods came one day this week. Mr. Taylor will live in the house which he has owned in the Gowan Addition for the past several years, which is located on the corner of First Street and Third Avenue South near the high school building.

Mr. Taylor needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County, as he is the son of our good old fellow townsman, T. G. Taylor of farming and grist-mill fame. Roland worked in dry good stores in Clanton several years ago and since that time has worked for ten years as traveling salesman for a well known wholesale grocery during which time he traveled all over the north-eastern part of Alabama.

This pogressive young man left a good and well-paying job to pitch his tent in Clanton, but he has got the stuff that makes success sure wherever he goes. In going into partnership with Mr. Baker in the retail mercantile business Mr. Taylor does so with the same spirit in which he went out on his rounds as traveling salesman and that is to give the very best service in his power. He is in business with a man that has succeeded well in business life, and the combined efforts of the two cannot possibly result in anything other than the building of a business of which Clanton may be justly proud.

WHITE CITY MAN KILLED IN CYCLONE LAST THURSDAY

Mr. J. E. Hargett, age 63, of White City, was killed in a cyclone which visited his place last Thursday. Mr. Hargett was in his barn shucking corn when the wind came which swept the barn down taking the life of Mr. Hargett and two mules and one horse.

The services of J. Mell Martin, Undertaker, of Clanton were procured to prepare the body for burial, which occurred Friday.

MARRIED SATURDAY NIGHT

Last Saturday night about 11 o'clock, after Uncle Dock Wells had gone to bed and been asleep quite a while, someone knocked at his chamber door. Uncle Dock hated mighty bad to part with his good warm bed, but the knocking would not stop until he got up and answered it. Upon opening the door ne was told by the bold intruder that he wanted to get married. Uncle Dock shivering from the cold said, "My, Lord, young man, can't you wait till morning?" The reply of "Nope" came forth immediately. So, Uncle Dock did not argue any further but jerked on his breeches and proceeded to perform the sacred ceremony.

The contracting parties were Mr. Ervin Treace and Miss Eselee Wells, both of Clanton. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Treace will make their home in Sylacauga, Ala.

MR. A. B. TUCKER HERE

Mr. A. B. Tucker, feature writer for the Montgomery Advertiser, was in Clanton Monday and Tuesday of this week. He was pesent at the W. O. W. meeting at the court house Monday night, he being a state officer in that fraternity.

While here Mr. Tucker decided to write up a feature story of the progress of Clanton and Chilton County during the past year which will be published in The Advertiser one day this week. Write-ups of this kind in the daily papers is splendid advertising for Clanton and Alabama.

CAUGHT A WILD CAT

One day last week Mr. Napoleon Willis of Providence went to one of his traps on Coosa River and found that he had caught a big full-grown wild catamount. The trap had the animal by one of his feet and was not injured in any way. Napoleon managed some way to get the cat in a cage and brought him home alive and in fine shape. The animal is still alive and Mr. Willis says he will bring him to Clanton one day soon so that everybody may see him.

NINE OF SOUTHERN POWER COMPANIES BID FOR SHOALS

Proposal Provides Part of Plant Shall be Devoted to Making Fertilizers For Farmers.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Promising a return of $100,000,000 to the government over a period of 50 years, the nine principal power companies of the South Wednesday laid before the Federal Power Commission a letter which is tantamount to a new offer for Muscle Shoals.

The new offer proposes a lease for the government properties at Muscle Shoals, exclusive of the nitrate plants, for a period of 50 years, at a rental of $2,000,000 a year, this annual payment being 4 per cent interest on the government's estimated total investment of $50,000,000, when construction is completed.

The proposal provides that in time of national emergency the government may take over the property, and it would be subject to recapture by the government at the end of the 50-year period, as provided by the federal water power law.

The joint letter of the nine power companies contemplates the organization of a company to lease the Muscle Shoals properties. The letter details the offer in this way:

The proposed company "would agree to pay a rental to the government sufficient to meet all interest charges on expenditures on the project to the time of its completion, including the $17,000,000 expended during and just after the war.

"This total expenditure, we understand, will be approximately $45,000,000, on the assumption that the government installs eight generating units in the hydro plant, to which should be added $4,500,000, the present value of the government steam plant at Muscle Shoals, making a total of approximately $50,000,000 as the basis for the interest charges.

"This interest return, therefore, taken at the government rate of 4 per cent, amounts to approximately $2,000,000 per annum, which the licensee would be prepared to pay. If the government installs additional power units beyond eight, the return to the government should be increased accordingly.

"If the government desires to sell the steam plant mentioned, one or more of the undersigned would be prepared to purchase the same at $4,500,000 on terms satisfactory to the government.

"The rental for the first six years would be at the rate of $300,000 per annum; for the next four years, $1,500,000 per annum, increasing the following year to the maximum rental."

Under this plan the property would be operated under the protection and regulation of the federal water power act, it is pointed out, and the government would retain ownership of all of its properties involved.

The letter states that the entire Muscle Shoals Power can be absorbed in the South within a period of not exceeding 10 years from the completion of the project, owing to the interlocking Southern superpower system already established.

"During the first few years of the lease," the letter says, "it would be necessary for the power companies to expend not less than $10,000,000 in new lines, additional units and other equipment necessary to transmit and deliver the power to various parts of the South."

The power company would supply the necessary power to operate the government locks without expense to the government, the latter to operate the locks.

In time of war, the government could assume control of the property if it saw fit.

"Under the plan proposed," the letter goes on to say, "ample provision would be made for the supply of electric energy for the manufacturer of fertilizer at Muscle Shoals, such energy to be supplied at actual cost to the licensee."

GRADY REYNOLDS ENDORSED AS U. S. DIST. ATTORNEY

Reliable Reports Say Local Attorney Will Be Appointed By Attorney General.

Appointment of a United States district attorney for the middle district of Alabama is expected to be made within the next few days. Attorney General Daugherty conferred with President Coolidge Saturday afternoon regarding several appointments, among which is said to have been that in the Montgomery district.

According to reliable reports, the appointment will go to Grady Reynolds, of Clanton. He has had strong endorsements presented at the White House and at the department of justice. The only objection raised against Mr. Reynolds has been his comparative youth, but his experience at the bar is said by his friends to be so extensive as to counterbalance this factor.

Mr. Reynolds and his father, Probate Judge Reynolds, of Chilton county, were in Washington ten days ago regarding the appointment. No information has been given out here as to the assistant to be named to the district attorney. This is not a presidential appointment.

It is understood that strong efforts have been made to compose factional differences in the ranks of Alabama republicans and that probably one of the applicants for the major post would be named assistant. The appointment has been pending many months and President Coolidge is anxious to have the matter cleared up.

Mr. Leon B. Popwell of Thorsby Route 1 was in Clanton Monday morning. He was here to confer with the county officials regarding the new county road law.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

It was the privilege of the writer to attend the annual meeting of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association, Saturday, Jan. 12th. We were very much impressed with the orderly and business like manner in which the proceedings were conducted. This Association now has 220 members, 16 of whom were enrolled at this meeting. A representative of the Dyer Fruit Box Mfg. Co., of Dyer, Tenn., was present and stated that Thorsby fruit and Truck Growers Association was the best organized of any association of its kind he had ever visited. The residential area covered by its members extends from Clanton to some distance north of Jemison, and four or five miles either east or west from Thorsby, a territory which includes appoximately 100 square miles. One needs but to see these men assembled for a business meeting and note their close attention to all the proceedings, their prompt action on all important questions, their seeming confidence in and respectful attention to their officers, to realize something of the potency of the force of this body of Chilton County farmers organized.

There was no bombastic oratory, but a full and free discussion of the question before the house in which each speaker took part briefly and with evident intelligence.

In the elections which followed the routine business, the confidence of the most of the members in those who have been officers for the past year was manifest by the election of so many to succeed themselves.

For the ensuing year the officers elected were: Carl C. Peterson, President; Green S. Burnett, Vice- President; Chas. M. Williams, Secretary, J. Milton Smith, Treasurer; Chas. A. Peterson, Business Manager.

Directors elected were: Carl C. Petersen, Green S. Burnett, J. Walter Littleton, M. J. Soberg, Wm. A. Hayes.

One feature of the business is the necessity of making provision for growing and harvesting and marketing the crops before they are grown. Crates and Fertilizes must be purchased wholly on faith that there will be a crop grown to put in them.

As evidence that this confidence is justified by results we submit the report of the Treasurer for the past year, which was an unsally hard one, because of laet frosts which destroyed the best and earliest half of the strawberry crop, making the season late, when competition made prices low, and in addition a rainy season which injured the quality of many of the berries.

Produce Sold in 1923 By Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association, Thorsby, Ala.

13,405 crates Strawberries	$37,146.15
307 crates Tomatoes	566.15
349 Hampers Beans	567.44
69 crates Grapes	119.87
53 cts. Scuppernongs	72.63
Other produce sold	1,020.00

Eleven car loads of fertilizers were ordered co-operatively and distributed to the members at factory prices at greatly reduced prices over individual buyers.

The ball game between Montevallo and Thorsby, January 11th, resulted in a victory for Thorsby. The score was 20 to 13.

Thosby Institute Items

The Lyceum numbers which are being given under the auspices of Thorsby Institute contine to be entertaining and instrctive. The attendance has increased with each performance. The third number which was held January 14th, had a larger attendance than any of the others. Be on the lookout for the announcement of the next number.

The first semester ends the 25th of January. Examinations will be held on the 24th and 25th. Anyone who is planning to attend the Institute will do well to enroll at the beginning of the second semester. New classes are formed at this time, making it the logical time to commence your work.

At the January meeting of the T. I. Board of Trustees held Thursday, the 10th, Rev. Joseph E. Each, the new pastor of the Congressional church, was elected a Trustee and member of committees to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. J. W. Davenport, when he left for Tennessee.

At this meeting Miss Helen C. Jenkins was again elected as principal of the school for the ensuing year, beginning July 1st, 1924, to succeed herself. Other members of the faculty will be elected at the April meeting.

Miss Jenkins has asked us to say, to avoid misunderstanding, that the new honor conferred on Thursby Institute by enrollment on the accredited list of the Southern States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, has no bearing whatever on being on the accredited list of the State of Alabama, an honor that the school has long enjoyed.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Bank of Thorsby was held last Tuesday evening, at which time reports were made by the officers, showing that the bank had had a most prosperous year.

The following Directors were elected for the ensuing year: Chas. E. Lucas, Felix Eiland, E. W. Butler, C. C. Peterson, J. H. Goddard, J. R. Martin and A. E. Reagan. Mr. A. M. Grimsley was re-elected chairman of the board.

Upon adjournment of the stockholders, the directors went into session and elected officers for the coming year. Those elected were: Chas. E. Lucas, Pres.; C. C. Peterson, Vice-Pres.; and C. R. Foss, Cashier.

It was voted that $3,000.00 be placed to the surplus account, and a 10 per cent dividend be declared.

A general spirit of friendship and good will, as well as satisfaction over the last years results, prevailed at the meeting.

Mr. J. B. Wells, who for the past few months has been working for the Chilton County News of Clanton, has accepted a position in Selma with the Times-Journal and leaves this week to take up the work down there.

ELECTRIGITY ON FARM IMPORTANT

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 14.(—Special.)—That the farm electrical research and investigational work which will be done jointly by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the Alabama Power Company will reveal facts of tremendous importance in making agriculture a more profitable industry and farm life more attractive is the opinion of Dr. E. A. White, national figure in work of this kind, as expressed by him while in Auburn today.

Dr. White represents one of the most powerful study groups ever formed in the United States. It is composed of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Electric Light Association, the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, and the U. S. Departments of Agriculture, Commerce and Interior.

The application of electricity to farms for the production of power is one of the most important possibilities of the work, thinks Dr. White. He declares that farm income parallels farm power and expresses his belief that electricity produced on the streams of Alabama can be made to supply Alabama farmers with power in such a way as to make it very advantageous for them to use it.

MRS. NANCY RETHERFORD DIES IN CLANTON HOSPITAL

Mrs. Nancy Ann, wife of the late I. O. Retherford of Mineral Springs, died in the Central Alabama Hospital last Saturday night about midnight, Mrs. Retherford was 76 years old and was the second wife of Mr. Retherford. She was married about forty years ago and was not the mother of any children. The only living whole brother of the deceased is Mr. James E. Mullins who lives at Lawley, Ala. Her last whole sister, Mrs. W. W. Jones, died in Clanton about six months ago. Mr. W. I. Mullins of Clanton is her half brother.

The deceased, being a daughter of Rev. James A. Mullins, was a member of one of the most prominent families of this section. Rev. Mullins was the organizer of the Clanton Baptist Chuch and to his good name hangs the honor of having been intimately connected with the founding of several of our leading Baptist Churches in Chilton County. Although originally a Baptist, when Mrs. Retherford was married she went with her husband to the Methodist Church where she remained a faithful member until her death. Her membership was with the Lime Springs Methodist Church.

The remains were laid in their final resting place beside her husband in the Mountain Springs Cemetery Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, preached the funeral, assisted by Rev. Ezell of the Clanton Baptist Church.

MAGGIE AND GIGGS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The famous old story of "Bringing up Father" by Magie and Giggs was played at the county high school auditorium last Monday night by a New York company of players. The spaceous auditorium was filled to capacity, and evreyone seemed to enjoy the play emensely. A nice collection was taken in, a part of which was kept by the school. There is one thing about Clanton people and that is they enjoy nice wholesome amusement.

MISLEADING STATISTICS

Statistics are sometimes not what they seem. For instance, it is announced that our agricultural imports exceed our exports by about $400,000,000. But there is included in this forest products which are really poducts of the soil, but not, in the usual meaning of the term, agicultural. We import a large quantity of wood pulp. Excluding forest products, the excess of so-called agricultural imports is about $100,000,000. Bt there is included in that silk and rubber, neither of which is usually classed as agricultural, althogh strictly such when we consider their origin. When food products alone are considered, our exports and imports very nearly balance. Our imports of food products are very largely of a class of commodities we do not produce in this country—coffee, tea, spices, tropical fruits, etc.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I will make application for a parole for Bully Hubbard at the next regular meeting of the Board of Pardons. Hubbard was convicted of murder and given a life sentence in Chilton County on December 14th, 1894.

Woco Pep Advances

Owing to the recent heavy advances in the price of crude oil, and an advance of three to four cents at the refineries, we find that we are today compelled to advance the price of Woco Pep two cents a gallon. We regret very much to have to do this, however, to meet the cost of today we are compelled to do so, and while we feel that the large companies will do the same within the next few days, tho our price will be two cents higher regardless of what the others do. We thank the public for their patronage, and even at two cents more Woco Pep is still cheaper than ordinary gas.

REMINGTON'S

Do you know why our leading newspapers chose Frederic Remington's paintings for their big campaign—when so many other great artists' pictures were also available?

It was because Remington's paintings are so distinctly American—Because every one of his pictures tells a complete story in itself—Because his people are all clean-cut, strong—Because so many millions admire and love them.

A marvelous production—a great painter's masterpieces brought to life, with a background of romance, pathos and thrilling dramma. You will never forget it, once you see

To notice the increase in the bank deposits in the banks of Clanton during the past year will show how business conditions in general are improving. The total deposits in both banks on January 1, 1923 was $824,985.94, and on January 1, 1924 was $935,026.54, an increase of $110,040.60. Yes, this Republican prosperity is playing havoc with the country.

Saturday Evening Post—To handle private trust funds carelessly and wastefully is a serious matter and one is promptly fired for it; to handle public trust funds carelessly and wastefully may make one so popular that he will be returned by an increased majority. To get votes with five-dolalr bills is bribery and one goes to prison for it; to get votes with legislation voting tax money to favored classes and localities is statesmanship and one goes to Congress for it. Vote getting is sometimes hard to distinguish from vote buying, unless one is trained to nice political distinctions.

There has recently been placed before the War Department a bid for Muscle Shoals which surpasses any that have heretofore been made for that property. There is no stings to this poposition since the lesees agree to pay the government its legal rate of four per cent on all the money it has invested at Muscle Shoals and too the lease is only for a period of fifty years. The nine leading power companies of the South are jointly submitting the proposition and they agree to form a separate and distinct firm to operate the Muscle Shoals plants but at the same time this firm will be backed by all nine of the companies. This is by far the most workable proposition the government has received.

As Secretary of the Treasury, W. G. McAdoo, whose hat is in the ring for president of the United States, appointed John Burke, a Knight of Columbus, as Treasurer of the United States. After his retirement from that office Burke became director of a bucket-shop financial concern that quickly went into bankruptcy with liabilities overwhelmingly in excess of assets. Secretary McAdoo also placed Wm. J. Flynn, another Irish Knight of Columbus at the head of the treasury secret service. The private secretary to McAdoo was also a Roman Catholic. Mr. Underwood of Alabama is also closely affiliated with the Catholics and whiskey heads of the country and has come out openly against the Ku Kux Klan. Mr. Musgrove had a mighty slim chance of being nominated, so what are the liberty-loving and truly American Democrats of our country going to do for a president?

CHIPPING IT OFF

The public debt of the United States was reduced $400,000,000 during 1923, and now stands at approximately $21,500,000,000. The man who is successfully engineering the liquidation of our huge war obligations ought to be trusted in the matter of tax redctions. Secretary Mellon knows what the Treasury needs and how best to obtain it.

BOK HITS ROCK

One thing the author of the Bok plan failed to explain is how the United States could take part in all the deliberations of the league council and assembly and yet not be a member of the league. Yet that is what his precious plan calls for. There is nothing in the league covenant that would countenance such an instrusion of an outsider, and if it were accepted it would simply mean putting another puncture in that already badly riddled contract.

KEEPS POWDER DRY

Jugoslavia declares she can mobilize 2,000,000 men in 24 hours, and that a slight shortage in artillery ammunition can be quickly supplied. Jugoslavia is a member of the league of nations, but she is careful not to depend on that organization to protect her independence. Article X of the covenant guarantees each member against territorial aggression, but each member knows that its real guarantee lies in an effective military force—just as it did before the World War was fought and before the league was even dreamed of.

EQUITABLE REPRESENTATION FOR SOUTH

Washington, Jan. 14.—By telling part of the truth, and suppressing the rest, certain public speakers and editors are misrepresenting the facts concerning Southern repesentation in the next Republican National Convention. For the purpose of creating the impression that an un undue advantage is to be given to President Coolidge in the Convention the assertion is made that the Republican National Committee, at its recent session, increased the representation of Southern States over the representation they had in 1920, and over the representation that was planned when the Committee met some two and one-half years ago. Thus far these critics of the Republican National Committee told the truth. Southern States will have a slightly larger representation than they had in 1920.

But these critics are guilty of misrepresentation when they stoppel with the telling of this part of the story. They fail to state that while he South will get nine more delegates than in the Convention of 1920, Northern States get 114 more delegates thus more than counterbalancing the additional representation given to the South. When representation is considered in percentages, which is the determining factor in measuring relative strength, the South has relatively less representation in the next Convention than it had in 1920. Thus is carried out the spirit of the recommendations made by the last National Convention

The resolutions adopted by the Convention of 1920 directed the National Committee to adopt "a just and equitable basis of representation in future National Concentions." In 1921 a subcommittee worked out a plan of representation that was thought to carry out this instruction. When this plan was considered at the recent meeting of the Committee it was found that it would deprive a number of Congressional Districts in the South of any representation. The resolution of the National Convention called for "just and equitable representation." The plan under consideration would have deprived those Districts of any representation whatever. In order to correct this injustice the National Committee adopted a revised plan which gives every Congressional District at least one delegate, but, in order to carry out the spirit of the instruction which contemplated giving the South a smaller relative representation, the number of delegates accredited to Northen States was incensed.

In this connection it might be well to emphasize the fact that it is Democatic legislation in the South that prevents Republicans from recording their votes. If the National Committee were to base representation in the next Convention on the actual number of votes cast, this action would be, in effect, permitting the Democratic Legislatures of the South to dictate the number of delegates from that section of the country who shall sit in a Republican Convention. Democrats are now accusing the Republicans of cutting down the representation of the South in a Republican Convention. It is a sufficient answer to them to say that if they wish the South to have a sufficient answer to them to say that if they wish the South to have a larger representation in a Republican National Convention this can be readily accomplished by their revising their election laws and election practices in such a way as to permit Republicans to vote at general elections in Southern States.

Probably no plan can be devised that will accomplish exact justice in apportioning delegates to a National Convention. It may be safely asserted, however, that the plan recently adopted is the closest possible approximation of "just and equitable representation" as called for by the last National Convention.

TOADIES FOUND THEIR TOADSTOOLS

One of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad has set forth some of the reasons why he thinks the railroad workers should not be in favor of Government ownership or operation. He points out the well-known fact that during the era of McAdoovian management of the railroads, "Every labor leader, large and small, took a liking to the climate of the National Capital. The hotels did a thriving business alone in entertaining these gentlemen. They were then handy to general headquarters for all of the lines where wages and other concessions were administered, and the authorities who administered them were not appointed by or responsible to any board of directors for their actions, but to a political party and to that party alone." The writer of the letter from which the above is quoted is not opposed to increase in wages, or other concessions but he is opposed to a system which places the wage question in politics. He thinks the wage question, like every other question in the business management of railroads should be settled on business principles and not according to the political interests of the people who happen to be in power.

FREE SPEECH WINS

The American Legion has found it impossible to enforce its rule limiting free speech among its member posts. The Legion undertook to say that, inasmuch as the parent organization had decreed in favor of the soldiers' bouns, no individual post could publicly proclaim its opposition to the bouns. The proposition has been tested in New York where a post formally adopted a resolution protesting against the bonus. A grievance committee made an investigation and determined that the offending post could not be penalized for its action. It is probable that many other local units of the Legion will register opposition to the bonus grant, now it has been ascertained that it is in order to do so.

THE USUAL THING

The reclamation projects, taken as a whole, cost the Government 50 per cent more than was estimated and some of the settlers are called upon to pay per acre four times as much as they were led to believe would be demanded of them. It is probable that private enterprise would not have undertaken this work. A lot of the settlers pobably wish that the Govenment had not undertaken it. Be that as it may, the results are one more demonstration of the expensiveness and inefficiency of government operation when conducted at its best.

P. R. R. STOCKHOLDERS

One of the greatest influences for efficiency among the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad is their ownership of stock in the company. Up to the end of last year they had purchased 30,241 shares on the installment plan, in addition to other stock holdings by various employees. The stockholders realize they are part owners of the property which they serve and are eager to give their best efforts toward making it a profitable enterprise. They understand the point of view of those other millions of railroad stock holders who have suffered from interruptions to transportation by strikes and other causes.

EVERYBODY PAY YOUR POLL TAX

February 1st, 1924, is not long off, and Mr. Rockett says that people are paying their poll tax mighty slowly. Now, this is not only a privilege but a duty of every person who is otherwise eligible to vote. If you haven't enough interest in your government to want to vote, then you ought to have enough interest in your schools to pay $1.50 into that fund. So, we wish to urge everyone of voting age to look after this important matter. And it would be unwise for everybody to wait till the last few days, as a big rush would result. Don't put it off but go now and look after this matter.

MR. WALKER WRITES ABOUT ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

May I say to the people of Chilton County who do not respect the public roads of the County that if you don't help keep up the roads, please don't detroy them by putitng something in the ditches that will cause them to fill up and turn the water across the road.

Last Wednesday I was called to a washout on the Pletcher and Plantersville Road which will cost the County $35.00 to put the fill back like it was. One man violated the road law by putting his wire fence in the ditch. 30 minutes work on the right-of-way would have prevented all the trouble. So, if you can't help keep up the roads, please don't help the "bear."

I have a man on my mind who claims to be a good citizen who will throw trash, scraps of goods boxes, old automobile tires or any thing else in the ditches and cause them to fill up and the water to run a quarter of a mile down the road. It is the desire of your probate judge and commissioners to build up the country roads of the county. If you can't help us push up hill, please don't push down hill.

I want the people of the Third District to help me to look out for better places for the roads where there needs to be changes, so that we wont spend your money on the old roads and then change them. Let's put the roads in the right place and then spend the money on them.

I will call a meeting in each Beat in my District to discuss what I consider to be some of the most important matters about what it takes to build good roads.

Yours for better roads,
C. T. WALKER.

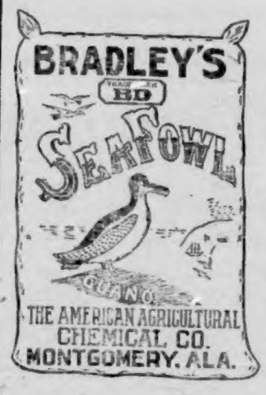
Farming Success depends largely on Good Fertilizer Judgment



WITH the farmer of to-day it isn't a question of using fertilizers, but WHICH fertilizers. He knows that intelligent selection of the RIGHT fertilizers may make the difference between extra profitable and just ordinary crops.

Right fertilizers—goods correct in formula, complete in availability, timely in action—are crop insurance. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are founded on that basis—as an honest and reliable aid to farming success.

GONE TO BUSINESS COLLEGE

A trio of Clanton young men boarded the train for Montgomery Monday morning where they went to enter Draughn's Business College. The band was headed by Jimmie Taylor, the famous clerk in Baker's and Taylor's store, who was accompanied by Mr. Gladys Johnson and Mr. Gurthrie Johnson. These are three promising young men who are well liked by the people of Clanton, and we are sure that they will make good in their studies at the business college.

MR. J. N. SCOTT REPLIES TO MR. WALKER'S LETTER

I notice in a recent issue of The Union-Banner that Mr. C. T. Walker accuses me of criticising the new road law of Chilton County and of being a kicker. I accept his accusation but think I have a right to do so.

I want to say that I fail to see where it is right to tax lumber and log trucks $11.25 to keep up the public roads and nothing else. Wagons cut up the roads much worse than trucks. Again I fail to see where it will be better for the roads to cut the road hands from ten days to seven days a year or $5.50. That don't look very much like building up roads to me, and I will say that you can't build up roads with money. It takes labor, and the people out in the country have got a good deal of it stored back in their systems. They have a lot or spair time during the year which they could put on the roads and not much money. Why not tax the men with trucks and wagons as well as road hands for so many days a year on the road they travel most, and have one man in each community to see that this labor is put on the roads each year.

No man ought to object to working the roads they have to travel, and by having this system in force we could have some good roads out in the country. I fail to see, Mr. Walker, where you can get more done on the roads for $5.50 a year than with a man's ten days labor a year on the roads. Yes, I believe in the old hand working system and then a little help from the county out of our tax that we pay in for that purpose. Mr. Walker, how many machines and how much labor do you think you can get for the roads of Chilton County out of that $5.50 from the road hands and the taxes from log and lumber trucks. This is a vital question and worthy of every man's thoughts. Yes I am a kicker when I see things going wrong.

Mr. Walker, you asked me to wait till the new plan fails. Why should I wait when I remember as I said about 9 or 10 years ago we saw just such law fail under taxation. The road machine was bought and sent out over the roads one trip and raked the leaves and mud up into the roads, then the roads of Beat 2 were turned over to Mr. J. H. Martin, and of course everybody in Beat 2 was waiting on Mr. Martin, and the longer we waited the worse the roads got. So finally they got so bad Mr. Martin could not get here. He started but bogged down, so we could not get over them and saw that something had to be tone. So me and Mr. Joel Childress, J. A. Scott, C. E. Langston and several other old men with some of the boys started out on the old hand working system as you call it. We carried our wagons and went to the fields and hills and picked up flat rocks and gravel and built up the worst places. And I want to say that there are some places which we fixed yet standing good. There is nothing that will build up a red boggy slick hill faster or better that to haul rock and gravel and put on it.

But we are all waiting. Yes, Mr. Walker, we say that the men and boys road duty must put in ten days a year on the roads then you wait for them to do it they put in from two to five days a year and then they wait for the next year. So we are all waiting for the other fellow. And weight and rough roads are what broke down C. W. Scott's wagon the other day. So I say, look out for more labor on the roads and less money, for money is only a medium of exchange and to build up the grafters pocket book.

Mr. Walker, I would be glad I could tell all about this road proposition but I can't at this time. I should like to have something to say about this taxation in general and how the people are burdened down, but my letter is too long now. But Mr. Walker, after you have taken this second dose of ignorance drops and have examined them thoroughly and you don't feel better over it than you did just let me know and I will send some more.

Yours for good roads,
J. N. SCOTT.

PASTOR McLENNAN PREACHES AT S. D. A. TABERNACLE

Pastor W. P. McLennan, of Birmingham, returned to Clanton in time to occupy the Adventist pulpit Tuesday night, where he will preach every night this week and three times next Sunday, 11 a. m., 3 p. m., and 7 p. m. In his sermon last night the minister delivered a very impressive message, basing it upon Luke 19:28-44, the minister said:

"In this scripture we find a most remarkable picture and a most timely lesson. Amid the universal rejoicing of the triumphal entry, which palm branches were being waved, while glad hosannas awoke the echoes of the hills, and thousands of voices declared Him kind, the world's redeemer was overwhelmed with a sudden and mysterious sorrow, He, the son of God, the Promised One of Isreal, whose power had conquered death, was in tears, not of ordinary grief, but of intense, irrepressible agony.

"His tears were not for Himself, though He well knew His feet were tending. Before Him lay Gethsemane. Not far distant was the place of crucifixion. He wept for the doomed thousands of Jerusalem because of the blindness and impenitence of those whom He came to bless and save.

"For three years the Son of God knocked at the gate of the impenient city. He was unwearied in His efforts to save this vine of His own planting. He healed the sick, He comforted the sorrowing, He raised the dead, and spoke pardon and peace to the repentant. He gathered about Him the weary, the helpless and the desponding and extended to all the invitation of mercy: 'Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest.'

All the predictions of Christ concerning the destruction of Jerusalem were fulfilled to the letter. Probably a more sad and awful experience and destruction is not recorded than that which came to Jerusalem in the siege under Titus in the year A. D. 70. In closing days of that siege mothers eat the flesh of their babies and children. With mighty efforts the Jews had struggled to save the magnificent temple. Even Titus himself tried to save the wonderful structure, but a soldier threw a fireband through a lattice window and in a moment that edifice, which for so many years had been regarded as the temple of the Lord of Hosts, was in the embrace of flames which no hand could stay.

"The Savior's prophecy is to have another fulfillment, of which that terrible scene was but a faint shadow. The second advent of the Son of God is foretold by lips that make no mistake. Matt. 24:30-31 and 2Thess. 2:8.

"The world is no more ready now to credit the warning than were the Jews in the days of our Savior. Come when it may the end will come unawares to the ungodly. Men and women are looking for every thing else but the second coming of Christ and so that day will overtake them as a thief. 1 Thess.5:2-3.

"The Jewish people knew not the time of their visitation. This need not have been, as they were fully warned of God. Their mistake was that they believed not the word of God. Do you, my dear hearer, sense the time of your visitation?

UNION GROVE

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words of this place.

We are very glad to say that Mr. Clyde Davis, who has been very sick with the measles, is better.

Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching days. We had with us Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby, who delivered a very interesting semon both Saturday night and Sunday. Rev. Lowery was our pastor for about ten years and of course we were all very glad to see him and hear him preach.

The United Singing Society met at this place in regular session Sunday afternoon with a very good crowd, considering the weather, and we had some very good singing.

Directors for the afternoon were: E. L. Glasscock, D. B. Robinson, Akins Collins and A. H. Glasscock. Organists were: misses Emma Campbel and Esther Adkinson.

Sunday was the day for the election of a new president, but we got Mr. E. L. Gasscock back, as we feel that he is the man for the job and we are well pleased with his atteudance last year, Mr. T. J. Manning, Vice-President and Miss Edna Robinson, Secretary. The singing Society will meet at Collins Chapel next Sunday and everybody go and help out in the singing and lets keep our singing society going as we don't feel like we could do without it.

Mrs. R. S. Chandler spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Bob Cofer.

Miss Leone Hall and Messrs. Otto Burnette and Akins Colilns spent a while with Miss Edna Robinson Sunday evening.

Miss Leone Hall spent Friday night with Misses Florence and Lula Cofer.

Mr. J. R. Holley has gone to Thomasville, Ga., to work at a planing mill.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court of Chilton County.—In Equity.

Grace Downs, Complainant, vs. Arthur D. Downs, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of J. O. Middleton that the defendant, Arthur D. Downs, is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post office address are unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Arthur D. Downs, to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 18th day of February, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter pro confesso may be taken against him.

ADAMS DOINGS

As I haven't seen any news from this place in quite a while, decided I would write a few items.

Mrs. Mary Rollinson, Miss Mattie Gandy and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dyer took dinner at Mr. R. M. Roebuck's Sunday.

Well, we will go, wishing our new married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adams, a long and happy life.

CEDAR GROVE

We, the church and surrounding community of this place, do cordially invite all that are interested in sabbath school at this place to be present on the fourth Sunday of this month for the purpose of getting organized and being ready to start our work on the first Sunday in February. Come fathers and mothers, bring your children.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Farmers and Factories Build Communities

Farmers are community builders. They produce wealth from the soil. When farmers are prosperous, people in other lines of business prosper and the whole community is benefited.

Factories are community builders also. Since a great part of their output is usually sold in other sections of the country, factories bring lots of money into the communities in which they are located. They furnish employment to many people; and their payrolls circulate among the tradesmen, artisans, and professional men, bringing increased prosperity to all.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad, thru its Immigration & Industrial Department, has for years been assisting in community building in this territory by getting industrious and desirable farmers from other sections of the country to locate somewhere along or near its tracks; and by means of personal instruction in the field and the issuing of special bulletins on the growing of certain crops, etc., has helped these newcomers to achieve success.

Thru the efforts of this Department, many factories have been located along this railroad and much wealth has thus been added to this territory.

An extensive campaign of advertising, setting forth the advantages of this territory for farmers and factories is now being carried by the L. & N. in farm and industrial magazines with national circulation.

The work of its Immigration & Industrial Department is but one example of the L. & N.'s constant effort to further the progress and prosperity of the wonderful Southland territory served by the L. & N. Railroad.

To notice the increase in the bank deposits in the banks of Clanton during the past year will show how business conditions in general are improving. The total deposits in both banks on January 1, 1923 was $824,985.94, and on January 1, 1924 was $935,026.54, an increase of $110,040.60. Yes, this Republican prosperity is playing havoc with the country.

Saturday Evening Post—To handle private trust funds carelessly and wastefully is a serious matter and one is promptly fired for it; to handle public trust funds carelessly and wastefully may make one so popular that he will be returned by an increased majority. To get votes with five-dolalr bills is bribery and one goes to prison for it; to get votes with legislation voting tax money to favored classes and localities is statesmanship and one goes to Congress for it. Vote getting is sometimes hard to distinguish from vote buying, unless one is trained to nice political distinctions.

There has recently been placed before the War Department a bid for Muscle Shoals which surpasses any that have heretofore been made for that property. There is no stings to this poposition since the lesees agree to pay the government its legal rate of four per cent on all the money it has invested at Muscle Shoals and too the lease is only for a period of fifty years. The nine leading power companies of the South are jointly submitting the proposition and they agree to form a separate and distinct firm to operate the Muscle Shoals plants but at the same time this firm will be backed by all nine of the companies. This is by far the most workable proposition the government has received.

As Secretary of the Treasury, W. G. McAdoo, whose hat is in the ring for president of the United States, appointed John Burke,a Knight of Columbus, as Treasurer of the United States. After his retirement from that office Burke became director of a bucket-show financial concern that quickly went into bankruptcy with liabilities overwhelmingly in excess of assets. Secretary McAdoo also placed Wm. J. Flynn, another Irish Knight of Columbus at the head of the treasury secret service. The private secretary to McAdoo was also a Roman Catholic. Mr. Underwood of Alabama is also closely affiliated with the Catholics and whiskey heads of the country and has come out openly against the Ku Kux Klan. Mr. Musgrove had a mighty slim chance of being nominated, so what are the liberty-loving and truly American Democrats of our country going to do for a president?

CHIPPING IT OFF

The public debt of the United States was reduced $400,000,000 during 1923, and now stands at approximately $21,500,000,000. The man who is successfully engineering the liquidation of our huge war obligations ought to be trusted in the matter of tax redctions. Secretary Mellon knows what the Treasury needs and how best to obtain it.

BOK HITS ROCK

One thing the author of the Bok plan failed to explain is how the United States could take part in all the deliberations of the league council and assembly and yet not be a member of the league. Yet that is what his precious plan calls for. There is nothing in the league covenant that would countenance such an instrusion of an outsider, and if it were accepted it would simply mean putting another puncture in that already badly riddled contract.

KEEPS POWDER DRY

Jugoslavia declares she can mobilize 2,000,000 men in 24 hours, and that a slight shortage in artillery ammunition can be quickly supplied. Jugoslavia is a member of the league of nations, but she is careful not to depend on that organization to protect her independence. Article X of the covenant guarantees each member against territorial aggression, but each member knows that its real guarantee lies in an effective military force—just as it did before the World War was fought and before the league was even dreamed of.

EQUITABLE REPRESENTATION FOR SOUTH

Washington, Jan. 14.—By telling part of the truth, and suppressing the rest, certain public speakers and editors are misrepresenting the facts concerning Southern repesentation in the next Republican National Convention. For the purpose of creating the impression that an un undue advantage is to be given to President Coolidge in the Convention the assertion is made that the Republican National Committee, at its recent session, increased the representation of Southern States over the representation they had in 1920, and over the representation that was planned when the Committee met some two and one-half years ago. Thus far these critics of the Republican National Committee told the truth. Southern States will have a slightly larger representation than they had in 1920.

But these critics are guilty of misrepresentation when they stoppel with the telling of this part of the story. They fail to state that while he South will get nine more delegates than in the Convention of 1920, Northern States get 114 more delegates thus more than counterbalancing the additional representation given to the South. When representation is considered in percentages, which is the determining factor in measuring relative strength, the South has relatively less representation in the next Convention than it had in 1920. Thus is carried out the spirit of the recommendations made by the last National Convention

The resolutions adopted by the Convention of 1920 directed the National Committee to adopt "a just and equitable basis of representation in future National Concentions." In 1921 a subcommittee worked out a plan of representation that was thought to carry out this instruction. When this plan was considered at the recent meeting of the Committee it was found that it would deprive a number of Congressional Districts in the South of any representation. The resolution of the National Convention called for "just and equitable representation." The plan under consideration would have deprived those Districts of any representation whatever. In order to correct this injustice the National Committee adopted a revised plan which gives every Congressional District at least one delegate, but, in order to carry out the spirit of the instruction which contemplated giving the South a smaller relative representation, the number of delegates accredited to Northen States was inceased.

In this connection it might be well to emphasize the fact that it is Democatic legislation in the South that prevents Republicans from recording their votes. If the National Committee were to base representation in the next Convention on the actual number of votes cast, this action would be, in effect, permitting the Democratic Legislatures of the South to dictate the number of delegates from that section of the country who shall sit in a Republican Convention. Democrats are now accusing the Republicans of cutting down the representation of the South in a Republican Convention. It is a sufficient answer to them to say that if they wish the South to have a sufficient answer to them to say that if they wish the South to have a larger representation in a Republican National Convention this can be readily accomplished by their revising their election laws and election practices in such a way as to permit Republicans to vote at general elections in Southern States.

Probably no plan can be devised that will accomplish exact justice in apportioning delegates to a National Convention. It may be safely asserted, however, that the plan recently adopted is the closest possible approximation of "just and equitable representation" as called for by the last National Convention.

TOADIES FOUND THEIR TOADSTOOLS

One of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad has set forth some of the reasons why he thinks the railroad workers should not be in favor of Government ownership or operation. He points out the well-known fact that during the era of McAdoovian management of the railroads, "Every labor leader, large and small, took a liking to the climate of the National Capital. The hotels did a thriving business alone in entertaining these gentlemen. They were then handy to general headquarters for all of the lines where wages and other concessions were administered, and the authorities who administered them were not appointed by or responsible to any board of directors for their actions, but to a political party and to that party alone." The writer of the letter from which the above is quoted is not opposed to increase in wages, or other concessions but he is opposed to a system which places the wage question in politics. He thinks the wage question, like every other question in the business management of railroads should be settled on business principles and not according to the political interests of the people who happen to be in power.

FREE SPEECH WINS

The American Legion has found it impossible to enforce its rule limiting free speech among its member posts. The Legion undertook to say that, inasmuch as the parent organization had decreed in favor of the soldiers' bouns, no individual post could publicly proclaim its opposition to the bouns. The proposition has been tested in New York where a post formally adopted a resolution protesting against the bonus. A grievance committee made an investigation and determined that the offending post could not be penalized for its action. It is probable that many other local units of the Legion will register opposition to the bonus grant, now it has been ascertained that it is in order to do so.

THE USUAL THING

The reclamation projects, taken as a whole, cost the Government 50 per cent more than was estimated and some of the settlers are called upon to pay per acre four times as much as they were led to believe would be demanded of them. It is probable that private enterprise would not have undertaken this work. A lot of the settlers pobably wish that the Govenment had not undertaken it. Be that as it may, the results are one more demonstration of the expensiveness and inefficiency of government operation when conducted at its best.

P. R. R. STOCKHOLDERS

One of the greatest influences for efficiency among the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad is their ownership of stock in the company. Up to the end of last year they had purchased 30,241 shares on the installment plan, in addition to other stock holdings by various employees. The stockholders realize they are part owners of the property which they serve and are eager to give their best efforts toward making it a profitable enterprise. They understand the point of view of those other millions of railroad stock holders who have suffered from interruptions to transportation by strikes and other causes.

EVERYBODY PAY YOUR POLL TAX

February 1st, 1924, is not long off, and Mr. Rockett says that people are paying their poll tax mighty slowly. Now, this is not only a privilege but a duty of every person who is otherwise eligible to vote. If you haven't enough interest in your government to want to vote then you ought to have enough interest in your schools to pay $1.50 into that fund. So, we wish to urge everyone of voting age to look after this important matter. And it would be unwise for everybody to wait till the last few days, as a big rush would result. Don't put it off but go now and look after this matter.

MR. WALKER WRITES ABOUT ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

May I say to the people of Chilton County who do not respect the public roads of the County that if you don't help keep up the roads, please don't detroy them by putitng something in the ditches that will cause them to fill up and turn the water across the road.

Last Wednesday I was called to a washout on the Pletcher and Plantersville Road which will cost the County $35.00 to put the fill back like it was. One man violated the road law by putting his wire fence in the ditch. 30 minutes work on the right-of-way would have prevented all the trouble. So, if you can't help keep up the roads, please don't help the "bear."

I have a man on my mind who claims to be a good citizen who will throw trash, scraps of goods boxes, old automobile tires or any thing else in the ditches and cause them to fill up and the water to run a quarter of a mile down the road. It is the desire of your probate judge and commissioners to build up the country roads of the county. If you can't help us push up hill, please don't push down hill.

I want the people of the Third District to help me to look out for better places for the roads where there needs to be changes, so that we wont spend your money on the old roads and then change them. Let's put the roads in the right place and then spend the money on them.

I will call a meeting in each Beat in my District to discuss what I consider to be some of the most important matters about what it takes to build good roads.

Yours for better roads,
C. T. WALKER.

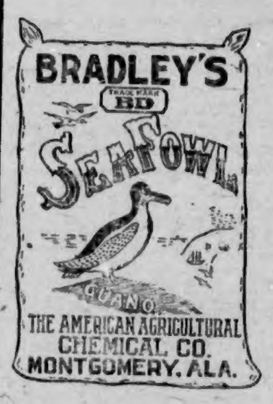
Farming Success depends largely on Good Fertilizer Judgment



WITH the farmer of to-day it isn't a question of using fertilizers, but WHICH fertilizers. He knows that intelligent selection of the RIGHT fertilizers may make the difference between extra profitable and just ordinary crops.

Right fertilizers—goods correct in formula, complete in availability, timely in action—are crop insurance. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are founded on that basis—as an honest and reliable aid to farming success.

POOR OR

F. E. Boyd says: "Potash is most profitable ingredient in fertilizer mixtures for cotton, in Alabama."

IN an article in BETTER CROPS, F. E. Boyd, Agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service, gives figures that prove potash profitable. He says:

The principal field crop in Alabama is cotton. During the 1923 season, 76.7 per cent of all the fertilizers used were applied to this crop. When a bale of cotton (seed, lint and stalk) is produced on a given area of land, it removes from the soil 28 pounds of phosphoric acid, 75 pounds of nitrogen and 54 pounds of potash. Either the soil must give up these fertilizer elements or they must be supplied in commercial form. The average acre of land devoted to cotton in Alabama contains in the surface seven inches less than 1,000 pounds of phosphoric acid and even less nitrogen. The potash content of this land varies from about 2,500 pounds in the Coastal Plain region to approximately 25,000 pounds per acre seven inches in the heavy clay lands of east and north Alabama.

With the above analyses figures as a basis, farmers have been led to believe that, when buying fertilizer ingredients for cotton, it was not necessary to include any potash for the clay lands of the northeast two-fifths of Alabama, and not much, if any, on lands with red subsoils throughout the Coastal Plain section of the state.

Since it is generally conceded by all farmers that phosphoric acid and nitrogen are essential for the normal development of the cotton plant, and that potash, being present in such abundant quantities in most soils, is not so essential and can be easily left out of the mixture, it shall be the purpose of the remainder of this discussion to show what potassic fertilizers have done and are capable of doing for the farmers of Alabama.

The Alabama Experiment Station, in cooperation with 143 "dirt" farmers representing every soil division in the state, conducted from 1911 to 1922 more than 200 regular cotton fertilizer tests. These tests covered a period of 12 years and included years before and after the appearance of the boll-weevil, with high and low rainfall and other conditions that might be expected during any 12-year period.

Based on these tests, the Alabama Station recommends for cotton a minimum application of 200 pounds acid phosphate, 100 pounds nitrate of soda and 100 to 200 pounds of kainit, or its equivalent, per acre. At this rate per acre, and at the present cash price of fertilizer materials, the total cost of fertilizers for 20 acres of cotton is $95.00 or $108.00, depending on the amount of potash used. Kainit is valued at $13.00 per ton and seed cotton at 9 cents per pound.

On the gray lands with yellow subsoils of southeast Alabama, one and two tons of kainit on 20 acres increased the yield of seed cotton 1,460 and 3,060 pounds, valued at $131.40 and $275.40, respectively. Compare these values with the total cost of all fertilizers for 20 acres. On Coastal Plain soils with red subsoils, one ton of kainit increased the yield of seed cotton 1,280 pounds, worth $115.00, which is more than enough to pay for all fertilizers applied to 20 acres. Additional kainit did not produce profitable increase.

The Black Belt of lime lands of middle Alabama show a response of 1,120 pounds additional seed cotton for one ton of kainit and 1,640 pounds for two tons of kainit. At 9 cents per pound the above increases more than pay for all acid phosphate, nitrate of soda and kainit applied to 20 acres.

There are two divisions of soil in Alabama (Piedmont and Appalachian Plateaus) on which potash does not increase the yield sufficiently to pay for all fertilizers applied, but on these divisions the return per dollar invested in potash is $2.91 and $5.68, respectively, for an application of one ton of kainit to 20 acres. Extra kainit was not profitable.

In north Alabama throughout the Limestone Valley region, there are isolated areas of gray and yellow chert-free lands with yellow subsoils on which potash gives largest returns in the state. One ton of kainit increased the yield 2,240 pounds seed cotton, and two tons kainit 3,200 pounds seed cotton per 20 acres. These yields are worth $219.60 and $288.00, respectively. The return per dollar invested is $16.09 and $11.08, respectively. The heavy red clay lands found in the Limestone Valley region of north Alabama, according to the farmers of that section, do not need commercial potash, but the accurate tests show that one ton of kainit, costing $13.00, increased the yield of seed cotton 1,300 pounds, worth $117.00.

There are other results from various subdivisions in line with data given above. In studying the returns per dollar invested in the various fertilizer materials, it was found that the profit from potash was greater than from either phosphoric acid or nitrogen, with the exception of the Piedmont Plateau soils.

Potash is very essential, and the most profitable ingredient in fertilizer mixtures for cotton in Alabama. Apply 65 cents' worth of potash per acre and it will make enough additional cotton to pay for all the fertilizer materials added, except on the two soils noted above.

NOTICE OF WRIT OF ATTACHMENT AND LEVY

To G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson, Non-Residents of the State of Alabama:

To Any Sheriff of the State of Alabama, Greeting:

Whereas, W. C. Burnett, has complained on oath to me, J. Z. Mims, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, that G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson are justly indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of Two Hundred Ten and no-100 Dollars, and the plaintiff having made affidavit and given bond as required by law in such cases, you are hereby commanded to attach so much of the estate of said G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson as will be of value to satisfy said debt and costs, according to the complaint, unless repleved, so to secure that the same may be liable to further proceedings thereon to be had at the next term of the Circuit Court for the County of Chilton, to be holden at the Court House thereof within 30 days from the service of this writ, when and where you must make known how you have executed this Writ.

J. Z. MIMS,
Clerk Circuit Court.

It appearing from the affidavit of the plaintiff filed in this cause that the defendants have waived their right to claim as exempt to them any personal property as against the debt upon which this suit is based, this Writ is not subject to any claim of exemptions as to personal property.

This the 31st day of Dec. 1923.

J. Z. MIMS, Clerk.

I have executed the within Writ this 9th day of Jan. 1924, by Attaching one saw mill complete, including one husk frame, carriage, belts and pulleys.

T. J. LITTLEJORN,
Sheriff.

WHY HE VOTED FOR GOOD ROADS

Relation of Public Health and Smooth Highway Shown

The county was to vote on a bond issue which would criss-cross it with hard roads. At a public meeting in the county seat the arguments presented from the forum were largely directed against the issue of bonds, based on the higher taxes which would be paid and the fact that "we already have all we can pay."

The chairman was an anti-bond advocate. After a probond speech, to which he listened with ill-concealed impatience, he caleld Farmer Jones to his feet. "You tell 'em, Brother Jones," he said. "You would be heavily taxed, and yet you wouldn't be within a quarter of a mile of the road." Turning to a lieutenant he smiled. "He'll tell 'em, too! I've heard him talk before. He's hot against extra taxes for roads!"

"Friends," began Farmer Jones, "for years I have fought good roads at county expense. I was wrong. I'm here to tell you why. Last winter my little girl got sick. She was awful sick. I got the doctor on the telephone and he said he'd be right out. It took him eight hours to get to the rouse. He got mired in down by the horse pond. When he got there it was too late. My little girl chocked to death with diptheria. My road tax might have cost me fifty dollars a year for a few years; and I'd have a daughter. I saved the money . . . and bought a tombstone with it, and the roads are just as bad as ever. I'm for the bond issue, and when the road is built, I'll build my own quarter of a mile of road so I can get to it. I've still got two children."

The bond issue was passed.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

Owing to the length of the school term this year I am requested by Prof. C. R. Wood, Director of Extension of the State Normal at Jacksonville, to announce to those teachers taking the Normal Extension Work that the dates for the meeting of this course has been changed so that the remaining meetings will come on the dates mentioned below: Jan. 12th and 26th, and Feb. 2nd.

Teachers will please take note of this change and be present at the meetings.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
Co. Supt. Education.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Looking Ahead

LAST Spring a total of 350,000 people were disappointed in not being able to obtain deliveries of Ford Cars and Trucks, as orders were placed faster than cars could be produced.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring will, according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1,961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery in the Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and wish to avoid delay in delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

You need not pay cash for your car. You can arrange to make a small deposit down, taking care of the balance in easy payments. Or, you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan. This puts you on the preferred order list and insures delivery of your car at a time to be determined by yourself.

SHALL OUR DEMOCRACY SURRENDER OR SURVIVE?

The Truth About Underwood's Private Presidential Primary Law and It's Hidden Purpose

MUSGROVE CANDIDATE OF THE PEOPLE; UNDERWOOD FOR SPECIAL INTERESTS

Citizens of Alabama, do you realize what has been done to you? Do you know that the sacred right of casting your vote, of selecting your representatives, of voicing your sentiments has been taken away from you? Do you know that in this good year of 1924 a handful of would-be politicial dictators have trampled into the dust the principles for which your fathers fought, which came into being with the birth of our nation and which have become the treasured ideals of Americanism?

In the history of American politics our citizenship has been forced to suffer under "boss rule." Instances of this are recalled in the "boss-ism" of Quay and Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Tweed, Croker, Murphy and Tammany, of New York. These, with Sullivan, of Illinois, in their total disregard for the God-given rights of the people, "self-government" in no sense of the word approaches the high-handed way in which the submissive and blinded legislature, sought to thwart the will of the people and disfranchise the voters.

How has this been done? Who is responsible? What is its purpose? These are the facts.

The manipulators of Mr. Underwood knew if the people were allowed to vote for their own delegates that they would select delegates reflecting the sentiment of their districts, and that Mr. Underwood would not be the choice of many of these for President and that none of them could be used by him and "his friends" to trade off in support of Al Smith of New York or some other reactionary politician. Hence this assault upon your rights—therefore this undemocratic, illegal, and nefarious scheme. Shades of Washington, Jefferson and Jackson! Where has gone the teachings of our forefathers? Is representative government and democracy to perish?

To throttle the will of the people, to bind and gag the voters of the State, Underwood's manipulators, steeped in their own arrogance, believing that the people of our State are but lamb like and stupid sheep secured the passage of a special primary law which provided that a special primary at the cost to the people of the State in time and money of a million dollars, should be held at which only an Alabamian could enter and receive the benefits of—and then only the Alabamian (or really Underwood, as admitted and intended) would be given the rights heretofore vested in the people and be allowd to name the twenty-four delegates from this State, without the voters being given a voice in their selection. And then with Alabama's twenty-four votes in his vest pocket the state's vote would be his to hand to Murphy, to cast for Al Smith or any other wet, reactionary politician he might choose. While the vote of your representatives in drafting democratic principles would be presented to the enemy to voice as your sentiments the things you have always fought as evil and harmful.

CORPORATION POLITICIANS HOG-TIE VOTERS.

Why was this done?

It was because certain of the corporation controlled politicians of the State knew that your votes would never be cast for them to represent you and thus only could you be bound hand and foot, hog-tied and turned over to those who are even now planning to thwart the will of the people in the coming Democratic convention and select a "safe" tool as the nominee to serve their own selfish interests.

And so we have this unnecessary, undemocratic, and costly special primary which has been foisted upon the people of the State in an effort to give their sacred rights into hands of one man who fails to represent the sentiment of the people of the State.

NO HOPE FOR UNDERWOOD.

Every well informed man knows that Mr. Underwood can never hope to secure the nomination. They are simply playing on their belief in the people's stupidity not to see through their abortive scheme to use your vote and your voice against your interest for the benefit of the financial and corporate interest in the East with whom Mr. Underwood is aligned. They call on you in the name of State pride and Southern pride hoping that you will assist in the robbery of your own rights for their benefit. It is not State pride nor Southern pride but a selfish desire to trade your votes for their benefit. For the sake of ourselves and our children, may we be delivered from being deluded into any such trap as they would try to spring by raising this false cry of State pride.

Does Mr. Underwood now advocate local self-government or government by himself for himself?

What will YOU do?

Realizing that someone must make this fight for the preservation of the principles of democracy in our State and in response to the demand of those who believe in the people's right to govern, and at a sacrifice of my wishes and interest I permitted myself to be entered in this race, so that you may have an opportunity to cast your vote for a candidate who will choose only those who will cast their votes for a progressive democrat, whose sympathy with the people is unquestioned, and about whose prohibition views there is no doubt, and who will be in sympathy with the forward moving democracy of our State.

FOR PRESIDENT

L. B. MUSGROVE.

When you give your endorsement to me you know that I will never trade your vote and your voice in support of Al Smith's and Tammany's candidates and platforms.

Will you permit the crime of the attempted robbery of the people's rights to be accomplished or will you repudiate such political chicanery? Are you willing to aid this attempt to defraud the citizens of our State? Where does your STATE PRIDE place you in THIS FIGHT?

What The Candidates Stand For

WET OR DRY?

Underwood has been continuously wet. He voted against the State prohibition amendment in 1909. He voted against the eighteenth amendment (prohibition) in Congress. He voted to leave the question of selling liquor to a vote of the District of Columbia—on account of his convictions—when half of the voters there were negroes. He is now being actively supported by the Association Opposed to Prohibition. He was the leader in the fight for the wets against the prohibition amendment. He is still their leader. I have led the fight for the drys from the beginning. Now that Mr. Underwood is a candidate for the Presidency, and now that prohibition is primarily a question of law administration—under the general leadership of the nation's chief executive—with Underwood's attitude on the prohibition question unchanged, where should the friends and believers of prohibition line up in this fight?

MUSGROVE FAVORS SOLDIER BONUS.

Underwood is against the Bonus Bill for the soldiers. I favor the bonus. Underwood seeks to reap the benefit of a million-dollar special primary arranged for his personal benefit, but Underwood is not willing to give one cent to the soldiers.

England and France with a debt of six to eight times that of America has long since allowed adjusted compensation for her soldiers. Canada has already done as much for her soldiers and made appropriations for a great deal more than the Bonus Bill provides for ours. Is America with only one-eighth of the debt of these other countries to refuse even this small pittance to her soldiers? Democracy should never place its standard in the hands of any man who is unwilling to allow this compensation for the soldiers. Fifty thousand Alabamians offered their all for their country. George Washington received $64,000 adjusted compensation from the United States, and $60,000 from State of Virginia, and recommended a bonus for all soldiers. Abraham Lincoln received adjusted compensation in the Black Hawk Indian war, and our own beloved Gen. Robt. E. Lee received adjusted compensation in the Mexican War. President U. S. Grant also received a bonus. Multi-millionaires were created by the war. Shall those who represent their interest say that this compensation be denied to the thousands of Alabama soldiers?

Adjusted compensation has been paid our soldiers of all wars except the World War. Underwood is one of the four Senators who defeated the bonus bill in the last Congress.

Other Issues.

Underwood bitterly opposed the Woman Suffrage Amendment and fought against the women since the beginning of the fight and voted against the submission of the 19th amendment and franchising the women—I favored Woman Suffrage and fought for the submission of the 19th amendment since this fight began.

Underwood is a stand-pat reactionary. Musgrove is a progressive Democrat.

ESCH-CUMMINGS BILL. RAILROAD OWNERSHIP OF GOVERNMENT.

Underwood favors "the crime of this generation"—Railroad Ownership of Government familiary known as the Esch-Cummings Railroad Bill, which impoverished the farmers and nearly wrecked the shippers. I oppose any such iniquitious legislation.

Underwood is aligned with the big interest in this country and the reactionaries in politics. I have always been aligned with the people and the people's interest.

Underwood is in favor of the legislature dictating and disfranchising the voters and appointing their representatives—I favor giving all the people a right to vote their own convictions and electing their representatives.

Underwood is a lawyer and a politician representing the big interest and reactionaries in Governmental affairs. I am a farmer and business man and opposed to the reactionaries and big interests controlling the country.

The people of this State know instinctively that Mr. Underwood has not helped to secure Muscle Shoals for Ford. On this question Underwood says: "I will finish with Ford." Yes, and the finish can easily be made far back in the rear. And everyone knows that the chief opponent of Henry Ford, the Alabama Power Co. and their newspapers, are now supporting, actively, Mr. Underwood. I will lead for Henry Ford in this fight as I have since the question has been before this country; and further, if nominated and elected the Muscle Shoals question will be settled in favor of the farmers and Henry Ford.

UNDERWOOD FAVORS AUTOCRACY IN GOVERNMENT. I FAVOR DEMOCRACY IN GOVERNMENT.

Underwood's "Pink-Tea" and "Silk Stocking Supporters" speak publicly and offensively of the farmers' organizations as the moribund (dead) crowd, while I say the farmers and farmers' organizations are the foundation stone upon which the Republic stands, and that the farmers are the bulwark of the Nation, and that long before the coming primary election the Bolshevik Bourbon Underwood supporters will find out that the farmers of this State are not dead, neither are they sleeping.

What Is to Be Your Verdict?

ARE YOU FOR UNDERWOOD AND AUTOCRACY, OR MUSGROVE AND DEMOCRACY?

Are you for Underwood and the surrender of your rights and your liberty or are you for Musgrove and the preservation of the rights of the people to have a representative government and to have control of their own affairs?

Are you in favor of the vest pocket Underwood delegation being voted for a reactionary wet politician; or for Musgrove with the assurance that only a dry, progressive democrat will receive the benefit of your vote?

The choice is yours. Yours to bear the evils of a defeat of democratic principles. Yours to receive the benefits of a victory for the right of the people to rule.

L. B. MUSGROVE.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

W. M. U. Meets Monday.

At the home of Mrs. Mallie White on Monday evening, the Woman's Missionary Society held their regular business meeting, and officers for the year were elected. Rev. C. C. Wilkerson conducted the devotional exercises. After all business was dispensed the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. C. Jones; Vice-President, Mrs. M. L. White; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. Chandler; Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Macy Jones; Local Treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Armstrong; Superintendent of Juniors, Mrs. V. J. Elmore; Superintendent of Study and Publicity, Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson; Superintendent of Bible Study, Mrs. McDavid; Superintendent of Social Service, Mrs. Joe Calloway; Superintendent of Supplies, Mrs. W. A. Reynolds; Local Chairman and Agent for Voice, Mrs. Kicker; Parsonage Committee, Mesdames M. A. Gore, Hugh Simpson; Flower Committee, Mrs. Luckie. Rev. Wilkerson made a few commentary remarks concerning the work on the new church, also the urgent need of the centenary move. A large number of useful and serviceable articles had been given by each merchant. These things were to be collected to be sold at M. A. Gore's store by Mesdames. Macy Jones, Wilkerson and Oscar Jones. Among these articles was a "yearling," given by Tom Kemp, and the Ladies Committee appointed Rev. Wilkerson to take charge of this number. Three new names were added to the roll, that of Mesdames Claud Jones, Oscar Jones and Joe Calloway. Late in the evening a dessert course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Luckie and Armstrong.

Birthday Party.

Janice Meredith Danforth is eleven years old. The epochal day fell on last Friday. Her classmates became her guests for the afternoon in celebration of the occasion. The receiving of the gift-bearing guests, the serving of fruit punch, the playing of child-hood games, the serving of delightful refreshments and the dispensing of favors to the departing guests by the honoree, made up the afternoon's program. Much fun and jollity were crowded into the few short hours. It is safe to say the happy occasion will ever be remembered by the participants. During the partaking of refreshment period, each guest expressed one good wish for the benefit of the happy honoree. These good wishes could have been expressed universally, in the language of the inimitable Rip Van Winkle: "May you live a long time and always be happy."

Card Club Meets.

Mrs. Willis Lyman was lovely hostess on last Wednesday when she entertained her Bridge club. Bright flowers and pot plants were used to decorate the rooms where the tables for the game was arranged. After a spirited game Mrs. Oscar Jones held top score and was given a pretty hand made handkerchief.

At the close of the game a dessert course was served.

Mrs. John VanDerveer and Miss Bettie Mullins were guests of the club.

The friends of Roscoe Connell will be glad to see him out again after a spell of measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts enjoyed a motor trip to Montgomery Sunday.

Mrs. Willie Holmes of Dothan is visiting relatives here this week.

Mrs. Hugh Simpson was called to Montgomery Tuesday on account of the death in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong returned from a brief visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. E. S. Parrish from Deland, Fla., was theh guest of Mr. and Mrs. Luckie Sunday night.

Mr. McDonald of the McDonald Mercantile Co., made a business trip to Montgomery Monday.

Mrs. Hanley returned to her home in Ensley Tuesday after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rowell.

Mr. Red Wooley was called to Montevallo a couple of days last week on account of the death of his aunt.

Mrs. Sallie Goodwyn is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Miss Callie Watts made a business trip to Jacksonville, Ala., Monday.

Mrs. W. I. Mullins returned home Tuesday after a two weeks visit to Dr. and Mrs. Amzi Gowan.

Mr. Marion Foshee returned to his home in Fort Payne after a few days business trip here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds motored over to Selma Tuesday.

Mr. Andrew Easterling and family left Monday for the Rio Grande Valley, where they will make their future home.

Mr. H. L. Shields, Road Master of the L. & N. was attending to business in Clanton Tuesday.

Miss Marjorie Murphy, who is teaching at Oak Grove, spent the week-end at home.

Mrs. Annie Thacker is moving this week to Clanton and will have an apartment with "aunt" Laura White.

Visit New Tea Room.

Last Tuesday afternoon a congenial group of ladies played Bridge at the home of Mrs. Victor Heard and after the game they went over to Mrs. Branch's tea room, where they were served dainty refreshments.

Mr. W. H. Robinson of Providence was in Clanton Monday. While here he came to The Banner office to get his copy of the 1924 Year Book.

Child-birth

HOW thousands of women, by the simple method of an eminent physician, have avoided unnecessary miseries through many months and up to the moment Baby has arrived, is fully explained in the remarkable book, "Motherhood and the Baby." Tells also what to do before and after baby comes, probable date of birth, baby rules, etc., and about "Mother's Friend," used by three generations of mothers, and sold in all drug stores everywhere. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally, is safe, free from narcotics, permits easier natural readjustment of muscles and nerves during expectancy and child-birth. Start using it today. Mrs. E. E. Kerger, Slayton, Minn., says: "It pulled me through." Send for book today, to Bradfield Regulator Co., B.A-76, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

POOR OR

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE ELECTION CONTEST ANY WAY?

(EDITORIAL)

We always thought that an election was contested for the purpose of making corrections in illegal votes and ultimately to purge the ballot boxes of any illegality, but from recent developments it looks as though the real purpose of the contest over the probate judgeship of Chilton County has been forgotten and instead there has been instituted a personal persecution against Judge L. H. Reynolds on the part of a few sore Democrats in the county. The backers of the scheme seem to be composed mostly of one or two doctors, a few lawyers and from all indications one or two who stand influential in one of the banks here in Clanton. If the reason leading up this persecution of Judge Reynolds is disclosed, it can be readily seen that the majority of these men have something personal against Judge Reynolds and are not fighting the contest for any meritorious reason whatever. You may go down one side of the street, even in Clanton, and back up the other, and four out of every five will tell you that they are not in favor of the methods that are being resorted to to oust Judge Reynolds out of office. You can even go to Beats 7 and 8, two of the strongest Democratic Beats in the county, and we will wager to say that not one influential Democrat is in favor of the methods that are being pursued and the treatment Judge Reynolds is being accorded.

In regard to the difficulty that occured a few days ago in the court house, it seems to us that Judge Reynolds has been unusually patient and has borne the excessive abuse that has been heaped upon him longer and with more patience than most any other man in the country would have done. It seems sometimes that some men are not quite as respectful of the truth as they might be, or else their recollection is very blurred. If you will take the time to read the piece of Judge Reynolds in this week's paper in which he quotes the statement made by Hon. J. F. Thompson in his letter to The Union-Banner on December 27th in regard to the controversy at the court house, and then again his statement in the Chilton County News on January 10th, you will understand what we mean. Also read the affidavit of old man A. J. Jones whom we all know and trust and see what he says concerning the conversation which he heard between Mr. Thompson and Prof. Pickens on the train one afternoon just after the difficulty. In that conversation, when these two gentlemen thought that no one interested was around and talked confidentially, Mr. Thompson made the expression that Judge Reynolds had not done any more than any ordinary man would have done under the circumstances. In other words, Mr. Thompson justifies Judge Reynolds' action in slapping Tom Hand, but almost simultaneously he has the audacity to come out in the Chilton County News with an afidavit entirely and wholly exonerating Tom Hand of insulting the girls and holding him up to the public as a model man and a paragon of all orderly actions and righteousness on the day of the controversy. On the one hand he is publicly lauding Tom Hand to the skies and shows him up to be blameless, while privately he blames Mr. Hand and in effect says that Judge Reynolds was right. The poet has aptly said that "Truth crushed to the earth shall rise again," which fits this case with miraculous aptitude. We wonder sometimes if more private conversations of some of the same set of men could be known that the real motive of the contest would not be disclosed.

The News is continually speaking of frauds in the last election. Well, let us just suppose that Judge Reynolds or some other Republican officer of the county at any time had performed any duty that was imposed upon them by law in such a manner as the Board of Registrars did two years ago, the News would have invoked the powers of heaven and hell to have reaped its retributive justice for it. What can the News or any Democrat think of a Board of Registrars—men appointed and sworn to perform a public trust under sacred and binding judicial oaths before the Almighty God to perform their duty according to law, and then contrary to law go from house to house registering Democrats and skipping Republican voters? It is reliably reported that on one occasion they went to Mrs. Durbin's house and registered her out under the wagon shed which is controry to law and left a Republican lady in the house not registered. There are numbers of other similar cases that might be mentioned. On one occasion they advertised the place for registering voters and Mrs. O. S. Shoults went to the place on the date advertised and remained there all the morning in the rain, and the registrars went from house to house violating the law, and yet this good lady was not allowed the privilege of registering and was disfranchised and denied the privilege of voting, which the highest law of this land says she was entitled to. If any Republican official had performed any official duty in such a manner, he would have been, and should have been, run out of the county and denied the right to ever look upon the face of an honest man or woman again.

Right now, there is a man on the Registration Board whom we understand from a reliable source, went to a member of the last State Legislature and told him it would never do to let the probate judges of the State register voters as some of them were Republicans and would register all alike but by having a Democratic board the advantage would be decidedly in their favor. Yes indeed, it is in their favor where the registrars have as little respect of the law as above pointed out. So, our suggestion to the Chilton County News is that they sweep around their own door a bit before they undertake to cleanse all the "crooked" Republicans in Chilton County. Yes, we say, let the contest come—but in a legal fashion. Let it be above board and open. Let's make it a legal fight with honor and justice reigning supreme, and then the winner will know that he has fought a good fight and kept the faith.

In its last issue the News speaks of "Judge" Atkinson being a staunch Republican and open, clean and honest. We are forced to wonder, has the News gone Republican, or what is the trouble?

HAMPTON NEWS

Mrs. W. F. Parson was the guest of Mrs. S. E. Howell Friday afternoon.

Miss Ida Scott and nephew, Joseph Scott, were the guests of Mrs. S. E. Howell and daughter Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. F. Parson and family were guests of Mrs. Bill Logan and family Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Scott and family were guests of Mrs. J. P. Barbour and family Sunday.

There's no preaching at Hampton now. Rev. White has become unable to serve the church and it seems the folks are in no hurry to get them a new pastor.

There is preaching at Zion's Rest every 4th Sunday. Everybody is welcome.

Since Miss Thelma Scott has left us, it is quite lonesome down here. Come on folks, if you would visit us we might be able to get something started at Hampton. Bethany folks, Bethsalem and none of those folks ever visit us, and there is not many folks around here, and how can we expect anything? The folks do not think it worth while, when no one cares to come about us. Tell us what you have against us.

LOMAX NEWS

(Last week's letter.)

Please allow me a small place in your paper for a few words.

Misses Nettie and Vilula Littlejohn of Thorsby were visiting relatives and friends around here part of last week.

Mr. R. W. Ward of Mt. Pleasant was a visitor to Lomax Friday afternoon.

Mrs. William Jones and Mrs. Webb Sharp from near Jackson Chapel were visiting in Lomax Friday.

Messrs C. C. Burnett, Oscar Wells and Henry Taylor made a trip to Birmingham Sunday.

Uncle Dock Wells of Clanton was visiting in Lomax Sunday.

Mr. D. N. Robinson, better known as Doulby Robinson, from Montgomery, is visiting relatives and friends here.

Miss Pauline Robinson was the guest of her cousin, Miss Annie Ward, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Tom Burnett who has been visiting his son, Charlie Burnett, returned to his home in Randolph Monday.

Mrs. Bessie Wells visited Mrs. Ollie Burnett Sunday afternoon.

With best wishes to The Union-Banner.

JUDGE REYNOLDS WRITES MORE OF HAND AFFAIR

the presence of Mr. G. C. Walker in Mr. Walker's office last Wednesday that the young ladies told him that I was courteous at all times and that I did not speak an unkind word in their presence. You could have ascertained the truth of this matter if you had wanted to be fair to me. I am perfectly willing to leave the matter of my conduct to Judge Reynolds who investigated the incident on his return and told me the result as above."

In other words, in this statement he makes the assertion that he, Mr. Thompson, did not say an unkind or discourteous word to either of the ladies in the office, and further says that an unkind or discourteous word was not spoken to either of them by anyone in his presence or hearing, and that if there were discourtesies shown it did not happen in the record room where he was all the time. I think it is quite apparent to any one that in the article in The Union-Banner Mr. Thompson is only testifying what happened in his presence or what he himself did, but in his last affidavit in the Chulton County News he makes the broad assertion that Mr. Hand had not spoken a single discourteous word to the young ladies either in his presence or otherwise. Why the discrepancy in the two statements I do not understand.

Mr. Thompson also stated in the same affidavit in the Chilton County News that he himself told Judge Reynolds on Wednesday, December 19 in the office of Grover Walker that it was not Mr. Hand but he himself who asked the clerk for the information relative to the names on the poll list and that there was nothing unusual or unpleasant which resulted from his inqiry. This is also entirely different from the conversation I had with Mr. Thompson in Mr. Walker's office on the date mentioned.

During the conversation I asked Mr. Thompson if he heard Mr. Hand and Mr. Pickens speak to the girls in any insulting manner and he said: "I did not hear them say anything insulting to the girls." He asked me if they said he was discourteous and I stated to Mr. Thompson that the clerks said he was entirely courteous to them, but I am sure I am correct when I say Mr. Thompson did not tell me that he was the one who talked to the girls concerning the poll list as he satted in the Chilton County News on the date above mentioned. At first it seemed the purpose of Mr. Thompson to exonerate himself from any wrong doing, but in his last statements he has taken upon himself the exoneration of Mr. Hand as well.

In the issue of The Union-Banner of some few weeks ago there were affidavits by the two Misses Burnett of what happened in the office. There were no insinuations against Mr. Thumpson at all and if he takes upon himself the broad duty of answering for Mr. Tom Hand's wrong doings, that is his business. However, I feel that in justice to the two Misses Burnett, his statements for consistency should not go unchallenged. I have known the two Misses Burnett practically all their lives and I have known Green Burnett, their father, pactically all his life, and they are all known to the people of this county and it makes no difference as to the relative position of Mr. Thompson and the two Misses Burnett, as I believe their word before the public of Chilton County will have as much weight as his.

There are numerous circumstances and facts concerning this controversy which bear the two Misses Burnett out in their statements. These facts have already been published in a former issue of The Union-Banner. Also, taking Mr. Thompson's side of the affair, if the facts were as he has alleged in the last issue of the Chilton County News, why did he change those facts from the statements made in the Union-Banner of December 27.

Mr. Thompson has seen fit in this affidavit to flatly contradict and dispute the statements made by the Burnett girls, but I will say this in defense of them, that, considering the facts in the case and the inconsistent statements of Mr. Thompson and also considering the character and honor of the two young ladies I do not think his affidavit can change the attitude of the public. I have always found the two young ladies and their father as being of the highest character and integrity, and the public knows that they have been very courteous and affable in the office, always closely attending to the business of the office and the public service.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Before me, J. Z. Mims, Clerk of the Circuit Court in and for said county in said state, personally appeared A. J. Jones, who being by me first duly sworn, deposes on oath and says as follows:

I am now a resident citizen of Chilton County, I was born in Chilton county and have resided in Chilton County my entire life, and I am now seventy-one years of age. A day or two after the trouble between Judge Reynolds and Tom Hand, which I am informed occurred in the court house at Clanton, I boarded No. 10 in the afternoon at Verbena, Ala., for Lomax, Ala. While the train stopped at Clanton I went from the day coach into the smoker and Mr. J. J. Pickens of Clanton came into the smoker also and sat down by the side of J. F. Thompson. I know both of these gentlemen. I then sat down across the aisle from where these two gentlemen were sitting and they then started a conversation relative to the trouble between Judge Reynolds and Tom Hand. During the course of the conversation J. F. Thompson stated in substance that the trouble between Judge Reynolds and Tom Hand was all uncalled for and that Judge Reynolds had not done any more than any ordinary man would have done under the circumstances.

A. J. JONES,

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this the 15th day of Jan., 1924.
J. Z. MIMS,
Clerk Circuit Court.

Editor Union-Banner:

This is to certify that we, resident citizens in and around Collins Chapel, have personally and intimately known the Misses Delene and Audel Burnett practically their entire lives, they having been raised and lived in this community, and we have also known their father, Green Burnett, and we take pleasure in certifying and testifying to the character of these young ladies as being of the highest type of womanhood, both for honor, integrity and veracity and we strongly resent any insinuations made to the contrary by any person either a resident of this county or otherwise.

We futher certify that the Misses Burnett are descended from a family of the highest type of character and citizenship and we emphatically resent, on their account, and insinuations that may be made on their two daughters.

We have also found the Misses Burnett very courteous in the Probate Office and attentive to the public service and the duties of the office. They have also conducted themselves in a womanly and lady-like manner and we therefore feel it our duty to publicly resent any insinuations to the contrary as to their veracity or honesty.

Mr. Andrew J. Easterling and family, who have heretofore been living in Temple Community, left Monday afternoon for their new home in the Rio Grande Valley of Southern Texas. Mr. Easterling bought land there a few weeks ago and sold out all his belongings in Chilton County. The Banner wishes Mr. Easterling much success in his new undertaking.

Mr. J. L. Smith, formerly of Clanton Route 3, but now of Pletcher, was in Clanton a while Monday.

CENTENARIAN

Work and no worry—there you have the recipe for attaining ripe old age, in the estimation of Daniel Driscoll of Sawtelle, California. He ought to know. Mr. Driscoll who is pictured above, has just passed the 105th milestone of his career.

And he is just as spry and active as a man of thirty. If you saw him going through his daily routine of work in his garden, it is said, you'd never think the man was a centenarian. Quite interesting, we'd say.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF LAND

Only Seven More Days Left To Pay Your Poll Tax

Republican Executive Committee Met Here Last Monday

In Regular Session At Court House

Important Matters That Are Before Republicans Taken Up In Enthusiastic Meet.

Pursuant to a call by Chairman, W. G. Culp, twenty-two members of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County met at the court house in Clanton on Monday of this week. Althogh the weather was rather cold and disagreeable, only a few Beats in the county were not represented. The fact that the committeemen from the border Beats of the county got in their vehicles and manfully faced the chilly winds for a fofteen or twenty mile drive shows somewhat the interest that the Republicans of the county have in the affairs of their party.

After the meeting was declared in order by the chairman, several matters of minor importance were brought to the attention of the committee and disposed of. A motion was introduced by Judge L. H. Reynolds and passed by the body that the Republicans of the county enter the primary election in May, simultaneously with the Democratic primary, for the purpose of nominating county officers; also that the Republicans in each Beat meet at 2:00 o'clock on the day of the primary at or near the voting places and elect delegates to the County Republican Convention as has been done heretofore.

A motion was introduced and passed by the meeting to appoint a committee composed of J. O. Middleton, T. G. Wyatt and Grady Reynolds to arrange for the May primary and a county mass meeting.

It was brought to the attention of the committee that the Couny Board of Registrars of Chilton County had been issuing registration certificates to voters in Chilton County that bore the caption of "The State of Alabama, Jefferson County." Inasmuch as these certificates were no good with this error on them, a committee was sent to the Board calling their attention to the matter. The Board informed the committee that it was purely a mistake on their part and that they would gladly correct all the erroneous certificates which they had issued.

The County Committee went on record as opposing any participation of the Republicans of the county in the special presidential primary in Alabama to be held in March of this year. This action was taken on the grounds that the construction of the peculiar primary law in Alabama is unconstitutional and unfair to the citizens of other states who might want to enter their names in the primary in Alabama. Following is the resolution passed by the committee touching on this matter:

"WHEREAS the National Republican Executive Committee at its meeting in Washington, adopted a resolution ignoring the Alabama Presidential primary; and

"WHEREAS our State Republican Executive Committee, following the lead of the National Committee, wisely adopted the resolution repudiating the Alabama Presidential primary, and decided to call a State Convention for the selection of delegates to the National Convention;

"THEREFORE be it resolved by the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, in regular session assembled on this 21st day of January, 1924 at Clanton Alabama, adhering to the rule adopted by the National and State Republican Committees, hereby repudiate the Alabama Presidential Primary to the end that delegates may be selected by convention under rules promulgated by our State Convention."

The Committee also went on record as endorsing the wise, able and efficient administration of President Coolidge and pledged him the support of the county organization in his race for re-election. This resolution follows:

"WHEREAS President Coolidge, by his wise administration of the affairs of this nation, has justly earned the confidence and esteem of the American people; and

"WHEREAS we believe with the overwhelming majority of the American people that the nation will remain safe by contniunig him in office;

"THEREFORE be it resolved by the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, that we do hereby indorse the candidacy of Hon. Calvin Colidge for re-election as President of the United States."

The manner in which Editor Corley of the Chilton County News has been lambasting Col. Street and the Republican organization of Alabama by refering to them as "the blacks and tans" and making other and varied charges against the Republicans of Alabama was taken up in the meeting and openly repudiated. A resolution regarding the actions of The News was passed by the body as follows:

"WHEREAS there has come to our attention articles in the Chilton County News of January 17, 192[illegible] and also prior to this time, which are intended to villify the character and political standing of our national committeeman, Hon. O. D. Street of Guntersville, Alabama, without any meritorious reason whatever. We, the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee, do hereby strongly resent and oppose any such untrue insinuations cast by the editor of the Chilton County News, W. B. Corley, and brand the same as untrue and cowardly. But it further resolved that the same is a futile attempt on the part of the editor of The News, as the official organ of the Democratic party in this county, to prejudice Hon. O. D. Street and mainly the Republican party in Chilton County without any just, logical, gentlemanly or meritorious reason whatever.

"Be it further resolved that we have known Mr. Street and have always found his character to be that of a high class gentleman and ethical lawyer and worthy of the official trust that the Republican party of this state has bestowed upon him.

"We further condemn the action of the editor of the Chilton County News as being unethical and its statements untruthful and its conduct unbecoming as a newspaper, and we strongly resent the said insinations and statements in regard to Mr. Street and the Republican party.

"We further represent that the statements of Mr. Corley are but a cowardly subterfuge on his part to attempt to discount and villify the Republican organization in this State and also to disrupt and tear down the same. We therefore frankly and wholeheartedly condemn the action of Mr. Corley and the Chilton County News and warn the Republicans of this county and elsewhere not to be misled by such cowardly subterfuge as these statements."

The entire Committee expressed itself as being squarely behind Judge Reynolds in going into the contest and seeing that the Republican side of the case is looked after diligently. The committeemen were not at all afraid for the contest to come to a show-down, but openly expressed themselves as wanting the case to be fought out strictly on its merits and each party concerned given only his just dues, which of course they feel sure will be done by the court which tries the case.

All in all, this meeting was as spirited and as harmoneous as any that have ever been held in the county. Every member seemed to be well pleased with the condition of the party in the county and were filled with the determination to fight during the coming year with every ounce of their energy to make the success of the party assured.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN SPECIAL SESSION

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in special session Tuesday of this week for the purpose of finishing up some business in connection with the new road law of Chilton County. The new road law and the necessary blanks for the enforcement of the law have been turned over to the printer, and these supplies will be ready for use within a few days. This new road law is somewhat a new undertaking but the commissioners have worked out the details very carefully, and it is believed and sincerely hoped that the plan will prove successful. Let everybody in the county co-operate with the commissioners in their efforts, and let's make the plan succeed. No plan will work successfully if half of the people are continually knocking it, but if everyone will do his duty, we will see a marked difference. The commissioners want good roads and at the minimum expense to the county, so let us all stand squarely behind them and help them to accomplish this end.

REPUBLICANS, PREPARE NOW TO VOTE, BY PAYING YOUR BACK POLL TAX AND REGISTERING

Board of Registrars Now at Court House—Will Be Here Through February 2nd—Then Will Visit Other Beats in County.

During the past week, several voters have paid up their poll tax and placed themselves in position to vote, but the number yet is comparatively small. The time in which to pay is drawing near, as Friday, February 1st is your last chance.

The Democrats of the county are going to put up a hard fight this year to overthrow President Coolidge and the Republican administration at Washington. If you prefer to live on in peace and prosperity as we have during the past Republican administration, then qualify now and be able to vote. If you want the Democrats to get in charge and bring on another panic, just keep your seat and they will do the rest. The Democrats are not losing a minute's time; so the time for us to prepare is now. Let us not lose any time.

It is an easy matter to see what the Democrats of Chilton county would do if they are given the control of the county affairs. The men who control the party care little for the wishes of the common people, more than to get their vote. After a Democrat is elected, the machine force is immediately brought to bear upon him and he either has to surrender or be ousted, and they always surrender. The inevitable result is that the rights of the common people are tread under foot.

In regard to President Coolidge and the national administration, Henry Ford recently said, "Why make a change?" The whole country is facing the same question. The Republicans have managed our affairs well,—much better than any Democrat ever managed them. So, we can't afford to make a change. Calvin Coolidge has proven to be a man of real brain. The Republican Congress has reduced the national debt several million dollars, and will finally wipe it all out if they stay in charge. The Republicans enacted into law the protective tariff, which has proven time and again to be the best for the farmer and the laborer, instead of the Democratic—Underwood free trade act. The protective tariff is the very life of American industry.

The Republican party stands for America and American ideals. The Democratic party stands for the League of Nations and entangling alliances with foreign countries. This fact alone should cause every man in the country to awake to his duty and exert his rights as a citizen.

So, at this late hour, we make the appeal to the Republicans of Chilton county, to see to it that all the Republicans of Chilton county pay up their back poll tax and register. If the Board of Registrars have already visited your precinct and you know of some who did not register, then have them meet the registrars while they are at the court house. While they are here they can register any voter from any precinct in the county. And when you go to register, watch out and don't let the registrars issue you a bogus receipt as they have done in some instances in their recent rounds. Prepare now to play a citizen's part, lest you be sorry for not doing so later.

Taking City Census

By order of the City Council, a program has recently been organized and put into operation to take the official census of the City of Clanton. For the work of going to the home of every family in Clanton and enumerating the population, Mr. M. M. Biles has been employed by the Council. A set of index cards have been printed, one of which will be made out for each person living within the corporate limits of the city. Various information will be gathered of each individual and entered on this card. As soon as the enumeration is completed a report of same will be published.

Will Gladly Correct

Owing to the fact that some Jefferson County Registration certificates got mixed with our supply of Chilton County certificates, the clerk inadvertantly filled out a few of these by mistake.

Of course the Registration books will show the correct registration, but if anyone finds that they have a Jefferson County certificate we will be glad to replace it with the proper certificate.

J. W. E. GULLEDGE,
Chairman.
E. H. ADAMS,
J. L. JOHNSON,
Registrars.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THE UNION-BANNER $1.50 YEAR

For the benefit of those who are under the impression that we are selling The Union-Banner now at the club rate of $1 each for three or more subscriptions, will say that this special rate closed on January 1st. The regular price of $1.50 now prevails, and everybody will be charged at this rate. Hereafter when only one dollar is sent in, your subscription will be extended for only eight months, which is at the regular rate.

We made the special club rate from December 1st to January 1st to give those a chance to get the paper for one dollar, but that rate closed on January 1st. So, please don't come here expecting to get the paper at a reduced rate now, because we cannot sell it that way. You had the chance while the club rate was on, so you should have taken advantage of it at that time. Please remember that no more subscriptions will be taken at the club rate of three for $1 each, and this applies to everybody.

Explosion in Room of Commissioners

A very peculiar and mysterious explosion occurred Tuesday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock in the Commissioners Court Room of the courthouse in Clanton. The Commissioners Court had been in session in the room all day, and had just finished their work and adjourned. Miss Delene Burnett, Chief Clerk for the Probate Judge was sitting at the desk writing out some papers. Judge L. H. Reynolds, Mr. J. M. Mims and Judge A. L. Driver of Randolph County were in the room. Everything in the room was perfectly quiet when an explosion of some sort went off in the drawer of the desk where Miss Burnett was sitting, which made about the fuss of the shot of a .32 pistol.

The explosion was powerful enough to severely shock the hand of Miss Burnett and split a crack in the top of the desk about four feet long in a plank an inch thick. There was nothing in the drawer of any importance, just a few pieces of scrap paper. After the explosion no sign could be found in the drawer except some small bits of something that resembled burnt tissue paper and a small bit of burnt powder. The drawer or the desk was not moved in any way to have caused anything in the drawer to explode.

Due to the fact that the Commissioners Court had been in session in the room all day and that no children had been in the room or any kind of fire works been handled around there, the explosion has baffled every one who was present and all who have investigated the incident. No reason can be assigned for such occurrence whatever.

Mr. W. M. Wyatt, of The Republican, at Fort Payne, Ala., was in Clanton the latter part of last week attending to business matters.

Alabama Preference Primary Law Held Unconstitutional

Presidential Selection Is Held Invalid

Attorney Gen. Gives Opinion At Request of Examiner of Public Accounts.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 19.—Act of the legislature, providing for the holding of a presidential preferential primary election in Alabama, is held by Attorney General Harwell G. Davis to be unconstitutional and void.

Under this ruling handed down in a formal opinion rendered by Attorney General Davis, Saturday, at the request of Judge Charles E. McCall, chief examiner of public accounts, the attorney general holds that the conties will not be authorized to incur the expense of the holding of the election which is provided for in the presidential preferential primary act.

Judge McCall's request for the opinion was based upon queries received by him from probate judges, asking whether the counties can legally pay the expenses of the election for which provision is made in the act in question.

Attorney General Davis, in his opinion, calls attention to the following provision of the Alabama constitution: "The legislature shall also make provision by law, not inconsistent with this article, for the regulation of primary elections, and for pnishing trades at the same, but shall not make primary elections compulsory."

Act Compulsory.

He holds that the presidential preferential primary act makes the holding of a presential preferential primary election compulsory, and is, therefore, in direct conflict with and violative of the constitutional provision quoted.

In his conclusion, the attorney general, referring to the presidential preferential primary law, declares that the fact "that one of the political parties through its governing authority" has called such a primary on the date named in the act "will not serve to authorize the payment of the expenses of such primary election by the counties, inasmuch as the general primary law requires that primary elections held at the expense of the state and counties by political parties shall be held on the second

Pletcher On The Boom

Editor Union-Banner:

This is to let you and the readers of our good paper know how we are getting along.

Every thing is running in the same direction, the two main streets are running north and south, the R. R. is running the same way, all running in a prosperous way, or at least it seems that way to us. Nothing like a failure now.

Pletcher is on the M. & O. R. R. We have a new garage in the town, another new store, a gasoline mill, also a steam mill and gin. You bet this is coming. Though this wave don't addle us much as we see it all the time, but other folks seem so bewildered when they come here to register. The Registrators came Saturday for the purpose of registering the people who had become 21 years of age since they were here, that they might vote.

When they dismounted they looked as though they were partly aroused from a long nap, looking around, rubing their eyes, scratching their heads like they were lost.

Some were here to register and behold, the men registered them in Jefferson county. Some boys forget some times where they are on account of hard drink, but oh, my, there is something in the air that is more intoxicating than anything made. It is wonderful to make men think they are in Birmingham. I imagine they thought they were on 20th Street in the great city.

Well, men, look at your standing in this county. Some of you professors know lots but not all. I am sure you will right the wrong with shame faces.

Mr. J. P. Gore Makes Big Trip

Mr. J. P. Gore asks us to tell his friends that he has actually been away from Clanton, even out of Chilton County. He left Friday, January 11th for Birmingham. From there he went by railroad to Vicksburg, Miss. He crossed the Mississippi River at Vicksburg and made his way down through Louisiana. His trip, which was made in search of an escaped criminal, terminated in New Orleans, La. Although Mr. Gore did not find the man he was looking for, he reports that he had a mighty enjoyable trip and got to ride on the train to his complete satisfaction. He returned to Clanton the following Monday.

Uncle Dock Wells Does More Work For Dan Cupid

Uncle Dock Wells was in our office Monday morning by a little after sun-up to impart to us for publication the good work which he had done for his little friend, Dan Cupid, during the previous week-end.

On Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock at his home in Clanton Uncle Dock performed the ceremony that united with the holy bonds of wedlock the happy young lives of W. Henry Hand and Miss Velma Hawk. Uncle Dock says he is especially proud of having had the honor of performing this ceremony as by doing same he eliminated a "Hawk", which fowl is the preacher's avowed enemy since they catch so many chickens. You know, preachers are fond of chickens the same as hawks are.

On Sunday morning Uncle Dock was called out to the home of Mr. Robert Hand to perform another similar ceremony. This time the contracting parties were Albert Dewey Huett and Miss Effie Mae Hand. Uncle Dock says this occasion is what he calls a real good old fashioned homely wedding. The couple was married at 11:00 o'clock before quite a crowd of rejoicing friends, and just as soon as the knot was tied all those present were invited into the dining room to partake of the bounteous dinner which had been prepared for the occasion. And Uncle Dock says, just such a dinner he had never before put his two feet under. So, we leave you to guess what happened during the next hour.

In the afternoon the gathering was so complete and everyone seemed to be feeling so good that Uncle Dock was asked to preach to them. The good old soul never refuses to do his bidding for the cause of his Master, so he preached a sermon that was thoroughly enjoyed. Also a short prayer service was indulged in which Uncle Dock says was made very appropriate for the occasion. So, after the whole story was related to us, we concluded as Uncle Dock had said, that it was really and truly a good, old-fashioned, old-timely wedding.

Both Henry and Effie Mae being the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hand, these make the fourth of their children that have married during the past two years. Mr. and Mrs. Hand have only one left, a bright little girl of 11 years. Uncle Dock says that in about five or six years he hopes to make the job complete by transporting this last member over the sea of matrimony.

Mr. Dewey Huett is the promising young son of Mr. C. B. Huett of Bethsalem, who with his young bride, will make their home in that community. Miss Hawk, who was married to Mr. Henry Hand, is the daughter of Mr. S. L. Hawk, former night police of Clanton. They will make their home for the present at the home of Mr. Robert Hand, the father of the groom.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Delegates to the Southern Forestry congress to be held at Savannah, Ga., Jan. 28-30, inclusive, have been appointed by Governor Brandon as follows; M. A. George, Florala; J. H. Henley, Lockhart; J. T. Carlton, Prentice; S. M. Dunwoody, Columbia; F. E. St. John, Cullman; J. F. Eddy, Birmingham; L. Sevier, Birmingham; Peter Vredenburg, Jr., Vredenburg; R. B. Evins, Birmingham; C. A. O'Neal, Andalusia; S. E. Deal, Tuscaloosa; J. T. Horne, Tuscaloosa; J. G. McGowan, Chapman; J. F. Alston, Tuscaloosa; F. J. Crampton, Montgomery; B. G. Betty, Montgomery; Walter L. Shepherd, Montgomery; I. T. Quinn, Montgomery and Page S. Bunker, state forester for Alabama.

The farmers of Madison county have sustained considerable losses as a result of the continued cold weather, according to reports that are coming in from the rural precincts. Rye, barley, oats and winter grasses have been killed and it is claimed that the only crops that escaped zero weather were those on the lee of hills where they were protected from the cold winds. Some estimates places the loss in the county as high as $15,000.

The Alabama Power Company and the L. & N. Railroad are interested in the location of new industries in Oneonta. Charles S. Chase, industrial agent of the L. & N. railroad, and T. D. Johnston, commercial engineer of the Alabama Power company, spent one day last week in Oneonta looking over the town and investigating local conditions.

Knocking a pistol out of his hands and shoving him in a ditch, Miss Ellen Lairmore, a young girl, prevented Joe M. Cushman, a miner, from doing further harm after he had slain his wife, probably fatally wounded his sister-in-law, and started out to shoot up the whole town of Rock Slope, a small town in Jefferson county.

Filling of an order for 150,000 stamps placed by the Anniston office of the Southern railway was one of the first acts of the new postmaster at Anniston. Sixty thousand of the stamps were one-cent and the remaining 900,000 two-cent. The postmaster has received a voucher from the railway company for $2,400 in payment.

Judging from large orders being placed and the heavy tonnage of commercial fertilizer arriving the record for its use among the farmers at Fort Deposit will be broken this year. This increase is due to the fact that the majority of the farmers will have a marked increase in the cotton acreage over last season.

J. E. Moses is ready to start his 5,000 egg incubator recently purchased by the Pike County Poultry Association and installed at the Baptist orphanage at Troy. Negotiations are under way for brooders to take care of the chicks as they are removed from the incubator.

The Davis-Allcott hosiery mill in one day produced 967 dozen pairs of hose, breaking all records for the factory and, it is believed, breaking all records for such manufacture. Several weeks ago the plant, with 7[illegible] girls at work, turned out 934 dozen pairs.

Territory included in the tick eradication program for 1924 will be about half that of 1923, and within a comparatively short time after the beginning of the work it is hoped to reduce the area at least one-half, according to tentative plans which have been announced.

Work has continued on the Montgomery highway in spite of the recent cold weather. The trucks are working like bees on the Montgomery end of the project, conveying the gravel from the pits near Chehaw, while the trains are hauling it on the Montgomery end from the pits at Millstead.

The Birmingham Age-Herald has moved into its new home, a 27-story building located in the center of the business district of Birmingham at Second Ave. and Twenty-first St. Frederick I. Thompson, the president of the Age-Herald company announced that entire new and modern mercantile equipment has been installed.

At a recent meeting of the Marshall Klan No. 17, Knights of Ku Klux Klan of Guntersville, a resolution providing for a contribution of $1,000 toward the erection of a new city school building, was adopted.

Omaha Bee—The Bok plan was intended to bring sweet peace, and just look what a row it has cooked up already.

John S. Dennis Writes

Clanton, Ala., Jan. 23, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Well, Mr. Editor, what about the contest? You know I have been here a long time and I have been doing a good deal of thinking lately. I have come to the conclusion that this contest is nothing but a piece of political persecution hatched out by a few would-be political bosses whose desire is to ruin if they can't rule. They have been having a lot to say about fraud and corruption, and this causes me to rise up and ask if they are without sin themselves.

Now, Mr. Editor, I have heard it said that a large sum of money was contributed to the Democrats in the last campaign, and that the Democratic State Committee gave them a thousand dollars, and I have heard it is said that the Democratic candidates have filed a statement of their campaign receipts and expenditures and sworn to them and that they are in the office of the Judge of Probate. I have heard it said that there are a number of Democratic merchants in the County who contributed large sums of money to the Democratic campaign fund.

Now, Mr. Editor, I want you to investigate the records and let the people know through your paper just what these Democrat howlers have sworn to in their statement, and let us know what they have included in the statements which it is said they received.

We know it to be a fact that Howard Foshee published letter after letter in the Chilton County News attacking Reynolds, and which, of course, was intended to benefit Messer, and it was carried as paid political advertisements. Now I want you to see if that was included in the expense account of these Democratic howlers. It was reported that Howard Foshee sent out hundreds and hundreds of letters attacking Reynolds and in the interest of Messer, and I want you to see if the postage stamps and stationery is included in the expense account of these Democratic howlers.

Furthermore, the people want to know just who it is that is up behind these political persecutors in an effort to turn Reynolds out of office after he has been honestly elected by the people. You are in position to know and we want you to call names and publish the names and business and post office address of each and every one of these fellows. We want it in black and white so we can put them on the list to which they belong, and hereafter, we will know how to tend to them.

The Republicans of Chilton County are honest people, and there are a great many honest Democrats in the County who are sick and tired of this political persecution and who are disgusted with the conduct of these persecutors. It has been a long time since the Republicans of this County have been stirred up as they are now, and we are determined to have our rights. Wasn't it a shame the way that fellow from Jemison insulted those two girls in the Probate Judge's office? And didn't that fellow Fritz Thompson, the lawyer from Birmingham, make a pretty mess of himself by making two statements which contradicted each other?

Now, Mr. Editor, turn on the search light and lets have the truth about this matter. We Republicans have been spit on long enough and we mean business.

Yours for the right,
JOHN S. DENNIS.

CEDAR GROVE

Health of this community is good at present, except colds.

There will be preaching at this place next Saturday night and Sunday. We will also organize Sunday school next Sunday morning. We invite everybody that will to come and help out. The conference at this place last Saturday was good. We had several visitors with us, who we were glad to see. Bro. McDonald preached a very interesting sermon for us at eleven o'clock, which everyone seemed to enjoy.

Mr. J. P. Barrett spent a while Saturday night with Mr. J. N. Littlejohn.

Miss Tressie Barrett went to Thorsby shopping Saturday afternoon.

Misses Flora and Gertie Mae Hayes spent last Sunday afternoon with Misses Bonnie and Myrtle Littlejohn. The preaching days at this place will be the third Saturday and Sunday after this month.

Next Sunday afternoo nis our regular singing evening. We invite everybody to come and bring their 1924 song books.

ENTERPRISE NEWS

I am glad indeed that health of this community is still very good.

We are still having some cold weather. I guess everybody is just about through killing hogs.

Mr. J. A. Rains and Mr. S. D. Deloach were the dinner gests Sunday of Mr. T. E. Neeley and family.

The weather was so disagreeable we did not get to have any services Sunday. Maybe it will be better next time.

Miss Mary Huett spent Saturday night with her friend, Miss Jewell Deloach, and reported a nice time, for it would be something unusual if you go there and don't have a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, Misses Jewell Deloach, Mary Huett went over to Mr. Omar Gray's to hear the graphaphone. Of course they got cold going and coming but they sure did enjoy themselves while there.

Mr. Rains and Mr. Lon Cagle spent a few enjoyable hours with Mr. S. D. Deloach.

Misses Agnes Neeley and Idona Neeley spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Williams.

Mr. T. E. Neeley and family spent Friday night with Mr. Lorenza Williams and family.

Mr. Floyd Deloach, Aubrey Neeley and Elzie Deloach went hunting Saturday but happened to bad luck for they didn't kil lanything.

I hope Mr. Dewey Huett a long happy life.

Mr. S. D. Deloach motored up to Clanton Saturday afternoon to attend to some business.

WHY—

L&N

THE OLD RELIABLE

"The Old Reliable"

With seventy years of struggle and achievement behind it, and through all the ups and downs of railroading that these seven decades have brought—the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has come to be called "The Old Reliable". And here is the "WHY".

Because—Born of a great idea and reared with a steadfast purpose and a far-reaching vision—it started out to do a big thing, has done it and is continuing to do it.

Because it has promptly and unfailingly met its every obligation—to the public, in adequate service and wholehearted co-operation in all matters of progressive development; to its employees, in fair salaries and deserved promotions from its ranks; to its stockholders and the investors in its securities, in dividends commensurate with its earnings.

Because of its enviable record for passenger trains run on schedule time and freight deliveries made promptly; all with remarkable freedom from preventable accidents involving loss of life to passengers or employees.

These things which the L. & N. has done—and is doing—constitute the "WHY" as to "The Old Reliable", the familiar characterization which is one of both satisfaction and inspiration to its management and its more than fifty thousand individual employees.

Fact No. 29

Fertilizer must be "cured"

Great bins of Royster Fertilizer "cure," or "age," for months so that your results from its use will swell the earnings from your land.

PERHAPS you didn't know that fertilizer should be "cured" or "aged" in order that the food for soil can be more readily available when that food is needed.

This is one of the details of the fertilizer industry that few people know, but it's mighty important. Such "details" as this represent the difference between Royster's Fertilizer and less carefully prepared foods—and the difference between profitable crops and crops that are not so profitable.

To keep vast quantities of fertilizer for months represents an enormous supply and a tremendous capital. Therefore, only a large company like Royster's can offer this more effective "cured" fertilizer.

Rid yourself of the idea that all fertilizer is alike. This is no more true than that all land is alike.

The truth of this can be proven—not alone by the enthusiastic praise of successful farmers who have used Royster's, but by your own experience.

Use Royster's this year. Give it a fair test—and don't guess about fertilizer any more.

Grow better and larger crops by using fertilizer that has been "cured"—that is free from lumps—that has been proven chemically correct by forty chemists—and that has established a record for good works over a long period of years. Look for the name "ROYSTER" on the bags.

Mrs. Watts Moore Hostess.

The members of the sewing club enjoyed a delightful afternoon with Mrs. Watts Moore last Wednesday. Fancy sewing was done and late in the afternoon a tempting salad plate with hot coffee was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Jones and Mrs. Luckie. The guests of the club were: Mesdames H. F. Chandler, Hugh Jones and S. A. Goodwyn of Montgomery.

Card Club Meets.

Mrs. Grady Reynolds was a charming hostess to the members of her card club on last Wednesday afternoon. Tables for the game of Bridge were arranged in the spacious living room. After a series of games the top score was held by Mrs. N. S. Johnson, who was presented a dainty hand made Handkerchief. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Victor Heard, served an elaborate salad plate. Mrs. John VanDerveer was the guest of the club for the afternoon.

Spend-The-Day Party Given.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie was hostess on last Friday to a number of her friends at a spend-the-day sewing party. Lovely Florida poinsettas brightened the apartments. Two machines were kept on the go all day. At the noon hour a delightful repast was enjoyed. Covers were laid for Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn, Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mrs. M. A. Gore, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. Mallie White, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. Hugh Simpson and Mrs. Watts Moore.

Anniversary Celebrated By Mrs. Hugh Simpson.

The hospitable home of Mrs. Hugh Simpson was thrown open to a number of friends on last Thursday, when she celebrated her 16th wedding anniversary. The color tone of pink and white were employed in the decoration of the home. In the dining room the table handsomely appointed was adorned with a basket of pink and white carnations tied with pink tullee. Burning tapers held in chystal candlestick holders surrounded the center piece. The place cards were miniature brides and the favors were tiny pink rose baskets with suspended bells filled with mints. An elaborate five course menu was served. Covers were laid for Mesdames Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, Frank Callen, Hance Alred, John Browder, Victor Heard, Grady Reynolds, Willis Lyman, John aVnDerveer, Guy Roberts, Oscar Jones, Lawrence Gerald, and Miss Kathleen Mullins. After this lovely repast tables were arranged for auction bridge. Mints and bon bons were served during the game. At the close of the game Mrs. Hugh Jones held high score and was presented a box of candy. The consolation, a bunch of carnations, was cut by Mrs. Grady Reynolds. Others invited to assist the hostess were: Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn, Mrs. M. A. Gore, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. McSwain and Mrs. Luckie.

McAdoo was shrewd enough to have one man as the avowed manager of his campaign while another, with far more political sagacity has long been engaged in rounding up the delegates. It takes a shrewd man to lead the Democratic donkey around without the donkey knowing it is being led.

The Chilton County News makes it a universal practice to sfde-track the main vital issues of the day and try to cram down the throats of the people their "black and tan" negro propaganda. The poor old negro has got nothing to do with politics in this country, so, why in the world do the Democrats continue to holler "nigger?" Why don't they discuss the real commercial and industrial advantages of the two parties instead of wasting all their breath on an old stale worn out issue that has been dead forty years.

The cherished pet of the Alabama Democratic machine known as the presidential preferential primary, hatched out by the last State Legislature has been somewhat crippled by the recent decision of Attorney General Davis. Mr. Davis ruled that the act was unconstitutional in that the primary was made compulsory. The fact that this special law is held invalid will somewhat interfere with the plans of Alabama's so-called presidential aspirants. Maybe the Democrats will learn some day that such pet jokes as the preferential primary can't be forced upon the people even if they are branded as legal by the majestic Democratic Legislature.

There is one thing that we especially admire about the Seventh Day Adventists, and that is they advocate a strict separation of church and state. The Roman Catholics believe in uniting the government with the church, but this one thing has directly caused more blood-shed in the human race than any other one thing The church has no business messing with the government's affairs and the government has no business messing with the church's affairs. And every single instance where this plan has been ignored there has resulted more or less trouble. These two things were never intended to work together and never will work together. So, we whole-heartedly commend the Adventists for their firm stand on this punching.

Due to some cause or other, the Board of Registrars of Chilton County in their recent rounds over the county issued some registration certificates to voters that bore the caption, "The State of Alabama, Jefferson County." The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, which was in session Monday of this week, took up the matter and appointed a sub-committee to go before the Board and call their attention to the matter. The committee went before the Board and the latter assured them that it was all a mistake and that they would gladly correct same. The Board, in a statement in this week's paper, says that the issuing of those faulty certificates was merely an oversight of theirs. We are not going to say that they had any ill intentions in issuing this kind of certificates, but we will say that they ought to be more careful and ought to know more about what they are issuing than this. The words "Jefferson County" were printed in big glaring letters on the top of the certificates, and one glance at them ought to have revealed the invalidity of the document. If the members of the Board overlook such an important detail as this, they are liable to let something go through unnoticed that will disqualify a number of the voters of the county. Mistakes, although they are made honestly, sometimes cost a whole lot.

The Miracle Man

Mr. McAdoo ought not to be seeking a cheap job like that of President of the United States, which pays only $75,000 a year. He says that the Government can pay a bonus and reduce taxes at the same time. The man who can show how to do that is worth more than $75,000 a year. The big movie concerns have recently suspended operations because of the high salaries they had to pay performers. Mr. McAdoo could show them how to pay larger salaries and still have a larger net profit. He ought to be worth twice $75,000 to the movies.

DAYS WE'LL NEVER FORGET

Sea - Minded In The British Isles

A mother in Glasgow, Scotland, wrote a letter recently to her son in Washington, D. C., who has become an American citizen. The letter opened as follows:

"I was so busy last week that I failed to get a letter off to you on the S. S. CEDRIC, but I am writing this now so that it will leave on the S. S. ADRIATIC, sailing from Liverpool the ...th instant."

That tells a story. Glasgow is about 150 miles from Liverpool, yet the writer of the letter was familiar with the sailing dates of vessels clearing from the British port. There is nothing odd about that in the British Isles—nothing to induce comment. Practically every intelligent person there is either acquainted with sailing dates, or, if in doubt, they are looked up. The youngsters can stand on the docks of any of the ports of the United Kingdom and pointing to any British vessel in port can tell you its tonnage, speed, engine equipment, and to what company it belongs.

The same thing used to be true along the New England coast and in Baltimore, when American people were more acutely interested in the American merchant marine. Sherman Burroughs, Representative from New Hampshire, who died recently, and who was an ardent champion of an American merchant marine, declared in his last address to Congress that until the American people became "sea-minded" the task of building up and perpetuating a merchant marine would be well-nigh insuperable. The British are sea-minded. Thousands of them, from the merchant prince to the charwoman, hold stocks and bonds in British shipping concerns. The whole nation is back of its marine. And when the whole American nation gets back of the American merchant marine there will be no question about our having one.

It has been said that the shipping industry is our one unprotected industry. The great majority of Americans are in favor of a protective tariff, and that has come to be regarded as a national policy—when the Republicans are in power. Thus far the Democrats have prevented protection to the shipping industry, ably seconded by some of the radicals in Congress, and much of the propaganda subversive of an American merchant marine is financed by British interests. That fact has been brought out on the Floors of Congress. The sea-mindedness of such organizations as the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the American Bar Association—the executive committee, at least—consists in booking passage for Europe on British boats. It is a tough job to convince Mr. Average Citizen that he should support American lines, when leading citizens refuse to do so.

No Official Connection

It is said to be regarded on all sides in Paris that the participation of two American citizens in the special investigation into the reparations muddle marks the reentrance of the United States into European affairs. Apparently the wish of Europeans is father to their thoughts. Secretary of State Hughes has explicitly stated on several occasions that the American Government had no official connection with the American delegates. There was no intimation of such a connection when Mr. Hughes first proposed the meeting over a year ago. There is nothing clearer in the present state of our foreign relations than that the American business men in Paris are acting solely on their own initiative, and that nothing they may do or say will have any binding effect whatever on their home government.

After their experiences with President Wilson in 1919, one would think that European statesmen would investigate the circumstances attending the appointment of American delegates to European conferences. Mr. Wilson let the impression get abroad that he was the American Government, and the deluded people of Europe seemed to think that his word was law to the American Nation. They have since been enlightened. If a President of the United States could not bind his Government, how do they think two private citizens without credentials of any kind from the United States, could influence its action? Europeans are a credulous people indeed.

What Is a Sheik?

Whether it is a disease or something good to eat we don't know, and neither does our dictionary give any light on the subject. So, we are going to ask our readers what their rendition of the peculiar word is. You see it on every other page of the daily papers and the magazines display it in big headlines. So, we want to know what in the duce does the word "Sheik" mean? Mail us your answer.

Purchases Interest in Union-Banner

On last Saturday a deal was perfected whereby Mr. E. C. Powell purchased of W. M. Wyatt the latter's half-interest in The Union-Banner. However, the interest of W. M. Wyatt in the Union-Banner building was sold to T. E. Wyatt, who already owned a half interest in the whole outfit. As it now stands, T. E. Wyatt owns the building and half interest in the business, and E. C. Powell owns half interest in the business.

Mr. Powell is well known in Clanton and needs little introduction over the entire county. He has at different times been connected in some capacity with this paper for the past twelve or fifteen years. He worked out his apprenticeship as "devil" under Editor Chrichton and stuck to the job for about four years. He then left Clanton and went to Caruthersville, Mo., where he worked in the same business for two years. When W. M. Wyatt and T. E. Wyatt had to leave the business and go to the army in 1918, the paper was left entirely in Mr. Powell's charge. He managed the business very satisfactorily until the Wyatt brothers were discharged, when he left Clanton again and went to Tuscaloosa. He worked in the newspaper business in that city until a year ago, when he came back to his old job with The Banner. He has been working here ever since as foreman of the shop.

It can be readily seen from the varied experience that Mr. Powell has had in the business that he is no novice at the game. The printing office is to him just what a brier patch is to a rabbit. When he is there he is altogether at home. It is indeed to be regretted that W. M. Wyatt saw fit to leave the business and finally to dispose of his interest in same, but at the same time, it is very fortunate that it has fallen into the hands of a man with Mr. Powell's experience. And there is one thing we were about to forget—and that is that Mr. Powell is a dyed-in-the-wool Republican. So, don't get it in your head that The Union-Banner will be changed politically by this transaction, for it will not. The present owners will continue to fight the battles of the Republican party of Chilton just as hard, and if possible a little harder, than we ever have before.

MY DECISION IN LOCATING IN CLANTON PERMANENTLY

Having learned by actual experience the truth in the old adage that "A rolling stone gathers no moss," I am pleased to announce my acquisition of an interest in The Union-Banner. I have worked at the printing business in several places over the country and have had quite a broad experience in the trade, but I have decided that Clanton is the best place I have ever found to live in, so I have pitched my tent here to stay.

I wish to say to the people of the county that all the relations I have had with you in the past through the different positions I have held with The Union-Banner have been pleasant and agreeable beyond estimation, and I only hope that my present relation as half owner of the paper will prove to be the same. It will be my greatest pleasure to have my friends do business with me here and I assure you that I am going to do all in my power to serve the public just as unselfishly as possible. So, again I will say that I am glad to be located in Clanton permanently and hope that I may succeed in what I have undertaken and at the same time do my bit toward making Clanton and Chilton County a still better place to live in.

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)—The country demands tax reduction, and it demands that it be handled as an economic and not a political or party issue.

Editorial Aphorisms

Portland Oregonian—Pacifists and little navy men are so prejudiced against armament of any kind that they do not take the touble to inform themselves as to what constitutes a navy equal to that of Great Britain. The gun range of one-third of our capital ships is two miles less than that of all the Bitish capital ships. Equality will not have been reached until our capital ships are equal to the British in speed, range of guns, defensive strength and crew.

Houston Post (Dem.)—inherently, the Mellon tax reduction plan is described because it releives the small earner of a considerable share of his burden and at the same time encourages wealth to enter productive development and stimulate the commerce and industry of the whole Nation, to the benefit of all, and in so doing materially increases the Government's revenues from the larger incomes.

Philadelphia Ledger—Mr. McAdoo has come to be one of the most noteworthy of the Democratic witch-doctors. He is a well-known railroad baiter, a Government-ownership apostle, a soldier-bonusite, and he wishes to extend special pivileges to the farmers as a special class. Mr. Coolidge is opposed to almost everything Mr. McAdoo favors.

Chicago Tribune — Mr. Mellon wants to stimulate business by relieving tax burdens so that prosperity will be general and what taxes are needed will be easy to pay. Mr. Garner wants to gather votes by relieving taxation for the voters, regardless of any effect upon prosperity.

Troy Times—The 7,000,000 or more income tax payers and 100,000,000 others who will indirectly profit by the tax reduction demand the Mellon plan, and will refuse to accept a substitute, for they are satisfied that there is nothing "just as good."

New York Times—The country has waked up to the indispensable necessity of relief from overpowering Federal taxation. It has got to wake up to the indispensable necessity of the reduction of State and local taxation.

Marion Star—We want none of sovietism in America, and we do not purpose to deal in a governmental capacity with soviets in Russia until they see the light and change their ways.

Kennebec Journal—We feel perfectly safe in denying any rumor to the effect that Senator Reed of Missouri wrote the Bok peace plan.

Soggy Biscuits and Indigestion

From time immemorial, leavening gas has made the "touch" which made the paste of flour and water a digestible food—the staff of life. A flat and soggy loaf or biscuit is an unleavened food. So it is that leavening agents such as yeast or baking powder are employed.

To insure to the American housewife complete leavening of her biscuits, cakes, muffins, etc., which is so important to perfect digestion, the pure food authorities found it wise to require a certain standard of leavening strength in baking powder.

To maintain this guaranty of digestibility—to insure minimum deterioration of leavening strength, baking powder is packed in tin. This prevents absorption of atmospheric moisture. Dampness produces premature reaction in the can—results in loss of leavening gas.

The food official, would properly condemn baking powder if packed in cheap sacks.

But what about self rising flour? It comes to the southern housewife from remote northern mills packed in porous bags. What happens to this mixture of baking materials and flour?

Chemical analysis shows that much of it has lost its leavening strength before it reaches the consumer.

Breadstuffs made with such self-rising flours cannot rise properly—they come to the table heavy, flat, and soggy.

Why don't the pure food officials demand that self-rising flours contain 0.5% leavening gas, the equivalent to the 12% required of baking powder?

Calumet Baking Powder is scientifically and legally correct—the last spoonful is as pure and sure as the first.

Packed in tin—keeps the strength in

Good Roads Influence Seen in Motor Values

Better Highways Have Produced Better Cars.

A statistical summary of the various values possible to obtain today by the expenditure of a dollar as compared with ten years ago has been made by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. This chart shows an increase in value for both cars and tires, as opposed to a great decrease in value of such commodities as clothing, shoes, food, furniture, and house furnishings, building, crops, and live stock, and such intangibles as the cost of living and rents.

According to this summary, a dollar in 1913 purchased a dollar's worth of motor car; in 1923 it purchased $1.11 worth of motor car, whereas the dollar which brought a dollar's worth of food in 1913, today buys 68.5 cents worth of food.

A dollar's worth of tires in 1913 cost a dollar. For the same dollar in 1923 one buys $1.23 worth of tires, whereas the dollar one spent for clothes in 1913 will buy today but 51.8 cents worth of suit or overcoat.

It is not a matter of argument that one of the great factors which have raised the relative value of motors per dollar expended, is the large increase in good highways. These have been a predetermining cause in the purchase of a large amount of motor vehicles, and it is quantity production which has lowered the cost or increased the value, as you please, of the 1913 "dollar unit" of value.

The statistics are based on reports from such authorities as the National Industrial Conference Board, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Cleveland Trust Company, the Department of Agriculture, and the Federal Reserve Board.

Buys Interest In Johnson Drug Co.

Dr. Arthur Johnson authorizes us to announce to the public that he has sold to Mr. A. L. Farley a part interest in the Johnson Drug Company. Since this company came into existence three years ago, Mr. Farley has been manager of the firm and is a licensed pharmacist. Mr. Farley, or rather Dr. Farley, is a hustling young man and is thoroughly familiar with the drug business. He has a disposition that is pleasing to the public and is always glad to have his friends come to see him.

Big Gains Made In Poultry Work

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 21.—An increase of $182,737 in the value of products produced by poultry club members of Alabama during 1922 is reported by Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, State Home Demonstration Agent. The total vale of the 1923 products was $590,524.00 compared with $407,787.00 in 1922.

Going back five years Miss Harris shows that the value of the products produced by poultry club members in 1918 was $98,899.00, and that the value of 1920 products was $248,639.00. Those of 1919 were worth much more than those of 1918 and those of 1921 greatly exceeded those of 1920, showing that poultry club work has made substantial gains from its beginning in Alabama.

This work was conducted last year in each of the thirty-five counties having a home demonstration agent. The average value per county was $16,872.00. In addition to this direct addition to the value of Alabama's agricultural wealth, poultry club work, under the direction of the home demonstration agents, prepared the way for a bigger and more profitable poultry industry in the State, by bringing in a large number of purebred eggs and purebred chickens, and by introducing improved methods of feeding, culling, and management.

Plans for improvement in all lines of poultry work in 1924 have been prepared by John E. Ivey, who became poultry specialist for the Extension Service during the summer of 1923.

Commissioner Walker Answers Mr. Scott

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to write just this time in regard to Mr. J. N. Scott's criticism of the road law and then I am done. Mr. Scott says he fails to see where it is right to tax lumber and log trucks and not tax wagons to keep up the roads. Well, Mr. Scott, I am not surprised at you not seeing something that has never come to pass.

You say you fail ot see where it is better to cut the road hands from 10 days to 7 days. That is very easily answered, because the hands had rather work 7 days than 10 days, and then we had rather have their $5.50 than to have even the 10 days the old way of working the roads. You say why not tax the men with trucks and wagons as well as the road hands. That is easy to answer. The trucks have already been taxed enough I think. You say you fail to see where we can get more done with $5.50 than 10 days working the old way. Now, Mr. Scott, if you will come over here I will show you where the road machine and three men did more work in one day than 20 men will do in the same time the old way. If you will come over I will meet you at the depot, give you your dinner and carry you back to the train. Now, I would not advise you to come in your car because the old system of working the roads has got the roads in such bad fix I don't think you could get here in your car.

You say that no man ought to object to working the road he travels over. Now, Mr. Scott, I do not object to men working the roads, but I do object to men going out on the roads for that purpose and smoke cigaretts and tell yarns all day instead of doing honest work on the roads.

Mr. Scott, I do not know how much tax you pay, but you remind me of a man I heard not long ago kicking about high taxes, and after investigating a little I found that he did not even pay a poll tax and he was the father of a bunch of little children. You say Mr. Scott that you would like to tell me all about this road proposition. Now, here is one thing I fail to see, and that is how you are going to tell me about what we are going to do with the new road proposition.

Now, Mr. Scott, my conscience and doctor tell me that your ignorance drops will not build roads. With all due respect to you, it is not my intention to argue the road law question with you any more. When I am convinced that this new road law is a failure, I will work as hard to make a change as I did to get it.

Yours for good roads,
C. T. WALKER.

Clanton Mill & Gin Co.

J. A. MADDOX, Manager. CLANTON, ALA.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Now that Thorsby Light Plant is fairly installed in its new home at Thorsby Warehouse and Gin Co., all patrons are delighted with the improvement in the quality of light furnished. There was some thought by Mr. Goodgame, the manager, to give service a few hours in the morning, but a trial has convinced him that for the present this would not be practicable and he will give immediate attention to further improvement of the machinery and equipment where it is possible.

Mr. C. W. Wade has about completed construction work in and on his Thorsby Theatre, and we think the people of Thorsby and vicinity are to be congratulated that so much care has been given to provide a sure-enough playhouse. Although necessarily small it seems to be completed in all its appointments and we understand that he will attempt to give only such productions as are worthy of patronage by lovers of clean entertainment.

On account of delay in getting an important part of his equipment the moving picture advertised for Friday night of this week will be postponed one week.

The entertainment given by "Queen Esther Class," Miss Jenkins teacher, given at Bates Hall last Saturday night, was interesting from start to finish. The first number was a processional in which all the members of the class, uniformly dressed, marched in, singing "Rejoice Ye Pure In Heart." Ariving at the rostrum they sang, "Onward Christian Soldiers" to a tune not familiar, but well adapted to the words. After the singing, Miss Cola Ruffin gave a reading entitled, "The Step Mother." Then Living Pictures were presented by Miss James. The pictures were living representations of paintings by noted artists. First group, three pictures by Sir Joshua Reynolds, "The Age of Innocense," represented by Geraldine Dobson; "Angels Heads," Ida Mae Leslie, Pearl Steiner, Meaoma Steiner, Beulah Johnson; "Lavinia, Countess of Spencer," Lois Primm. Second group, "Madonna and Child," by Dagnan-Bouvert; "April," by Rosina Emmett Sherwood, Nora Lee Lessley; "The Broken Pitcher," by Greuze, Lorena Primm. Third group, "The Little Scholar," by Bouereau, Margaret Butler; "The Death of Mignon," Adrien Potting, Ruth Turner; "Nidia, The Blind Girl," Boona Lee Wood.

Between representations of the pictures, Miss Lillian McKee gave violin solos with Miss Cola Ruffin as accompanist. The last number on the program was a one act comedy entitled "That Love of a Bonnet." The cast of characters were Mrs. Dipper, Willie Littlejohn; her daughter Kitty, Geraldine Dobson; Aunt Jemima Hopkins, Lillian McKee; Mrs. Fastone, Bernice Wood; her daughter Dora, Betty Lakeman; an Irish girl, Bernice Rogers.

The Ladies Guild Social will be held Thursday afternoon, January 24th, at the home of Mrs. John Johnson. Everyone cordially invited.

Mrs. Martha B. Hunter was the recipient of a fruit shower from the girls of her 8th grade class Saturday, January 19th. A delightful time was reported.

Mr. Willie Fretwell, with his wife and baby visited Thorsby Institute one day last week. Both Mr. Fretwell and his wife, who was Mary Stubbs, were formerly T. I. students.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson spent last week-end in Thorsby. Mrs. Thompson is employed temporarily in Birmingham.

In the basket ball game last Friday between Clanton and Thorsby the game closed with a score of 14 to 11 in favor of Thorsby. Next Friday afternoon, January 25th, Thorsby Institute team will play the Marbury High School team on the Institute campus. Everybody come and see a lively game.

It was the privilege of the writer to see Coach Lefstead putting T. I. boys through a grilling exercise. If training will help Thorsby boys to win in contests with others, it would seem that any team who beats 'em would need to be up and dusted.

Saturday night, January 26th, at 7:30 o'clock the Helen Keller will hold their regular meeting (not open to the public) in Bates Hall.

The fourth number of Thorsby Institute Lyceum course, will be given Friday night, Febrary 1st, when Bob-of-the Northland and Billy Miller (a woman) both impersonators, will give a varied program. They say "If you can't laugh, don't come."

At the Christian Endeavor meeting last Sunday night, conducted by the Missionary Committee, Mrs. E. W. Butler and Ethel Peterson were leaders, the subject was, "Japan's Triumph." The Society gave an interesting program on "The Gospel of Japan." Mr. Cody Bell gave an excellent talk on the work of one of Japan's noted religious leaders. Others gave short talks on different topics about Japan.

It is interesting to note the progress The Christian Endeavor Society of Thorsby is making, but the best thing about it is that they will tell you something new every Sunday if you only will attend the meetings.

MULES RUN AWAY

The two fine mules of Mr. Rennie Robinson of Refuge were left hitched to the wagon near the Lime-Cola Bottling plant in Clanton last Wednesday about noon. The mules became frightened and both ran full speed toward the Baptist Church. They tried to separate in front of the church and one go on each side of the big oak tree, the result being that one of the mules was badly bruised up. The last news we had from it the mule was still alive but was uiable to stand up. It was not expected to live. No one was in the wagon and the other mule was not hurt at all.

Nervous? Run Down?

Read What Mrs. Sharpe Says:

Dozier, Ala.—"I cannot fully express my thanks for the good Dr. Pierce's medicines have done me. My whole nervous system was rundown. I felt like something would happen to me, I would tremble at times. Sometimes I had sick-headaches twice a week. I suffered from feminine trouble and irritation of the bladder, but I am thankful to say I have none of these symptoms since taking Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took a few bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription', one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery', two of the Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets, and I can truthfully say I feel better than I have for many years, and weigh more." POOR OR

AROUND CALERA

(Last week's letter.)

May we again this week have space to tell a few of the happenings of the community?

We regret to say that Mr. John Broadhead and family are moving away from the community. They are going to make their home in Calera where Mr. Broadhead is now employed.

Misses Mamye and Cathrine Clark were the visitors of Miss Marie Hughes last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Martin and children enjoyed a "spend-the-day" with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Busby.

Mr. S. K. Walker from Birmingham was visiting relatives in South Calera Sunday, returning to Birmingham Sunday night where he holds a position.

Mrs. Jessie Cox was the guest of Mrs. Julius Pilgreen of Calera last Tuesday.

Mrs. W. H. Busby of Selma, formerly of South Calera, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Busby.

Mr. Homer Martin left last Sunday night for Chetoka where he will take a position with the Railroad.

We are very sorry to learn that Mr. Tob Martin has been sick for the past few days.

Miss Marie Hughes spent last Saturday night with Miss Mamie Clark.

Miss Dora Campbell of South Calera is visiting relatives in Montgomery this week.

Mr. Elwood Armstrong of Calera was in South Calera Sunday afternoon.

Mr. J. W. Burgess and Mr. Holen Crim motored to Columbiana Sunday.

Mr. W. J. Clark is now spending a few days in the "Land of Flowers," Florida. He left Wednesday to be gone an indefinite time. Mr. McRay from Calera accompanied him and learn they are trying to locate in Florida.

Mr. Melvin Walker left South Calera last Monday for Birmingham where the family is moving.

Miss Ruth Mooney came back from Columbiana Sunday.

Mr. Reynolds Chism and family from Pennsylvania, who have been spending a few weeks with the former's parents near Calera, left last Monday by automobile to return to Pennsylvania.

Miss Mexa Tate and Miss Lutie Jones attended a quarterly meeting of the W. M. U. in Calera last Tuesday.

(This week's letter.)

May we again this week have space in the Union-Banner to tell of a few of the happenings around home?

Health of the community is good with the exception of Mr. Tob Martin who has been on the sick list for quite awhile, but we hear he is improving.

Mr. W. J. Clark went to Birmingham Monday.

Mr. Amie Boswell from Pelham came down to South Calera Saturday night, remaining over until Monday morning when he left for Cooper to visit his home folks.

Mr. Elwood Armstrong from Calera was visiting in South Calera Sunday.

Mr. Tom Walker, who owns a place near South Calera, was down Saturday looking after some business and his place.

Mr. Alzie Martin and Miss Lutie Jones were entertained for a while last Saturday night at Miss Mexa Tate's.

Did you know that next Sunday is the regular preaching day at Shiloh Church?

Mr. Homer Martin was home for the week-end. Mr. Martin is now employed by the Railroad and is located at Chetopa, Ala.

Miss Ruth Mooney went to Columbiana Friday night to spend the week-end with her mother.

After returning from Florida last week, Mr. W. J. Clark reports that he finds a very suitable location at Graceville, where he is planning to move in a few weeks. We regret to see the family leave very much.

Mrs. Henry Anderson, who has been visiting in Birmingham for quite a while returned home last week.

Baby arrived safely. Mother's Friend praised!

"I WANT to express my appreciation of 'Mother's Friend.'" says Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla. "I am the mother of six children. I used 'Mother's Friend' with every one of my babies. I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for the expectant mother. I can't do without it. I recommend it to all expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

"Mother's Friend" was originated by an eminent physician. It has saved thousands of expectant mothers from useless suffering. It is externally applied; aids the muscles and tissues to relax easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and up to the moment baby arrives.

"Mother's Friend" is safe and beneficial, and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. Avoid mere greases and useless substitutes.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-74, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book, containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores.

Three Sermons Sunday At S. D. A. Tabernacle

Pastor W. P. McLennan of Birmingham spoke three times Sunday at the Adventist Tabernacle. At the first service he used as his text Mark 2:27-28 and said in part:

"According to these verses we learn that the Sabbath institution is of divine origin, and that it was made for man, using that word without a qualifying adjective, and hence, in its broadest or generic sense, including all mankind.

"There are four things true of everything, that is made. First, it has a maker; second, it is made at some time; thrid, it is made of something; fourth, it is made for a specific purpose.

"That Jesus Christ made the Sabbath is abundantly proved in the scriptures. It was Christ who brought this world into existence in six days and peopled it with human beings, and after doing this, rested on the seventh day, blessed and sanctified it. In proof of this statement I will read to you Eph. 3:9; Col. 1:18-17; Heb. 1:1-2; Jno. 1:1-3, 10, 14. In speaking to His Son, God said: 'Thou, Lord, in the beginning has laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thy hands.' Heb. 1:10. Thus God the Son was the active agent in the creation.

"As to the time of making of the institution there should be no doubt. The first word of the fourth commandment reveals the fact that it was made prior to the giving of the law, and Gen. 2:2-3, that it was made at the end of creation week. Being a memorial of creation, it became necessary as soon as creation week ended.

"It is important now, to discover out of what the Sabbath was made. From Gen. 2:2-3 and Ex. 20:10 we learn that God rested on 'the seventh day' He 'blessed the seventh day.' He sanctified 'the seventh day.' He took a day and made the Sabbath out of it, and the day He used was the seventh day. Some would have the commandment read: 'Remember the Sabbath institution to keep it holy' as if the blessing were placed upon the institution apart from the day. The command says: 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it (the day) holy.'

"The Sabbath institution is not a movable institution that was placed on one day, which can be changed and transferred to some other day, as many seem t think. It is the day itself which is the Sabbath institution God ordained that 'the seventh day' should be set apart to a sacred use; and this, not to make it a rest day, but because it was His rest day, not dependent at all on our action. Some folks think they can make their own Sabbath. We will grant this if they will first make a world in six days. The commandment requires us to keep, not our rest day, nor the Jews' rest day, nor the Christians' rest day, but the Lord's rest day. And He says His est day is the seventh day.

"It is folly to assert that the phrase 'the seventh day,' simply means a seventh part of time. It must be admitted that commandments or laws, as they impose obligation, should be most definitely and clearly stated. Any ambiguity or vagueness of expression in a law is inexcusable, leading to confusion and injstice. God's law means what it says.

"Now the seventh day, according to all calendars, dictionaries and encyclopedias, is Saturday. This is further proved by the Jewish people who have manifested great zeal for the Sabbath, and they universally agree that the seventh day is the day we call Saturday. Furthermore, the Christian churches agree that Christ was rescurrected on Snday, according to this acknowledgement, Satrday must be the seventh day of the week. Mark 16:9.

"It must certainly be evident to all that the Christian Sabbath must be the day that our blessed Saviour has made the Sabbath and according to the Scriptre, which I have read, He made the Sabbath out of the seventh day and there is but one conclusion for us to come to and that is that the Christian Sabbath is the day we commonly call Satrday.

"I beseech of you my dea rhearers, that you consider this matter earnestly and prayerfully."

At the afternoon service the subject was "The Work of the Little Horn of Daniel, 7:24-25. After reading the first three verses of the chapter the minister said:

"The first verse is easily understood as it is simply a sttaement of historical facts, but the language of verses two and three must be other than literal for they would mean nothing if taken literally. Verse seventeen reveals that they are symbolic and that the four beasts he saw represented four kingdoms. What four? Verse twenty-three informs us that the fourth beast was symbolic of the fourth kingdom of Daniel's time which was Rome. If the fourth beast represents Rome the third beast would stand for the third kingdom which was Greece, the second beast the second kingdom or medo-Persia and the first beast Babylon. The ten horns of the last beast are said to represent ten kingdoms, verse twenty-four. This was fulfilled in the establishment of the kingdom of Allemanni, the Franks, the Suevi, the Burgundians, the Vandals, the Anglo-Saxions, the Visigoths, the Ostrogeths, tht Heruli and the Lombards. According to verse eight another power was to arise in the territory of Rome causing the fall of three of the ten kingdoms. Nearly all Protestant commentators are agreed that this horn symbol refers to the papacy, or Roman Catholic Church. Verse twenty-four foretells what that power would do and one of the things was to think to change God's law. Has it thought to do this? It was the Roman Church which substituted the observance of Sunday for the observance of the Sabbath of the Lord, which is the seventh day. Ex. 20:8-11. Luke 23:55-56. The first day has now taken the place of the seventh day in the minds of the majority of Christians, but the only authority for the observance of the first day is the authority of the Roman Church. The Catholic Chure acknowdedges having done this very thing. I quote the following from their Doctrinal Catechism: Question —Have you any other way of proving that the church has power to substitute festivals of precept? Answer —Had she not such power she could not have done that in which al modern religionists agree with her—she could not have substituted the observance of Sunday, the first day of the week, for the observance of Saturday, the seventh day, a change for which there is no Scriptural authority. In harmony with this Dr. Edward T. Hicox, the author of a Baptist Church Manual said the following:

" 'There was and is a commandment to keep holy the Sabbath day, but that Sabbath day was not Sunday. It will be said, however, and with some show of triumph that the Sabbath was transferred from the Seventh to the first day of the week. There is no Scriptural evidence of the change of the Sabbath institution from the seventh day to the first day of the week. Of course I quite well know that Sunday did come unto use in early Christian history as a religios day, as we learn from the Christian fathers and other sources. But what a pity it comes branded with the mark of paganism and christened with the name of Sun-god when adopted and sanctioned by the papal apostsy.' D. Bainney, Methodist, says: 'It is true there is no positive command for infant baptism; nor is there any for keeping holy the first day of the week.'

"My dear hearers, let us stand firm upon the Protestant platform in the consideration of this question, which is the bible and bible only as a guide of faith."

At the night service Mr. McLennan spoke upon the subject: "The Mark of the Beast." After reading Rev. 14:9-15 he said in part:

"This is the most solemn warning ever given to the sons of men. It is the most terrific threatening of divine wrath found in all the bible. He compared the characteristics of the beast power of Rev. 13 with those of the little horn power of Dan. 7:25 to show that both scriptures had reference to the same power, namely the papacy. Continuing he said: 'This message warns men not to receive the mark of the beast, lest the seven last plagues come upon them. Rev. 14:10; 15:1.' Such a message as this can be applicable only to the peopeople who live in the last days, when these plagues are about to be poured out.

"What is this mark? It is not some literal mark, but a symbol of worship or service. The Prophecy would not couple together a symbolic beast and a literal mark of that beast. In reply to a letter of Oct. 28, 1895, to Cardinal Gibbons, asking if the church claimed the change of the Sabbath as her mark, the fololwing was received: 'Of course, the Catholic Church claims that the cange was her act. . . And the act is a mark of her echlesiastilal power and authority in religious matters.'

"As that system is the counterfiet of the true, so its mark is the very opposite of that which distinguishes the true God. Creative power distinguishes the true God. Ps. 96:5; Jer. 10:11 and Acts 14:15. Now what has God given us by which to ever keep in mind His creative power? The Sabbath. Ex. 20:8-11. Thus the keeping of Sunday will be the sign of allegiance to the beast power, while Sabbath keeping is the sign of allegiance to Jehovah. Eze. 20:12. 'Let us gain the victory and be numbered among those described in Rev. 14:12 and 15:2-3."

The Bill Poster Evil

The women of Glens Falls, New York, recently called upon a number of local merchants who were maintaining large and unsightly bill poster boards and urged upon their consideration the injury done to the community by this marring of the scenery. All but one or two of the merchants agreed to cease using the bill boards. Although the ladies did not even hint such a policy, they were so earnest in their arguments that the merchants got the impression that continued use of the billboards would lose them much more business than it would again.

The American people do not like a boycott as a means of accomplishing even good ends, bt there would be few to complain if a boycott were restored to in a case like this. Each community has an interest in the beauty of its surroundings. An injury to the beauty of the scenery is an injury and an affront to the whole community. People who will not resent such an injury, and make their resentment felt, are certainly lacking in both courage and resourcefulness.

QUARTERLY MEETING W. M. U.

Tuesday in May of every presidential election year."

The opinion of the attorney general will probably have the effect of bringing the several campaigns involved in anticipation of the holding of a presidental prefereutial primary in this state, for the presential nomination, to an abrupt close, unless the validity of the act in question should be otherwise construed by the Alabama Supreme Court.

Opinion May Be Sought.

Under an act of the legislature authorizing the chief executive of the state to ask for and obtain from the Alabama Supreme Court or a majority thereof, advisory opinions on matters of great public moment, Governor Brandon may request such an advisory opinion from that tribunal as to the Alabama presidential preferential primary law, and it is believed very probable that he will do so.

Until such action is taken, if it is taken, campaigns for the presidential nomination will probably be suspended as a result of the attorney general's opinion.

Five candidates, three Democrats and two Republicans, have already qualified for participation in the prospective presidential primary in Alabama. The Democratic candidates for the nomination are Senator Oscar W. Underwood; M. A. Dinsmore, of Birmingham, and L. B. Musgrove, of Jasper. The Republican participants are Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, and W. L. Chenault of Russellville, Ala.

The opinion of Attorney General Davis does not affect in any way candidates for congressional offices, nor does it affect any other primary election law on the statute books of the state.

Church Notice

Pastor W. P. McLennan of Birmingham who has been preaching at the Adventist Tabernacle will return to Clanton for Sunday shervices. He will speak at the following hours next Sunday at the Tabernacle: 11 A. M., 3 P. M., and 7:30 P. M. The subjects will be as follows: "Where are the Dead?" "Are the Wicked Now in Hell?" and "The Unpardonable Sin." All are urged to hear these subjects.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR JUDGE CONTEST

Messer Challenges 791 Votes and Judge Reynolds Challenges 1,147 Votes.

Both C. D. Messer and L. H. Reynolds express themselves as being ready for the contest of the probate judge election which was held in Chilton county two years ago. Quite a bit of preliminary work has been gone through with since the contest was filed shortly after the election, but the date for the actual trial to begin is Monday, February 11th, the date having been set up one week at the request of Messer's attorneys. So as it now stands, the trial will begin on the 11th instead of the 4th, which date was formerly agreed upon. Both parties in the case say that they have their data together and are ready for the grinding to begin.

Last Tursday afternoon Mr. Messer presented to Judge Reynolds in person the list of votes which he wished to challenge, which in number was 791. A short while later Judge Reynolds presented to Mr. Messer the list of voters which he wished to challenge, which in number were 1,147. When the presentations took place both Mr. Messer and Judge Reynolds were in a very friendly mood, pulling off a joke or two in the midst of the legal transaction. Judge Reynolds told Mr. Messer that years ago when the two used to trade horses sometimes one would give boot and sometimes the other, so the Judge told him that he would give him some boot in that trade of challenge lists since the Judge was challenging some 350 more votes than Messer.

So, everything so far as we know, is now in readiness for the actual work of sorting out, as it were, the grain from the chaff, and determining exactly who received the most bona fide legal votes in the last election. It has been agreed upon between the attorneys for both parties in the case that 150 of the voters which Messer challenged be summoned for the first day of the trial and 75 be summoned to appear each day following. This plan is to be followed until all of Messer's challenged votes are thrashed out and then the list which Reynolds has challenged will be taken up and gone through in the same manner.

Judge Denson will Try Case.

Chief Justice Anderson has announced the apointment of Judge N. B. Denson of Opelika to come to Clanton to try the contest case. Judge Denson is a well known jurist in Alabama and even in Chilton County, he havnig served as Circuit Judge in this district several years some fifteen or twenty years ago. Although it was felt sure by everybody that Judge Smoot would give perfect satisfaction to all parties concerned, yet both Reynolds and Messer are perfectly satisfied for Judge Denson to try the case. During all the time Judge Denson served on the bench here, and it was during the old Populist days, no one saw fit to criticise his actions in the least.

As a matter of news and for the benefit of the parties concerned, we are publishing on another page of this paper a list of all the names which Mr. Messer challenges. It will be well for all who find their names on this list to get together all their back poll tax receipts and registration certificates and come in to the court house as early as posible and find out whether or not the records agree with your receipts and get any error corrected which might appear in your name, initials or anything else that might be the matter with your record as a voter. So, look over this list and see if your name appears on it.

EX-GOV. COMER TO BE MARRIED SOON

Bride, Miss Mary Carr Gibson, of Distinguished Southern Family Verbena, Alabama.

Formal announcement was made Saturday of the engagement and approaching marriage of Gov. Braxton Bragg Comer of Birmingham and Miss Mary Carr Gibson of Verbena, Ala. The ceremony is to take place at noon Thursday, February 7, at the home of Miss Gibson's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lanier Gibson, "Oakdale," Verbena, Ala.

News of the aproaching event will be read with interest all over Alabama, not only on account of Governor Comer's prominence for many years in the state's life, but also on account of the late Maj. Carr Gibson, who served as major through the war in Ashby's Virginia cavalry. Soon after the war he moved to Montgomery, Ala., where for a time he was owner of the Montgomery Daily Mail. He was also former owner of the old Battle House in Mobile. He married Gertrude Lanier of Macon, Ga., sister of the famous southern poet, Sidney Lanier, and for approximately 50 years made his home at Verbena. His daughter, Miss Mary Gibson, attended school at Wesleyan Female college at Macon, where she was a schoolmate of Mrs. Frank H. Lathrop, daughter of Governor Comer, and the two families have been friends for many years.

Studying Bids For Muscle Shoals

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 28, 1924. —Chattanoogans are today studying for the first time a "close-up" of the Muscle Shoals bids, a statement containing a "deadly parallel" of the principal bids having been issued here by the Tennessee Electric Power Company, one of the nine large power concerns interested in the so-called "interconnected power bid." The comparison reveals some most interesting facts, foremost among which is that under the Ford bid, the government would receive in cash and maintenance costs over a period of one hundred years, $229,000,000, as against $316,000,000 from the power companies, a saving to the government for 100 years, $66,605,876.

The comparison shows also that the Ford bid requires the government to expend $28,500,000, while the power companies require no additional expenditures on the part of the government.

Under the conditions of the power bid, the State Public Service Commissions and the Federal Water Power Commission will regulate rate, etc., while Mr. Ford would make his own rates and be wholly outside the jurisdiction of these two regulatory bodies.

Both sides offer power at cost for fertilizer manufacture.

Mr. A. Z. Giles of Maplesville, R. 2, came in Tuesday and had us send him The Union-Banner. Mr. Giles moved to this county from Tuscaloosa county two years ago, where he had been for several years, however, he was reared in Chilton. He is a brother to our Mr. John Giles of Clanton.

Contract for New Road To Be Let in Short Time

GOOD NEWS IN REGARD TO THE NEW HIGHWAY

State Department Has Sent Deeds to Right-of-Way to Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds.

Ever since the election for the $25,000,000 highway bond issue in Alabama three years ago, there have been reports upon reports issued regarding the work on the State Highway through Chilton county, but heretofore nothing definite or direct has been issued. But it seems from the letter received by Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds from the Division Engineer that very likely some definite steps are going to be taken in the near future leading up to the actual work on this section of the big project. Below we publish the letter in full:

"Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 26, 1924.
Judge of Probate, Chilton County,
Clanton, Alabama.
Re; Right of Way Deeds.
Dear Sir:

"We are sending you under separate cover the deeds of the property owners through which land our road will pass.

"Please get these signed up as quickly as you can as this job is going to be let soon.

Very truly yours,
MARVIN TAYLOR,
Asst. Div. Engr, Second Div."

In regard to the request made to the county in getting the deeds to this land signed up properly, Judge Reynolds says that he will push his part of the work forward just as rapidly as possible. Just as soon as the signatures of the landowners can be gotten to the deeds, the papers will be returned to the State Highway Department and they can proceed with the plans of the undertaking.

The information was sent out about a month ago that the department would ask for a bid on the road thru Chilton county north of Lomax some time this month. We do not know whether the plans now under way cover any part of the county other than this portion, but it is hoped that the contract for the whole county will be let at once. However, the information brought out in this letter published above will be welcome news to the citizens of the county.

Several Pay Poll Tax During Last Few Days

Up to Tuesday at noon there had been issued by the Tax Collector of Chilton county 1,648 poll tax receipts for 1923 poll taxes and 150 receipts for back poll taxes. This number is comparatively small as compared with the poll taxes paid last year which totaled around 2,200. However, there are three more days in which to pay after these figures were procured, and it is supposed that several more will pay during that time.

Seventh Grade Examination

The regular County Seventh Grade Examination will be held at the following points in the count, on March 28 and 29, 1924.

Clanton, Thorsby, Jemison, Cooper, Verbena, Maplesville, Stanton, Isabella, Fairview, and at any other point in the county where a sufficient number of applicants may request same, provided, this request is made in time to make necessary arrangements for conducting the examination.

The subjects on which this examination will be based will be:

Arithmetic, English Grammar, U. S. History, Agriculture, Geography and Spelling.

The standards to be followed in making the questions for this examination will be the same as last year and any one desiring a list of these requirements may secure same from my office.

This examination is being held earlier than heretofore through courtesy to the short term schools and any pupil attending a school which runs for nine months will not necessarily have to take this examination as another will be given the latter part of August for any who may not take at this time.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
31-2t. County Supt. Education.

REED ENTERS THE RACE FOR PRESIDENT U.S.

Missouri Senator Favors Soldiers' Bonus and Reduced Taxation If Nominated.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 28.—Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, yesterday announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for the presidency and solicited the endorsement of the democratic state convention, which will elect the Missouri delegate to the nation. His decision to run followed a conference with more than 150 of his followers representing nearly every community in the state here Saturday. Plans for Reed's entrance into the race for the presidency were laid shortly before former Governor Frederick D. Gardner of St. Louis withdrew his name from consideration for the Missouri delegation.

Edward A. Glenn, of Louisiana, who managed the campaign of the late Champ Clark for the presidescy, and who was in charge of Reed's senatorial campaign in Missouri in 1922, will take charge of Reed's headquarters. Former Congressman W. I. Igoe will assist Glenn.

In connection with his formal announcement, Reed outlined his views upon national problems. He declared for reduced taxes chiefly upon moderate incomes, for the soldiers' bonus, improvement of the waterways, abolition of useless boards and bureaus, less interference with business and a readjustment of railroad rates as a benefit to the agricultural classes.

VALUE GOOD SEED IS SHOWN BY TESTS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 28.—It pays to use good seed of high yielding varieties of different crops. This is well illustrated in cotton variety tests conducted in 1923 by the Alabama Experiment Station.

These tests were made in different sections of the State. In north Alabama a difference in yield between the lowest and the highest yielding varieties was worth $37.50 an acre with lint cotton at 30 cents a pound.

Results in south Alabama were almost as great. Here the value of the difference between the highest and the lowest yielding varieties was worth $35.10 an acre.

A wider margin was shown on the Experiment Station at Auburn where the difference was $52.80 an acre with lint cotton at 30 cents a pound.

In analyzing these tests J. T. Williamson, of the Experiment Station, said that similar variations in the yields of different varieties of cotton occur every year. By using "good seed of the highest yielding varieties," said Mr. Williamson, "Alabama farmers can add several million dollars to the value of their cotton crop each year."

Information reaching Auburn is to the effect that county agents and county farm bureaus will make a specialty of "good seed of highest yielding varieties" this year.

Notice of Road Laws

No tax is required of any person for hauling over the public roads of the county with a wagon.

A tax or license is required for trucks hauling timber, lumber or minerals equal to one-half of the tax levied by the State. This tax was due Jan. 15th and will be delinquent Feb. 15th, 1924.

Any person subject to road duty may be exempt for the year by paying $5.50 on or before March 1st.

All of the above licenses and fees are payable at the Probate Office and any person subject to same may be prosecuted for a violation thereof, except that person subject to road duty may work seven days of ten hours in lieu of payment.

This the 28th day of Jan., 1924.
L. H. REYNOLDS,
1-31-mch. 1. Judge of Probate.

CHEAP FERTILIZER PROMISED FARMER

Birmingham Company is One of the Parties Seeking to Operate Muscle Shoals.

Wahington, Jan. 25.—A proposal for manufacture of fertilizers at Muscle Shoals, Ala., under processes designed to reduce its cost to farmers to "less than half" the present prices has been worked out by three experts in fixed nitrogen production in association with the three Southern power companies which have offered $100,000,000 for a 50-year lease on the government's war-time project.

The proposal, prepared for submission to Secretary Weeks Friday as a supplement to the lease offer, contemplates formation of a $5,000,000 corporation to manufacture up to 50,000 tons of fertilider annually at Nitrate Plant No. 1, the rental for which will be fixed by Congress and included by the company in the production cost. Weeks is expected to forward the proposal to the House for consideration, along with the offers of Henry Ford and others, already submitted, by the military affairs committee.

Swann Nitrogen Expert

In addition to the lease of Nitrate Plant No. 1 for 50 years the new proposal calls for the maintenance of Plant No. 2 in condition for emergency operation by the government, and relinquishment of Plant No. 1 on five days' notice if needed for national defense. The fertilizer factory would be furnished power at cost to the extent of 100,000 horsepower and the output wold be sold to farmers at cost plus 8 per cent.

The power companies participating in the new offer are the Tennessee Electric Power Company, the Memphis Power & Light Company and the Alabama Power Company, and the fixed nitrogen experts are Theodore Swann, president of the Federal Phosphorus Company of Birmingham, Ala., Dr. Raymond F. Bacon, of New York, chief of the technical division of the American Expeditionary Forces during the war, and former director of the Mellon Institute for Industrial Research, and Dr. Louis C. Jones, of Syracuse, a member of the advisory board of the chemical warfare division of the army.

Mr. Abbott Writes On Working Roads

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to say a few words in regard to working public roads in Beat 15. I understand there is a petition circulating around Pletcher to go before the Commissioners Court to get me out of the job as overseer, and I want to say that I got this job fair and honest. Mr. C. T. Walker, our county commissioner, left it to a vote and I got the majority of votes, and I want to say, whenever Mr. C. T. Walker thinks that I am not doing my duty on the roads he will make the change. I am sure he will not let a few people make the change. I expect to treat the people right and I also expect to treat the county just as near right as I know how.

I intend to work the roads just as cheaply as possible and I think the people should co-operate with the county commissioners and let's make good roads for old Chilton county.

Respectfully,
J. T. ABBOTT.

45 of Leading Business Men of Clanton Meet in Banquet and Hear Excellent Speaking.

If those who are so pessimistic as to believe that the mass of the business men of Clanton are all divided and split up when it comes to boosting our town and county had been present at the banquet given by the local Chamber of Commerce at the Exchange Hotel Tuesday night, their idea of foreboding hopelessness would surely have been shattered to pieces, because we feel sure that a more unified and enthusiastic meeting has never been held in our prosperous little city. In response to an invitation issued by the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to all members and their friends to be present on this occasion, 45 of the leading business men in Clanton came out to express the interest which they had in the common welfare of our municipality.

At 8:00 o'clock the spaceous dining room of this splendid Exchange Hotel was thrown open and all present marched in and took their places around the three long tables which had been so abundantly prepared for them. The toastmaster for the occasion, Hon. J. O. Middleton, who filled this capacity very fittingly, after a few choice remarks called upon Col. J. B. Atkinson to return thanks, which the latter did in a very impressive manner. After this the men were all seated and began to make use of the bounteous and luscious edibles which were placed before them.

After supper was over the toastmaster arose, and with a few select and pointed remarks, introduced the first speaker who was Dr. V. J. Gragg, the president of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor of the Town of Clanton. In a very striking and impresive manner Dr. Gragg brought to the attention of those present some of the wonderful posibilities of our town and county, and also pointed out a very sensible and practicable way in which these posibilities might be transformed into realities. As president of the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Gragg spoke very encouragingly of the future posibilities of the organization and very feelingly urged all the citizens of Clanton to get behind the organization and stay behind it, never ceasing to work together until our ideals were accomplished.

The next speaker introduced was Col. Victor J. Heard, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Heard, in a short but pointed talk, pointed out the object of the meeting and urged that all the business men cooperate together and work in common for the interest of the town. In his speech Mr. Heard stated he thought it best that a new Board of Directors of the Chamber be selected and stated that a meetnig for this purpose would be called in the near future. Mr. Heard pointed out very strikingly the necessity of cooperation to the success of the organization and the ultimate building up of the town and community.

Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, was asked to speak and he responded with a talk that was splendid indeed. Bro. Ezell although a very able and efficient preacher, knows something about how

HAMPTON NEWS

Mrs. W. F. Parson and family have moved. We are all lonesome without them and Mr. K. D. Scott's folks; especially one little girlie near Hampton.

Mrs. O. H. Driver, Mrs. R. Jones, Miss Ida Scott, and Mr. W. F. Patterson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howell Saturday.

Mrs. J. H. Scott was the guest of Mrs. S. E. Howell Tuesday afternoon.

The young folks of this community attended the "Womanless Wedding" at White City Friday night, Jan. 25. All reported a nice time.

Golden Ridge, we will be glad to have you any time you should care to visit us. We will show you, if possible, that we love you all, and that we want you to come.

Colored Training School for Chilton

Another link in the educational chain of Chilton county was forged Friday, January 25th, when the Co. Board of Education favorably considered the plea of the principal of the Center Point Colored School and others who were interested, and voted unanimously for the immediate building of a county training school. Thus with one stroke of the pen two small schools were consolidated and the big new school was created. The training school will be built near midway between the Center Point and Barbour Schools, which were consolidated.

This great and noble action on the part of the County Superintendent, Howard L. Foshee and the County Board of Education, is in line with the new sentiment and kindly feeling everywhere demonstrated in the South, when the southern white people have an oportunity to show to the world that they are really and truly friends to the colored people. Besides this, we have more tangible and concrete proof of generous and liberal qualities of our white people, Messrs. Walter and Pate Popwell, who have each given one hundred dollars toward our building fund. Others have and will give more. Our committee will be around to see you and everyone who is interested in negro schools will have a chance to give.

Mrs. W. D. Dykes spent Saturday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gray.

Schools of this type will do much to satisfy the colored peoples' educational and industrial needs. They will produce an efficient and agriculturally trained head, heart and hands who will stay, and this will in a large measure answer the great question why Ed Knight and A. Holyfield, col., gave valuable asistance in bringing about the consolidation of the said two schools.

The principal and the colored Board of Trustees take this method to thank County Superintendent Howard L. Foshee and the County Board of Education for their loyal and hearty co-operation, and the unselfish service and liberal cash gifts from Messrs Popwell and Popwell, Kemp, Mullins and others.

We shall keep the public informed about our progress from time to time through the colmns of the conty paper.

Respectfily,
Gus Gordon, Archie Hall and Ben Brown, Trustees.
R. A. TYSON, Principal.

F. A. Ellison Gets His Hand Hurt

Mr. F. A. Ellison, who lives just a short distance north of town, was in our office this week and explained to us how he happened to the bad accident of getting his hand mashed up last week.

On Monday of last week Mr. Ellison was sawing wood with a cut-off saw pulled by a gasoline engine. After finishing his work he went to the engine and cut off the gas, but as an engine of this kind has a big heavy fly-wheel, the engine kept running some time after the gas was cut off. Mr. Ellison had on gloves, so some how or other he got the glove on his right hand caught in the cog wheels that run the governor on the engine and of course that pulled his hand on into the cogs. Seeing that his whole hand would be drawn into the cogs, Mr. Ellison gave a strong jerk and pulled off the fore-finger on his right hand, leaving it in the cogs. In the accident all the fingers on his right hand were badly mashed and bruised up, most of the flesh being torn from the bone of his thumb and one other finger.

Mr. Ellison was brought to the Central Alabama Hospital where his hand was operated on and dressed. He remained in the hosptial until the next day.

Mr. Ellison asks us to publicly thank Mr. Ed Bruce for his kind assistance in bringing him to the hospital, and all other of his neighbors who have administered aid to him since he was the victim of this sad accident.

Uncle Tom Brings Chautauqua Here

The colored people of Clanton as well as all white people who wanted to go were treated with quite a unique and attractive entertainment at the Friendship Colored Baptist church in West End last Friday night. Uncle Tom Powell's Negro Chautauqua was there and put on a program. There were present at this occasion nearly a house full of negroes and some half a dozen white people. The entertainment consisted of singing and lecturing. Uncle Tom lectured and illustrated his points with stereopticon views, which proved to be real entertaining as well as instructive. The lecture dealt principally with the educational, civil and moral advancement of the colored race, and some very strong points were made in this direction. Uncle Tom's Chautauqua is doing a great work for the negro race and it was lucky that the colored people of Clanton succeeded in getting him to put on his program here.

POOR ORI

ANSWER TO JOHN S. DENNIS' LETTER OF LAST WEEK

Mr. John S. Dennis, Clanton, Ala:

In reply to your letter which was printed in The Union-Banner under date of January 24th, we will attempt to the best of our ability and information to answer the questions which you requested us to. In the first place, as we understand your letter, there are about three things which you desire to know. One of these is "Who is it that is behind these political persecutions in an effort to turn Reynolds out of office after he has been honestly elected by the people." and further you ask us to publish the names and business and post office address of each and every one of them.

We agree with you Mr. Dennis, that in every just and righteous cause the public is entitled to know the facts. If the contest case is a just and righteous cause and if it is endorsed by the Democratic party of Chilton County, then the instigators and proponents of the case, whose names we print below, cannot feel personally offended but they should feel honored as being behind the contest. And they should feel grateful for the public to know that they are behind the contest case. In some aspects of your letter, Mr. Dennis, your questions are rather hard to answer, but feeling it our duty to give news to the public and to serve the people of this good county, we have investigated to the best of our ability and have discussed the matter with impartiality and are now prepared to furnish you the list you request. We will say in justice to the names printed below that if any of these men are not behind the contest and are not in favor of the methods that are being used against Reynolds, then if such gentlemen will come to us we will gladly retract their names and publish an explanation of the same in the next issue of this paper. Of course we have omitted some names of Democrats who are behind this contest, but we presume, Mr. Dennis, that you wanted to know some of the most conspicuous. But if such men whom we have omitted will come to us and tell us that they are behind the contest against Judge Reynolds then we will also print their names next week in as prominent a place as we have these.

The list which we have to furnish is as follows: J. H. Gulledge and W. A. Gulledge, both merchants of Verbena, Alabama, H. B. Oliver, banker of Verbena, Ala., T. J. Allen and Hardy Allen of Cooper, Ala., John M. Robinson, lumberman, G. C. Armstrong, merchant, Dr. Arthur Johnson, medical doctor, Dr. N. S. Johnson, medical doctor and director in the Peoples Savings Bank, J. Hance Alred, druggist and director in the Peoples Savings Bank, T. H. Neighbors, druggist, T. C. McSwain, lumberman, O. O. Roper, all of Clanton, Ala., and W. T. Hand, Jemison, Ala.

You also requested of us, Mr. Dennis, to publish the sworn statements of the Democratic candidates in the last election and what they included in the statements. As you are probably aware, the law requires candidates within five days after the announcement of his candidacy, to file with the Judge of Probate of Chilton County the name of the person or persons selected to receive and disburse all moneys donated or subscribed. The law further requires such person or persons designated by such candidate to file statements giving an itemized form including names, items and detail amounts covering all expenditures made directly or indirectly, including the names of all contributors of amounts in excess of $10 with amount given by each and a list of all the contributions made. It further provides that said statement should be filed in the office of the Judge of Probate not more than ten days nor less than five days prior to the election, and also a like statement should be filed within ten days after the day of the election. The law further provides that such information shall be submitted under oath of the candidate.

Our information in regard to this which is printed below was secured from the probate office of Chilton County, said statements being open for public inspection, and we find the results to be as follows:

C. D. Messer as nominee for the office of Probate Judge designated himself as a person to receive and disburse all moneys contributed and his sworn statement as to expenditures was, to Vernon Jones, car hire, and meals with various parties, $79.50, and his contributions were as we have stated, none over $10, and the total being $104.00. His sworn statement after the election was for expenditures to William Vance for taxi service, $8.00 and contributions $15. Thomas M. Parrish, nominee for the office of Circuit Clerk designated himself and his expenditures according to his statement $34.20 and no contributions. Mrs. C. N. Parnell, nominee for the office of member of County Board of Education designated herself as a person to receive and expend all money and her statement was, no expenditures had been made and no contributions. B. L. Jones, nominee for office of Sheriff designated himself to receive and disburse all moneys, and his expenditures were to Vernon Jones for hire of car, $72, same, $9 and no contributions. H. E. Robinson, nominee for the office of County Commissioner designated himself as a person to receive and disburse all moneys, and his statement as to expenditures were, Vernon Jones for taxi hire, $7, and no contributions. Mrs. Beverly Hester, nominee for the office of member of County Board of Education, her statement as to expenditures was none and contributions none. J. L. Johnson, designated himself as a person to receive and disburse all moneys, and his statement as to expenditures were, taxi hire, $20.00, contributions none. S. M. Adams, designated himself as a person to receive and disburse all moneys, and his statement as to contributions were $8.70 by S. M. Adams and expenditures were, railroad fare $5.20, hotel bill $3.50, stamps and postage, 24c, making a total of $8.94. Will B. Clements, nominee for office of County Commissioner, designated himself as a person to receive and disburse all moneys, and his statements were, expenditures none, contributions none.

Now, Mr. Dennis, this is the information which you requested, and by the simple process of addition it can be readily seen that the total expenditures of all the Democratic candidates in Chilton County was $238.54 and the total contributions was $119. These are the amounts that the several candidates have filed under their oaths in the office of the Probate Judge, in which it is further stated that not a single contribution of over $10 was made to any candidate.

For your information, Mr. Dennis, and for that of the public, we will ask the Chilton County News to tell us if it is not a fact that the State Democratic Committee donated about $1,000 toward the campaign in this county and that if your Mr. W. B. Corley was not promised the $1,000 and if another party in Clanton did not get the money. We would also like for them to tell us if Mr. Lamar Jeffers, congressman from our district, donated any money to the Democratic party in Chilton County, and if so how much.

Does it seem reasonable that a campaign was carried on of the several Democratic candidates, and according to the sworn statements made by these cendidates only $119 was contributed to the entire campaign to all the candidates and only $238.14 was spent by all the candidates throughout the entire campaign. We would like to know what became of the donations made by several prominent Democrats in this county and also the other donations mentioned above. You know this is a very serious matter and the corrupt practice act is very stringent in this regard.

As to your other request concerning Howard L. Foshee, asking if he had not published letter after letter in the Chilton County News attacking Judge Reynolds and if it was not carried as paid political advertisements. As we remember, Mr. Foshee did print a series of letters as stated above, the cost of advertising of which is not reported in the statement sworn to by C. D. Messer. As to the letters that Mr. Foshee sent out attacking Judge Reynolds in the interest of Rev. Messer, you can also see from the above statement that the cost of the postage and stationery was not included in the expense account of C. D. Messer.

In conclusion, will say that we heartily agree with you that the search light of truth should always be turned upon any political party and upon the members of that party in all their political acts as they are seeking to represent and officiate for the people and the people are entitled to the information.

The Republican party of this county is banded together as never before; the members, men and women, are rallying to its cause and to its fights. It is a party of red-blooded and true men and women, and as long as it continues so and stands upon its high principles, Chilton county will continue to be Republican.

AN OLD CORRESPONDENT

Quincey, Fla., Jan. 28, 1923.

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please publish a letter from an old correspondent, fromerly of Lawley, Ala., now living in Florida?

Several at Lawley and Shoults community asked me to write to The Union-Banner, as soon as we got moved. We have only been here a short time and had so much rain that we have been unable to see much of the country. But tobacco seems to be the main money crop here.

Quincey, Fla., is a very nice little town, always kept clean and brushed daily the paved streets and sidewalks. We do not know just how many inhabitants Quincey has. The roads here are almost perfect; convicts are kept on the roads all the time, keeping them in good condition. The road tax here is only $4.00 a year. We can't see why other places cannot have good roads as they do here.

There are several here from Chilton County and Bibb County. Mr. T. Holmes from Lawley, Ala., who is superintendent of a big saw mill here, fell last week and bruised his ankle. He has not been able to be out any since.

Mr. Milford Thompson of Shoults community is so home-sick for Chilton County; he says he is going back soon.

The ladies here have organized a sewing circle meeting which meets every Thursday afternoon, and it is a very pleasant meeting. A lot of fancy work is done, after which refreshments are served.

Almost every one here owns a car, all are large ones, very few Fords.

If this is printed I will write again. Wishing the people of Chilton County and the Union-Banner success.

Change of Life

"When change of life began on me," says Mrs. Lewis Lisher, of Lamar, Mo., "I suffered so with womanly weakness. I suffered a great deal of pain in my back and sides. My limbs would cramp. I didn't feel like doing my work, and there are so many steps for a woman to take on a farm. I was very anxious to get better. A friend recommended to me and I began using it. I certainly improved. I went through change of life without any trouble. I can highly recommend Cardui."

CARDUI

At the age of about 40 to 50 every woman has to pass through a critical time, which is called the Change of Life. At this time, great changes take place in her system, causing various painful and disagreeable symptoms.

If you are approaching this period, or are already suffering from any of its troubles or symptoms, take Cardui. It should help you, as it has helped others.

The spirit manifest in the meeting of the Clanton Chamber of Commerce held at the Exchange Hotel Tuesday night of this week is worthy of consideration by all of us. If we would spend more time and effort in trying to cooperate and build up our town and county instead of back-biting and knocking our fellow men we would get along a whole lot better and have a more peaceable and prosperous place to live in. Let's all push the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chilton County News attempts to shove off on the Republicans of Chilton county and The Union-Banner the charge that we are opposed to having a contest and eliminating all fraud from the ballot boxes of the county. We have never opposed an honest, straightforward contest, on the contrary, we believe that it would be a splendid thing for both parties since we believe there were illegal votes cast on both sides, and we believe that there has scarcely ever been an election when some illegal votes were not cast. What we have contended for is that the thing be gone at right and for everybody, both Republicans and Democrats, be treated fair. Just because Judge Reynolds is a Republican is no reason that he should be the recipient of all kinds of abuse and ill-treatment. As for the Republicans being ready for a contest, will say that their side of the matter has been sufficiently worked up and that we are ready for a thorough investigation of every voter the legality of whom there is any doubt. Yes, Brother News, we say now as we did in the outset, let her come, and while we are doing it let's do it up right.

Tutoring An Editor

Editor Corley of the Chilton County News a few weeks ago instituted a special campaign wherein he takes it upon himself to enlighten the "green" and "inexperienced" editor of The Union-Banner along the lines of running a newspaper. He accuses us of being "narrow" and "bigoted" and weighted down with the "yoke of prejudice and partisanism" and the Lord only knows what all else. However, The News is so interested in the welfare of The Union-Banner that it allows us the advantage of the fact that "When he grows older and widens his vision beyond the confines of Chilton county, he will be astonished to learn that in some localities at least people are looked upon as free and equal and have the inalienable rights of free speech, free thought and free action."

Yes, Brother Corley, using you as the criterion by which to judge people, the editor of The Union-Banner is narrow and bigoted in the superlative degree. We admit frankly that you are very able when it comes to showing your readers how a blue object looks red and how a mountain looks like a mole hill, and I am rather afraid the editor of The Union-Banner will never grow old enogh and broad enough to any ways approach your ability along this particular line. We hate to drop any discouragement in the path of your bright and promising ideals of bringing the editor of The Union-Banner out from the depths of "diabolical sacrilege and damnable affontery" and elevate us up to your ideal of a "better and a higher plane of living," but we are afraid Brother Corley, that we are a hopeless case. We have been administered the same old medicine which you prescribe all our life, and the more of it that is brought to our sight the sicker we get. Since you are so sincere in trying to "enlighten" us and cause us to know right from wrong, it pains us sorely to tell you that your treatment is not doing us any good, but we are forced to break the news to you any way.

Yes, Brother Corley, we agree with you that we all should strive to build up our government and try to make the country a better and more decent place to live in, but we can't see that turning it over into the hands of the Democratic party will be any advance step toward this end. If the Democratic party were over in Europe or away off somewhere else, you might "enlighten" us and cause us to believe your vain assertions that she is clean and pure and free from any "scintilla of corruption," but your party is in power all around us and has in the past had control of the affairs of our own county; so we are perfectly familiar with the workings of your lilly-white Democratic party.

BUSINESS IS PROMISING

Criticising Republicans

Last week's Chilton County News consumed about half of its front page in lambasting the "imaginary minded" editor of The Union-Banner, giving us "Hail Columbia" for charging that the promoters of the election contest have transformed the affair into a "persecution" against Judge Reynolds. They begin with the argument that we were obscure in our assertions against the methods that have been resorted to in leading up to the contest over the probate judgeship of Chilton County. We do not exactly understand what they refer to when they say that we do not make ourselves plain in infering that certain unfair methods have been resorted to, and they ask us to explain what kind of "fraud" we know of that has been practiced. It seems to us that our editorial to which they refer is absolutely open and everything refered to is fully explained.

Yes, indeed, we do say that Reynolds has not been treated any ways right in the methods that some of the promoters of the contest have used against him. The methods that we refer to are the actions of Mr. Hand in persistently talking about Judge Reynolds to his back and charging that he and all the folks who were on his side were crooks and thieves, also the fact that he went into the probate office while Judge Reynolds was absent and said things to the lady stenographers that were not at all becoming. The way in which Mr. J. F. Thompson virtually made the girls out as grossly misstating the facts is another method that we don't endorse at all. According to the affidavit of Mr. A. J. Jones, Mr. Thompson stated in substance that he did not blame Judge Reynolds for his action in slapping Tom Hand, and in his own affidavit published in the Chilton County News Mr. Thompson says that Mr. Hand did nothing at all that was unbecoming, which is to say that Judge Reynolds had no cause to slap him. These contradictory statements are another method that we don't approve of. And if you will read the editorial again which we published on January 17th you will see that these "methods" are brought out very clearly. We referred to nothing which we left unexplained.

What The News is doing now and has been doing all the while is to try to make the public believe that the Republicans carried on something rotten in the last election and that we do not want it to be brought out in a contest. This is not the case, and when the contest is over, we are sure that this phenomenal nightmare which The News is possessed of which causes it to see all kinds of corruption and crooked manipulations by Republicans in the last election, will prove to be more of a dream than a reality. Of course we don't say now and never have said that none voted for Reynolds who were not qualified, because we feel sure that there were some such votes cast. We don't say now and never have said that we were opposed to an honest, straight-forward thrashing out of the illegal votes cast in the last election, and we are not opposed to it. But we do oppose a contest being turned into a persecution as this one seems to have been done. We believe that the whole thing was originated and has been pursued more for the purpose of harassing and humiliating Judge Reynolds than for the purpose of cleaning out the ballot boxes. Now, Brother Corley, you may clip out thi paragraph and pin it in your little day book for future reference. It may probably be of interest to you in days to come.

The way in which Mr. Corley refers to "the other Republican officers of Chilton County" is a shrewd little piece of trickery indeed. He figures that he has got us sewed up at both ends on this proposition, and we will say that to people who are not acquainted with conditions it does look like his intentions are good and that he is fair to those who oppose him politically the same as to those who are in line with him. But upon careful investigation to this little appeal to "unselfishness" you will find that although apparently in good faith and absolutely harmless, the thing is loaded with nitro-glycerine at both ends and all that it takes to explode it is to just touch it off. Now, let's see if this is not true.

Speaking in regard to Mr. Rockett, Mr. Pate, Mr. Mims and Mr. Littlejohn, The News says: "We do not for one moment doubt that they are good Republicans, in the Judge's eyes, that some of them are violent partisans of his, but the fact that they can move in harmony with their fellow men in the midst of the turmoil that constantly exists between the Judge and his few enemies is something for thought." In the next two paragraphs Mr. Corley takes up the names of Mr. Howard L. Foshee and Mr. J. B. Atkinson, and very unselfishly praises them for the work they have done for the Republican party and for Chilton County and Clanton. Now, here is where the thing is loaded: On the one hand they are commending all the Republican officials in the court house except Judge Reynolds. Why? Not for the purpose of edifying the other officials but for the purpose of humiliating Reynolds. Then why do they give a whole paragraph each to praising the works of Howard L. Foshee and J. B. Atkinson? Now, this is what The News has been trying to get to all the time, and they used the names of the other Republican officials at the court house only to give color to this argument. The News knows that Mr. Foshee and Mr. Atkinson are out of line with the Republican organizations of the county, state and nation, and it also knows that these men used their whole influence to defeat the Republican ticket in the last election and that they are still out of line with the Republican party. So it was for the purpose of knocking Judge Reynolds, who is and has always been a true Republican, and at the same time to edify and praise Howard L. Foshee and J. B. Atkinson, who for the past few years have worked against the Republican party and in favor of the Democrats, that the names of the other county officers were brought into the argument. Yes, Brother Corley, this trick was a slick one, but when it is analyzed, it is the same old stuff that you always try to pull, namely deception.

How They Pass It

How high surtaxes are passed on by men of wealth in the shape of high prices to the consumer is convincingly shown by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in reply to one of the critics of the Mellon tax reduction program. In 1913, before the days of the surtax, if a man wished to receive 8 per cent net return on a $100,000 investment in an apartment building, he would adjust his rents so as to give him net $8,000 a year. Today the same apartment building would cost $200,000, and to provide enough for surtaxes and an 8 per cent return, the investor would require $38,000 in annual rentals. But Mr. Mellon points out that he would also wish to amortize the abnormal cost of building, and would probably demand net rents of about $48,000. "We have," says Secretary Mellon, "either the failure to make investment because of the unlikelihood of adequate return or a gouging of the tenants."

In the case cited, the man of wealth has suffered no loss in his net income, but his tenant is compelled to pay six times as much for exactly the same accommodations now as in 1913. Part of the increase represents interest on the larger investment, presumably compensated by a corresponding increase in the wages or other income of the tenant, but most of the additional rent must be charged to surtaxes and is a complete loss to the tenant.

If the man who desires to invest in new housing properties dislikes the "gouging" of tenants, he can put his money into tax exempt bonds and wait for a lowering of the surtax rates before building. But by his very inaction he is contributing to high rents, because there is a big shortage in the housing supply and there will be a tendency toward high rents until the supply approximately equals the demand. Any way you look at it, the inflated rent schedules with which our cities and towns are afflicted are due more to unjust surtaxes than to any other single cause.

The Panamaneuvers

Seldom has the Navy been engaged in a more instructive task than the maneuvers in the vicinity of the Panama Canal. The action is instructive not only to the Navy itself, but is highly educational to citizens generally. The Canal is so far removed from the center of our activities that it is easy to minimize its importance to our national life. As a matter of fact, there is no piece of American territory so necessary to defend as the Canal Zone. Destruction or capture of the Canal by an enemy means the paralyzing of a part or all of our fleet, with consequent easy capture of coast cities and successful inland raiding expeditions. The maneuvers have remonstrated that the Canal must be possessed of the means of defending itself, rather than compelled to call the fleet away from other duties. If Congress and the country can be convinced of that fact a great object will have been achieved.

Purely Unofficial

The White House has again made it plain that the United States is not directly or indirectly responsible for anything that Gen. Dawes may do or say. This country is not paying a dollar toward the expenses of the American delegates to the reparations meeting, and is making no suggestions whatever as to their course of action. This does not mean that the administration will not follow the proceedings at Paris with interest. Inasmuch as Secretary Hughes is the originator of the plan that has been put into operation, he has more than a passing concern for its success. But that concern is purely unofficial, and will have no effect whatever on American international policy. The men are serving in response to invitations from European nations.

Move On!

While Philadelphia is driving out her vicious element, it will be well for the rest of the country to guard against an influx of the Quaker City exodus. The whole United States, particularly the cities, has been made the dumping ground of the undesirable who were driven out of Europe, and it will profit us little as a nation if we now drive them from city to city. Of course the vicious immigrants we have received are a very small part of the total, but it is much larger than it should have been. The vicious element that is now emigrating from Philadelphia is a small portion of the total pupulation, but it is large enough to be undesirable in any other city. Life must be made miserable for people who try to live by dishonorable means in any city.

Around the Bok Bier

Chicago Herald-Examiner. — For nine months American newspapers have been filled with the details of Edward W. Bok's effort to give $100,000 for an effective peace plan. Now the prize jury has made the award. . . But there is nothing in the scheme that is either original, valuable or practicable. Out of the mountains of publicity comes this $100,000 mouse!

Houston Post.—Now the 22,164 contestants for the Bok award declare the jury did not read their plans and they are threatening court action to compel a reopening of the contest. And, honestly, it looks to us as if the jury must not have read the unsuccessful plans. Surely all of them could not have been so mushy as No. 1469.

Hoquiam (Wash.) Washingtonian. —The approval by the committee making the award in the $100,000 peace plan of Edward W. Bok, which is being voted upon throughout the Nation, looks very much like our old friend—the League of Nations—dressed up in new clothes and otherwise camouflaged a bit to hide its real identity.

Cincinnati Enquirer.—The losers in the Bok peace price contest will fight the decision of the committee. Right here we have the fundamental reason why there can be no peace, international, domestic or individual, until human nature is revamped and made over.

Chicago Tribune.—The whole Bok scheme is a sham. It is an attempt by sophistry and polite demagogy to trick the American people into accepting measures that would presently fasten us inextricably in the League of Nations' system.

Easton (Pa.) Press.—A popular vote on the Bok plan would be a dangerous way of deciding our diplomatic actions, especially in so important a matter as anything likely to drag us into entangling alliances abroad.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—Blessed are the peace-makers; and still more blessed (materially speaking) is the bird who, sensing the sentiment of a well-packed jury, gets up a "winning plan."

Janesville (Wis.) Gazette.—After one reads the document, there is a feeling of deep regret that the author went to the morgue for his inspiration for the Bok prize peace plan.

Boston Transcript. — Efforts to make the jury in the Bok case read all the 22,000 manuscripts appears to be the latest endeavor to have the punishment fit the crime.

Auburn (N. Y.) Journal.—The press of the United States has not yet decided whether the author of the winning Bok peace plan should be crowned or assassinated.

Nashville Southern Lumberman.—Mr. Edward Bok ought to arrange to use Mexico as a laboratory to experiment with his world peace plans.

UNDERWOOD FORSAKES MASONIC TIES

Senator Abandons Masonic and Protestant Ideals to Obtain Support of Catholic "Wets" For President

Ryan, Murphy and Belmont--Catholics, Financed 1912 Campaign and Now

(Note: The following story by Hon. George Flemming Moore, for many years editor of the New Age Magazine, official organ of Southern Jurisdiction Scottish Rite Masons, to which office he was elected for life, and which he resigned to become editor-in-chief of the Fellowship Forum, today recognized as the greatest and most influential Masonic and fraternal paper in the world, tells its own story. Mr. Moore is probably the best known living Mason, and what he says is generally received by people everywhere as authoritative.)

Oscar W. Underwood, given the highest political office in the power of the people of Alabama (a seat in the United States Senate) by the patriotic Protestants of that state and given the highest honor that Masonry has to bestow (the thirty-third degree) has forsaken the ideals of Protestantism for Roman support and has repudiated the Militant Masonic principles of the founders of this country in a bid for Catholic votes.

The reason for this switch was that Senator Underwood coveted the Democratic nomination for the Presidency of the United States and believed that the support of the Roman Catholic church and the "wets" of the country would give him the nomination. Senator Underwood also decided that the votes of these evil forces, aided and abetted by the Jewish support, would be sufficient to land him the coveted White House prize.

Senator Underwood came out early with an official announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination and got a long start on the big field of presidential aspirants of both major parties. He took his campaign to Texas, where he made his unfortunate bid for Roman Catholic support with a mild denunciation of "masked organizations." Although he did not mention the Ku Klux Klan, patriotic Protestants far and wide were quick to accept his challenge to Protestantism and the die was cast.

"Yellow Dog Days" Gone.

Undoubtedly Mr. Underwood thought that the "Solid South" would stand by him, regardless of his mild denunciation of the Klan. This thought was evidently brought about by Mr. Underwood's long political carreer and observation of elections over many years in all parts of the solid south, which in the past justifies the assertion: "Nominate a yellow dog on the Democratic ticket in the south and he's sure to be elected."

But "them days are gone forever." With the coming of the Ku Klux Klan, which has caused a wave of patriotism and Protestantism to sweep, not only the solid south, but the entire nation, patriots have awakened to the fact that only the best men must be elected to public office, and these same Protestants are voting for the best man in each race, regardless of his party affiliations.

The "yellow dog" days are over, so far as the nation as a whole is concerned. True there are certain exceptions, for instance New York City, where the support of Tammany Hall has been strong enough to elect many a "yellow dog" to high office. The same ward bossism, controlled by Catholics who had not been in this country long enough to speak English controlled politics in Chicago for many years, but the recent off year elections showed that the patriotic fever had invaded Catholic Chicago and that many candidates who drew the united opposition of the un-American forces were elected with big majorities.

Forum Writes Underwood.

Illinois and Ohio, long controlled by Roman bigoted politicians, also joined the patriotic ranks. Some parts of New York and even Catholic New Jersey elected patriotic Protestants to office over Catholics and Roman-endorsed Jews and "broad-minded" Protestants, who had the clerical support.

The Fellowship Forum did not give very much credence to the first newspaper reports of Mr. Underwood's denunciation of "masked organizations" and knowing that Catholic controlled papers had spread many such reports about other candidates in the past that later turned out to be false, it gave the Alabama Senator benefit of the doubt. But when "Our Sunday Visitor," a radical Jesuit weekly, printed the copies of a letter to Mr. Underwood, asking him about his ownership of a share of The Fellowship Forum's stock Mr. Underwood's reply in which he apologized to the Catholics and stated that he had forgotten his subscription The Fellowship Forum and George Fleming Moore, its editor-in-chief, then called Mr. Underwood's attention to the letters printed in the Roman weekly.

The Fellowship Forum informed Mr. Underwood that if his ownership of the share of stock had embarrassed him that it would be glad to buy back the share and relieve him of further embarrassment. Mr. Underwood, in his reply, admitted his animosity to the patriotic organization and returned his share of stock, money for which The Fellowship Forum gladly refunded.

Denounces Klan.

Judging from the mild denunciations carried in Mr. Underwood's campaign speeches, which even the editor of "Our Sunday Visitor" took the Senator to task for his failure to denounce the Klan by name, Mr. Underwood has evidently felt the reaction from his unpatriotic utterances and realizes that the Protestant fraternal support of the nation has been lost to him for his foolish utterances. At any rate the letter to Mr. Moore had the following paragraph, which shows that Mr. Underwood has at last realized that he has made his bed and now must lie in it, for he comes out stronger than ever against the Klan and calls it by name:

"At the time I subscribed to the stock I thought The Forum would be conducted entirely along fraternal lines, but the leaning of the paper toward the Ku Klux Klan does not meet with my approval."

Before Mr. Underwood made his speech in Houston, Tex., in which he denounced "masked organizations" and said that he was not a member of the Klan, he appeared on the political horizon as the strongest candidate that the Democratic party had to offer. It is strange what a few misguided words can do to the political fortunes of public men! One word can make a candidate or break him. Unfortunately the Alabama Senator chose the words that will break him.

Faces Home Opposition.

His unpatriotic utterances will not only defeat his fondest political hopes, but have already aroused the patriotic citizens of his home state to come out openly and repudiate him by selecting a candidate—L. B. Musgrove—who has the strong support of William Jennings Bryan, to run against Mr. Underwood in the state's preferential primary.

Leading political observers of Alabama declare that the patriotic support of the Protestants of that state will send the Alabama delegation to the Democratic convention instructed to vote against Underwood.

Mr. Underwood will have the combined opposition of Protestants, patriotic fraternalists, prohibitionists and strong body of patriotic, sober-thinking women voters of the country.

Mr. Underwood's record in the Senate shows that he voted for rum and against the Eighteenth Amendment and against woman suffrage.

Our Sunday Visitor.

Huntington, Ind.
November 5, 1923.

Hon. Oscar W. Underwood,
U. S. Senator from Alabama,
Washington, D. C.

Honorable and Dear Sir:

We have read the report of your speech at Houston, Tex. on October 27, wherein you are quoted as follows:

"When men have secret organizations for the purpose of governing they are striking at the very principles of government," tc.

We realize also what impressions are bound to be made on the minds of the people of the United States when it is seen that you have gone on record concerning such vital issues.

A correspondent has just pointed out to us that your name is included in the list of stockholders of "The Independent Publishing Company, 219 G Street N. W., Washington, D. C./ the company which issues the pro-Klan and rabidly anti-Catholic weekly known as "The Fellowship Forum." List of stockholders is published in the October 20, 1923, issue of this paper one George Fleming Moore being editor thereof.

Possibly this is a mistake, inasmuch as this "Forum" previously informed its readers that the late President Harding and Gen. Pershing had endorsed it. Inquiries made brought the prompt reply from both that neither had done so, the President informing this Mr. Moore that he should at once discontinue using his name.

Realizing that you possibly may not know the character of the sheet published by this "Independent Publishing Company," in which you are said to own stock, we are enclosing herewith a few clippings from "Our Sunday Visitor," which show just what are the tactics resorted to by this "Forum" in libeling the Catholic church. This paper was one of the anti-Catholic sheets which originated the story that the late President Harding had likely been poisoned by Catholics.

Surely you cannot endorse the career which "The Fellowshop Forum" is pursuing, and you must realize that it is reflecting nothing but harm to the Masonic order, the representative of which it has claimed to be at the national capital. * * *

We would appreciate a personal reply from you concerning this alleged connection of yourself, as a stockholder, with "The Independent Publishing Company" of Washington. D. C., which issues this "Fellowship Forum."

Very truly and sincerely yours
ROBERT R. HULL,
Associate Editor.

Mr. Underwood's reply to the above letter follows:

United States Senate,
Conference of the Minority.

Tate Springs Tenn.,
November 17, 1923.

Mr. Robert R. Hull.
Huntington, Ind.

My Dear Mr. Hull:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 5th instant with enclosures.

First let me say that my speech at Houston, Tex., and also my speech at Boston, Mass., was intended to express a firm conviction on my part that the guarantees of the Constitution of the United States should be maintained and enforced. That the principles set forth in the first 10 amendments to the amendments to the Constitution known as the Bill of Rights should be recognized by our government and our people alike as the fundamental and living principles of our Constitution. That no citizen of the United States should be challenged in his citizenship or the privileges he may derive therefrom by reason of the place of his birth or his religious belief. That no man should be punished for crime unless he has the opportunity of a fair trial before a court of justic organized by the law of the land. That the personal liberty of every citizen of the United States should be questioned by no person, society, or organization, but only by the courts of the land when he is charged with violating the laws of his country.

In my Houston speech and also in my Boston speech I did not mention any organization, but the newspapers have construed my speeches to be an attack on the Ku Klux Klan. I intended them to apply it to the Ku Klux Klan and all other organizations that challenge in any way the integrity of the principles set forth in the Bill of Rights.

As to my owning stock in "The Fellowship Forum," or its publisher "The Independent Publishing Company," the facts are these: I am a member of the Masonic order, and have been since I was a boy. Some years ago some of my brother Masons in Washington came to me and stated that they were going to organize and publish a Masonic paper to give the fraternal news of the order. I did not understand that this paper would be anti-Catholic, pro-Klan, or a paper organized to proclaim religious belief of any kind. My understanding was that it was solely a fraternal paper to convey the news of the Masonic order. I subscribed to one share of stock, $100, really intended as a gift to those who were starting the paper and really had forgotten entirely that I had done so or that I was the owner of a share of stock until it was called to my attention after my Houston speech. I have no control over the paper whatever and no interest in it other than what I have stated above.

Yours very sincerely,
O. W. UNDERWOOD

The Forum's letter to Mr. Underwood follows:

The Fellowship Forum,

Hon. Oscar W. Underwood,
Senate Office Building,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Brother Underwood:

Some of my Masonic brethren have called to my attention a letter printed in "Our Sunday Visitor," a Roman Catholic publication, purporting to have been written by you to Mr. Robert R. Hull, associate editor.

In this letter you refer to your connection with The Fellowship Forum as a stockholder and endeavor to explain this connection by stating that your subscription to stock in the Independent Publishnig Company was intended merely as a gift, and that you had really forgotten that you owned one share.

The whole tone of this part of your letter to Mr. Hull is so apologetic that I am led to believe that you are embarrassed on account of this connection.

When The Fellowship Forum was launched your name naturally presented itself to me and my associates in this enterprise as an outstanding figure in Masonic and civil life who would take an interest in promoting the cause of fraternal Americanism. Your subscription to stock confirmed me in this belief.

I will appreciate a letter from you advising me if the letter to "Our Sunday Visitor" referred to it a true copy of a letter written by you, and if it clearly expresses your attitude with regard to your holding stock in the Independent Publishing Company.

If your reply is in the affirmative, I will be only too glad to take up your share of stock and relieve you of such source of embarrassment in your political ambitions.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
GEORGE F. MOORE.

Judge Moore's letter follows:

The Fellowship Forum,

Washington, D. C.,
December 21, 1923.

Honorable Oscar W. Underwood,
Office, Capitol of the U. S.,
Washington, D. C.

The letter sent you herewith is the result of a conference with my associates in the publication of The Fellowship Forum. My admiration for you and my personal friendship for you, which have lasted through many years, prompts me to write this additional personal letter.

My friends in Alabama have claimed for me that it was largely due to my zealous aid in your latest campaign for Senator that you now occupy a seat in the Senate of the United States.

I have not made (nor do I make) any such claim. I mention the matter simply to remind you that in the past I have never hesitated to do all I could to further your advencement in any way possible.

But, if the statements said to have emanated from you in your published speeches made recently in Dallas, Tex., and Boston, Mass., are correctly printed, and if your recent letter about The Fellowship Forum, printed in the paper (Our Sunday Visitor), represent your views correctly, I find myself at the parting of the ways.

I have just returned from Alabama and the South, where my friends asked me about your views as expressed in your speeches. I have always replied, "Until I know that Senator Underwood has been correctly reported, I cannot say anything. I have been his friend and supporter for many years, and I am not willing to accept newspaper reports of his opinion."

On this basis, I write to ask you to please read the following and write me (not for publication in The Fellowship Forum unless you desire it), an answer.

1. I wrote, and it was published under my name in the Scottish Rite Herald, of Dallas, Tex., an article in which I said as clearly as I could that The Fellowship Forum would be a newspaper; that it would not be under the control of any society or order of men; that it would be controlled only by the board of directors of the Independent Publishing Company, who own and publish it, and is a regularly incorporated body under the laws.

2. The Fellowship Forum is, I repeat, a weekly newspaper. It is owned and published by the Independent Publishing Co. It is devoted first to printing the news (if it learns that such news is true), especially such news as is of interest to the people of the United States who love their country—who desire to see American ideals and institutions maintained as they are now described in the Constitution of the United States, and the laws passed by Congress, as well, as in the Constitution of the United States and the laws adopted by the states in accordance with their respective constitutions. It particularly desires to print the news of the activities and doings of the different fraternal and patriotic societies of the various states or sections of the United States.

3. The policy of The Fellowship Forum is to advocate, what seems to those who conduct it, the true American democracy (or representative republicanism), without domination of our people, or any of them, in their conduct towards our federal or state government. Our paper is controlled by men who are members of Protestant Christian churches, but religious freedom is the birthright of every American citizen. It is only when it appears that there is an ecclesiastical power attempting to usurp the functions of our civil government that we oppose any such society or so-called religious or ecclesiastical power.

Now, Senator, your declarations in speeches and through your letter to the Roman newspaper, "Our Sunday Visitor," have led me to believe that you are not in accord with the views I have tried to hastily outline in this letter.

If my belief is well founded there is nothing left for your friend, who writes this letter, than to say to you frankly and candidly that I am not in accord with your views, and cannot support you further nor advise my friends to support you in your future candidacy for office.

Please permit me to say, however, that I deeply regret this conclusion to which I feel compelled, coming from one who was your political, personal and fraternal friend, and that my admiration for you and your past services to your country has not abated.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
GEORGE F. MOORE.
Pres. Independent Publishing Co.

Mr. Underwood's letter to Judge Moore follows:

United States Senate,

Washington, D. C.
December 26, 1923.

Mr. George F. Moore,
919 G Street N. W.
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. Moore:

I received your letter of the 21st instant today in regard to my attitude as a shareholder in The Fellowship Forum.

When I subscribed to the share of stock, although I did not say so to you at the time, it was entirely due to my kindly feeling for you. I did not, of course, expect to get any return from the stock, and regarded it in my own mind as a gift. So much so that I am enclosing the certificate of stock that I hold, endorsed in blank, and will be glad to have you transfer it out of my name.

At the time that I subscribed to the stock I thought The Forum would be conducted entirely along fraternal lines, but the leaning of the paper toward the Ku Klux Klan does not meet with my approval. You and I have many times discussed this matter, and I am sure that you have always understood my attitude in regard to the great principles of the Masonic order, which I have always taken to be the bulwark of personal liberty and religious freedom.

In regard to my speech at Houston, and those at other places, there was nothing new or different in them from the speeches I made in Alabama, nor from one that I once made at a Masonic gathering at which you were present.

I am sure that you must recall that the last time you visited me at the Capitol you did so to explain to me that you expected to change the attitude of your paper from the policy it had pursued theretofore, and it is that change that has brought about the political difference that exists between us.

I regret, of course, that you withdraw your political support, but I want to assure you that I recognize fully your right to do so, and that it does not affect my personal kindly feeling for you.

Sincerely yours,
O. W. UNDERWOOD.

Dear Senator Underwood:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of December 26, in which you return your certificate of stock in The Independent Publishing Company.

ONE CATHOLIC ALONE GAVE UNDERWOOD $35,000 IN 1912

(From Collier's Weekly, for Nov. 3, 1923.)

* * * Underwood's manager is Forney Johnston, a lawyer of Birmingham and Washington. Johnston is general counsel for the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, which explains his two habitats. He knows his South, and is supposed to have direct connections with New York financial leaders. Thomas Fortune Ryan, of Lynchburg, Va., and New York, tobacco and banking king, is supposed to be one of the financiers back of Underwood, whose appeal for support in the convention is to his fellow Democrats of the South and his fellow conservatives of the Democratic party in the East. Underwood's publicity, the first sheets of which were sent out recently from Birmingham, is in the hands of C. B. Huntress, a Washington publicity expert.

The Virginia delegation will nominally be for Senator Glass, but through Carlin, Scott and Ryan an effort is being made to pick delegates who will go to Underwood when Glass has been shown that he can not win. Through Mr. Ryan's and Mr. Johnston's New York connections, other helpers will be found to endeavor to get delegates for Underwood in the rich fields of the East.

The Underwood people are making a plain bid for the conservative support of the East with the wets thrown in. Underwood, of course, has said nothing on the liquor question, but his boosters are passing the word out among the Eastern States that the wets should support him because of his wet record. He opposed both the Eighteenth Amendment and also the Volstead Act. He has friends among Eastern financiers and manufacturers. His attitude throughout his national career has been friendly to business and property. Since the announcement of his candidacy, approval has come widely from such sources.

The Underwood scheme is to sit tight with the 200-odd delegates from the South, let McAdoo people clamor and shout, and as time goes on pick up one delegate after another from the Eastern states, finally getting the big block of 90 from New York when Smith has had his run. The East is opposed to McAdoo. To the extent that business is reflected in a Democratic national convention, that interest also opposes McAdoo, because business and bankers considered him hostile to them when he was in office.

(Charlotte, N. C. Herald)

Then his Wall Street friendship, his bourbon spirit, his stand on prohibition, and his boastful and boasted part in the enactment of the infamous Cummings-Esch railroad law, present an insurmountable obstacle to his presidential aspirations.

OBSTACLE

The Underwood leadership is ample reason for his removal. As the minority leader of the Senate Mr. Underwood has been a complete 100 per cent failure. Thanks to Mr. Underwood, the Democrats of the Senate are without a policy, without a program," without a purpose.—New York World, December 15, 1921.

ROCKY MOUNT

Dear Editor:

Please allow me just a small space in your valuable paper for just a few words of this place.

Health is very good at present time.

Last Thrsday, Jan. 17th, being the day set we finished the work on the cemetery at this place, put up the new wire, also enlarged the cemetery. we cannot express how thankful we are to see this work completed.

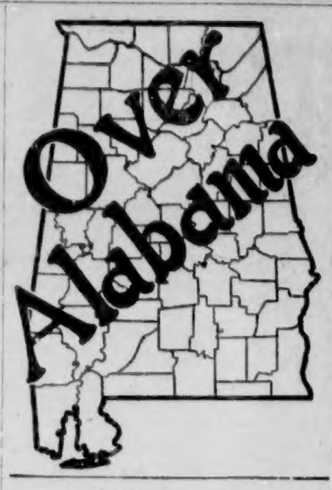
A very large number of friends and relatives enjoyed the singing at the home of Mrs. J. B. Northcutt last Friday night. Among the crowd was Prof. Ralph D. Grant, also Mr. Ira L. Grant. Of course we all were glad to have them with us. The singing was given to the surprise of her son, Mr. Buell Northcutt from Gorgas, who was spending last week with his mother. He returned to Gorgas, Ala., Sunday morning.

Mr. R. A. Burnett spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Miss Edna Robinson and Miss Eula Barnett spent Friday night with Mrs. J. B. Northcutt and reported a nice time.

Miss Josephine Allen of Montevallo spent last Saturday with Miss Eula Barnett.

If this escapes the waste basket we will call again.



ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Times have changed since the outraged youngster who was switched at school sought revenge in drawing a caricature of the teacher, who wielded the rod, on the corner fence, according to a report reecived by C. E. Johnson, state fire marshal. The substance of the report was that Mack and Jairus Norton, aged 13 and 11, respectively, have made an alleged confession implicating themselves as having applied the torch which destroyed the handsome town school building at Ariton as a protest against a whipping administered to them in connection with compulsory attendance at school.

Alabama will have the greatest game preserve and recreation ground in the whole South, and one of the notable forest parks of the entire United States, according to statements made by Game and Fish Commissioner I. T. Quinn. "I have practically concluded an agreement," said the commissioner, "with the National Forest Service officials by which the United States Forest Reserve of 105,000 acres located in Winston, Lawrence and Franklin counties, will be transformed into a great public game preserve for the benefit of the citizens of Alabama.

After a conference between Governor Brandon and members of the state highway commission, during which the commission's road building plans for the present year were discussed, it was announced that a meeting of the state bond commission will be held at the capitol on February 5. At this meeting the bond commission will determine whether or not additional good roads bonds will be issued to provide more funds for this year's road building program.

The Alabama Public Service commission has filed with the interstate commerce commission a petition asking for modification, suspension, vacation or annullment of the orders of the interstate commerce commission in the famous Meridian rate case. This case is one of the most noted in recent Alabama history, and it is charged that the decision of the interstate commerce commission in this case will seriously hamper the Alabama comission in revising Alabama intrastate rates.

Plans have been perfected for building a modern hotel at Shiloh military park, on the Tennessee River below Florence. The hotel will be named "Pine Rest," and it will have 22 rooms, equipped with all modern conveniences. It is the plan of those behind the enterprise to make Shiloh an attractive resort that will afford accommodations to tourists who annually visit the historic battle ground of Shiloh.

Following a thorough inspection of all war material assigned by the government to the state highway department for use in the building of roads in Alabama, the state highway commission, after consideration of the matter announced that 100 motor trucks will be retained for use in road maintenance throughout Alabama. These trucks will be worked out of Montgomery, and will be taken to various portions of the state.

Repeal of the preferential primary law passed by the legislature at its last session will be the object of the woman's department of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, which has just been organized with headquarters at 416 Twenty-first street, north, Birmingham. Mrs. Sallie Osborne Cooper is general chairman and Mrs. Florence P. Lewis, secretary of the new organization.

A whisky still, equipped with a whistle, the first one ever captured in Alabama, was seized near Glover's Bend. The still, with a capacity of 250 gallons, was made from a large boiler. Raiding officers said it was one of the most complete they had ever seen and cleverly concealed. Water from a nearby spring was supplied by a hose 400 feet long.

The Florence Chamber of Commerce has accepted the recommendation of the budget committee for the outline of the work for the coming year and allotted to the Tennessee River Improvement Association, $10,000.

J. Lindsay Pope former police official of Anniston, was perhaps fatally shot in the office of Chief of Police George W. Rutledge by Lee Fowler, garageman. Pope was shot through the abdomen. An arm was broken by another shot. Fowler was lodged in the county jail.

Henry Popwell of Route 6 was in Clanton Tuesday.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF LAND

Under and by virtue of a decree rendered by the Honorable J. F. Posey, Judge of the Probate Court of Autauga County, Alabama, on the 7th day of January, 1924, I, G. C. Donovan, administrator of the estate of Daniel Donovan, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the court house door on Factory Street in the City of Prattville, Autauga County, Alabama, on the 11th day of February, 1924, the following described real estate situated in Autauga County, Alabama, to-wit:

The west half of the south-west quarter of section 19, township 20, range 14, containing 80 acres, more or less, also the following land situated in Chilton County, Alabama, beginning 338 yards west of the south-east corner of section 36, township 20, range 13, thence running north 70 yards, thence west 120 yards, thence south 70 yards, thence east 120 yards to the point of beginning, containing 1 and one-half acres, more or less; also the following parcel of land situated in Autauga County, Alabama, to-wit:

Beginning at the north-west corner of the north-east quarter of the north-east quarter of section 1, township 19, range 13, thence west 25 yards, thence south-east 140 and 11-12 yards, thence east 80 yards, thence north 23 and 1-2 yards, thence west 87 and 1-2 yards to the point of beginning, containing one and 627-1000 acres, more or less.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of making a division of the proceeds of said sale among the heirs and distributees of said estate.

Witness my hand, this, the 7th day of January, 1924.

G. C. DONOVAN,
Administrator of the estate of Daniel Donovan, Deceased.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court of Chilton County.—In Equity.

Grace Downs, Complainant, vs. Arthur D. Downs, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of J. O. Middleton that the defendant, Arthur D. Downs, is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post office address are unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Arthur D. Downs, to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 18th day of February, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter pro confesso may be taken against him.

W. D. SPIGENER,
1-17-4t Register.

NOTICE OF WRIT OF ATTACHMENT AND LEVY

To G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson, Non-Residents of the State of Alabama:

To Any Sheriff of the State of Alabama, Greeting:

Whereas, W. C. Burnett, has complained on oath to me, J. Z. Mims, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, that G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson are justly indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of Two Hundred Ten and no-100 Dollars, and the plaintiff having made affidavit and given bond as required by law in such cases, you are hereby commanded to attach so much of the estate of said G. H. Vinson and Mrs. Davenport-Vinson as will be of value to satisfy said debt and costs, according to the complaint, unless repleved, so to secure that the same may be liable to further proceedings thereon to be had at the next term of the Circuit Court for the County of Chilton, to be holden at the Court House thereof within 30 days from the service of this writ, when and where you must make known how you have executed this Writ.

J. Z. MIMS,
Clerk Circuit Court.

It appearing from the affidavit of the plaintiff filed in this cause that the defendants have waived their right to claim as exempt to them any personal property as against the debt upon which this suit is based, this Writ is not subject to any claim of exemptions as to personal property.

This the 31st day of Dec. 1923.

J. Z. MIMS, Clerk.

I have executed the within Writ this 9th day of Jan. 1924, by Attaching one saw mill complete, including one husk frame, carriage, belts and pulleys.

T. J. LITTLEJORN,
1-17-3t Sheriff.

Farther than the Earth's Distance Around the Sun
— Mileage Travelled by L&N Locomotives and Cars Last Year

Hurtling through space at the rate of 18 miles per second, the earth travels approximately 570,000,000 miles every year in its orbital journey around the sun.

Last year, the total distance travelled by locomotives, and freight and passenger cars, over L. & N. rails, was approximately 730,000,000 miles—about 160,000,000 miles more than the earth travelled in its race around the sun.

The average person has but little conception of the vast and varied labors which are necessary on the part of the 52,000 employees of the L. & N. Railroad, in order that this stupendous movement may be accomplished.

Day and night, on Sundays and holidays, with constant vigil and attention to thousands of details and operations, the L. & N. Organization functions smoothly, furnishing the people in its territory with a freight and passenger service adequate to their needs; and this service is constantly being enlarged and improved as these needs grow.

AGRICULTURAL WORK EXPLAINED

Commissioner of Agriculture Tells School Children How Department Is Organized and How It Functions.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 25, 1924. —The organization and work of the Department of Agriculture and Industries of Alabama is now being explained by J. M. Moore, Commissioner, in answer to numerous requests reaching him from public and high school students throughout Alabama for information of this kind.

"Under the law the Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries is the chief executive officer and chairman of the State Board of Agriculture which represents the public and is responsible for proper execution of the law," says Mr. Moore. "This plan was created by the Agricultural Code which was passed by the recent legislature, and which is the best set of agricultural laws enacted by any state."

Naming specific laws in the Code, Mr. Moore referred to those pertaining to fertilizer, fruit trees, nursery stock, foods, feed, drugs, seed, insecticides, fungicides, eggs, and also those pertaining to containers for agricultural products. "It is the duty of Department, and of the State Board, to enforce these laws," added Mr. Moore.

In naming the advantages Mr. Moore said that the work of the Department affects not only farmers but the public. Producers, manufactrers, dealers, and consumers are all protected and benefitted by the Department, which comes in contact with all kinds of problems in its work which is essentially regulatory.

At present the Department is divided into four divisions and one subdivision. They are: Agricultural Chesmistry, Markets, Clerical and Records, and Plant Industry with a sub-division for citrus fruit.

WHAT A SHEIK IS

A correspondent answers our question of last week, saying that a sheik is an Arab Chief. We presume that answer is correct, but that being the case, we are forced to ask when did so many Arab Chiefs come to this country? Present day usage must have broadened out the term and caused it to cover a broader meaning than it was originally intended to cover.

MASS MEETING

A mass meeting of the citizens of Thorsby and vicinity, under the auspices of Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association and the public school board will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, February 14th at the Wadesonian Theatre in Thorsby. The purpose of the meeting is to elect a building committee, whose duty it shall be to devise plans and raise funds for the erection of a Public School Building in the Town of Thorsby. Members of the County Board of Education will be present and give some facts and figures of vital interest to every citizen of Thorsby. Also Rev. J. M. Graham will address the meeting at that time. Every citizen of the town and community who is interested in better school facilities and better financial conditions of the town in general ought to be present. The Thorsby orchestra will be present and furnish music for the occasion.

Thorsby Institute annexed two more Basket Ball games last week, On Friday they won from Montevallo 32 to 14, and Saturday they beat The Buck Creek Cotton Mill Team of Siluria by the decisive scores of 25 to 5. The secret of their success is team work, and there is but little indication of individual play. On Friday of this week they meet a worthy foe in Marbury and they are hard at practice this week that they may add another victory to their string.

Registration day for the second semester at Thorsby Institute was January 28th.

The new officers of The Helen Keller Literary Society were elected Jan. 26, Codie Bell, Pres; Fellie Stephens, Vice-President; Margaret Butler, Sec; Ben Brown, Custodian. Speeches were made in happy mood by each of the new officers.

The fourth number of Thorsby Institute Lyceum course, in which "Bob-of-the-Northland" and "Billy Miller" (a woman) impersonators, highly commended in press notices, will be the attraction. By a curious combination of circumstances the date chosen by the bureau in charge of the talent for these entertainments send these people to Thorsby Friday night, Feb. 1st, which is also the opening night for moving pictures at the Wadesonian Theatre, the new play house at Thorsby. Since there are a good many who will not want to miss either of these entertainments it has been arranged to present both attractions on the same night, (Friday, Feb. 1st) at the Wadesonian Theatre. The Lyceum number will not be given in Bates Hall as advertised, but at the theatre, beginning at 7:15 p.m. where season tickets will be honored, and single admissions for either or both shows may be obtained, prices on application. About 9 p.m. the moving picture performance will be put on and run complete. This will make a full evening of entertainment which can be enjoyed in full or in part as one may desire. One has but to see this new play house dressed in all its appointments to realize that the people of Thorsby are exceedingly fortunate in having so good a place for their entertainment.

Rev. Wilhelm Petterson, who has resigned as pastor of Thorsby Lutheran Church, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday evening. He has received, and accepted, an appointment as Field agent for a Minneapolis Old Peoples Home and will at once enter on his new duties. He will be greatly missed in Thorsby where he had made many friends.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society held their regular annual business meeting last Tuesday. The following were elected as officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. James Bosworth, president; Mrs. J. O. Johnson, vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Reagan, secretary, and Mrs. M. J. Soberg, treasurer.

Mrs. D. J. Flummer and daughter, Marie, are spending several days in Birmingham this week.

Miss Lena Franklin is again at her post as teacher in our public school, after substituting for two weeks at Jemison High, in place of one of their teachers who had an attack of Scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Karlson spent Monday in Birmingham.

Miss Agnes Leary has returned from a two weeks visit to Birmingham and vicinity, where she received many social attentions.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will be entertained by Mrs. J. E. Each at the Parsonage Thursday afternoon, Feb. 7th.

On Sunday night, Feb. 3rd, there will be another of those delightful praise services at the Congregational Church immediately following Christian Endeavor meeting, or at 7:30.

A very substantial improvement on a prominent corner has been quietly under way for some time, and is now attaining proportions that attract attention. Mr. Ben. Franklin, our genial rural mail carrier, is building at the northwest corner of Montgomery Road and Main Street a very substantial garage building. The structure is 30 x 60 feet and the material hollow concrete tile. When complete it will be a notable improvement of a prominent corner.

INVEST IT SAFELY AND PROFITABLY IN

Cumulative Preferred Stock of Alabama Power Company

There is a wide difference in "investing" and "speculating."

SPECULATING means taking chances, running risks, with the idea of quick returns in large profits—it is rightfully termed "stock gambling."

INVESTING does not involve the taking of blind chance. It means putting your money to work in some firmly established, earning business, that will insure a reasonable return, with the element of chance eliminated. And, that is just wha tyou do when you buy stock in the Alabama Power Company.

The Cumulative Preferred Stock of Alabama Power Company has never failed to pay a dividend every three months, at a yield of more than 7% annually.

THINK THIS OVER. Could we afford to sell, t othe very people upon whose good will and patronage our business depends, shares of stock in which we did not have the utmost confidence?

This stock has distinct davantages that merit your investigation. Ask any employe, or communicate with Investment Department, Alabama Power Company, Brown-Marx Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

Quarterly Meeting of W. M. U. Held at Samaria.

The regular quarterly meeting of the W. M. U. was held at Samaria Church on Tuesday, with one of the most splendid meetings in the history of the society. A number of enjoyable three-minute addresses were given, among the most interesting being one by Mrs. S. J. Ezell on "Redeeming the Time," one by Mrs. Gilbert of Marbury in regard to the young peoples work. Mrs. Hester gave an interesting talk on the books that should be on our library table, and Mrs. Hughes of Billingsley gave a splendid demonstration on Mission study. The day being a most profitable one and also needs mention of a most delightful dinner served by the ladies of Samaria. The banner for attendance was awarded the Clanton Baptist Church.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins will be glad to learn that their daughter, Miss Francis, is doing nicely after an operation for appendicitis in a Birmingham infirmary.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch will be among the visitors to Birmingham for a couple of days.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Reynolds and Hoyt Reynolds from Hardaway are expected to be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

The Friends of Mrs. Leonard Farley will regret to learn that she's on the sick list this week.

The friends of Mrs. Claud Jones will be sorry to learn that she is confined other room this week.

Mr. Wade is planning to move his picture show into the Woodward building next to Littlejohn's Grocery store.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Reynolds are expected to come up for a week-end visit to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynlods.

Miss Willideau Reynolds from Montevallo will be home for the week-end.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins from Montgomery, spent the week-end in Clanton.

Mr. Hugh Foshee spent Staurday in the Capital City.

Mrs. Barney Roberts spent Saturday in Birmingham where she is studying music under Mrs. Edna Gussen.

Mrs. Leonard Kemp and children from West Point, Ga., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kemp.

POOR ORI

Reading Tests Given By Dept. of Education

Clanton, Ala., Jan. 28, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to say a little more relative to the reading tests which were given in the county by a representative of the State Dept. of Education before Christmas, as similar tests are to be given again this Spring and I want the people to become familiar not only with the results of these tests but of their significance.

Taknig the results of these tests for the 6th grade pupils in the different schools it was found that the following percentages in the different type schools were two years or more below the standard for 6th grade pupils:

1-teacher schools	50%
2-teacher schools	40%
3 and 4-teacher schools	30%
Consolidated schools	13%

These percentages show the advantages of consolidated schools; in other words, half of the children in the 1-teacher schools are two or more years behind what they should be, while less than one-eighth of those in consolidated scools are that far behind.

The following will show the percent of children in the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades of different schools which are up to the standard of the grade in which they now are:

1-teacher schools	24%
2-teacher schools	29%
3 and 4-teacher schools	35%
Consolidated schools	45%

It will be seen from the above that only one-fourth of the children in 1-teacher schools are up to the standard while nearly one-half of those in the consolidated schools are up to standard for their respective grades.

These results can be accounted for in two ways; first, in the small schools, as a rule, inefficient teachers are employed. Second, very few of these Districts have a Dist. Tax to enable them to run longer than the county term, therefore, the children are not getting the advantages in these schools which they deserve, nor which those in the larger schools do get.

The day of the one-teacher school is past except in a very few communities where consolidation is not practical and where transportation cannot be furnished. There is no necessity in this county for more than 25 white schools and the sooner the people of the county become convinced of this, the sooner will their children receive the benefits from school that they deserve.

District taxes are also necessary the same as consolidation for it is impossible for a child to learn as much in four or five months as the same child would learn in from six to nine months. The State law requires that with general funds all schools must be run for an equal duration of time; therefore, the only way to prolong the length of the term in any school beyond the conty term is through the levying of District Taxes.

More than one-half of the taxable property of this county is now paying a District Three Mill Tax but the law provides that a District Tax can only be spent in the District which voted it, and therefore, to get the benefit of these taxes over a wide area, it is necessary to group Districts for taxing purposes just as was done last summer when 15 districts in the eastern and northeastern part of the county united for taxing purposes into District "A." This summer the County Board desires to form Tax District "B," which will include the schools in the southeastern part of the county, and it is hoped that many other of the districts not now having district taxes will decide to vote same before the beginning of another school year.

Let me ask you readers to carefully consider the statements above given and then through your influence try to bring about such changes as will insure for your child better advantages than it has enjoyed in the past.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

Child-birth

HOW thousands of women, by the simple method of an eminent physician, have avoided unnecessary miseries through many months and up to the moment Baby has arrived, is fully explained in the remarkable book, "Motherhood and the Baby." Tells also what to do before and after baby comes, probable date of birth, baby rules, etc., and about "Mother's Friend," used by three generations of mothers, and sold in all drug stores everywhere. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally, is safe, free from narcotics, permits easier natural readjustment of muscles and nerves during expectancy and child-birth. Start using it today. Mrs. E. E. Ford more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

739,626

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The poultry business in Etowah county is to be boosted by the establishment of 10 demonstration farms under the supervision of experts from the state department of agriculture. co-operation hog sale was held recently by the Hog Sales Association at the pens in West Troy. Several out-of-town buyers were present and the bidding was good. Three hundred and thirteen hogs were sold and bought $6.50 per cwt

Montgomery water rates will be given a boost of about 50 per cent by the city commission. The present rate is $5 and the new rate will be $4 50. For this rate each consumer is allowed 20,000 gallons of water. The rate for each thousand gallons above 20,000 is 15 cents, and it was understood this rate will be increased to 25 cents under the new program.

No license for any dealer handling food or drinks for human consumption can be issued until a sanitary permit has been obtained from the health department, or an application for such a permit made and an order from the health department recommending the issuance of a license has been obtained, according to C. E. Armstrong, city comptroller of Birmingham.

An additional city carrier has been added to the postoffice force at the Sheffield office, and a new route for free delivery of mail in the city is now being service. The extension of free delivery service was authorized by the postoffice department at the request of Postmaster Fontaine Little, who is enlarging the local postal service in keeping with the growth of the city.

Some very fine pecan trees of the Schley variety, owned by Greensboro citizens, are suffering from a disease which Auburn experts pronounce to be scab. The owner has been advised to cut down the trees, disinfect the land, then plant other varieties than the ones infected, as they are particularly liable to this trouble.

Following a survey of Sand Island at the mouth of Mobile River, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings, of the United States Public Health Service, announced that he will recommend to the present Congress the establishment of a quarantine station here. A bill providing for the station at a cost of $500,000 has been introduced.

After deliberating for abou an hour, the jury trying the case of Robert P. Ferguson, of Jacksonville, former federal prohibition officer, charged with the murder of Chalmer McAlpine during a raid in Cleburne County about two years ago, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Joe Lanza, who killed Herschel Hendon in a fist fight in Florence last October, was taken to the reform school at East Lake, near Birmingham, several days ago. Lanza is an Ensley boy, but was spending some time with his uncle in Sheffield when the trouble occurred.

Opelika has a splendid chance of securing a new half million dollar cotton mill. Certain large textile interests have made a concrete proposition to locate a new mill at Opelika by furnishing $100,000, the people of Opelika to furnish $150,000. Another party will furnish $100,000.

At a meeting of the directory of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Anniston decision was made to lease the old auditorium building at Fourteenth and Wilma avenue and transform it into a community athletic center.

Superintendent Leslie Woodall of the Southern Railway at Sheffield has received orders from the office of the general superintendent to proceed at once with the work on the underpass on the concrete highway between Sheffield and Florence.

A citation has been issued by the public service commission to the Southern Railroad and Northern Alabama Railroad to show cause why they should not establish adequate depot facilities at Parrish.

Forty-five instances of twins and one set of triplets took up their residence in Birmingham during the year 1923, according to the annual report of the city health department.

Hugh Dale has been appointed acting postmaster at Camden. The President nominated Grover C. Warrick to be postmaster at Millry, and L. E. Osborn to be postmaster at Vina.

Dr. F. C. McClosky, chiropractor, of Selma, charged with practicing chiropractic without a license, made bond for $1,000 covering five indictments returned by the grand jury.

Gov. W. W. Brandon has paroled Hubert Montgomery, Morgan county, and J. Y. Thornton, Elmore county, from hard labor sentences imposed for violation of the prohibition law.

The Huntsville city council has passed on its first reading an ordinance providing for the abolition of the offices of city license inspector and water meter reader, positions now held by Walter B. Sanders and James Hutchens.

A special 3-mill school tax was levied for three years in School District No. 41, in Geneva county, which includes the town of Hacoda, at an election held there last week. The proceeds will be used to erect a modern school building to replace the present structure.

SHOULTS NEWS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to let people hear from Shoults. It seems as if Shoults is dead, but we are not. We are all still alive. I haven't seen anything from Shoults in a long time, so we must let you know how we are progressing.

We have very good school, with what don't go to Maplesville with Mrs. A. C. Manness teacher.

Our Sunday school hasn't been doing much for the past but we reorganized Sunday, elected new teachers and I hope we will have better Sunday school now.

Sunday was our regular preaching day. Bro. Edwards delivered an interesting message of love.

Our B. Y. P. U. has gone dead we are very sorry to say, but most all the boys and girls have married or moved away, but we trust that we can soon reorganize and carry on our work as we did. Bro. Edwards asked us Sunday where was the monument to our B. Y. P. U. We truly hope he can't say that any more, so boys and girls, let's all get together when the weather gets warmer and reorganize.

There was a show at the school house Saturday and Monday nights, which was enjoyed by a very large crowd.

Mrs. Carson Sneed of Centerville spent the week-end with parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker.

Mrs. Clyde Bearden of Montgomery has returned home after spending a two weeks visit with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker spent a few days this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker, also with Mrs. Sam Shoults.

Mrs. Durand Stone of Blocton spent this week with parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McAfee.

Mr. Noah Moore and Messrs. Silas and Crit Oden made a business trip to Blocton this week.

Mr. Mack Oden made a business trip to Selma last Tuesday.

Mrs. Brady McAfee spent the week-end with parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Seales.

Misses Allie Walker and Fae McAfee spent Monday night in Maplesville with Misses Willie Lee and Clemie Heagler, and attended the birthday party at Mr. Henry Ratliff's given in honor of his daughter, Maline.

to build a community and what part a Chamber of Commerce should play in this important work. The keynote of Dr. Ezell's address was the prominence in which he placed the cherished old maxim, "Keep on Keeping On." He very truthfully said that this is what the Chamber of Commerce and its every member should make their everlasting motto. Dr. Ezell also stated very forcefully and truthfully that the success of the town depended in a large degree upon the success of the farming interests of Chilton County. Among a number of other noteworthy things Bro. Ezell stated that what Clanton and Chilton County needed was a well experienced and educated farm demonstration agent.

The toastmaster, after pulling off a funny and instructive anecdote, asked Dr. C. C. Wilkerson, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, to speak to the gathernig. One of the most cherished and admirable points brought out by Dr. Wilkerson was the fact of the splendid fellowship and brotherly love that exists between himself and the Baptist minister of Clanton. These two gentlemen, although a little different in religious faith, are big enough and broad enough to hitch themselves up in the same harness and pull with all their strength toward the religious as well as moral and civic advancement of the community. And Clanton is and should be very thankful that he have with us these two thoroughly Christian and energetic ministers of the Gospel of God. We could not possibly have an asset of more value than the one just mentioned. Dr. Wilkerson talked very encouragingly of the posibilities of Clanton and the interest which he has in the advancement of our town and our people.

Col. Middleton, after stating that the heads of the churches of Clanton had been given a place on the program, the next thing of common interest to the citizenship was the city's schools, so Major Stevenson, principal of the county high school and superintendent of the city schools of Clanton, was asked to talk, which the profesor did in a very striking manner. Major Stevens pointed out and very truthfully stated that the future success of the town and county depended more upon the proper trainnig of the minds and characters of our children than upon any other one thing. Although Major Stevens has been in Clanton only a few weeks, yet the people here already have a supreme fondness for him and believe that he is going to manage the educational interests of our city in a way that will be altogether satisfactory from every standpoint. As demonstrated in his splendid talk, Major Stevens is a man of a very broad mind and one who knows his business in the work of education.

Mr. C. Fenn Jones then was called upon to say a word to the meeting and he spoke very feelingly toward what Clanton and Chilton county people had done for him in a business way, and assured us that he was ready and willing to lend his efforts and his all toward building up the town and community which had gone a long ways in making him what he is today. Mr. Jones made a very nice talk indeed.

Mr. W. W. Fox, the original and everlasting booster, was given an opportunity to express his feelings, but Mr. Fox arose and stated that there was other speakers present whom he wanted to hear, so he was not going to take up any of their time. Judge L. H. Reynolds was then called upon, who came forward with a short but impressive speech dealing on the advantages and possible advancement of Clanton and Chilton county. The judge made a splendid speech which everyone enjoyed extremely.

The toastmaster then introduced one of the guests of honor of the occasion, Col. R. A. Mitchell, vice-president of the Alabama Power Company. Col. Mitchell spoke for over half an hour, and every minute of this time was filled very advantageously. This is a man of very broad experience, as would naturally be expected from the connection which he has with Alabama's greatest industrial concern, and the talk which he made was well worth the deep consideration of the business men of Clanton. The Chamber of Commerce was very fortunate indeed to have a man of Mr. Mitchell's broad experience present to speak to the Chamber, and if space would permit we would be glad to publish his entire address. This speech was indeed one of the best we have ever heard and the business advice which he gave will always succeed wherever it is applied.

The next gentleman called upon to speak was not at all a stranger. He was Hon. F. Lloyd Tate, whom the people of this county have known and admired for several years. Col. Tate made a talk that was worth more than we are able to express. He is a very interesting lecturer, and on this occasion he got to his very best. The principal ground of his theme was the natural resources and picturesque beauty of the dear old state of Alabama. The picture of "Here We Rest" as painted by Mr. Tate was simply beautiful to look upon. We would like to say more of Col. Tate's splendid speech but space will not permit.

This being the last speaker, Col. Middleton, in behalf of the entire meeting thanked Mrs. Orr and her daughters for the splendid supper which they had prepared for them. Dr. Wilkerson was asked to dismiss with prayer.

As we said in the outset, this meeting was one which was worth something to the citizens of Clanton. If we would give more of our time and efforts to such things as were brought out in this meeting and do less of back-biting and kicking and knocking out fellowmen, we would get a whole lot more out of life. The spirit manifest in this meeting was worth vastly more than all the harassing and lambasting that we have ever had in Clanton, and what we need to do is to put our efforts and money behind the Chamber of Commerce and make our community grow. Cooperation is the secret of success, and it is hoped that all those present at the meeting Tuesday night and all the rest of the business men of Clanton will get behind this organization and stay behind it, and make Clanton a fit place to live in. There is not a place in the world that has better possibilities than this community, so let us lay down prejudice and malice and take advantage of it while we can. Everybody boost the Chamber of Commerce.

STOP-LOOK-LISTEN DANGER JUST AHEAD

HASTINGS DECLARES PRESENT SOUTHERN FARM TREND DANGEROUS.

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special.)—"Unless the present farm trend toward increased cotton acreage in 1924 is checked within the next two or three months, disaster will stare our farmers in the face next fall," declares H. G. Hastings, leading agricultural authority and Chairman of the Farm and Marketing Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

"On every hand comes reports that the farmers of the South are planning and preparing for a large increase in cotton acreage over the already excessive cotton acreage of 1923, and, with the labor shortage, this inevitably means a decrease in food and grain acreage.

"When will our cotton growing folks learn the lesson that big cotton acreage in a favorable or even near favorable season means more cotton than the world can take care of promptly and a price smash resulting that brings either farm bankruptcy or financial crippling to our people?

"There was enough cotton acreage in 1923 with even fair growing seasons to have made sixteen to eighten million bales and a price of 10 cents, or thereabouts. The only thing that saved us from our own folly in 1923 was Providence stepping in with heat and drought west of the Mississippi River and excessive rain and boll weevil in the Southeast, the two combined cutting the crop to ten million bales.

"Stop—Look—Listen! is a common form of sign at dangerous railroad crossings. The present cotton situation and present abnormal high price ought to be a Stop—Look—Listen sign to every farmer in the South who is even remotely thinking of adding cotton acres and cutting down food and grain acres in 1924.

"It's a 100 to 1 bet that they will lose whichever way things go. If bad seasons and boll weevil don't get them, a price lower than a paying one will. If there was ever a time in the history of the South when the cotton farmer in the South ought to play safe, it is in this year of 1924.

"The South and the individual farmer in the South will never accumulate farm wealth until he quits gambling in cotton, gambling through big acreage plantings at high price periods, and produces, as a steady year in and year out policy, all the food and grain needed for home needs on home acres."

EX-PRES. WILSON PASSED AWAY ON LAST SUNDAY A.M.

Broken in Health Four Years Ago, He Bravely Fought to Regain His Strength.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Former President Woodrow Wilson died at 11:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

The end was peaceful, life ebbed away while he slept.

A tired man, he closed his eyes, and, "sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust," passed on to the great hereafter "like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Dr. Grayson, his friend and physician, announced the end of the great war president in this bulletin:

"Mr. Wilson died at 11:15 o'clock. His heart's action became feebler and feebler, and the heart muscle was so fatigued that it refused to act any longer. The end came peacefully.

"The remote causes of death lie in his ill-health which began more than four years ago, namely: general arterio-sclerosis with haempopligia. The immediate cause of death was exhaustion following a digestive disturbance which began in the early part of last week but did not reach an acute stage until the early morning hours of February 1."

Last Friday the grim reaper had forced his way into the house after waiting on the door-step more than four years. Saturday he had advanced to the landing on the stair case and stood counting off the ticks of the great clock. Saturday night he knocked on the chamber door. A faithful physician and a loyal wife stood with their backs against it. At nine o'clock he rattled the knob and called to the peaceful, prostrate figure on the bed—a great bed, long and wide, a replica of the bed is which Abraham Lincoln slept in the White House, with a golden American eagle and a tiny silk American flag just over the head board.

Although not unexpected, the passing of Woodrow Wilson was a severe shock to the people of this great country. There were people all over the country who differed with Mr. Wilson politically, but everyone will admit that he was a man of lofty ideals and was deeply interested in the welfare of humanity. He was uncompromising in his convictions. When he set his head on a question he stayed with it, no matter how other people saw it. All in all, Woodrow Wilson was really and truly a great and strong man and he gave his life and his all to his country.

Jimmie Taylor, who is attending Draughn's business college in Montgomery was in Clanton Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Taylor. Jimmie says that he is liking his studies well. He is taking a course in bookkeeping.

Mr. Sam Temerson, who for the past year has been running a dry goods store in the Wright building, has moved his stock of goods to Dora, Ala. We regret to see Mr. Temerson leave Clanton since he was a hustling business man and a good citizen.

CONTEST DATE SET FOR MONDAY, FEBRUARY 11

As the arrangement now stands, the actual work in trying the contest case between C. D. Messer and Judge L. H. Reynolds over the election of the probate judge of Chilton County will begin next Monday, February 11th. The lawyers have been busy this week getting everything in readiness for the trial to begin. It is reported that Judge Denson of Opelika will be here to preside over the case. As it now stands, 150 witnesses will be summoned the first day and 75 for each following day. The names which Messer challenged will be examined first and then the ones which Reynolds challenged will be taken up. The trial was first set for the first Monday in January, but at Messer's request was transfered to the first Monday in February. Later it was postponed another week by Messer, the last date being set for February 11th.

BUB HENLEY KILLS SELF WITH 12-GAUGE SHOTGUN

Bub Henley, age about 35 years, took his own life at the home of his mother near Fairview last Thursday morning, shooting himself with a 12-gauge shotgun. It is reported that Henley has always been somewhat demented. He was the son of Mrs. Bettie Henley, widow of the late Andrew Henley. It is reported that Henley got up before a mirror and arranged the gun so that he pulled the trigger with his toe, killing himself instantly.

THESE WARM SUNNY DAYS MAKE US WANT TO FISH

These warm sunshiny spring-like days somehow kindly produce a tickling sensation way down in one's system which can't be scratched with anything except a fish-hook, and which causes one to crave throwing his old cane poll over his shoulder and leisurely parading down to the creek and trying his luck at the art of arts. We don't know what to call it but there is something in almost every man, which after having been repressed by the long bleaky winter months, is kindly thawed up by the warm sunshine and invariably comes to the surface in the form of a desire to go fishing. The nice spring-like days of last week were exactly the kind that bring to life this temporarily dormant sensation.

The first one we have heard of who took this "disease" so acutely that he could not resist it was Uncle Riley Robinson of Providence in Beat 16. One day last week when he had shouldered his old 12-geuge and started out to the woods to see what he had perhaps caught in his traps, without breathing it to anyone, he quietly slipped into his pocket his hook and line. It being yet in January, the old man kindly felt ashamed for anyone to know that he was going fishing, hence he intended to keep it a profound secret. But the results explain the reason the story was let out. When Uncle Riley returned in the afternoon he had on his string two nice 3-pound willow cats. So, after he had some "luck" he told his folks all about it. If he had not caught anything it was his intention to let no one know that he had done such a thing as go fishing in January. Uncle Riley is a good old man, and the way he loves to fish is simply awful. No doubt you will agree when you read this.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEING MADE IN THIS CITY AT THIS TIME

No matter what else happens, Clanton continues to progress toward the goal of a real city. There is now well under way the paving of all the side walks along Seventh street between Maddox's warehouse and the postoffice. Other side walks in different sections of the city will be paved as soon as this is completed. Whenever the state highway extends its course through here, this will begin to look like a real business place.

Right at this time there are several new residences going up in the Gowan Addition and some in other sections as well. We understand that work will begin soon on two new brick store houses just west of Bill Sartor's place of business. Messrs. J. Q. Wade, the ice plant man and J. C. Jones of the Clanton Mercantile Co. are each going to put up a building on this lot. This is an improvement which will be welcome by everyone, since this big vacant lot right in the middle of the business section has always detracted greatly from the general appearance of the town.

But what we need most right now is some big manufacturing concern. To make it more definite, Clanton needs a cotton mill. The Chamber of Commerce has launched out upon a campaign whereby they wish to land a concern of this kind in Clanton, and here's hoping tat they succeed in the undertaking. There is not a better place in the world for a cotton mill than in Clanton, and we can't understand why one can't be located here. All it will take is co-operation among the business men of the town. Nothing more than this is needed and nothing less will ever do the stunt.

In our fight for locating industries here, let us not overlook the importance of draining off these swamps around Clanton. We are afraid that no concern of any value will ever locate here until this is done. So, let those in charge of the dranaige papers keep continually at work on this business and not let the project suffer for lack of being pushed. These swamps will have to be drained before Clanton builds up very much more. This is a settled fact.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL HAVE MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

Victor J. Heard, Secretary of the Clanton Chamber of Commerce, has issued a call to all the members of the Clanton Chamber of Commerce to meet at the court house in Clanton at 7:45 p.m., Friday, February 8th. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers for the ensuing year and to attend to any other business which may come before the body. All the members and ex-members of the organization are urged to be present at htis meeting. The Chamber of Commerce is a useful thing and all the citizens of the community should push it.

AN EXCLUSIVE MUSIC STORE IN CLANTON

Mr. G. C. Weldon, proprietor of the Weldon Drug and Music Company, has rented the Wright building, formerly occupied by Temerson, and will put up an exclusive music store in that place. Nothing will be handled there except pianos, talking machines and all other Rinds of musical instruments. Clanton should be proud of having a business of this kind.

MIMS—WATTS WEDDDING

On last Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at his home in Clanton Uncle Dock Wells performed the ceremony which united in marriage Mr. David Samuel Mims and Miss Etta Watts. Both these young people are well known in Clanton and that they may enjoy a long and happy life is the desire of their many friends.

Shortly after their marriage the happy couple left by automobile for Selma, where they remained for a few days. They have already returned to Clanton where they intend to make their future home.

Dave is the son of Aunt Matt Mims of Clanton and his young bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. Watts Campbell also of this place.

THE WAY TO GET A COTTON MILL HERE IS TO GO AFTER IT

For several years it has been a foregone conclusion that what Clanton needs most is a cotton mill. There is scarcely a person here who does not admit this fact. We all want a cotton mill located here, and we are all in hopes that some how, some time, in some way, somebody will come here and build us one. Yes, we suppose this kind of thing will happen about one time out of a million, but if we expect to get a cotton mill for Clanton, the citizens of the town have simply got to get together and in an organized effort go out after it. No one is going to invest his money here unsolicited for the simple reason that other towns are after the capitalists on every side. And it is simple enough to see that the moneyed men are going to locate their industries where they are welcome and wanted. Read below what the Montgomery Journal has to say about the way they do things in Andalusia:

"Citizens of Andalusia realized not long ago that their town was an excellent place for a cotton mill. Perhaps the reports that New England mills were turning toward the South for locations had something to do with this realization. Perhaps the mind of some citizen of Andalusia was so active as to outline the possibilities of Andalusia as a cotton manufacturing town.

"Anyway Andalusia developed the ambition to have a cotton mill within her borders. There were two methods of obtaining the mill. One was through a convincing appeal to a plant located in another section. The other was through the organization of a home company. Andalusia didn't adopt the former one, which was of doubtful value. She chose the latter. A committee started a campaign for subscriptions totaling a half million dollars. Most of this amount has been subscribed.

"Now a leading citizen comes forward with the announcement that if Andalusia citizens will provide the funds for one cotton mill he will construct another. Thus the Andalusia way of going after what she wants will bring in twice as much as she expected. It's a better and surer method than hoping that somebody will discover the town's advantages."

Now, why on earth can't Clanton do the same? We co-operated and built a county high school; we co-operated and built a hospital which is indeed a credit to our town. We can build a cotton mill by concerted effort of our citizenship. When the agitation was raised last year, we understand that one of our progressive local citizens agreed to put up as much money as the rest of the people would put up toward building a cotton mill. Somebody made that proposition to Andalusia and they took him up. Clanton can do the same thing if we will only spend more of our time and money in boosting and building and less in knocking and tearing down. We can build a cotton mill if we want to. The only question is, do we want one?

At 12 o'clock we adjourned for lunch. The ladies of Jemison served a bountiful lunch.

At 1 o'clock the meeting opened with devotional by Mrs. Connatser.

Thorsby won the banner on attendance and mileage.

Very good talks were given by Revs. Lawrence and Whorton on the subject: "What Magazines are on your library table."

Miss Mickle gave a talk on the Convention at Bessemer.

As the Young Peoples leader' was absent Rev. Whorton and Mrs. Broadhead took charge of the young people.

Every member went home resolved to do more for the 75 Million after having heard the excellent sermon from Rev. Whorton before the noon hour.

Adjourned with prayer by Rev. Lawrence.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley, Supt.
Mrs. O. H. Garrick, Sec. pro-tem.

Mr. Oscar Bean, who is working for the Alabama Power company at Cherokee Bluffs, was in Clanton the first of this week.

JUDGE REYNOLDS WRITES REGARDING THE CONTEST

Editor Union-Banner:

The contest is set for trial next Monday, February 11th, and as far as I know now, it will be tried on this date. The Union-Banner published in its issue of January 31st a list of names challenged by Mr. Messer. Practically all of these people have responded by coming to the probate office and having their records cleared, and those who have not will please bring their poll tax receipts and registration certificates to me at once.

I am writing some of you a letter and as soon as you receive it please bring the information asked to me at once, but if you cannot possibly come, please answer the questions and mail to me at once in the self-addressed envelope which I enclose.

I must make mention of the way our people have assisted me in the contest, and express by appreciation for your support.

With sincerest gratitude for my voters and supporters, I am,

Very Sincerely,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

MISS STALLWORTH SPEAKS AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Miss Stallworth, State Secretary of the Womans Misionary Union, delivered an address in the interest of the W. M. U. at the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday night. The pastor, Rev. Exell, did not preach but gave his time to this State worker. Miss Stallworth was greeted with a nice audience and delivered an address which was enjoyed by all present.

WIND STORM AT JEMISON

While the wind was blowing Monday night about 7 o'clock it got so strong in Jemison that it took the roof off of Mr. Wilson Sorrell's barn. So far as we could ascertain no injury was done to any person or any cattle or horses.

MR. A. J. EASTERLING WRITES BACK HOME FROM TEXAS

La Feria, Texas, Jan. 26, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please let me have a few lines in your good paper to say a few words to my old friends in Chilton County. Our folks are all well out here, but the weather is a little unfavorable, is cold and raining some. The weather has been rather cold most ever since we have been here, but we have not had any ice and not much rain.

The truck grovers are now getting a good price for their produce, cabbage selling for $45.00 a ton. This is a fine country. We now have fresh tomatoes, cabbage, onions, turnips, beets, green pepper, right from the garden. The people down here are very busy now gathering their winter truck, turning land for cotton and clearing land for first crop. There are oranges, grape fruit, lemons, on the trees now. We have just had some lemonade made of fresh lemons.

The land here is very rich and the climate is very fine. Almost anything that will grow anywhere will grow here in the Rio Grande Valley. We all like our location out here fine so far.

Well, I will close for this time and probably write some more later to let the people back home know how we are getting on.

A. J. EASTERLING.

DR. CRUMPTON IS NOW ON JOB OF THE ANTI-LEAGUE

Withdraws His Resignation As President of Anti-Saloon League of Alabama.

Withdrawal of the recent resignation of Dr. W. B. Crumpton, of Montgomery, as president of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, upon assurance that members of the headquarters committee favor his continuance in office, was announced Saturday by J. Bibb Mills, state superintendent, from headquarters.

A formal statement issued by Mr. Mills declared that, "Dr. Crumpton, after conferring with members of the headquarters committee, and being assured that it is the sincere wish of the league committee for him to continue as president of the league, has authorized me to withdraw his resignation.

"His fellow officers and the committee will do whatever is necessary to relieve him of all responsibility and worry until such a time as his health will permit of his usual activity in the league's affairs."

Dr. Crumpton's tendered resignation came after the headquarter's committee had declared against Senator Underwood as Alabama's choice for the presidency, the senator's candidacy having been endorsed by Dr. Crumpton upon assurance that Underwood favored enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

RAT-KILLING CONTEST TO BE PUT ON IN CLANTON

The ladies of the Civic Improvement Club of Clanton have announced a rat-killing contest to begin here on February 15th. Prizes will be offered to those killing the most rats, the first prize, a fine baseball glove, being offered by the Chamber of Commerce. Rats are a recognized nuisance, and every means should be utilized to diminish them. This will be sport to the boys as well as the means of winning a prize. We understand that Mrs. J. P. Hayes has charge of the program, so anyone wishing the particulars of the contest may apply to her.

SELLS DRAY BUSINESS

Mr. Willie Jones, who has heretofore been half owner of the City Transfer company has sold his interest to Mr. J. W. Franklin. Mr. Franklin was already half owner of the business and his recent acquisition of the other half makes him sole owner of the business. Mr. Jones has taken the job as local manager for the Coca-Cola Bottling company, and will deliver this well known soft drink to all the near-by towns of this section.

UNITED FARMERS OF AMERICA

All paid-up members of the U. F. of A. in Chilton County are requested to meet at the court house Saturday, February 9th for the purpose of electing the county officers for 1924.

Applicants for County Business Agent should have their applications in my hands not later than the above date.

A. B. BAXLEY,
State Manager.

OAK GROVE

Dear Editor:

As we haven't seen any news from this place in quite a while, have decided to let you know that we are still alive.

Everybody is rejoicing over the beautiful weather that we are having. Seems as though spring has come once more.

Miss Roberta Martin had pneumonia last week but we are glad to say that she is some better now.

Our Sunday School is doing nicely. We had a large attendance Sunday and a fine lesson.

Our United Singing Society met Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. Directors for the afternoon were Messrs W. J. Northcutt, Lassie Northcutt, G. Dooley, E. H. Foshee, S. R. Cobb, Mabeth Northcutt, Lorene Matthews; Duet by E. H. Foshee and W. J. Northcutt; recess 10 minutes. Then the president called the crowd back by singing one song. Then a duet was rendered by Messrs. Berl Martin, Bill Cofer, Jack Cobb; duet by Misses Lesta Cobb and Ollie Glass. Organists were Misses Flossie Cobb, Esther Atkinson, Lesta Cobb.

We especially invite everybody to come out and be with us every first and third Sunday afternoons. Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching days

BETHSALEM

Health of this community is very good at present except bad colds, but maybe they will soon get better.

Sunday was our regular singing evening, but there was not very many visitors because the weather was so cold.

The singing at Mr. and Mrs. Milton Moore's Saturday night was enjoyed by quite a number, and everybody seemed to have a grand time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Askins of this place visited Prattville this week.

We are all very sorry to say that Miss Mattie and Mollie Dennis' school will be out Wednesday afternoon. We hate to see her leave as she will be missed so much.

Miss Dollie Pierce was the guest of Miss Mary Hill Friday night.

Mr. C. L. Wilkins and daughter, Mable, and the Misses Dennis motored to Clanton Saturday p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mims of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Saturday night.

Miss Alta Belle Vinson spent Sunday with her friend, Dollie Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Askins of Billingsley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Vinson Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Jessie Mae Pierce spent Friday night with Miss Mae Bowles.

Mr. Wash Bowles and family spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Green.

Miss Mae Bowles spent Saturday night with Miss Dollie Pierce.

Mr. Lee Roye Jones and Miss Estella Froday were happily married Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and we wish them a long happy life.

Miss Mable Wilkins was the guest of Miss Agnes Askins Monday night.

Mr. C. C. Vnison and family motored to Clanton Monday.

Mr. C. L. Wilkins and family spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mims.

Misses Myrtle and Mae Bowles and Gertrude Friday, Mary Hill and Mr. and Mrs. William Owens were the guests of Misses Dollie and Jessie Mae Pierce last Sunday afternoon and reported a nice time.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day, and everybody is invited to attend services.

Mr. T. G. Cofer of Jemison, Route 3, was in Clanton a while Tuesday morning.

MR. J. N. SCOTT REPLIES TO MR. C. T. WALKER

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me space for one more dose of my ignorance drops for Mr. C. T. Walker. It is a custom where a man opens up a subject, he is allowed the closing remarks if he so desires. Any way, I want to get Mr. Walker to understand my position on this question of road building if posible. I stated that it took labor to build roads and not money. I have graded and built lots of new rail roads, but it takes labor to do it, not money, and if I had to build a road from Mars Hill to Jemison, and all the men that live along the road were due me 10 days labor, do you think I would let them off for $5.00 and risk getting other men for 50 cents a day. I would say no. I want your 10 days, and I would see that they put it in.

Now, Mr. Walker, I see in your report where there has been a good deal of graveling done along on the roads somewhere. Was it done by machinery or labor? Let it be gathered up as it may, that is what it is going to take to build roads up here on these muddy hills and hollows is gravel and plenty of it to stand the traffic. Mr. Walker, I admit that the machine is good to scrape up the roads where they are sandy or gravely, but when you scape over these muddy hills and carry the mud up into the road you are wasting time that way. Of course, Mr. Walker I did not recommend building roads out of my ignorance drops, but do believe that if they are taken and used as directed with the other articles added as mentioned such as flat rock and gravel and some labor, there can be some good substantial roads built. I know of some places of road built 10 years ago by these directions and they are still standing up.

Mr. Walker, I fail to see how your conscience, doctor and money will ever build roads without labor. You stated in your last letter that you all had rather have the men's $5.50 than even have their 10 days. I see now, it is the money you are after, but I want to say that if you had all the money in Alabama and place it out on the hill at Mr. Childress's it would not keep the trucks and wagons from sticking after a rain. Of course, Mr. Walker, the hands rather work seven days than ten days, and the most of the boys up in here say that they are going to work their time rather than pay the $5.50. I admire that spirit of the boys, for then they will know where their labor went, and as for their $5.50, of course, 50c from each writing up the receipts, and as to where the $5.00 goes, we don't know but guess it will go on the Coosa River Road. If not it will take God to tell unless it is kept up with better than before.

Now, Mr. Walker, you never did explain how you were going to do more work on the roads with $5.00 or 7 days than with 10 days unless you think by stopping the hands from smoking cigaretts and telling yarns out on the roads and have them put in honest work. Well, about the truck tax, I agree with you, when a man pays $24.50 for his tag and 2c a gallon extra for gas, I think that enough for him to pay out as road tax. The man with a wagon is not compelled by the law of the state or county to purchase tags, neither do they use gas, so they are road free. Well, if the Chilton County News is correct as to the amount of road tax being paid in I can't see why we should not get a little gravel and scraping done up here on our roads. Mr. Walker, you stated that you did not know just how much tax I paid but that I reminded you of a man you heard of who was kicking about high taxes and when you investigated a little you found that he did not pay a poll tax and had a bunch of children. A very good companion, Mr. Walker, except the bunch of children. I have none at home, but I haven't paid a poll tax in about 15 years, but if you will go to Clanton and examine all the records you will find where I paid last month $105.50 taxes. Why not be a kicker; and you all are yet wanting $11.25. You fellows must take a man to be a millionaire when he owns a little gasoline saw mill and a Ford truck. We need several thousand more kickers in Alabama about high taxes.

Well, Mr. Walker, I certainly appreciate your invitation to me to come over and especially the dinner part, and I am sure you could show me a good deal of mud and leaves raked up into the roads, if you have been using the machine. But you said that on account of the old hand working system the roads were bad and I had better not try to come in my car. So I took that as good advice, for if you had been using the machine like it had been on the highway I knew the roads out there must be rough and unless you met me with a buggy or a Ford car we could not make the trip. I went down the highway to Clanton a few weeks ago and right where they scraped over it one or two trips a week I was bogged down almost to the axle a lot of the time, and a way down just this side of old Uncle Gantt Riggins' place I ran into a hole in the middle of the highway and broke my front spring, which cost me $3.75 to get replaced.

In conclusion I want to say that there is no harm attached to these ignorance drops. They stand for the old law 10 days a year for all road hands, and have a man to see that it is actually put in on the roads. Have all the trucks and 2-horse wagons put in 5 days a year, a man with a 1-horse wagon 5 days a year, the same man to see that it is worked. They stand for a new system of work in place of putting in pine tops and mud in boggy places. Have the men with teams to haul in rock and gravel, then have the machine come along and scrape over the road at least once a year in order to clean out the ditches where it is not muddy. Where there is muddy cuts or other places have the mud in the ditches thrown out instead of raked up in the road.

Mr. Walker, I want to say that I have spent the past 5 years in a county that knows how to build roads and they have got good roads, and they don't have to stop and throw off the load on their wagons or their trucks after a 20-minute rain. Mr. Walker, I should like to come after that dinner but I had better put it off till summer time.

Yours for good roads,
J. N. SCOTT.

YOUR Fertilizer Dollar —is ALL of it working?

IT ISN'T the fertilizer you put into the soil that counts, but the Plant Food that actually gets to the PLANT in the right form and at the right time. To make every ounce of fertilizer work for you the goods must be—

1. Correct in formula
2. Complete in availability
3. Chemically blended
4. Thoroughly cured
5. Perfect in mechanical condition
6. Suitable for your crop, soil and climate

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers meet all of these requirements. They are made by men whose manufacturing methods and knowledge of plant foods and crop requirements are based on the experience of recognized leaders in the fertilizer industry.

A Road from Alaska to Peru ~

Few people realize the size of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad System, and the extent to which its tracks cover and serve the heart of the Southland.

The L. & N. operates 5,040 miles of road, to which should be added 2,690 miles of double and switching tracks, making a total of 7,730 miles in all.

If all of the tracks operated by the L. & N. were placed in a continuous line, they would form a road stretching from Alaska, to Peru in South America; or, they would lay a double track from Boston to San Francisco, with some to spare.

The L. & N. enters thirteen states; connects more than a dozen large cities and serves a vast urban and rural population.

The L. & N. System is one of the vital links of the great chain of railroad transportation in this country; and it renders to the people living within its territory a freight and passenger service unsurpassed.

Look at the map. See how well the L. & N. tracks blanket the territory from the Ohio to the Gulf—uniting and serving the many important communities located therein.

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work, just couldn't go. I used and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. . . We tried all week to help her, . . . but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest. She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved and in a week she was up."

Try Black-Draught. It costs only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere.

Why Are Drugs Standardized?

They are standardized in order to bring about uniform therapeutic efficiency to the patient whenever required. This efficiency is most needed in the sick room—not merely in the laboratory.

What is true of drugs must be true of foods. Purity and efficiency in the can is only part of the problem—purity and efficiency in the kitchen is the true test.

The law requires that baking power contain 12% leavening gas at the time of sale to the consumer. This measure insures uniform leavening efficiency and protects the health of the public.

In order to comply with this fixed standard for baking powder, manufacturers must produce and pack their product so as to avoid the deterioration which may result from absorption of atmospheric moisture.

Baking Powder manufacturers to avoid violation of the law, also spend thousands of dollars yearly in testing grocers' stocks and removing "spent" goods from his shelves, in spite of the fact that every possible precaution had previously been taken against deterioration.

With the exception of Texas, the pure food laws are not applied to baking powder mixed with flour at the mill and sold in bags as "Self Rising Flour." There is no penalty on the manufacturers if this fails to "self rise"—the consumer is the "goat"—he is the one that pays the penalty through indigestion and ill health that comes from eating bakings that are not properly raised. The standardization of baking powder is a protection to both the consumer and the manufacturer—who welcomes such laws and co-operates in every way possible. But!

Not so with the self rising flour manufacturer—he resents such laws and fights such legislation. Why? Because a standardization of self rising flour would require moisture-proof containers instead of cheap sacks—because low grade "clears" could no longer be sold as "fancy patent flour." It would also mean he must maintain expert chemical control such as is now maintained by baking powder manufacturers.

Calumet Baking Powder contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the U.S. Food Authorities.

Study Club Meets

The members of the Study Club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Grover Harris at her attractive home in South Clanton on last Friday afternoon.

The living room and reception hall were made very attractive with vases of pink and white carnations and daffodils. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, the vice-president, Mrs. Grady Broadhead presided. Mrs. Jno. VanDerveer was parlimentarian. After a lengthy business session a very interesting program followed: "A Liberal Education, Anthony Hope," by Mrs. Hugh Jones. "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," Bret Harte, by Mrs. Macy Jones. "A Coward," Guy DeMaupassant, by Mrs. McDonald. Discussion by Club.

The Club feels very proud of the 1924 Year Book. The short-story programs found instant favor.

In the conclusion a very tempting plate consisting of salad in heart-shaped rosetts, sandwiches and coffee with miniature hearts and dainty valentines on each plate was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Earl Gowan and little Elizabeth Harris.

Dr. and Mrs. Hinkle Entertain

Dr. and Mrs. P. T. Hinkle delightfully entertained the Gun Club and a few invited friends at a Stag Dinner last Wednesday. Sports of all knids were thoroughly enjoyed, and at the noon hour a lovely four-course dinner was served. The table was centered with a beautiful basket of fruit. Dr. Ezell, in his most pleasing manner, presented to Mrs. Hinkle in behalf of the gun club a lovely Bible and to the Doctor a French harp, toy pistol and a box of ammunition which caused much laughter. Place cards marked the places of the following: Drs. Gragg, Hayes, Upchurch, Wilkerson, Ezell, Messrs. White, Pipes, Sartor, McDavid, Calloway, J. C. Jones, Page, J.R. Mullins, C.F. Jones, J. B. Atkinson, Messrs. Louis, Means and Stewart of Birmingham and F. W. Thomas of Talladega.

Mrs. Hinkle Entertains

The "Oaks" the lovely home of Mrs. P. T. Hinkle, was thrown open last Thursday to the officers of Julia Beauchamp Chapter 271 O. E. S. A lovely spend-the-day was enjoyed and plans were discussed for another year's work. A beautiful basket of fruit adorned the center of the table and at the noon hour a lovely plate luncheon was served to the following: Mr. Omar Reynolds, Mesdames Gragg, Higgins, Hayes, Harris, Pipes, Plier, Downs, Lande, Williams, White and Miss Dollie Harris.

Mrs. Polk Hostess.

A lovely affair of last Wednesday was a spend-the-day enjoyed by the members of the Sewing Club at the home of Mrs. Geo. Polk. Fragrant narcissus was an added interior attraction. A basket of spring blossoms centered the dining table and a delightful four-course dinner was served. Covers were laid for Mesdames Barney Roberts, Ervin Luckie, Marion Gore, Chas. Wilkerson, Meyers Arant, Watts Moore, Clyde Jones, and the hostess.

Joint Hostesses to Bridge Party.

Mrs. John Page and Mrs. Guy Roberts were joint hostesses to a number of their friends with a very beautiful Bridge Party on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Page. The color note of pink and white was prettily carried out in the confections and decorations. The rooms were fragrant with spring blossoms and vases of carnations. Tapers burned in silver candlesticks. Mrs. John Van Derveer won the prize for top score and was given a box of dainty handmade kerchiefs, while Mrs. Gerald ut the consolate, a deck of congress cards. A tempting luncheon plate with hot coffee was served at the conclusion of the game. Included in this courtesy were Mesdames Hance Alred, Frank Callen, Hugh Simpson, Napoleon Johnson, Arthur Johnson, T. C. McSwain, Eric Hart, Hosea F. Downs, Carrie Mullins, McDonald, V. J. Heard, Grady Reynolds, Harvey Chandler, Percy Pitts, Guy Higgins, Hugh Jones, Earl Gowan, John Browder, Misses Louise and Madelyn Orr, Bettie Mullins and Kathleen Mullins.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

We are sorry to report that Maplesville has a supply of mumps and measles. Miss Mary Brooks and Mr. Archie Harris have mumps.

—The family of Mr. F. H. Brown has three cases of measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oden have moved to Shoults community. We are very sorry to see them leave.

There was an interesting basket ball game played here Friday p.m. by Stanton and Maplesville boys. We are very glad to say that our boys won the game, the score benig 9 to 2. The Stanton boys played very good ball, but the Maplesville boys were too swift for them. We are going to play them again soon.

We have a very good Sunday School now. All the classes reorganized Sunday and we are hoping to carry on better work now.

Mr. Donald Merchant of Centerville was in town Friday p.m. We were very glad to see our old friends come back to town some times.

Mrs. Clint McGee has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mood McGee of Shoults. They returned home Saturday afternoon.

MR. BEN DENNIS DEAD

Mr. Ben Dennis of Bethel community died at his home last Saturday. Mr. Dennis was 73 years old and was the father of nine children, six sons and three daughters. The sons are: J. E. Dennis, Dock Dennis and Horace Dennis of Maplesville; C. C. Dennis of Autauga county; B. D. Dennis and Levi Dennis of Bethel community. The daughters are: Mrs. J. A. Dykes, Mrs. Perry Mims and Mrs. Frank Mims of near Clanton.

Mr. Dennis had been married twice, his first wife being Malissa Foshee, sister to Joe and Bazz Foshee, and his second wife was Mary Wilson, sister to Mr. Pate Wilson of Clanton. His second wife is still living. The younger three sons were children of his second wife.

Mr. Dennis was for several years a faithful member of the Primitive Baptist church. The remains were buried at Bethel church last Sunday.

After a few days visit to her parents, Mrs. Leonard Kemp and children have returned to their home in Newman, Ga.

Mr. McAdoo should not come in contact with much friction in his race for president of the United States, since his campaign now seems to carry along with it quite an abundant supply of "oil." It has just transpired that he is very intimately connected with the Teapot Dome oil scandal which was fostered by Messrs. Fall and Doheny.

APPOSITE MEDICINE FOR PEOPLE OF CLANTON

"Nothing worth while has ever been done that was not the result of co-operation." These words were spoken by Rev. S. J. Ezell in his sermon at the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday and this idea was the general substance of his entire address. This sermon was a very apt one from the three standpoints of "who," "when" and "where?"

What we mean by "who" is the people of Clanton. The people here have always had the tendency of being divided and pulling against each other. Of course we have accomplished a great deal, and as Rev. Ezell said, what we have accomplished has been a result of co-operaton. But what else do you suppose we might have done had all the dissension and division of the past been converted into co-operation and unity? Had all our people worked together in co-operation toward some good end as hard as they have in knocking and pulling against each other, Clanton today would make Birmingham ashamed of herself.

What we mean by "when" is that Rev. Ezell selected a time in which medicine of this kind was never more badly needed. Although Bro. Ezell did not enter into politics at all, neither did he express any inclination toward any party or any faction, yet he made it very plain that the idea of co-operation should be applied to politics and government as well as to any other phase of life.

What we mean by "where" is that Clanton is a place where the ideas of this wonderful sermon should be really and fully taken to heart. Clanton is a fine place to live in, and we never expect to live anywhere else, but what a much better town we would have if the idea of co-operation predominated every life here. If everybody would work together, there is scarcely anything within reason that we could not accomplish. It was united effort among the Baptists of Clanton that built our magnificent Baptist church building. It was united effort among the Methodists of Clanton that built our magnificent Methodist church, and it was co-operation that accomplished everything that has been done here in the past. What has been done was done in spite of the dissension and opposition, a great amount of which is always present in any undertaking.

So, we say again, that what Clanton needs most at this time is the spirit of co-operation ebmedded deep in the hearts of every individual citizen. We will always have different views religiously and politically, but these differences should not be allowed to affect us when it comes to the common welfare of us all. There are things that affect us all alike, no matter what our politics and religions are, and in such matter it behooves us all to stand together and use our every effort to push our town and county on up the road of progress.

REPUBLICANS SCORED FOR AIDING MR. L. B. MUSGROVE

The Birmingham News last Monday evennig carried a long editorial charging the Republican newspapers of Alabama with giving aid to Mr. L. B. Musgrove in his campaign against Senator Underwood in Alabama for the presidency. The News says that Mr. Musgrove finds in The Foley Onlooker, The Clanton Union-Banner, The Fort Payne Republican and The Collinsville Courier a "willing aid in spreading his defamation of Senator Underwood." Regarding The Union-Banner and The DeKalb Republican The News has this to say:

> The Clanton Union-Banner is one of the backbones of the Republican party in Alabama. The brother of T. E. Wyatt, the publisher, was one of the three Republican members of the Legislature. This paper is also vigorously joining in the yelping and yipping at the heels of Senator Underwood.
> The Fort Payne Republican, established by the Republican Campaign Committee, so reports go, to help build up the party in that section, and edited by W. M. Wyatt, the aforesaid Republican member of the Legislature, is also dipping its oar, aiding Mr. Musgrove in trying to damage the Democratic Senator and aspirant.

The way that the Democratic ring of Alabama resents being opposed in its schemes either by Republicans or by reactionary members of its own party is very noticeable. They feel that it is the solemn duty of everybody in the State to sit still while they prescribe the medicine and measure up the dose and without a word of opposition take the bitter cup and swig down the dregs just as tho it were cordial. Most of the Democrats, even though they are bitterly opposed to the Underwood tactics, take the medicine with little murmuring, but the Republicans are free from the clutches of their mechanical talens, so we can be for whom we wish. There are numbers of Democrats who would express themselves jost as the Republicans do regarding Underwood and Musgrove if they only had their way about it.

The News goes on to say: "Is it not the acme of impudence that these Republicans should be interfering in a Democratic contest?" They follow up this statement by saying:

> The Democrats do not interfere in the Republican party contests in this State, and the thousands of Democrats of Alabama who have not become so blinded by hate that they will accept any alliance in the effort to injure, deeply resent this unwarranted intrusion.

If The Birmingham News is sincere in the statements made in the above paragraph, they surely have not been keeping up with politics in Chilton County very closely for the past few years. If they had noticed how The Chilton County News furnished space to some of our side-tracked Republicans in the last campaign, they would see that the above statement does not hold good all over the State.

The trouble is simply this: The News thinks that what the political oracle of Alabama issues forth should be considered law and gospel by both Democrats and Republicans and that we should not open our mouth in opposition to any of its rulings. But this kind of politicking is fast running out of existence in Alabama and everywhere else. Folks have a right to speak and they are going to use that right regardless of political machines.

In His Memory—A Lasting Friendship

COFFEE GOING UP

The price of coffee is due for a rise. Lest Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, should rush into print and blame this to the traiff, let us spare him embarrassment by stating that coffee is on the free list. The reason for rise in price is scarcity of coffee. Brazil has a large crop, but not of the kind which finds favor with American consumers, who purchase Santos, and, due to rains, the Santos 1924-5 crop has suffered a 40 per cent shrinkage. The old law of supply and demand is about to get in its work. When there was plenty of Santos coffee, the price remained at a reasonable figure, though somewhat inflated because of the Brazilian policy of valorization. When we have plenty of wheat for domestic consumption, the price likewise falls. Last year we raised wheat on a war basis, and because the wheat fields of Europe approached normal production we found ourselves with a large surplus. Down went wheat. The boards of trade knew the situation before the farmers did. Natural law was in operation. The tariff had no more effect on wheat prices than it did on coffee, except that had the Republican law not put a protective duty on wheat the Canadian wheat would have had a tendency still further to depress our market. Federal aid in keeping up wheat prices will get us nowhere. Co-operation among wheatgrowers and careful recording of conditions followed by wise crop diversification present a sane program to follow.

THE MOVEMENT OF TODAY

Senator Lodge.—"The ultimate result which will come if we continue along the path we are now treading, and which is peculiar in our system of government, is the destruction of the States or their reduction to a condition of inanition through the absorption of Government functions by the central Government at Washington. This movement is proceeding with great rapidity and it is well to remember that the State Governments embody the principle of local self-government which has always been justly regarded as one of the corner stones of the Republic. . . .

Our forefathers founded a limited Government. Thee movement of today and the various measures of a socialistic kind extending governmental activities are breaking down those constitutional limitations and are intended to do so. It is well for us to stop and consider whether it is wise to destroy the Government which Washington founded and which Lincoln saved."

WHERE ARE THE SWINE?

Democoratic abhorrence of great riches and extravagance has become a byword—politically and during campaigns. But when the Democrats are in power they run the nation into debt to an extent which requires a coming generation to pay out. Democratic attacks on the rich, the campaigns of industry, swollen fortunes, large incomes, etc., are notorious. What a shock it is to be informed, then, that the purchaser of the black pearls of the late Czarina of Russia is none other than Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, wife of Senator Peter G. Gerry, Democratic Senator from the State of Rhode Island. The price paid for these pearls was $400,000. The pearls have been strung and will adorn the fair neck of Mrs. Gerry—a comfortable fortune in small compass flaunted in the faces of the "poor people" for whose welfare the Democratic party professes such deep and tender solicitude. Isn't it touching?

Muscle Shoals Proposal

From statement submitted to House Military Affairs Committee, January 25, 1924, by Mr. E. A. Yates, vice-president, Alabama Power Co., in behalf of the joint offer by Southern Public Utility Power Companies and Associates for leasing the Muscle Shoals power project.

Compared With Offer By Mr. Henry Ford With Respect to Fertilizer Manufacture

Public Utility Power Companies' Offer	Ford Offer
Product 50,000 tons annually fixed nitrogen in form of fertilizers.	Product 40,000 tons annually fixed nitrogen in form of fertilizers.
Process Will use the synthetic ammonia process, which produces much cheaper than any other process known today.	Process No committal to use a commercial process. Agrees to operate Plant No. 2. This is the cyamid process, which is a rather high cost method of fixing nitrogen.
Cost of Product Cost of fixed nitrogen per pound is half that provided for Ford offer. Hence cost of fertilizer to the farmer is cheaper than under the Ford offer.	Cost of Product Cost of fixed nitrogen per pound is twice that provided for in the Power Company offer. Hence Ford's fertilizer will cost the farmer more than that made by the Power Company.
Power for Fertilizer 100,000 H.P. at cost. 40,000 extra at price set by Federal Power Commission.	Power of Fertilizer No specific amount, or cost of power, for such fertilizer is provided, "using the most economical source of power available." The power could cost any amount desired up to the price at which someone else would furnish it.
Nitrogen Fixation Capacity Provided in Case of War 90,000 tons of fixed nitrogen per year, this being the 50,000 tons in new plants, plus 40,000 tons in plant No. 2.	Nitrogen Fixation Capacity Provided in Case of War 40,000 tons fixed nitrogen per year, this being the 40,000 tons at Plant No. 2.
Disposition of Nitrogen Plants Will maintain Nitrogen Plant No. 2 ready for operation and will build with Nitrate Plant No. 1 as a nucleus 50,000 tons of nitrogen annual capacity.	Disposition of Nitrogen Plants Will operate Nitrogen Plant No. 2 and aparently expects to scrap Nitrogen Plant No. 1.
Remedy in Case of Breach of Contract In case of violation of terms of the contract, Nitrogen Plant No. 2 is maintained in state ready for operation and Nitrate Plant No. 1 can be recaptured in better state for operation than at present.	Remedy in Case of Breach of Contract In case of violation of the terms of the contract, both Nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2 having been sold outright probably could not be recaptured, but only the power phases of the contract could be cancelled.
Profits Allowed Company Will sell to consumers at cost plus eight per cent.	Profits Allowed Company Will sell to consumers at cost plus eight per cent.

AND: A comparison of the Power Companies' offer, versus the Ford offer, on the basis of the power only, shows that the Power Companies' payments on the basis of a hundred years would exceed Mr. Ford's payments by $80,000,000 to $90,000,000; that the Power Companies would save the Government $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 of capital investment over the Ford offer.

RIGINAL

HIGHWAYS NOT BUILT BY RULE OF THUMB

Technically Trained Men in Demand For Building Roads.

In the early days of road building, any contractor who could spread stone and roll it was good enough to "engineer" the road to be built. Today all organizations engaged in road building are looking for the trained road engineer, and when there are not enough to go around, sending their own men to college for better training in highway building.

In 1919 the University of Michigan, which has departments of Highway Engineering and Highway Transport (Professor Arthur H. Blanchard) offered graduate short period courses in highway engineering and highway transport, leading to the degree of Master of Science or Master of Science in Engineering, arranged especially for men engaged in the practice of highway engineering and highway transport.

In 1919-20 the attendance was 29; while in 922-23, 110 men attended these courses, the average age of the men being 27 years, ranging from 23 to 56 years. These men came from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, state, county and municipal highway departments, contractors' organizations, companies manufacturing motor trucks, highway machinery, and materials, universities, and from the field of highway transport. During 1923-24, 18 graduate short period courses will be offered, 10 in the field of highway engineering and 8 in highway transport. These courses will be given by a staff of 8 professors and 10 non-resident lecturers.

The road building world is looking to the engineer, the trained man, the technician, for light on how to build better, less expensive, more permanent highwysa. It is generally recognized now that the day of the rule-of-thumb builder is gone, and that only the engineer, proficient in the art and familiar with the best practice, is the economical spender of the taxpayer's money!

PROF. SUTTON WRITES ABOUT READING CIRCLE

Verbena, Ala., Feb. 4, 1924.

There appeared in a recent issue of the county newspapers an article published by County Supt. Foshee giving facts connected with the recent Thorndyke McCall reading tests that were conducted by a representative of the State Department of Education. Early in September these same tests were given the pupils of the Verbena High school in the grades 2-11 inclusive. The tests were given solely for the purpose of finding the reading weaknesses and to stimulate the activities of pupils along the lines of more and more accurate reading. Recently we have given a second form of the same difficulty, and when the results have been tabulated we shall be glad to furnish the analysis of the tests to your readers if they desire them.

Second grade	73
Third grade	93
Fourth grade	76
Fifth grade	84
Sixth grade	79
Seventh grade	80
Eighth grade	81
Ninth grade	82
Tenth grade	96
Eleventh grade	91
Grades 2-11	82
Grades 2-6	82

These tests have enabled us to determine accurately the chief faults in each pupil's reading—ability to understand the printed page and expression of his or her answer to questions. Of course, they are of no service unless the teacher use them as a basis for correction of the defects.

We found on examination of the higher scores—and some few are as high as 130—that they are made by pupils who have been regular in attendance of eight and nine months schools. And those making the lower scores—in some cases as low as 43—are pupils who have had only short term schools and have recently come into Verbena, or of pupils who have begun school late in the fall after crops were gathered and who are the first to drop out of school in the spring to begin the spring plowing. Should the scores of pupils who have attended five months or less be eliminated, the average would be between 90 and 95.

It might be of interest to the people of the county to know how these tests are made and the scores determined. The tests are prepared by Thorndike and McCall, two prominent educators, and sent out to schools scattered throughout the United States, and thousands of pupils take them. Then the papers are collected and worked over with the intent of establishing averages for certain grades in school and also with relation to the age of pupils. For instance, if a pupil makes a score of 59 actual points, and is 181 months old, the percentage of that pupil is 97. The pupil should read that well at the age of 175 months. Again, a pupil makes a score of 40, age 108 months. The percentage is 110, because the average reading age on that score has been determined to be 121 months. A pupil may make as high a score as 77 and yet have a percentage of 85, due to the fact that his age is relatively high.

If parents who have been habituated in keeping their children from school will only realize that year by year they are retarding their children's progress and keeping them much below the average for their school mates who attend regularly, let alone the 100 per cent average of the country, then Chilton county will advance rapidly educationally. This does not mean on paper, but in the intellectual growth of the children. The same things may be said of the other subjects in school besides reading. And the same facts are true in each case.

Let us have regular attendance in long term schools.

W. E. G. SUTTON.

COTTON SLOGAN IS NOW BEING ADOPTED

"Not More Acres But More Cotton Per Acre" Is Reported and Endorsed by Hinds.

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 5.—"Not more acres in cotton but more cotton per acre" is a slogan being adopted by cotton growers throughout the South and reported by Dr. W. E. Hinds, Entomologist for the Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

To carry out this slogan, Dr. Hinds declares that certain well-known facts must be taken into consideration. In the first place good, well-drained land should be selected for cotton, because such land warms up early in the spring. The seedbed should be prepared early in order that it may be well settled and firm at planting.

On the time of planting Dr. Hinds said: 'Plant only moderately early after danger of cold is past and the ground is moist and warm enough to give quick germination and a rapid and continuous growth of the plants."

Good seed of the highest yielding varieties are recommended. For north Albama these varieties are Cook strains, Bottoms, Piedmont-Cleveland, Acala No. 5, and early varieties, like King and Trice. For central Alabama they are Cook strains, Piedmont-Cleveland, Toole, College No. 1, and Acala No. 5.

For wilt-infested land, which is largely confined to the sandy lands in the southern half of the State, Cook 307-6 and Toole strains have proven themselves to be leaders in experiments conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station.

For information as to the amount and kind of fertilizer to use, farmers are referred to their county agents because there is a wide variation in conditions and the county agents are familiar with the conditions in their respective counties.

FARMERS' MEETING

Feeling that the services of Dr. H. W. Caldwell, teacher of Vocational Agriculture in the Isabella School, should be utilized county wide when possible, I am glad to announce that he has consented to address the farmers of the county at the court house on Feb. 16, 1924, at 10 a.m., on the subject of "Cotton Growing Under Boll Weevil Conditions." Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Baptist church at Clanton has also consented to speak at that time on the subject, "Fertilization and Soil Building."

Let me urge every farmer of the county that can do so, to be present at this time, as these men are capable of giving you some really helpful advice.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

McADOO'S HOPES SEVERELY SHAKEN

Doheny's Evidence Is a Destructive Bombshell, Washington Observers Say.

Washington, Feb. 5.—E. L. Doheny's testimony involving William G. McAdoo and Thomas W. Gregory, and other prominent Democrats, is regarded here as one of the most destructive political bombshells in years.

Its effect will be keen, political observers here predict, and will be reflected alike in the Republican and Democratic presidential situations.

Democratic politicians shied away from open comment though everywhere the question was heard "What will Doheny's testimony do to McAdoo's candidacy?"

Still on Doheny's Payroll

Doheny testified he had employed McAdoo as a lawyer; had paid him a total of about $250,000, and that McAdoo is now on the Doheny payroll at $50,000 a year. He said Thomas W. Gregory, one of the special counsel President Coolidge selected to prosecute the oil lease cases civilly and criminally, also had been employed in connection with oil deals.

Anti-McAdoo Democrats at once hailed this as definitely eliminating McAdoo from the presidential contest. They say he would not be able to explain away his connection with a magnate who figured so prominently in the oil scandal.

McAdoo's friends took the view that once McAdoo has fairly explained his employment the sting will be taken out of Doheny's testimony.

Senator Reed of Missouri, who a few days ago announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, is blamed by McAdoo's friends for steering the inquiry in McAdoo's direction. It was Reed who asked that Doheny be subpoenaed by the Senate committee. Reed said he wanted to ask Doheny whether he ever gave or loaned any money to former government officials besides Fall.

The effect on President Coolidge's candidacy, if there is any, will grow out of the fact that he selected Gregory as one of the special counsel without learning beforehand that he had been employed by Doheny, who will be directly involved in the government's civil suit to annul the naval oil reserve leases. Coolidge's prompt elimination of Gregory from consideration as one of the two special counsel showed, Democratic politicians said, that he realized the seriousness of the matter.

But the president, it was pointed out, will be criticized because he did not better inform himself before he selected Gregory.

McAdoo is to appear before the Senate investigating committee to tell what he did for Doheny to earn the $250,000. He and his friends feel it was unfair to drag him into the scandal that way, and while they expect, they say, to counteract to a great degree the harm done, they admit it will be impossible to remove entirely the impression created by Doheny's testimony that McAdoo was one of the chief advisers on oil matters.

The effect of Doheny's testimony upon McAdoo's candidacy was interjected into House debate Saturday.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

A Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue will be at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., on Friday and Saturday, February 22nd and 23rd, for the purpose of assisting any person who may be due to file a Federal Income Tax return for the year 1923 in preparing such return.

Under Section 223 of the Revenue Act of 1921 the following persons are due to file returns for the year 1923:

(1) All single persons, and all married persons not living with wife or husband, whose net income for 1923 was $1,000 or more; (2) All persons married and living with wife or husband on the last day of 1923, whose net income for 1923 was $2,000 or more, or where the combined net income of husband and wife amounted to $2,000 or more; (3) All persons whose gross income for 1923 was $5,000 or more; or where the combined gross income of husband and wife was $5,000 or more, regardless of the amount of the net income.

Returns for the year 1923 will be delinquent and all persons due a return will be subject to penalty, if return is not filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Birmingham, Alabama, on or before March 15, 1924. In many cases no tax will be due, as the personal exemption and credit for dependents which the law allows will exceed the net income but a return should be filed by every individual who falls within one of the three classes described above, regardless of the amount of personal exemption and credit for dependents to which one may be entitled.

W. E. SNEAD,
Collectotr of Internal Revenue.

MONEY IN STRAWBERRIES

The time of the year is drawing near when people should begin to arrange for their strawberry crop if they intend to have one this year. It has been demonstrated time and again that strawberries are a very good paying crop to people in this section, so it seems that our people would do well to give at least some of their time to this crop. We now have a canning factory here which can take care of the berries that are too ripe to ship and also those which come on too late to be shipped prfitably. There is no reason why our farmers can not make some easy money in the strawberry business.

The New Cafe

When you come to Clanton to spend the day and get hungry, come to Easterling's New Cafe to eat. He always has a complete menu from which you can select whatever your appetite calls for. We serve regular dinners every day, which we believe will please the most fastidious. We invite you to eat with us.

MR. W. D. DYKES WRITES ABOUT THE COUNTY ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

I have seen the road subject discussed both ways in your paper, and I would like to say a few words about it myself.

I think the taxation plan will be all right if the tax money is used right. I don't think the county should spend all our money on the highways and let the rest of the roads go. They should, of course, keep up the main roads first, but the money ought to be distributed around over all the roads as much so as possible. I live on a two-mile stretch of road here, and I am willing to pay my $5.50, but would also like to see some work done on this road.

I don't believe in taking money from one community and put it on a road ten miles from there where the people of that community seldom ever travel.

We are all anxious to see how the new system comes out; but give everyone justice. The road here by my place is almost impassable in places. I say work every road every bit possible and don't put it all on one particular hill or in some man's pocket.

W. D. DYKES.

BOOSTING WOCO PEP

Mr. John T. Ellis is putting on a special advertising campaign which is intended to boost the sales of Woco Pep gas and motor oils in this section. Mr. Ellis is installing another storage tank at his storage place in the south edge of town and is getting in a full car of Woco motor oils.

Mr. Ellis has added to his line "Sunshine Kerosene," which is another product of the Wofford Oil Company. A big storage tank is being installed to keep this kerosene in.

Mr. Ellis says that when he undertakes something he believes in doing it well or not at all. So, he says that being that he is handling Woco Pep and Sunshine Kerosene he is going to give the sales of these products all he has got. And he has selected the best means in the world to push his business, namely, newspaper advertising. That will get the business when everything else fails.

Mr. Elbert M. Bean of Sylacauga was in Clanton Monday. He was over here to see about his name being challenged in the contest case.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

739,626

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

The management of Thorsby Institute Lyceum course was not at all pleased with the entertainers provided by the people responsible for the talent sent to fill the date for last Friday night. They consider that the people sent here did not understand the nature and requirements of an average Thorsby audience. They believe also that for this reason the entertainers gave by no means the best of which they were capable. We will hope for better things next time.

Mr. and Mrs. Magne Anderson are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ivey Horn in Birmingham.

Messrs. Arthur Villadsen and Earl Leary of Cherokee Bluffs visited parents in Thorsby Sunday.

We are glad to state that Miss Marie Flummer, who underwent an operation at a Birmingham hospital recently, is doing nicely and is expected to return to her home in Thorsby the latter part if this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson of Mountain Creek spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Peterson.

Mr. Sorrell's young folks gave a domino party to several friends last Tuesday night.

Mrs. J. R. Martin and little daughter, Miradire visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore at Billingsley last week Mrs. Moore is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Rev. Kohn L. Whorton of Birmingham is expected to preach morning and evening at the Thorsby Baptist church Sunday, February 10th. On Wednesday evening, the 13th, at 7:15 there will be a union prayer meeting at the Baptist Church.

The monthly praise service at the Congregational church last Sunday night was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

What a weary world this would be if it were not for the unselfish devotion to high ideals manifest in the lives of many good Christian people. One of this sort is Miss May Stoddard, for six years a member of the Thorsby Institute faculty and now a teacher at Aiken Hall, Olive Hill, Kentucky.

Thorsby Institute basket ball team again won two ball games in one week by defeating Verbena Wednesday 16 to 12 and Marbury Friday 16 to 14. Both games were thrillers throughout and were not decided until thte last whistle blew. In the Marbury game an extra period was required to untie the score as it had been ended 14 to 14, and some of the best basket ball ever exhibited in Thorsby was displayed by both sides in the extra period.

Thorsby team record now compares favorably with any in the county and they are hoping to increase their percentage next Friday by taking Caera in tow on Thorsby's court.

Next Saturday night, February 9 the pupils of the music department of Thirsby Institute, under the direction of Miss Althea Parker, will give a piano recital at Bates Hall. Some members of the Jeffersonian club will assist them with a short play entitled "The Dressing Gown."

The Christian Endeavor Society met at its usual time, 6:30, Sunday evening, February 3, 1924. Boona Lee Wood was leader for the evening. The meeting was opened with two songs. Prayer was offered by Rev. Each. The subject of the meeting was "All for Christ died the Church."

Six short talks were given on "One hundred per cent of our ability to serve God." Special music was given by Mr. Mastin and Mr. Smith also by Spurgeon Kelley. The subject was then discussed a few minutes longer and the meeting was dismissed by the benediction.

DOING HIS DUTY

"For two years I suffered agonizing paints in my stomach, belching up sour and bitter fluids and gas. Tongue always coated. Doctors were unable to help me. The first dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy made me feel 100 per cent better, and I am now feeling better than at any time in my life. I deem it my duty to advise other sufferers." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and druggists everywhere.

CHESTNUT CREEK

Editor Union-Banner:

Please permit me to make a brief report of our singing society at this place. The society met Sunday afternoon for the first time in about 6 weeks, it having been temporarily suspended on account of bad weather. Sunday being a beautiful day, there was a very good class present and almost a house full of listeners.

After a song by the chairman, W. M. Devaughn, prayer was offered by Bro. S. M. Yates, Jr., after which L. T. Grant, O. L. Devaughn, J. W. Cagle, Ralph D. Grant, R. T. Grant and J. M. Taylor directed three songs each. Organists for the afternoon were Misses Letha Taylor, Claudie Hughes, Lena Mae Devaughn, Mrs. Alice Baker and Ralph D. Grant.

The home quartett also rendered two splendid selections which we hope everyone present enjoyed. "Are you certain you'll be there?" was the title of one of the selections, and we hope that everyone who heard this song will think about this question, for we are promised in the Book Divine that if we live and do and act as Christ commanded that we may be there also. Friends, let's make certain, for heaven is too great a place to miss.

We were pleased to note a good many visitors from different places, among whom we noted Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle of Mitchell Dam, Mr. Johason of Walnut Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Baker of Clanton, and others whose names we do not recall. We are always glad to have visitors. Come again all you folks. We can make our society better still.

The service was closed with prayer by Rev. J. D. Hughes.

O. L. DEVAUGHN, Secy.

Mrs. J. H. McDonald is away at Market buying Spring Millinery, Capes, etc. She will have a beautiful selection to show you in the near future—at McDonald Mercantile Company, Clanton, Ala.

POOR OR

S. D. A. SOUTHERN UNION CONFERENCE

Clergymen of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination and other gospel workers throughout Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Western Tennessee will be delegates to the quadrennial convention of the Southern Union Conference which will be held in Nashville, Tenn., February 13 to 20.

Every department of the denomination will be represented in the gathering which includes the Publishing, Educational, Home Missionary, Medical, Sabbath-school, Religious Liberty and Young People's Departments. It will be the most important Adventist convention held in this section of the country during the past four years. One hundred churches will be represented.

Rev. G. W. Wells, of Nashville, president of the Southern Union Conference, will be chairman. Three of the world leaders will come from the headuarters of the denomination in Washington, D. C., to take prominent part in the daily proceedings. These will include: Rev. J. L. Shaw, treasurer; Elder G. B. Thompson, general field secretary, and Rev. B. E. Beddoe, assistant secretary. Other representatives from the union headquarters will also be present. Among them will be F. L. Harrison, treasurer; Prof. J. C. Thompson, educational superintendent; O. R. Staines, home missoinary secretary, and V. O. Cole, field missionary secretary.

The clergymen who will attend from the Alabama Conference include: Revs. C. B. Stephenson and K. R. Haughey, of Clanton; W. P. McLennan, of Birmingham; O. F. Frank, of Montgomery; J. L. Mitchell, of Mobile; T. S. Tate, of Birmingham, and T. H. Allison, of Mobile.

Other gospel workers include: Thos. E. Pavey, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. K. R. Haughey, Miss Vinnie Goodner, Miss Addie M. Kalar, Mrs. K. Rasmussen, Miss Kathleen Meyer, and Miss Nellie J. Orr.

Plans will be laid to co-operate with the foreign mission board in giving financial assistance to the plan of carrying the gospel proclaiming the second advent of Christ in this generation to peoples in the Orient and other heathen nations who have never heard the name of the Messiah, and in heralding the same message in the great centers of population along the Atlantic Coast. At the beginning of the convention committees will be appointed to consider financial questions, plans and recommendations for further advancement of the church; the appointment of missionaries to foreign countries and changes in the ministry at home; the advancement of the health feature of the denomination, the Sabbath-school work, the home missionary work, and the extensive work that is being done for the thousands of young people within the denominational ranks.

The European situation will be given much consideration. The Adventists are making remarkable progress in Europe, but because of the upheaval in the money market, their problems are the more perplexing, and at this convention the delegates will assume their share of the responsibility in supplying financial assistance.

Reports will be made by President Wells, the state conference presidents, the departmental secretaries and the evangelists, of the progress made within the union conference territory during the past four years.

W. L. BURGAN,
Press Secretary.

Mr. B. F. Thomas of Tuslaloosa, formerly of Chilton county, was in Clanton last week. While here he came around and gave us his name for The Union-Banner.

WORK HELD UP AT CHEROKEE BLUFFS

It is reported that the Alabama Power company has kindly held up on the work of constructing the dam at Cherokee Bluffs in Tallapoosa county. Only a small portion of the regular force has been maintained, who are doing temporary work. The cause of the hold-up is not known, but it is believed that the company is undecided whether to make the dam 120 feet high or 150 feet high, and they are waiting until they decide definitely about this before they proceed.

BIG INCUBATOR IN OPERATION

A matter of importance as well as of news to the people of this vicinity is the announcement of the Mastin Brothers, on the highway between Thorsby and Clanton, that they have in operation now a large incubator in connection with their chicken farm. The incubator carries 2,000 eggs at one setting. We understand that the first hatch will be off within a few days now, others will come off each week until the close of the season.

The Mastin Brothers are making quite a success at their poultry farm. Their undertaking has proven well that raising poultry can be made profitable in this country. Other people over the county are trying it on a smaller scale, and they also report pleasing results.

AROUND CALERA

The death of Mrs. Creel last Sunday night came as a shock to the community where she has resided for many years. She leaves some children, grand-children and a host of friends to mourn her loss, as she was very much loved by all who knew her. Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday and she was laid to rest in the Providence cemetery.

Mr. W. J. Clark was a visitor to the Magic City last Sunday.

Mr. E. D. Crim, who holds a position at Cherokee Bluffs, came home last Saturday, remaining over for a few days with home folks.

Mr. Elmer Campbell came home from Montgomery for the week-end.

Misses Mexa Tate, Catherine and Mayme Clark were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. J. Armstrong for a while Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Busby from near Birmingham came down Tuesday to be at the funeral of Mrs. Creel.

Mr. O. C. Busby was the guest of his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. Busby for the week-end.

Miss Ruth Mooney attended Reading Circle in Columbiana last Saturday.

Mr. Horace Busby from Pelham spent Saturday night in South Calera visiting his mother, Mrs. Tom Busby.

Miss Mexa Tate was a visitor at Miss Lutie Jones' last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Busby from Dora came down to South Calera Tuesday.

Misses Mayme and Catherine Clark were Clanton visitors Saturday.

Mrs. Ida Jones and Mrs. Tom Busby spent last Friday with Mrs. Jane Martin.

Quite a number of the young people enjoyed a singing given at Mrs. W. J. Clark's Sunday night.

Mr. Homer Martin came home last Saturday night, remaining over until Monday night when he returned to Chetopa.

Mr. Melvin Walker came down to South Calera Sunday morning, accompanying his mother back to Birmingham Sunday night where the family is moving.

Mrs. W. H. Pilgreen was the guest of Mrs. G. S. Tate one day last week.

Mr. Jeff Busby from Dora came down to South Calera Tuesday to be at the funeral of Mrs. Creel.

Mr. Alzie Martin, Miss Lutie Jones, Mr. Leon Busby and Miss Hazel Cox enjoyed "Out of the Dust" at the Wadesonian Theatre in Calera Saturday night.

Mr. Blankenship of Thorsby spent last Friday night at Mr. G. S. Tate's.

Mr. Holen Crim went to Columbiana Sunday.

UNION GROVE NEWS

Our Sunday School and prayer meeting are still going on fine. We were very proud to see so many out at Sunday School Sunday.

Miss Jessie Mims, one of our assistant teachers, spent the week end with Miss Edna Robinson.

The social given by Miss Ethel Mize Saturday night in honor of her Sunday School class was fine. We had several contests, after which sandwiches, cake and hot chocolate were served to about thirty young people. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves to the highest degree. Among the crowd were Messrs. Grover Bice, Akins Collins, J. C. Jones and Greshem Lowery of Thorsby and Mr. Arthur and Bernie Chandler and Miss Myrtle Dorminey of Birmingham. Miss Mize is the teacher of the Glad Girls Sunday School Class, which is composed of young ladies only.

Misses Rebecca Dorminey and Amy Robinson spent Saturday night with Misses Florence and Lula Cofer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marlar spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Robinson.

Miss Leone Hall was the guest of Miss Euna Davis Sunday.

A wedding of much interest to this community was that of Mr. Clyde Davis and Miss Flossie Robinson, who were married Saturday evening at 6:00 o'clock. We wish them a happy life together.

Messrs. Otto Burnett, Amos Bean and Lonnie Cox and Misses Pearl Chandler and Rebecca Dorminey all spent Sunday afternoon with Misses Edna and Amy Robinson.

Miss Delene Collum dined with Misses Florence and Lula Cofer last Sunday.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We hope to have a large crowd out. The United Singing Society will meet at this place Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Everybody come and help out in the singing. We are always glad to have visitors.

UNCLE GEORGE MARCUS PUSHES HIS BUSINESS

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the special advertising campaign which Uncle George Marcus is putting on in the interest of his "Palace Market" through this paper. Uncle George has a place of business which is really and truly a credit to Clanton and Chilton county and he wants to prove it to you by having you come in and see what he has got. Mr. Marcus is the veteran fresh meat salesman of Clanton and he has spent lots of money making us a nice place to buy our meats and groceries. Although an old timer, Uncle George believes in present day progressive methods, and he is determined to make his business a go.

INDIAN GRAVE ITEMS

We are all glad to see some beautiful sunny weather again.

There will be preaching at this place next Saturday and Sunday. Everybody come and help us to carry on the service.

We were glad to see so many present at Sunday School Sunday. We invite them all to come back again and bring somebody else along too. Let's make 1924 a great year in the service of our Master by everybody attending church and Sunday School and also prayer meeting.

Miss Isabel Messer, our assistant teacher, spent the week end at her home in Midway Ala.

Several from here went down to Mr. W. W. Jones' Sunday afternoon to help him eat ice cream.

There is going to be a negro minstrel at the school house Friday night February 8th. Everybody has a special invitation to come. We promise you a real good time.

Also remember that we have singing at this place every third Sunday afternoon. We invite everybody to come and bring their 1924 books.

W. E. THOMAS HERE

Mr. W. E. Thomas, former prominent citizen of this county, now of Sylacauga, was in Clanton last Thursday. Mr. Thomas was elected to the State Legislature from Chilton county on the Republican ticket in 1915. He is now in the mercantile business in Sylacauga.

Mr. J. T. Childress and Mr. J. N. Scott of Jemison were in Clanton Tuesday on a little business.

DEATH OF BRO. J. E. CHAMPION

Jemison, Ala., Jan. 29, 1924.

We, the members of Jemison Lodge, No. 411, A. F. & A. M., feeling keenly the loss of one of our loyal members, Brother J. E. Champion, submit the following resolutions:

God in his infinite wisdom and love has called home our beloved brother and co-worker, and though we realize that we must bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, yet we cannot refrain from expressing deep grief at our irreparable loss.

Brother Champion was strikingly unselfish and found great joy in serving others; the sick and the poor could look to him in confidence for relief in their distress. He also had a peculiar pleasure in remembering his friends and neighbors at all times.

Through his death the Lodge, the church and the community have lost a worty, competent and efficient member, but the memory of his beautiful, Christian life will be an inspiration to us to do our best under all circumstances. We shall ever miss his optimism, his zeal and friendly loyalty.

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Lodge, a copy sent to his esteemed family and a copy furnished The Union-Banner for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
C. C. CONWAY,
N. DUFFEE,
W. C. ERWIN,
Committee.

Why Mothers no longer fear Child-birth

AN eminent physician has shown why there is so much useless suffering on the part of many expectant mothers, for months before baby comes, as well as when baby actually arrives.

This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by your months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton, 108 N. Tremont St., Kansas, Ill., says: "I am forced to say something in regard to your wonderful 'Mother's Friend.' Just one application gave me such relief I could hardly realize I was in pregnancy. Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my housework with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and re-adjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

How to know "cured" fertilizer

Great bins of Royster Fertilizer "cure" or "age," for months so that your results from its use will swell the earnings from your land.

HOW can you tell Royster's "cured" Fertilizer from fertilizer that has not been aged? The greatest difference is seen in the more profitable crops grown by the cured fertilizer, but there is a difference even to the untrained eye!

After the first mixing, Royster's goods are placed in great bins where they age from four to six months. They are then re-milled and bagged.

The fine grinding of the ingredients and the close association of the plant-food elements bring about a more complete chemical action during this aging, making a fertilizer which is readily available to the plant from seed time to harvest.

The curing and re-milling are two of the reasons successful farmers say "Royster's helps to make bigger and better crops."

Don't buy fertilizer in a hit or miss fashion any longer. Put your faith in the old, well-known Royster reputation and ask for Royster's Fertilizer by name.

OAK HILL NEWS

Our Sunday School at Oak Hill is still progressing under the splendid leadership of Prof. A. H. Glasscock, who has served faithfully as superintendent for the past five years. The entire school has learned to love him and we all think him second to none when it comes to superintending a Sunday School, for he is an able speaker as well as a good singer. The school has shown its appreciation of his good work by unanimously electing him for another year. Mr. R. B. McMurren, Miss Vida Morten and Miss Emma Campbell were added to the official roll respectively as assistant superintendent, teacher and secretary, which officers were elected after Sunday School last Sunday.

By the time the officers were elected it was getting late, and it being our regular singing evening, we hurried home, got lunch and loaded up on the car and started back. When we were almost in sight of the church our car acted as though it had on a missionary spell and started to China by the shortest route, but by the help of some neighbors and prize poles, old fence rails and planks, we got out of the mud and arrived at the church some few minutes late, but found a good sized crowd waiting for us. The class was quickly arranged and the singing began. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. Falkner, after which the following directed from one to six songs each: E. L. Glasscock, E. H. Foshee, W. J. Northcutt and A. H. Glasscock. Those excused from directing at their own request were: Prof. Akins Collins, Jasper Oaks and L. R. Cobb. But they, with the help of the other singers, did their part in making it the great success that it was. Organist for the evening were: Misses Esther Atkinson, Flossie Cobb and Emma Campbell. The singing was good and enjoyed by all present. Come again, and let's make the next one even better by getting after good singers to come and take part with us. We have ordered 100 copies of the new 1924 Showalter books, so we will have a supply of books for the class by the time we meet again. So everybody come and help us carry on the good work in the name of our Lord and Master, for we are promised if we are faithful to the end we can go through the Valley of the Shadow of Death, put on immortality, receive a golden harp and still play and sing praises to our great, loving Heavenly Father throughout the endless ages of eternity. Then we can look back to this old earth triumphantly and say 'O Death, where is thy Sting, O Grave where is thy Victory?"

Now, let us say to you as one of old, come and be with us; we will do you good, for it always pays to do good instead of evil. Come out and hear the new preacher next Sunday.

Probate Judge Contest Case Postponed Again

Case Called Monday Morning By Judge Denson—Postponed by Agreement of Attorneys.

According to schedule, the contest case of C. D. Messer vs. L. H. Reynolds over the election of probate judge of Chilton county, was called at the court house in Clanton Monday morning, February 11. Judge N. B. Denson of Opelika was present and presided. During the day Monday several preliminary motions were filed by the attorneys for both parties and shortly after noon Judge Denson declared the case properly instituted and ready for trial.

The judge called for all the witnesses in the case who had been summoned to stand and be sworn, and in response no witnesses stood. The judge then asked the attorneys on both sides to get together and decide what to do about the witnesses. The attorneys agreed on examining what witnesses who happened to be present, so the first one called on the stand was Mr. J. A. Sewell of Beat 3, who had been challenged by Judge Reynolds as having voted for Messer. This witness was examined and the counsel for Messer worked on this witness trying to prove his legality as a voter until the court adjourned at night. Mr. Sewell's record was never cleared up.

Court was called again Tuesday morning and on account of the fact that Mr. Messer was not ready for the contest, a mutual agreement was reached between the attorneys on both sides of the case to postpone the trial until the first Monday in May, which will be May 5th.

All the preliminary work which was done by the court Monday was undone by Judge Denson, so when the case is taken up again all the preliminaries will be taken up and gone through with again in the same manner as it was Monday. In other words, the case stands now right where it did before it was ever called.

The calling of this case Monday was a matter of considerable interest to the people of Chilton county. The people have been hearing quite a bit about the contest for the past year, so everybody was anxious to know something about how the matter would be taken up and gone into. There were people here from almost all over the county anxious to know what was going to be done and how it was going to be done.

Both parties in the case had able legal representatives who know their business when it comes to a case of this kind. The attorneys for Reynolds were Col. O. D. Street of Guntersville, Judge Mayfield of Montgomery, J. O. Middleton, Grady Reynolds and Omar Reynolds of Clanton. The attorneys for Messer were Col. J. F. Thompson of Birmingham, Judge F. L. Tate of Wetumpka, L. F. Gerald and G. C. Walker of Clanton. Some very able arguments were put up on both sides during the preliminaries of the trial.

Miss Ethel Vance of Birmingham is spending a few days with Miss Era Mims in Clanton.

FEBRUARY 22nd ANNUAL RABBIT HUNTING DAY

Dr. J. P. Crumpton asks us to remind the public that the day for the Annual Rabbit Hunt of Chilton county is not far ahead. The day comes on Friday this year, it being February 22nd, just one week and one day from today.

The officers of the Association desire to get reports from places in the county where most rabbits might be found and where the people would like for them to be caught up. So anyone knowing of a place which is thickly infested with rabbits will do the organization an esteemed favor by communicating with Dr. Crumpton in regard to same, as they want to do their hunting where the rabbits are thickest.

The only rules of the oryanization are that no guns be taken. Anyone is eligible who wants to go. The annual fee is for everyone who goes to carry his dinner. And remember that the membership fee is a mighty important phase of the question. Dr. Crumpton would also like to know before hand about the number of dogs which each fellow intends to enter in the races. The place of meeting will be at the court house about day light on Friday morning, the 22nd.

Commissioners Court Adjourned to Monday

On account of the contest case being on at the court house in Clanton Monday, the Commissioners Court met and adjourned till next Monday morning when the business of the regular meeting will be taken up.

Kill Rats Campaign Is On in Clanton

The Civic Club is organizing a rat campaign, and to the boy killing the greatest number of rats and mice, will be given for first prize a very fine baseball glove, donated by the Chamber of Commerce. The Civic Club gives as a second prize, a first-class baseball. These prizes were selected by Mr. Victor Heard, who is a competent judge of their quality and are on display in a prominent place down town.

Any boy living within the city limits of Clanton, who desires to enter this campaign, can do so by killing any number of rats or mice and cutting off their tails and turning them in to receiving commtitee, composed of Mr. Macy Jones, Mr. Mell Martin and Mr. Johnson.

Br. Jones has kindly consented to act as chairman, and the boys will find him at the boy scout headquarters every Friday at 5:00 p.m., the only time designated for receiving the rat tails which will be bought for a penny a tail, the town council having kindly offered to do that.

This campaign opens February 23, and closes March 28th. On Tuesday, April 1st prizes will he awarded.

Why "Lizzie's" Roof was Punctured

OUR photographer happened to amble into Hollywood, Calif., and look whom he encountered. An 18-year-old youngster — Jack Earl by name—who lacks just a few inches being 8 feet tall and still growing "by the hour," so to speak. And—oh, boy—won't he be some man when he grows up?

Of course, our protographer could not resist the temptation to train his camera on the youngster. So he asked young Jack to seat himself in a near-by flivver. Jack got in all right but before the photographer got his camera set, there was a loud rip!

"Oh, that was nothing. I merely straightened up in the seat so you could get a good picture," smilingly spoke the young giant to the startled camera man.

From the contented grin on young Earl's face, "Lizzie's" punctured top doesn't mean anything in his young life. The flivver probably didn't belong to him.

Sheriff's Force Does Much Work Against Chilton Bootleggers

Operations Past Week Yield Four Stills and Quantity of Moonshine Whiskey and Beer.

During the past week T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff of Chilton County, has made quite a record in destroying illicit distilling outfits and arresting violators of the prohibition laws.

On last Wednesday the Sheriff, with the assistance of Deputy Foshee, destroyed a 50-gallon still in the New Salem Community a short distance from the home of Lige Burnett. Two barrels of beer were found near the still, which were also confiscated.

The following day the same two officers captured and destroyed a 100 gallon still and 100 gallons of beer near Stanton. No whiskey was found and no arrests were made. Also the home of George Hunter on the line of Autauga and Chilton was raided, yielding 1 gallon of whiskey and part of a distilling outfit found in Hunter's back yard. Hunter was arrested and brought to jail in Clanton.

Friday afternoon Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee, with the assistance of State Officer, W. H. Gillespie, went just across the line into Autauga County in the Hompton Community and captured a 50-gallon copper still in operation. J. Z. Carwile was arrested and the other operator took to the creek and escaped. This raid yielded 10 gallons of whiskey and 300 gallons of beer. Carwile, the still and the whiskey were brought to Clanton and placed in the county jail.

Saturday night Arthur Mims was arrested in Clanton under the charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He was placed in jail but made bond and was released.

On Sunday Gillespie and Foshee searched the home of Carl Peavey, a negro who lives in the Samaria Community near Clanton and found a half-gallon fruit jar full of whiskey in Peavey's wood pile. Peavey was brought to Clanton Monday and lodged in jail.

On Monday Deputy Foshee together with State Officers Gillespie and Gordon and Federal Officer Atkins made a raid in Coosa county and found a 75-gallon copper outfit in operation just across the river. George Tackett and a Dennis boy were arrested and brought to Clanton and jailed. One other operator got away. No whiskey was found but a quantity of beer was confiscated.

BIG LAND SALE

On Wednesday of this week, for the consideration of $1,800, Mr. J. P. Gore sold to Mr. W. E. Plier 18 acres of land which lies just north of the Gore Creek and joinnig the hame place of Mr. Plier. This is a fine piece of land, and when the creek swamp is ditched off, it will be well worth twice the amount at which it sold.

Hon. W. W. Monroe and wife of Fayette were in Clanton last week. Mr. Monroe was principal of the high school here several years and has a number of close friends here. They were visiting the family of Dr. E. E. Upchurch.

Clanton Chamber of Commerce Elected Officers Friday Night

Important Matters Discussed, Foremost Among them Being Draining of Our Swamps.

The Clanton Chamber of Commerce met at the court house in Clanton last Friday night. It was a special business meeting called principally for the purpose of re-organizing for another year and electing new officers. At 8:00 o'clock Dr. V. J. Gragg, the chairman of the club, called the meeting to order and proceeded with the business before the body. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. V. J. Gragg; first vice-president, W. W. Fox; second vice-president, V. J. Eimore; Board of Directors, J. P. Lawernce, C. B. Cox, Tom Kemp, T. H. Neighbors and J. Lee Smth.

After the election of officers, various matters of importance were taken up and discussed by the members. The entire meeting expressed itself as realizing that the first thing Clanton needed to do was to drain the swamps that almost surround our town. Although the health conditions in Clanton are exceptionally good, yet the swamps around here produce the appearance of being very sickly and productive of disease. It was reported by the attorney in charge of the drainage work here that the primary arrangements were completed and as soon at the water got out of the swamps the work of surveying would begin and actual work on the dredging taken up some time this summer.

Other matters of importance were discussed such as locating industries here, which were very ably discussed by Messrs. W. W. Fox, L. H. Reynolds, Dr. V. J. Gragg, R. C. McDavid and others.

In Mr. Fox's speech before the body, he stated that Clanton offered a splendid opportunity for a furniture factory, and that he was going to start up one some time in the near future. We are glad to hear Mr. Fox make this report, because a furniture factory would be a great asset to Clanton.

The matter of having a public meeting, to which everybody in town will be urged to come, was discussed and adopted by the chamber. This meeting will be at the court house in about a month, and some good out of town speakers will be procured to make addresses. Mr. Rogers, one of the State highway commisioners, will very likely be present and speak. Something more definite will be announced later.

Shelby Co. Deputies Destroy Many Stills

Columbiana, Ala., Feb. 9—Deputy Clyde Gardner reports many stills being destroyed near Pelham. On Feb. 5th a 300-gallon box still was captured 10 miles northeast of Pelham. On the same date 12 miles northeast of Pelham, a 300-gallon box still, 1,200 gallons of mash, 22 fermenters, two tents and seven lanterns were taken.

To Pave Chilton Road Commission States

Kind of Road to Be Built Is Decided Upon, and Bids For Same to Be Advertised at Once.

Types of construction and material to be included in bids which will be advertised for by the State highway department on construction of the Chilton County link in the Montgomery-Birmingham highway are prescribed in a resolution adopted by the highway commission Tuesday, as follows:

Concrete bases for all wearing surfaces other than plain concrete, are to be composed as follows: 1 2 1-2-5, mixed and base shall be five inches thick. Section for plain cement concrete pavement shall be six inches thick wiht 9-inch shoulder. The cement used in any case shall be first quality Portland cement.

Types of road on which bids will be received are: Plain cement, concrete, sheet asphalt, asphaltic concrete, Warrenite and copeka mixed, rock asphalt, and brick.

Representatives of several types of paving appeared before the State highway commission in Montgomery Monday to ask that paving specifications be so drawn that competitive bidding will result. The matter came up as a result of specifications for different types of paving for which bids will be asked on 17 miles on a Chilton County section of the Montgomery-Birmingham highway. The paving men said the specifications adopted would virtually shut out competition as between concrete and other types.

John Donnelson of Birmingham, a man experienced in paving matters, appeared and said he was not representing any type of paving which is called for in the specifications for the Chilton road. Herbert Warren, representing the Warrenite paving process, appeared as did Evans Dunn of Birmingham, representing the Dunn Construction Company. A. J. Fitzwalter appeared representing a Texas paving company which proposes to utilize Alabama rock asphalt in the construction of roads in Alabama. E. G. Berneike represented the Southern Clay Manufacturing Company of Chattanooga. The vitrified brick manufactured by this company are manufactured in two plants in Alabama near Birmingham.

It was the opinion expressed by each of the paving men who appeared that under the specifications as are drawn for the 17 miles of road which will be constructed in Chilton County competition is eliminated and only a concrete paving can be laid. It was claimed by the speakers that the specifications were such that other types of paving cannot hope to be the low bidders.

Mr. Donelson said that under the specifications as made out by the highway commission, it would be impossible for any type of paving but the concrete type to be the successful bidder. He told the commission that he believed the 6-inch concrete type with 9 inches on the edges of the road would be an experiment. He said the

WILLIAM GORE DIES SUDDENLY LAST THURSDAY

While he and his son were engaged in sawing wood last Thursday morning, Mr. William Gore, who lived a mile and a half north of Clanton, dropped dead. After two cuts had been sawed off, it is reported, Mr. Gore told his son that he wanted to rest a bit, and almost instantly fell over dead. His death is attributed to some form of heart trouble.

Mr. Gore was 62 years old and was the father of two sons and three daughters. The sons are Joe and Allen and the three daughters are all married. He is also survived by his wife.

The funeral was held Friday at 11 o'clock at the home, the service being conducted by Rev. M. J. Parrish. Revs. Wilkerson and Ezell of Clanton were also present at the service and assisted. After the funeral the remains, followed by a long procession of sorrowing relatives and friends, was brought to the Clanton Cemetery where enterment was made.

The Department of Agriculture reports a decrease in the acreage sowed to winter wheat, and an increase in the number of sheep on farms. This is one shift in farm operation that ought to prove beneficial to all concerned.

STAND FAST!

The Republicans have decided to stand firm for the Mellon tax bill. That's the ticket. Opportunity was given the Democrats for a compromise and they refused it. Their intention to try to block tax revision thereby became the more apparent. The entire nation, regardless of party, wants tax reduction. If the Democrats prevent it they will be mashed as flat as a rattlesnake on the main highway as the people march to the polls next November.

OUR CHIOCE FOR PRESIDENT

Following suit of The Birmingham News, the other daily papers of Alabama are charging the Republican papers of the State of helping Musgrove in his campaign against Senator Underwood for the Democratic nomination for president. The Montgomery Adertiser and the Birmingham Age-Herald come out with about the same propaganda which The News exhibited a few days ago. The fact of the matter is that these papers realize how biased and how prejudiced most of the people of the solid South are against anything that has the sound of "Republican" and that by making it appear that Musgrove is supported by the Republicans, the same envy and prejudice may be turned upon him.

As to what these daily papers have said about The Union-Banner aiding Musgrove, will say that they have but little ground for such argument. It is true that we are not for Underwood, but it is also true that we are not for Musgrove. And it is also true that we are not for any Democrat for president. Calvin Coolidge is our choice and our only choice among the aspirants for that office. We had rather risk the affairs of this government in the hands of Coolidge than anyone else we know of at this time.

As for these papers saying that "The Union-Banner is one of the backbones of the Republican party of Alabama," we feel like taking our hat off to them for this statement. In other words, we feel that a greater honor could scarcely be bestowed upon our unworthy heads. But as for us supporting Musgrove, that is a horse of a different color. It is true that we have carried some political advertising for Musgrove, but these were carried as paid political advertisements. So long as Mr. Musgrove wants to pay for our space and sign his name to his advertisements, we had as soon sell it to him as anybody else. And as for that matter, a number of Democratic papers have carried his advertisements. Why doesn't The News name these papers and charge them with having supported Musgrove as it has the Republican papers?

It is true enough that we admire some of the contentions of Mr. Musgrove. We agree with him on his fight against the Roman Catholics and also on his view of the prohibition laws and the Ku Klux Klan. And further, we differ with Mr. Underwood on these questions, but even these two facts do not mean that we are supporting Musgrove.

In the first place, we know that Musgrove has no more hopes of becoming president of the United States than we do. He has announced in Alabama simply for the purpose of probably getting to choose the delegates from Alabama to the Democratic notional convention, which opportunity was given him by the Alabama presidential preferential primary law. This fact alone, that Musgrove is running under this pretense of a law which was created for no other purpose than to work a Democratic trick, is sufficient ground for us to oppose him. And on top of all that, he is a Democrat and a subject to the Democratic party of Alabama. No matter what Mr. Musgrove wants to do, if he should be elected by the Democrats he would be compelled to do what they wanted done. This fact has been demonstrated too many times in Alabama.

Drowned.—A famous New York beauty has disappeared. Perhaps she has washed it off.—Rochester Herald.

A St. Valentine's Day We'll Never Forget

GIVE PREFERENCE TO AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

A new York clothing store advertises London-made overcoats and prominently announces that they are "British through and through." Probably they are, but what of it? There is nothing in the advertisement intimating that the overcoats are any better than those which are American through and through. The mere guarantee that the goods are British is expected to bring customers, and experience has proved that it does. To many shoppers an imported article has a glamor not possessed by one of domestic manufacture, and they will choose the former even though the latter may be cheaper and of better quality.

Such worship of things European is reflected in other ways—in the choice of British ships for foreign tours in preference to an American vessel of simlar size, speed, and material comforts, in the acceptance of Paris styles in preference to those originated in this country, in the debt cancelationists' concern for foreign tax payers rather than for their own.

The greatest influence that has made the British Empire what it is today is the conviction among Englishmen that their country is the best in the world. They believe that British ships, British products of every sort, and British policies have no superiors, and they look with scorn on foreign attempts to change or supplant them. Whether they are right or wrong is not the question. They believe they are right, and their country is strong accordingly. Some of the same spirit ought to be more in evidence in the United States. Patriotism means more than waving a flag and going on a Fourth of July picnic; it means giving preference to American institutions and American products when they come into competition with others.

A GROWING EVIL

In his address before the business organization of the Government, President Coolidge pointed to an evil in our national policies that has not been sufficiently revealed in the past. Federal subsidies to state governments are evidenced in a variety of our laws. They usually take the form of co-operation with the states—in the construction of roads, the eradication of injurious bugs and plant diseases, the extermination of predatory animals, etc. In almost every instance the work could be done more efficiently by the local authorities, who have the real responsibility in the matter.

"I am fearful," said Mr. Coolidge, "that this broadening of the field of Government activities is detrimental both to the Federal Government and the state governments. Efficiency of Federal operations is impaired as their scope is unduly enlarged. Efficiency of the state governments is impaired as they relinquish and turn over to the Federal Government responsibilities which are rightfully theirs."

The President served notice on whom it may concern that he does not approve of an expansion of the state subsidy pliocy. It ought to be substantially curtailed, with each state assuming such expenditures in proportion as its needs may require and its finafnces permit.

REGULATION OF BILLBOARDS

The current controversy over the power to regulate the erection and display of billboards along public highways is invested with a certain piquant emphasis by the fact that Massachusetts is being looked to by other and far distant peoples as an exemplar in the case; notably in France, despite the supposition of Laurence Sterne that "they order this matter better" there. The peasants and innkeepers of Normandy and the Basques, "fragments of forgotten peoples,' on the slopes of the Pyrenees, object to having their picturesque scenery, beloved of artists and tourists, disfigured with hideous advertising signs, and they have caused their senators at Paris to introduce a measure providing the desired protection; in urging the enactment of which the example of Massachusetts is often cited. There will be those who will think that thus too much credit is given to this State. Certainly it will be held that at any rate we must take no backward step from the position thus imputed to us, but rather must "make good" and live up to our reputation.

There must indeed be general agreement, save, of course, by those sordidly interested in the very abuse which it is sought to abate, that the public is entitled to protection from offenses to the eye. The senses must be respected. It would be intolerable to flavor our drinking water with something which, while quite innocuous to health, gave it an unpleasant taste. Unnecessary noises which distress the ear and rack the nerves, and odors which sicken the sense of smell, are rightly regarded as nuisances. No less objectionable are unnecessary structures or displays which obstruct the vision and offend the sight.

Nor are such things to be condemned only in places of exceptional beauty or grandeur, or along what are regarded as scenic highways. In such places prohibition of defacement is obviously imperative. But the senses and tastes have equal right to protection elsewhere. The public travelling along even the least picturesque and most commonplace roads, and people dwelling in places quite devoid of scenic distinction, are entitled to exemption from all things that would unnecessarily affront them. A community whose seat amid scenery of picturesque charm is perhaps its chief asset, may well claim for that priceless possession protection against impairment. But one lacking such natural endowment may as legitimately claim the right to make the best of this meagre resources of scenery and not have them needlessly despoiled.

Whether such regulation should be a State or a local function is a question proper for debate. From one point of view, the whole State is interested in the scenery of every part of it. Certainly it seems to be logical for the State to have authority over the steadily increasing extent of State roads, for their adornment and for their protection from disfigurement. Obviously too, it is highly desirable to have uniformity of practice throughout the State, so that travellers will not find one town free from and the next town cursed with billboard abominations. Nor is it to be overlooked that only through State control can the people at the margin of one town be protected against signs in the adjacent town which may be just as directly offensive to them as though they were in their own. On the other and, it seems intolerable that a town which wants to protect itself against nuisances should be unable to do so simply because the State will not take action in the matter.

Probably the ideal arrangement would be for the State to have an effective law, for general application; and then for the individual towns to have the privilege of adopting additional ordinances, increasing if they wish but never subtracting from the stringency of the State law.—Boston Transcript.

UNCLE PINK JONES CATCHES LOTS FISH

After having read the story we carried last week about Uncle Riley Robinson catching fish in January, Uncle Pink M. Jones of Corinth comes in and brings us a story which he says has got Uncle Riley beat. Uncle Pink says that he caught his first mess of fish in December and that all through January he caught bream by the score. He did most of his fishing in the mouth of the Ferry Branch just below Mitchll Dam on the Coosa side of the river. Mr. Jones said that he usually fished with two hooks and lots of times he had a fish on both hooks at the same time. He could not begin to tell the number which he had caught, but said that nearly all that he caugt were bream and most of them were very nice ones. Other reports verify the statement of Mr. Jones in that people are catching fish every day now just below Mitchell Dam.

THINGS THAT DOTHAN OFFERS

When we entered our office this morning we found Col. John J. Dishwater occupying our chair with his feet wandering up the side of the wall, dallying with a picture of Columbus Discovering America, which hung some five feet up, and almost out of reach.

"Well?" we inquired as an innuendo.

"Hello, hello," greeted the Colonel with a smile which we had grown to recognize as one that accompanies a request.

"What is it this time?" we said, with a dark-brown taste in our tone. We invariably have a dark-brown taste until 9 a. m.

"I've got something for you," replied the Colonel as he wiggled his feet and thumped Columbus Discovering America nearly off the wall. "It's an Idea seen—"

"Saw."

"Saw in Henry Vance's Column."

"Who is he?"

"He's a man who shovels more or less logic on the Birmingham News. He wrote up Birmingham, and I've wrote up Dothan."

The Colonel took from his pocket a sheet of folded paper and passed it to us. We herewith reproduce what was written on it:

"Move to Dothan. It is the Hub of the wiregrass. Come on—if you've a tee-totlar you're safe. If your're not you're not. Statistics show that Houston county Scotch contains everything from black powder to shingle nails.

"Dothan's population is 15,000 and eight policemen, one of whom was seen last week.

"Dothan has two fire trucks, making it practically impossible to have a successful fire.

"Dothan has beautiful paved streets, infested with children on roller skates, and if you speed your automobile you are fined $51.75. The .75 is for cost, making it the cheapest cost in the county. The difference between cost and retail price is $51. Some profit. Methinks I scent something rotten in the woodpile.

"Dothan has a water wagon, but in spite of the rotten quality of liquor on sale here only one man rides it.

"Fire plugs in Dothan are painted red so tobacco juice won't spoil their appearance.

"The sun sets just west of Dothan every afternoon. It rises in the east about sunup every morning.

"Dothan has a City Auditorum, with seats in the gallery, balcony and orchestra under a half inch of dust. The stage is well worn where home talents rehearse. One or two of our oldest citizens like to tell of the show that came to the auditorium back in 1913. They say the chorus wore knee dresses and daring skin-colored hose. One girl displayed the new style of bobbed hair and sang 'I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now,' and on the oncore came back with 'Steamboat Bill.' The house went wild."

Missionary Society Meets.

Mrs. R. C. McDavid was hostess on Monday afternoon to the members of the Womans Missionary of the Methodist Church. The apartments were lovely with tall vases or pink and white cranaitons. Mrs. J. C. Jones, president, conducted the devotional opening with the reading of the 103 Psalm. After the old business was disposed of plans for an Easter Bazaar were discussed. Circle No. 1 are having an oyster supper at "The Japanese Room" on Friday night. A report was made from Tag Day given on Monday with a net of $45.00 for Circle No. 2. No further business, the meeting adjourned to meet next with Mrs. T. C. McSwain. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mrs. Barney Roberts served a tempting salad plate with hot tea.

Civic Club Meets.

The Civic Club held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday at the home of the president, Mrs. R. C. McDavid, who presided most graciously. The committee reports were very interesting as was the well-rendered program. The principal feature of the program was Mrs. Curry's original selection. Child Labor day and conservation were both observed and the club contributed $2.50 to the children's aid society as part of their child welfare program. The conservation idea was further carried out in a lively rat campaign outline. This work begins on February 23 and closes March 28. After the program a delightful salad course was served.

Mr. and Mrs. White Entertain.

A lovely event of last Thursday evening was a 42 party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. White, when they entertained for the nurses at the Central Alabama Hospital. Tables were arranged for the games and music on the Edison was enjoyed. A refreshing desert course was served later in the evening. Enjoying this courtesy were Misses Alridge, Robinson, Wyatt and Ausley, Messrs Otto Jones, Loran Smith and Leon Kemp. Mrs. White was assisted by Mrs. P. T. Hinkle.

Wednesday Card Club Entertained.

Vases of yellow johquills were the attractive means of decorating the apartments of Mrs. Frank Callen on last Wednesday when she had as her guests the members of the Card Club. Several spirited games of auction were enjoyed and Mrs. Hugh Simpson held highest score and was presented an angel food cake. A refreshing salad plate was served at the conslusion of the game. Mrs. Toy Parsons of Mobile was a guest of the Club for the afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Polk Hostess.

The Sewing Club was delightfully entertained on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geo. Polk. Bowls of narcissus were used to decorate the reception rooms. Various kinds of fancy work were done and the hostess served a dainty salad course late in the afternoon. Mrs. M. L. White will be hostess this week.

Circle No. 2 of the Baptist Women's Misionary Union will give a Geo. Washington entertainment at the high school auditorium on February 22nd at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of many enjoyable features, some of which will be musical numbers interspersed with readings, songs and an artistic costume drill. Admission 15c and 25c.

Oyster Supper.

Circle No. 1 of the Methodist Church invite you to an oyster supper on Friday evennig from 5 till 8 o'clock at the Japanese Tea Room. Oysters served any style.

Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson left Monday for a weeks visit to relatives in Columbia, Ala., and other towns in South Alabama.

MODERN MACHINERY AID TO MAINTENANCE

Scrapers on Trucks Keep Roads Fit.

The best road in the long run is the hard road. But there are many localities where the use of the hard road does not permit its cost to be an economy for the community. Hence the sand-clay, gravel, shell, and other types of roads, not hard surface, which are built.

Such roads require constant maintenance if they are to remain smooth. Formerly such work was done by teams. But modern ingenuity has provided road tools which can be applied to trucks, with a great economy of time, labor, and money.

As an example, consider Kent County, Mich., where, according to the annual report of the County Road Commissioners, there are 252 miles of gravel road, varying in width from 10 to 16 feet, the total width of the grade varying from 20 to 30 feet.

Nearly all the scraping and grading work is taken care of by scrapers attached to trucks, which with the scraper attachment, travel about 10 or 12 miles per hour. Each truck does the work of six or seven teams.

Nine trucks equipped with scrapers maintain an average of nearly 30 miles each. The quality of the work of this kind of equipment is said to be much better than with horse-drawn equipment, and it takes less supervision to look after this kind of maintenance organization.

The gravel roads are kept smooth by the constant use of scrapers or graders, and by the application of thin layers of screened gravel where required. One-half inch to one inch of screened gravel is kept on the surface of the road all the time; by scraping around to fill ruts and holes, it is possible to maintain a smooth road under a traffic of several thousand vehicles a day.

LIBERTY HILL

Here we come with a lot of news this time.

Miss Meadie Sansom entertained a number of her friends Saturday night. Those present were Misses Virbie D. Williams, Gussie Littlejohn and Lela Minor, Messrs. Leonard Culp, Earl Williams, Luther G. Hayes, Moody Williams and Philmon Smith.

Miss Frances Lowery dined with Miss Maggie Rollins Sunday.

Miss Minnie Tayler spent the day with Miss Verlie D. Williams Sunday.

Mr. Leonard and Miss Senora Culp took dinner with Mr. Duncan and Miss Kattie Lee Wells Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Littlejohn, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Littlejohn, Dubo and Billif Chancellor, and Misses Willie and Viola Littlejohn were the dinner guests of Mr. Frank Littlejohn Sunday.

The singing at Mr. Wilburn Ward's Sunday afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd.

Miss Maye Sansom is spending a few days this week with her cousin, Miss Lela Minor.

Mr. Carl Williams spent the night with Mr. Moody Williams Saturday night.

Next Sunday evening is our regular singing evennig. Everybody will be welcome to come and be with us.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday School and prayer meeting are still very good.

A wedding of much interest to the people of this place was that of Mr. Greene Dorminey and Miss Leone Hall, who were happily married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hall, Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The happy couple left Sunday afternoon for Wellsville, Ohio, where Mr. Dorminey has been working for some time. We all wish them a long and happy life.

Saturday night and Sunday was our regular preaching days. We were very glad to see Bro. Davis able to be out again, as he has been sick for some time.

The United Singing Society met in regular session at this place Sunday afternoon with a large crowd and did some more good singing. Directors for the afternoon were: E. L. Glasscock, J. P. Bean, A. B. Baxley, A. H. Glasscock, Jasper Oaks and Akins Collins; organists were: Misses Emma Campbell and Esther Atkinson. This society meets at Collins Chapel next Sunday. Let's everybody go and help out in the singing.

Mr. Bernie Chandler and Misses Ethel Mize, Pearl Chandler and Florence Cofer motored to Maplesville Sunday and reported a nice time.

Misses Rebecca Dorminey and Edna Robinson spent a while with Mr. and Mrs. Herlie Mims Sunday evening.

Miss Lula Cofer spent Sunday with Miss Delene Collum.

Don't forget the play at this place next Saturday night, the 16th. Everybody come.

Mr. Z. J. Jones of West Chilton was in Clanton attending to some business matters Monday. Mr. Jones is a staunch Republican and a man whom everybody likes and enjoys to be acquainted with.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get the doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

COOPERATIVE MARKETING IS STILL GROWING STRONG

Extension Specialists Review Work of Last Year, Predicting Continual Growth.

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 12, 1924.—Cooperative marketing of farm products made a substantial gain in Alabama last year. The big increase, however, was with cotton, of which 57,400 bales of the 1922 crop were sold cooperativelyl by the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association for $8,200,000. This sale required part of two calendar years.

According to reports of M.H. Pearson and K. G. Baker, Marketing specialists for the Extension service, only 469 cars of hogs were sold cooperatively during the year. The market value of these hogs was $456,862.28. During the peak of hog production in Alabama, as a result of the war demands for meat and meat products, annual cooperative sales of hogs reached approximately $1,000,000 or more than double that of last year.

The report by Mr. Pearson and Mr. Baker shows further that 11,000 head of calves and cattle were sold by the cooperative plan last year for $23,018.34. The biggest cattle sale of the year was held in connection with the Fat Stock Show in Montgomery when several cars were sold in one day.

The Farm Bureau Hay Association closed its first year during 1923 with a large volume of sales to its credit, and improvements along many lines in the marketing of hay.

Co-operative cotton marketing of the 1923 crop will greatly exceed that of the 1922 crop. The volume of cotton handled is greater and the price is higher, insuring a substantial increase in the value of Alabama farm products sold in this way.

NOTICE TO TRUCK OWNERS

Every truck owner in Chilton county engaged in hauling lumber and logs, are asked to meet at the court house in Clanton on Saturday, Feb. 16, at 10 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to consider the new road tax of Chilton county.

STUDEBAKER WINS YOSEMITE RACE FOR FOURTH TIME

Big-Six Touring Car Bucks Through Deep Snows of Mountain Roads in Gruelling Pilgrimage Into Famous Valley.

Studebaker Light-Six Second Touring Car to Reach Yosemite in 1924.

Thrusting triumphantly through snow-and-mud roads, a Studebaker for the fourth year in succession won the hotly contested race to be the first touring car to enter the Yosemite Valley and drive in at the ranger's checking station.

The annual pilgrimage over the snow-tortured roads of the Sierras in order to appear first in the valley is one of the most gruelling grinds known to motordom, and is therefore a highly coveted honor for Studebaker. No car has ever won the race four times before.

The winning passenger car was a stick Studebaker Big-Six, dispatched from the show rooms of the Chester N. Weaver Company, San Francisco. The car was piloted through the "thick going" of the Wawona road by H. M. Gregory. He was welcomed at the park by Chief Ranger, F. S. Townsley.

Light-Six Second Into Park

"Well!" exclaimed the Chief Ranger, "we're not surprised. Although the roads are just about impassable now, we were looking for you. Year after year a Studebaker has been the first touring car into the Yosemite, and we just figured there would be one along again this year."

The Chief Ranger thereupon issued the first touring car permit of the 1924 season to this Studebaker. The snow was heavier and the road conditions more difficult than in any previous year, according to Pilot Gregory. Another Studebaker, a Light-Six touring car, driven by William J. Silva of Modesto, Calif., came in second in the "first into the park" run, and both cars arrived in perfect condition, victors over mountain roads and perilous winter weather.

Roads Were Almost Impassable

"It was mighty cold and the grades were steep," said Pilot Gregory, "but the Big-Six showed fine hill-climbing qualities and ran faultlessly throughout the strenuous race. Several times we had to back away and charge the snow like a battering ram; then we proceeded on. It was a great honor for Studebaker to win this mountain race for the fourth time."

Engineering construction and motor efficiency made it easier for the Studebaker to win the 1924 pilgrimage, it was said. Automobile editors, poring over their records, recall the thrilling dash from the Pacific Coast to the Yosemite in 1922, when a Studebaker Big-Six had to buck the snow drifts for three days before winning the race, while other contestants gave up in despair.

The feat of the 1924 Big-Six is all the more striking, in view of the fact that it covered the distance so rapidly. It demonstrates, motorists say, that this year's Studebaker production is the most versatile "job" in the 72 years of this corporation's manufacturing history.

"Modesto, Calif., Feb. 6, 1924.
The Union-Banner:
I am enclosing herewith my check for $1.50, for which please send me The Union-Banner. I would be glad if you can send me back issues, letting my subscrption date from January 1, 1924.
Yours truly,
F. B. COLLIER."

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . ., she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'.

OAK GROVE

Mr. Bill Martin of this community, who has been sick for some time, was visited Sunday by the members of his Sunday School class. The members who visited him were: Lonnie Northcutt, Carl Wilson, Charlie Foshee, Vollie Matthews, Hazel Glass, Ruth Glass, Carrie Glass, Pauline Lowery, Jack Cobb, Charlie Martin, George Thornton, Flora Cobb, Miss Nellie Glass, their teacher, went with them, which shows to Bill that they have not forgotten him.

The singing class from here went to Providence last Sunday to join the class there in singing.

Our public school here has closed and the teachers, Miss Cheshire, Miss Ruchburg and Miss Murphy have left for their homes. We hope to have them with us again. We feel that they have been a blessing to our school and church, as they were all good church workers.

Below we are submitting a list of the children who were promoted in school from the various grades:

Promoted from 6th to 7th grade—Thelma Pierce, Let Mae Lowery, Lorena Matthews, Marvin Sutley.

Promoted from 7th to 8th grade—Charles Foshee, Flora Cobb, Vergyl Samons, Lola Mae Martin.

Promoted from 5th to 6th grade—Mattie Lee Glass, Ruth Glass, Lorene Glass, Edna Jones, Lois Martin, Mabeth Northcutt, Elon Cobb, Columbus Littleton, Carl Wilson, Ione Foshee.

Promoted from 4th to 5th grade—Meryl Cobb, Hazle Glass, Carrie Mae Glass Fay Martin, Pauline Lowery, Iris Marler, Roberta Satterwhite, Marvin Glass, James Marler, Milton Lowery.

Promoted from 3rd to 4th grade—Gartie Pearman, Hison Cobb, Shelly Reed Glass.

ANNUAL STATE S. S. MEET APRIL 21 AT MONTGOMERY

The Alabama Sunday School Council announces April 21 to 23, 1924 as date for holding its Forty-first Annual Convention.

The place is Montgomery and program committee headed by Dr. W.D. Agnew, has secured a number of continent wide leaders and the program is well under way. Dr. Agnew, chairman of the program committee is optimistic over the prospect of the Convention and feels that he and his committee are building a program unequaled in the state for promoting Christan education.

The General Convention Committee is headed up by John W. Durr of the Durr Drug Company. Mr. Durr is one of the best known Christian business men in Alabama and the fact that he heads up the General Arrangements committee assures the success of the Forty-first Annual Convention.

Half your Living Without Money Cost

You can make it easily at home. Hastings' Seeds, Plants and Bulbs, "The Standard of the South," are all fully described with hundreds of actual photographic pictures in the new 1924 Seed Book of the South. This new Hastings' Seed Catalog is the greatest and most useful Seed Book ever published for the South. You need it, and we want you to have it entirely free.

We are also giving to each 1924 customer 5 SEED PACKETS of BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS ABSOLUTELY FREE. The new Catalog tells all about it and gives "every care for the consideration of the buyer for purchasing and planting seeds, bulbs and plants," says the Seed World Review. We want you to have and keep the wonderful new Seed Book in your home for ready reference at all times. Write for it now. A postcard will do. It will come to you by return mail.

MR. WRIGLEY SAYS:

I believe in newspaper advertising. I spend about a million dollars a year for newspaper space to tell the world about the goods I have to sell.

Nearly everybody reads the papers, and they are the most effective medium to reach the buying public quickly and often.

FARMERS ARE BENEFITTED BY NEW FERTILIZER LAWS

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 9, 1924.—By virtue of the provisions of the Agricultural Code of 1923, Alabama farmers are now able to purchase higher standard fertilizers than farmers of any other state, without having to invest any more money than they did a year ago.

Last year the amount of sand and other make-weight materials used as a filler in fertilizer purchased by our farmers and used in growing crops on the farms of the State are estimated at more than twenty-two thousand tons. The new law eliminates this filler, its place in mixed fertilizer now being taken up by additional plant food. No additional cost to the consumer results from the increased amount of plant food thus made available through the elimination of the filler which also results in a considerable saving in the aggregate, in the matter of freight charges.

Minimum standards prescribed for fertilizer under the new law are higher than those of any other state in the entire country. No complete fertilizer may now be sold in Alabama, that contains less than 16 per cent plant food. The same applies to acid phosphate and potash, acid phosphate with nitrogen, and plain acid phosphate. Under the old law, the minimum was 14 per cent. The highest minimum in any other state is 12 per cent.

Raising of the standard of fertilizer sold and used in Alabama is of the greatest value and importance to the farmers of the State and to the wealth and prosperity of Alabamians in general. Just how much it really does mean can be estimated in a measure by computing the cost of millions of tons of worthless fillers formerly carried in the fertilizers and the probable and reasonable advantages to the production of crops thru the use of higher standard fertilizers and more plant food, without an increased outlay of money, for growing crops, especially for bringing the cotton plant to fruition before the boll weevil is able to deal his most telling blows.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S.S.S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S.S.S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Mandamus proceedings were filed in the circuit court of Lee county by C. G. Carmack, a resident of Russell county, against C. B. Gullatt, mayor of Phenix City, and J. W. Anthony, W. A. Barnes, J. W. Harris, E. L. White and W. M. Bullard as aldermen of Phenix City, alleging that the mayor and aldermen had failed or refused to designate wards for the territory formerly embraced in Girard, and which, by the action of consolidation, became a part of Phenix City and to elect representatives or aldermen from that section of the city as required by law.

The damage to the citrus trees, principally satsuma trees, in Mobile and Baldwin counties, from the freeze, is not very heavy, according to experts. In fact, it is not believed that any of the old trees are hurt and that the young trees are only slightly hurt. Grapefruit trees suffered some damage from the freeze. The damage to cabbage will be very heavy. It is not known the exact figures of the damage to the truck gardens.

John Sparrow, 65 years of age, head of Sparrow Advertising agency and for years prominently connected with newspaper and advertising work in Birmingham, died at 10:05 o'clock Thursday night, Jan. 10, at his residence, 1524 Water street, from a fracture at the base of the skull, sustained when he either fell or was struck by an automobile at the American Trust & Savings bank corner during the wind and rain storm of Thursday afternoon.

The Brundidge Hog Sale association held a very successful sale. Hogs reaching the number of 439 were sold co-operatively. R. L. Metcalf, Hartford, made the purchase of the entire lot, paying $6.65 per hundred weight for top and the prices ranging down, according to grade. The price received by the farmers was only 35 points under the Montgomery market. R. L. King, farm agent, was in charge of the sale.

On Friday, January 25, citizens from various sections of Lauderdale county will gather at the Florence Chamber of Commerce for a farm conference. Business men, farmers, bankers, newspaper men and the public at large, will be present at which time a program will be outlined for 1924. There will be present men who have had years of experience in the farm work at Auburn. The farm bureau will also be represented.

Burling Brown, negro, was killed, and Tom Garrison, another negro, seriously injured when a sewerage ditch in Montgomery caved in. Brown was buried by the dirt, while only Garrison's head was above ground after the cave-in. The ditch had been excavated to a depth of 12 feet and four negroes were continuing the excavation when about five feet of dirt fell upon them. Two escaped by running.

Elmore County has suffered heavily from the effects of the recent freeze. Many truck growers have their gardens blasted and all heretofore growing stuff are lying blackened and dead. Thousands of beautiful cabbage, some already beginning to head, are lying limp and flat. The continued warm weather during November and December caused vegetation to put on a fresh growth, and when the freeze struck this part of the state, everything was blighted.

Anniston knights of the K. K. K. have accepted an invitation from Rev. J. R. Talley, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church three miles below Oxford to attend the preaching services at that place on Sunday night, January 20. The Anniston klansmen will wear their robes during the services at this

It is predicted that Jasper, which has spent more than half a million dollars on hospitals and 200 new homes and business houses the past year, will spend $1,000,000 during the ensuing year for new homes and business houses.

A man's hand was dug up on the Northern Alabama railroad at Nauvoo by bridge builders, according to Chalmers Couch. Thorough investigation was made but no other part of the body was found.

The recent advance in prices seems to be an incentive to the farmers of Lowndes County to give their attention to the raising of live stock for market. Many pastures, which have almost been abandoned for the past few years, are being rebuilt with an added acreage and supplied with the best cattle and hogs.

Ms. Oliver Culp of Maplesville was in Clanton Tuesday.

ALABAMA SIXTH IN PRODUCTION OF WATER POWER

Figures compiled by the divsion of power resources of the Department of the Interior and just released in connection with the geological survey, place Alabama in sixth place among all the states of the Union in the amount of water power produced during December, 1923. According to the report of the geological survey, New York led the list of states, followed by California, Washington, Montana, South Carolina and Alabama, in the order named.

Alabama is credited with the production of water power alone of 65,933 thousands of kilowatt hours of electricity during December. Practically the entire amount of this was generated by the Alabama Power Company, which now ranks 12th or 13th among the American power producers in the amount of energy generated. By far the greater part of the Alabama Power Company's energy is generated by the streams of Chilton County.

It is emphasized that the government's figures are for water power actually produced and have nothing whatever to do with potentialities, notably the one at Muscle Shoals, which, when developed, will place us in a much higher position than te one now occupied.

Mr. N. L. Broadhead of Selma was in Clanton Monday. He said that he wanted to keep up with what was going on in his home county so he gave us his subscription to The Union-Banner.

CLARENCE MULLINS COMES TO VISIT CAPITAL CITY

Clearence Mullins is a young Birmingham lawyer, and is a product of Chilton county. He is a member of that family of Mullins at Clanton which is known over the entire State. He is making a success in his chosen professon in Birmingham. Already you can hear his name mentioned around in the circles that count in Birmingham and this is something unusual for a young lawyer like Mr. Mullins. He takes an active interest in the affairs of this city and State.

The editor of this column met Mr. Mullins for the first time in Birmingham the past week. He has an excellent name if he would drop the plural and make it singular but few would notice the difference. It is not a name that would make a bank president walk to the front door when its bearer came in but there were Mullins on the Mayflower, and up in Boston that would count for something indeed. But around Birmingham it is not a question of whether or not your ancestors came over in the Mayflower, it is a question of "what have you got and how can I separate you from it."

Mr. Mullins brings the news that Birmingham is beginning to take an active interest in politics. He says the subject is being talked on the streets now and a more lively interest is expected.—Montgomery Journal.

How Population Has Grown in L&N Served Territory

Population is always the gauge of prosperity. No matter what a state or community's natural resources are, its real wealth is no more than the extent to which its resources are developed. People are needed to till the soil, operate the mines, husband the stock, run the factories, and carry on the other work necessary to upbuilding all land.

In 1850, when the L. & N. came into being seven of the Southern states which it serves to-day (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee) had an average population of 15 people per square mile. To-day, seventy four years later, this population is increased to 43.8—or nearly three times as many people as in 1850.

Adequate and reliable transportation, largely supplied by the L. & N., has made possible the growth of this territory. People have been brought from elsewhere to join in its development. Conveniently accessible markets have been provided for its products. Intercourse between the states, and with the rest of the world, has been made easy of accomplishment.

Important as this has been, the L. & N. has done still more. Through its Immigration and Industrial Department it has invested time and money in exploiting the South to all parts of the country. It has induced many farmers and manufacturers to come in and settle here; thus—in addition to its basic service as a carrier—making a definite contribution to the South's growth.

This work the L. & N. will continue to perform, constantly striving to make its service a greater and more helpful factor in the upbuilding of its territory.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Littleton are proud parents of a new baby girl.

Mr. Wm. H. Goodgame spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Peterson at Steppeville, Ala. Mrs. Peterson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goodgame.

Mr. Sereno G. Norton, who for several months past has been making a coast to coast trip inspecting various plants of the Hercules Pawder Company, where he is employed as an expert chemist, is now inspectnig their plant at North Birmingham. He spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton in Thorsby. When ready to leave for his home in New Jersey, he will make another brief visit to Thorsby. He will then go to Chicago where he will meet his wife and two children who come from the home of her parents at Grinnell, Iowa. Mr. Norton made a short talk to students at Thorsby Institute chapel service Monday morning on "The necessity and advantages of securing an education."

A very pleasant social event occurred last Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Peterson, when a number of Thorsby ladies gave Mrs. Peterson a surprise party in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Master William Each, son of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph E. Each, had a fall and broke an arm while rolling skating.

Don't forget to remember the Mass Meeting called for Thursday night, February 14th at Wadesonian Theatre in the interest of a new public school building for Thorsby and adjoining districts. Good speakers and good music will be provided.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald made a visit to her son, Lawrence F. Gerald and family in Clanton this week.

Mr. A. M. Johnson has sold his store to Messrs. Lucas and Ward and will retire from active business, which he has assiduously followed in Thorsby for upwards of twenty-five years. Mr. Lucas is well known in Thorsby as an enterprising business man with many friends, while Mr. Ward has for upwards of two years been serving the people of Thorsby as an able assistant in Geo. Freeman's store. Mr. Ward had considerable mercantile experience before coming to this place. We bespeak liberal patronage for the new firm which begins business immediately.

On last Sunday evening Rev. Joseph Each, pastor of the Congregational church had charge of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting. The subject which the society had under discussion was, "What Christ taught and the way He taught it." Rev. Each, in his most inimitable way, clearly outlined the subject under discussion and paved the way for the members of the society to give in detail the different phases of the subject. Almost every member had a part to give and they seemed to have studied it out clearly before hand and knew just what they were talking about. "C. E. will shine Tonight," proved to be the feature song of the service and one which put pep and enthusiasm in the meeting. C. E. will shine next Sunday night; come out and see if it doesn't.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society will hold their monthly social at the home of Mrs. Howard Garrick, first floor Mrs. Villadsen's large house, Thursday afternoon, February 14th.

On Tuesday afternoon, February 12th a number of Thorsby ladies gave a surprise party to Mrs. N. A. Long.

THE HELEN KELLER LITERARY SOCIETY

Chiefly through the efforts of Miss Stoddard, who by personal contributions and gifts from others, inspired by her solicitation and tenacity of purpose, Bates Hall is today equipped with comfortable modern single-seat desks. This room is the home of the Helen Keller Literary Society, composed of Thorsby Institute student body. This fact was conveyed to Miss Keller in a letter from Miss Stoddard, with a suggestion that she might like to make a contribution to the "Desk Fund." Miss Keller's reply follows:

"Forest Hills, L. I., N. Y.,
November 26, 1923.

Dear Miss Stoddard:

I am at a loss to express by deep appreciation of your kindness in writing to me about the activities of the "Helen Keller Literary Society" in the little town in Alabama. It rejoices my heart to know that my name is linked with the helpful work of those bright young people. Please convey to them my cordial greetings and tell them how proud I am that they are such an influence for good in the community.

It is indeed a service if together we help to interest the world—even a wee bit of the world—in good literature. Books have been a wellspring of joy to me. They have glorified the commonplace. Out of them have come the songs, the beauty and the color which enliven all the days of my life. Great books are the flowers and fruits of human thought and a perpetual delight to those who know how to enjoy them.

I should feel unhappy indeed if I did not contribute my "bit" towards the re-equipment of the school where the "Helen Keller Society" is so bravely carrying on forward the banner of accomplishment. Beside the little check, I am sending one of my photographs. Perhaps my namesake will find a nook for it somewhere in the place where they meet. The book I am reading in the picture is the Bible—the most precious of all books.

With renewed thanks for your lovely letter, and with hope that sometime I may have the opportunity of meeting you, I am,

Very cordially yours,
HELEN KELLER."

The photograph mentioned was a large one of striking beauty and artistic excellence. During the Christmas vacation Miss Stoddard took it with her to Chicago, where she went to visit her parents, had it appropriately framed, and it has now just arrived as a gift from Helen Keller to the Helen Keller Literary Society, and will be appropriately installed in a conspicuous place in Bates Hall.

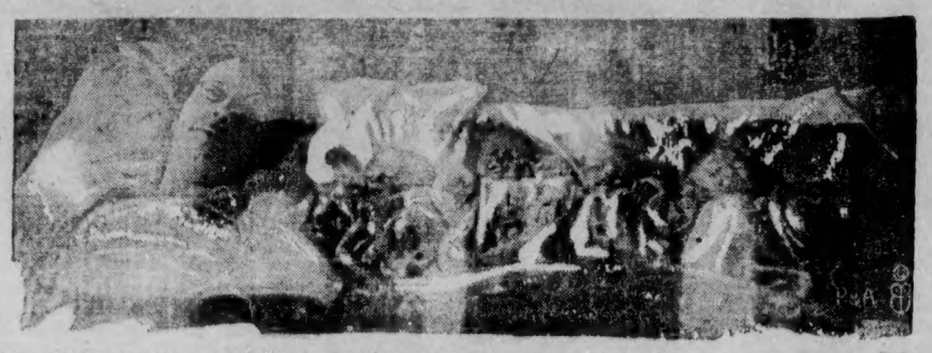
"ALL FOUR DOING WELL, THANK YOU!"



"AN EVEN DOZEN now! All healthy and happy."

That's what George L. Wittig of Baltimore, Md., tells anybody who inquires as to the number of children in his family. And it's a mighty proud father he is, for divine Providence recently presented him with a quartet of additional members to his household. The photo here shows the new arrivals as they posed with their happy mother fifteen hours after their birth.

The quadruplets—three of which are girls—are all normal and strong. The boy weighed five pounds and the smallest of the girls four pounds, two ounces—making a total of eighteen pounds and three ounces for the four.

Indeed, 'tis quite a family the Wittigs have now.

CHILTON COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MINUTES

There are several churches of the Chilton County Baptist Association which have not as yet called for their minutes. These minutes were left at The Union-Banner office by Mr. Billingsley, the Clerk, for us to distribute; so the clerks of the churches below will please take notice and either come to our office and get these minutes or have some one else call for them. They are here for you and we have got absolutely no use for them. In fact, we want to get them out of our way.

POOR OR

MRS. W. P. HICKS WRITES FROM QUINCY, FLORIDA

Quincy is our postoffice address, but we are writing the news from Littman, a flag stop on a branch railroad line that runs from Quincy, Fla., to Havana, Fla. Littman is only a sawmill town, four miles from Quincy, named for Mr. Littman, a very wealthy farmer living here, who owns most all the land near this place.

The people here do most of their trading with Quincy merchants, and also attend church and school there. The company here has a store and keeps a full line of merchandise, but most of the people own a car, so it doesn't take long to run over to Quincy.

Mr. T. Holmes, who sprained his foot some time ago, is able to be up again. His many friends will be delighted to learn of his improvement.

Mr. Eugene Thompson, a former sawmill operator of Shoults community, Chilton county, now a contractor here, went to Quincy last Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. We suppose he has found him a Florida girl.

Mrs. Culp from Billingsley, Ala., who has been here nearly two years, was a very delightful hostess last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in her home, when she entertained at an informal sewing party. Eleven members of the party enjoyed her hospitality. Carnations and ferns were used in decorating. At the conclusion of the fancy work done by the ladies, cake, hot chocolate and and Jello was served.

Assisting Mrs. Culp in looking after the pleasure of her guests, was Mrs. Freeman, a former resident of Alabama.

The new members of the party were: Mrs. W. P. Hicks and Mrs. Homer Kornegay.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tom Love next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Culp and Mrs. Freeman motored to Havana last Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Walker McGee, who is chief clerk for the company's store here, has just returned from a short visit to parents near Maplesville, Ala.

Mr. Milford Thompson left last Sunday for his home in Alabama.

JASPER J. DAVIS SICK

Mr. Jasper J. Davis, former resident of Chilton County now of Elmore, is in Hill's Infirmary in Montgomery undergoing treatment. Mr. Dennis has been mighty sick suffering from complications of rhumatism. Mr. Jasper N. Dennis, who is a nephew of the above named man, was in Montgomery to see him Sunday and reports that he is improving.

Mrs. Vonzell Shrader of Birmingham made a short visit to her sister, Miss Ruth Mooney, who is teaching at South Calera, last Tuesday.

Mr. Charlie Thames was visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Busby last Sunday.

A number of people from Birmingham were down Sunday looking at some of the places around South Calera that are probably for sale.

Mrs. Jessie Cox was the guest of Mrs. Frank Shaw in Calera last Wednesday.

A number of young people were socially entertianed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Glass's Sunday night, music being the main feature of the evening.

Mr. Amy Boswell was a week-end visitor in South Calera.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Jones enjoyed a "spend-the-day" with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Busby Sunday.

Mr. Holen Crim entertained a number of friends at his home last Thursday night.

Mr. Edd Seales from Calera was a South Calera visitor Sunday.

Birthday Party.

Mr. Holen Crim delightfully entertained at his home last Sunday with a birthday party. Plates were laid for the following: Miss Lutie Jones, Mr. Leon Busby, Miss Hazel Cox, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burgess, Mrs. Jessie Cox, including members of the family. The center of the table held a large birthday cake with 21 pink candles on it, while the rest of the table was covered with delicious eats. Music on the Edison was enjoyed throughout the day and the entire crowd had a delightful time.

Mr. Homer Martin was home for the week-end.

Miss Ruth Mooney came back from Columbiana Sunday afternoon, accompanied by a number of friends.

Miss Mayme Clark left Monday for Birmingham to be gone several weeks.

Mr. S. K. Walker from Birmingham was a distinguished visitor in South Calera Sunday, being the dinner guest of Miss Mexa Tate.

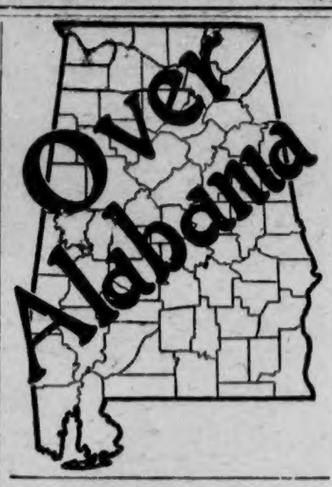
A few of the young people motored to Calera Sunday to see the viaduct that is being constructed on the new "speedway."

Miss Mexa Tate and Miss Catherine Clark enjoyed a few social hours at Miss Lutie Jones' Sunday night.

Miss Hazel Cox gave a Rook Party to several friends at her home last Tuesday night.

Mrs. E. D. Crim spent Tuesday with Mrs. J. W. Burgess.

Mrs. Hiram Busby and Miss U. V. Busby enjoyed last Monday at Mrs. W. N. Jones.



ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

If a person learned 180 laws a day it would take that person just 10 years to learn all of the laws that are now on the statute books in this country and that person would then only know what the law was 10 years ago, because he would not have had time to learn the new ones adopted during his period of study, according to the statement of W. J. Wynn, in an address before the League of Women Voters at Fairfield.

Something over $350,000 is being spent in the way of improvements in Russellville and Franklin county at this time. The expenditures include a new water system, a new ice plant the finishing of the Jackson highway between Russellville and Phil Campbell, Ala., a distance of 25 miles, installation of new lighting and power wiring by the Alabama Power company and several new dwellings.

All necessary arrangements for holding the state primary set for March 11 will be made and carried out, R. B. Evins of Birmingham, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, said in a statement issued. Mr. Evins stated that the ruling of Attorney General Harwell G. Davis, that the primary set for March 11 is within the party jurisdiction was correct.

Experiments under way at the Southern Experiment Station of the Department of the Interior, University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, under the direct management of the United States Bureau of Mines, will bring about wonderful results in a recovery of profitable products in the blast furnaces flue dust, heretofore a waste product, it is said.

The fact that Joe Lucy, a child under 16, was allowed to work in a coal mine of the Railway Fuel company, despite the provisions of the state labor law and that he met death through accident in the mine, gave the administrator of his estate ground for action under the homicidal law of Alabama, according to a decision by the supreme court.

John Windham of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, R. B. Watts, lawyer and former federal commissioner, and a young woman who said she was "Mrs. Ash" but failed to describe herself further, are the latest applicants for the Birmingham postmastership, which is to be settled by civil service examination on February 19th.

A. M. Tunstall of Greensboro, chairman of the Underwood campaign committee for Alabama announced that he had asked Gov. B. B. Comer to name at least half of the Alabama delegation to the New York democratic convention in case Senator Underwood receives the indorsement of the votes of the state in the preferential primary.

Seven convicts were indicted for alleged conspiracy to kill convict wardens and restoration of the lash in "extreme cases" was recommended by the Shelby county grand jury which returned a comprehensive report on the mutiny of convicts at Aldrich mines of the Thomas-Weller coal mines on January 12.

The various counties of the state will not be called on by the state highway department to maintain the roads to be built in the year beginning 1924, and for which sale of $7,000,000 worth of state bonds has been authorized, according to Chairman John Rogers of the highway commission.

Etowah county convicts are now engaged in rebuilding the Cox Gap road from the brow of Sand Mountain to Boaz, a distance of seven miles. It is understood that a base of slag is to be surfaced with chert. The Civitan clubs of Boaz and Gadsden and traveling men of Gadsden have been urging the improvement for some time.

The Alabama Public Service commission has granted the petition of the Alabama Power company, for authority to issue and sell 50,000 shares of its cumulative, preferred stocks.

A whirlwind swooped down upon a 10-acre plot on the farm of M. A. Boyette, located near Searight, Ala., on which five buildings were located and made kindling wood of all of them.

CEDAR GROVE

The singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon. There were several visitors present whom we were glad to have with us. Directors were Harrson Hayes, Claudie and Neacie Smith; organists, Claudie M. Smith and Bonnie Littlejohn. We elected new officers for the coming year—Chairman, Harrison Hayes and Secretary, Bonnie Littlejohn; program committee, Myrtle Littlejohn, Flora Hayes and Zemmie Collins. We will meet again on the fourth Sunday afternoon, and will be glad to have visitors with us.

Next Saturday and Sunday are preaching days at this place. The time has been changed from the 4th to the 3rd Sunday in each month.

MAPLESVILLE BASKET BALL TEAM DEFEATS ISABELLA

On Friday afternoon, February 8, Maplesville defeated Isabella in the basket ball game of the season, with a score of 6 to 8. Not until the third quarter could you tell which way the game would break. Isabella scored first by Leevie Smith taking a hard throw from extreme corner of the court, which netted two points, followed shortly by Maplesville scoring field goal. Then it was a tuggle until the whistle blew for first quarter to end score, 2 to 2.

Second quarter was a beautiful display of passes and breaking up of passes, both teams fighting desperately for their goals. Whistle blew for half to end, score 2 to 2. Third quarter Maplesville came back strong throwing three field goals, under ferocious fighting on the part of Isabella. Third quarter ended, score 2 to 8 in favor of Maplesville.

Fourth quarter, Isabella rallied and threw two field goals, game ending with score of 6 to 8, Maplesville's victory.

The boys displayed the clearest cut sportsmanship that has ever been witnessed on a basket ball court, and was the hardest fought game that either team has ever engaged in.

Langston McCraw standing guard fought the ball off its goal with super natural power. Preston Williams, at forward, though a beginner, handled himself as an old player. Jethro Hayes played at center as never before. Harold Smith played running guard as usual with his sturdy never-give-up spirit. Earl Williams, substitute for Lewis Smith, played an excellent game.

As for Maplesville, I do not know the players' names but they too played a hard, open-fisted game. Timekeepers were Prof. Harris and Clarence LeCroy; Referee, Prof. H. W. Caldwell.

THOUGHT 3 LITTLE CHILDREN NEEDED MOTHER'S CARE

"My stomach suffering was so severe that I could not have lasted much longer. I did not care so much for myself but did not want to leave my three little children who needed a mother's love and care. A cousin in California wrote me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I took a course of it. I have since been entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Notice of Road Laws

No tax is required of any person for hauling over the public roads of the county with a wagon.

A tax or license is required for trucks hauling timber, lumber or minerals equal to one-half of the tax levied by the State. This tax was due Jan. 15th and will be delinquent Feb. 15th, 1924.

Any person subject to road duty may be exempt for the year by paying $5.50 on or before March 1st.

All of the above licenses and fees are payable at the Probate Office and any person subject to same may be prosecuted for a violation thereof, except that person subject to road duty may work seven days of ten hours in lieu of payment.

This the 28th day of Jan., 1924.

Seventh Grade Examination

The regular County Seventh Grade Examination will be held at the following points in the county on March 28 and 29, 1924.

Clanton, Thorsby, Jemison, Cooper, Verbena, Maplesville, Stanton, Isabella, Fairview, and at any other point in the county where a sufficient number of applicants may request same, provided, this request is made in time to make necessary arrangements for conducting the examination.

The subjects on which this examination will be based will be:

Arithmetic, English Grammar, U. S. History, Agriculture, Geography and Spelling.

The standards to be followed in making the questions for this examination will be the same as last year and any one desiring a list of these requirements may secure same from my office.

This examination is being held earlier than heretofore through courtesy to the short term schools and any pupil attending a school which runs for nine months will not necessarily have to take this examination as another will be given the latter part of August for any who may not take at this time.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,

specifications for concrete paving had been changed by the concrete people themselves 14 times in the last six years. He said the specifications had gradually gone down from a ten inch to a six inch thickness.

Seeks Competition.

Mr. Donelson asked the commission to make is possible for competition in the construction of roads in Alabama. He asked that the specifications be changed so that asphalt and other types of paving could come in and bid with some chance of success. Mr. Donelson suggested that the commission make a specification of 8 inches for concrete types of pavement and see if the difference between that thickness and the 65-8 specified would not be warranted by the additional life that would be added. Mr. Donelson went into a technical discussion of the kinds of paving and pointed to what he said was long-life bituminous paving in various sections of the country as providing that this type of paving can and does stand the traffic that results from modern conditions. He pointed to asphalt streets in Montgomery laid on a 5-inch concrete base which he said had shown little sign of wear in seventeen years and whose cost of upkeep, he said, had been negligible.

Herbert Warren of the firm of Warren Brothers, which use the Warrenite method of surfacing followed Mr. Donelson. He pointed out that under the specifications adopted by the commission his concern would not hope to compete. He said under the specifications his concern would have to lay six niches of concrete and then put the surface on, which would give an eight-inch paving as against the six-inch concrete paving. He said his concern would not bid against concrete under what he said was a handicap.

"I know you gentlemen want competition," said Mr. Warren, "But under this specification you do not get it." Mr. Warren pointed to what he said was 15-year old bitulithic pavement in Birmingham which he said stands up better than concrete paving only ten years old. He pointed to Highland Avenue in Birmingham, which he said had two inches of bitulithic an a six-inch slag base. Mr. Warren pointed to Illinois, which he said had raised the thickness of concrete paving to nine inches in 1920 from a 6-inch standard which prevailed in 1913. He said he understood Illinois now has the same standard which the commission has adopted for the Chilton County road.

Mr. Warren said if the commission would specify a 5-inch base with a 2-inch top, it would give his concern a chance to compete.

Mr. Dunn of the Dunn Construction Company said the specifications that the commission has named in the Chilton county road are really non-competitive, that is, there can be no competitive bidding as between types of paving.

Use of Local Material.

Mr. Fitzwalter said his concern wants to use Alabama rock asphalt mined near Florence in its Alabama work but thtat under the specifications fixed by the commission, this Alabama material cannot compete with concrete. He said the Texas federal roads engineer prescribes a 5-inch concrete base with a 13-4 inch top of rock asphalt.

E. G. Berneike said brick would not be able to compete in the bidding under the specifications. He pointed to brick pavement in Montgomery, Dothan, Troy, and other places as showing how brick would stand up under modern traffic conditions.

The commisison did not take any action on the matter presented by the paving representatives.

MISS CURRY TO SING OVER RADIO ON MARCH 13th

Miss Curry Has Been Added to The New York Times' Staff of Radio Artists.

The announcement has just been made that Miss Roberta Curry, who is now in New York City taking voice under Henry Stickles, has been added to the New York Times staff of radio artists, and will sing at that broadcasting station in New York City on March 13th.

Before Miss Curry left Clanton she had already won much fame all over the State as a soprano of rare sweetness, and since going to America's metropolis she has been continually climbing up step by step until she is already recognized among the voice artists of that great city as possessing a voice that commands the attention of the real masters in the music world. An effort is being made by a large phonograph record establishment to get her to allow some of her productions to be recorded, and as soon as such is done a supply of these records will be placed on sale in Clanton and in all other parts of the country.

We are indeed proud of the record Miss Curry has made, which certainly speaks well for her and her family and her home community. There are not many people from Clanton who have risen higher in their chosen profession than has this talented young lady. And the beauty about the matter is that Miss Curry has accomplished what she has largely through her own efforts. Although Mr. and Mrs. Curry have stood behind Roberta and have helped her all they could in her momentous undertakings, yet the initiative and the determination to attain high and enviable standing among the masters in the music world was begun and worked out solely by Roberta herself.

It requires a great deal or courage and ambition for a young lady to take it upon herself to part with her people and her home and her multitude of loving friends and go into a big hustling city of six million people to pursue her studies and battle against the many perplexing obstacles that must necessarily come in her path, but in spite of the facts that her people and friends tried to persuade her againnst her course, yet Roberta based her ambition upon her own will and went into it dead set to win, and she has won. The honor which the young lady has already attained is distinct indeed, and we are all really proud that we can claim her as our own product and take to ourselves esteem and honor for the splendid and salient record the young lady has made for herself and for the people back home who have remembered her so lovingly and have so earnestly watched her development both while she was with us and since she went away.

THE RAT CAMPAIGN

Boys, remember that the rat-killing campaign opens in Clanton on next Saturday, February 23rd and closes March 28th. You will get a valuable prize if you kill the most rats during this time and present their tails on the last day of the contest.

ANNUAL RABBIT HUNT COME OFF TOMORROW

Don't forget that tomorrow, Friday, is the time for the annual rabbit hunt. If you want to go, have your dogs at the court house tomorrow morning at daylight. And don't forget to bring along the annual fee, namely your dinner. That is all it will cost you.

Not Long Till An Election; and No Candidates Out

The regular primary election comes off on May 11th. In Chilton county there will be four vacancies to be filled, nominations for which will be made in this primary. These offices are: Two County Commissioners, to take the places of Mr. Walker and Mr. Littlejohn, a County Treasurer, and one member of the County Board of Education, to take the place of Mr. Dykes.

It is less than three months now till the primary, so it might be well for us to begin to look around and see who is going to run. The County Executive Committee will set a date before which all announcements must be made. This date will be announced as soon as it is set by the committee. So we are listening for something to be said in regard to announcements for these offices.

Farmers Preparing For Big Cotton Crop in County This Year

The past week of dry and sunny weather has given the farmers a chance to put in five or six days of solid work, and the tillers of the soil of Chilton county have been taking advantage of this fact. Farmers from all over the county, who were in Clanton Saturday afternoon reported that they had been busily engaged most all the week in turning their land for the next crop.

All indications thus far point to a heavy cotton crop in this county this year. Preparations are being made for a greater acreage than was had last year. The fact that most of the winter grain has been killed by the severe cold makes it necessary that something else be planted instead of the grain, and in most cases cotton will supply this vacancy. Mr. J. N. Dennis, who lives near Clanton and who is one of the most progressive farmers in this section, says that the farmers over the county are making arrangements for a greater acreage to cotton this year than last year. Mr. W. H. Conway, another progressive farmer of near Jemison, says that the same indications prevail in his section. J. H. Benson of the Collins Chapel community near Thorsby reports that the farmers of his community are preparing for the planting of fully as much if not more cotton than last year.

The dealers in commercial fertilizers in Clanton and the other towns of the county report that they have been doing a rushing business for the past few days. So, from all indications now, if the weather man and the boll weevil will deal favorably with the farmers this year Chilton county will produce a record cotton crop.

"OH, FOR A BEAR'S LIFE!"

FOLKS, here's "Winnie"—a very temperamental female bear of the London zoo—who does not seem to be leading such a hard life in captivity. At least, not according to the story the camera tells in this picture.

Getting this picture, however, is another story. As we said before, "Winnie" is very temperamental. So when they decided to take some official motion pictures in the London zoo, "Winnie" was very adverse to posing. Nothing could be used to convince her that the publicity she was to get would gain her popularity.

Finally, the girl in the picture—Miss Gladys Callow—hit upon an idea. A package of delicious figs was secured. The ruse worked. "Winnie" was sitting in front of her, begging for figs.

Instead of handing a fig at a time to "Winnie," however, Miss Callow placed one between her own fair lips and extended them to the bear. Gently and tenderly, "Winnie" reached for it, munched it and looked to the same sweet lips for more.

And, all the while the movie camera man was grinding out the film from which this photograph was taken.

Very Destructive Fire at the Home of Rev. W. S. Cox

On Wednesday night of last week the barn of Rev. W. S. Cox of Fairview community was destroyed by fire. The family of Mr. Cox was at the home of their neighbor when someone looked out and discovered that something was on fire at the Cox home. The folks rushed up there as fast as possible, but when they reached the place the fire was so well under way that nothing could be done to save the barn. Two fine cows were trapped in the fire and burned to death. A quantity of corn and fodder and other feed stuff was destroyed, the total loss running up into seven or eight hundred dollars.

Musical Treat to Be Given at Weldon's New Music House

On Thursday night of this week the Thorsby Orchestra, assisted by Mrs. Jatie Middleton at the piano, will give a musical entertainment at Weldon's Music House in Clanton. After several musical numbers are rendered Mr. Bice, leader of the Thorsby Orchestra, assisted by Mr. Weldon and other interested parties, will organize a band for Clanton. The public has a cordial invitation to come and hear the music and help in the organization of the band.

A Chilton County Boy Dies Up in the State of Michigan

Hugh Madison Foshee, son of our Mr. Charley D. Foshee of Billingsley, died in Grand Rapids, Mich., Saturday, February 16th. At the time of his death Hugh was staying with his brother, Dr. J. C. Foshee, where the young man had been for months past. Hugh was subject to some kind of nervous spells, and he was up north with the hopes of overcoming these spells and regaining his health.

The young man went into the bath room supposedly for the purpose of taking a bath. It is assumed that after he had drawn the bath tub partially full of water, one of the spells jumped him and he fell into the tub on his face, drowning himself, as he was a few minutes later found dead in the tub.

It will be remembered that Hugh entered high school here about a year ago, but was forced to quit school since the confinement of his studies seemed to be against his health.

The body arrived at Clanton Monday night on the Pan-American and was taken to the home of his father near Billingsley. The remains were buried the next day at New Cedron cemetery, Rev. W. S. Cox conducting the services.

Work Being Pushed On Securing Deeds to Chilton Highway

The work of getting the deeds to the right-of-way for the State Highway through Chilton County is being worked up as fast as possible. The matter of getting the deeds signed up in legal form has been placed in the hands of Col. Thos. A. Curry, who reports that he is having scarcely any trouble in getting the deeds signed up. The people owning the land through which the road will pass seem as a rule to be very reasonable in their demands on the highway department, for they all realize that it will be a distinct advantage in having the highway pass through their lands.

It appears that the bids will be let in the near future for the grading of the part of the highway between Lomax and South Calera. Practically all the attention of the State Highway Commission is now turned toward the work on the Chilton County division of the big project.

MAXIM HOLDS THAT TEA VIOLATES VOLSTEAD ACT

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 18.—Hudson Maxim, scientist and inventor, today stated he had engaged counsel to take action under the eighteenth amendment against restaurants and other places selling tea and coffee. A prominent hotel in Newark or New York City, will be selected for the first raid.

Commissioners Court In Session at Clanton During This Week

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in session at the court house Monday and Tuesday of this week. The principal matters taken up and passed on were regarding the road work in the county. The commissioners ordered Judge Reynolds to buy for the county one Catipillar tractor which will be used on the roads of the county. The commissioners announced that they were going to work right away on the main roads of the county and as soon as these are fixed up work will begin on the mail route roads.

A committee went before the commissioners asking that the wagons engaged in regular hauling be placed under a special tax the same as the trucks are. The commissioners did not grant this request, however. The reason that the commissioners have exempted the wagons from taxation is because they consider that a comparatively small number of wagons engage in regular hauling, and it would be a hard matter to tax any wagons without taking them all as several farmers do a little hauling with their wagons after they get through work on their farms. They only haul for a few weeks, and of course to tax them for the whole year around would not be right. The most of the regular hauling now is done with trucks.

The Huntsville Star New Morning Paper of Edward Doty

Mr. Edward Doty has brought into being another newspaper. This time it is The Huntsville Morning Star, the first issue of which appeared on the morning of February 10th. The officers of the new paper are: Edward Doty, editor and president; W. R. Jordan, associate editor; D. G. O'Neal, secretary and treasurer. The Star is printed in Huntsville, Ala., at a brand new plant.

Mr. Doty is a hustling newspaper man, he having edited papers all over the State. The first paper connected with was the Andalusia Star, which paper Mr. Doty edited for several years. He then went to Tuscaloosa and bought out the Tuscaloosa News, a daily paper, which he managed for six or seven years. He then went to LaFayette where he assumed control of the LaFayette Sun, running this paper for a couple of years. He is now in Huntsville at the head of The Morning Star.

The Morning Star is a very creditable daily paper, which is published every morning, including Sunday. Huntsville is a hustling town and Doty is a hustling editor, which two things make failure an impossibility.

PRESIDENT WILL PURGE PARTY OF LEASE SCANDAL

President Tells 2,000 Republicans What He Will Do to Guilty Men In Oil Lease Case.

New York, Feb. 18.—The promise to purge the party of the oil lease scandal marked the opening here tonight of President Coolidge's campaign to again hold the highest office in the land.

He told 2,000 members from the National Republican club that he would remove every corrupt official. But as stated, when he defied the senate on the Denby ouster resolution, he will stand by every one until found guilty by his special investigation counsel.

"There have been most startling revelations," he declared. "It is my duty to extend to every individual the constitutional rights to the presumption of innocence until proven guilty. But I have another duty—enforcing the law. In that I do not intend to fail."

He will be cautious, he said, and seek to avoid the hue and cry, the mingling of innocent and guilty.

Theodore Roosevelt, who must rise or fall with Secretary Denby and who also is under attack, sat near the president.

The presdeint reserved his declaration on the oil fraud scandal for the last.

It was his parting shot—a declaration that he does not need the suggestion of congress to enforce the law.

The object of the republican party dinner was to pay a tribute to Abraham Lincoln. The eulogy to the martyred president was brief but high. With Washington, Lincoln was one of the greatest men of all time, said the president.

Far away from the fashionable banquet room and the display of luxury there were thousands of other listeners by radio.

The president went from one subject to the other rapidly—from measures of aid for the farm to government finances and the condition of the country economically.

Inferentially he scored America's allies who have failed to pay their war debt. He commended the British for paying.

On taxes he issued a warning that unless the people launch a nation-wide propaganda campaign on congress the Mellon bill will fail. For himself he pledged opposition to material changes in the proposal.

His foreign policy has changed, he said. He intimated that the time has come when the United States must participate in European debt settlements. He said that the mission of General Dawes would fail without United States aid. There is a moral obligation to share the world burden, he said.

The sale of arms to Mexico was stoutly defended. He said that this policy had gone a long way to compose the situation and assure the Obregon government of lasting friendship.

He added that he does not approve traffic in arms, however, and would

MULBERRY NEWS

Everybody around here is busy fixing for a crop.

We are sorry to say that there is some sickness around here.

A good many people enjoyed the Valentine party given by Misses Annie and Gelais Manning last Thursday night.

A large crowd attended the candy breaking at Mrs. Myrtle Williams last Saturday night week, and all reported a grand time.

Miss Pauline Veazy and Miss Ella Giles motored to Clanton Sunday p.m.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody is invited. We want to do more for our heavenly Father.

A recent letter from Mr. Jas. W. Lowe, better known as "Jim," who holds a position on the Selma Times-Journal as linotype operator, states that he likes his new place fine.

Mrs. H. B. Mahan of Luverne, Ala., spent the week-end with friends and relatives in Chilton county.

Gained Ten Pounds

Mrs. George S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga., says she suffered severely with female troubles.

"I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time," says Mrs. Hunter. "I could not work. My . . . were irregular and I got very thin. I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had been a user of and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle up I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. . . I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my . . . are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Take Cardui.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

Maplesville is progressing very nicely at the present. The mumps and measles are all about gone. No report of any sickness of any kind.

There was a good meeting here last week. Everyone reported a very good week's meeting.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still very good. Sunbeam is progressing nicely.

Our school will be out Friday, Feb. 22nd. We are very sorry it won't last any longer. We were in hopes that it would last longer so that we could get in the new school building, but looks impossible this year. We truly hope we can put in a full term next year in our beautiful new building.

There was preaching Sunday a.m. and p.m., by Bro. W. T. Edwards.

We are glad to say that Mr. T. R. Williams has his new cafe almost complete.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Foshee of Clanton were visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. Fox Sunday.

Mrs. Audrey Wyatt of Clanton was visiting Miss Elva Seales Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Williams and Miss Estell Davis made a business trip to Selma last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint McGee spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Lawley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oden spent Sunday with Mrs. Oden's mother, Mrs. Anna Latham.

Mrs. R. R. Seales and little son, Kelly, spent the week-end with her brother, Mr. Homer Ratliff of Sardis community.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden and little daughter, Gladys, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Pearl Sewell.

Mrs. Sallie Perry and little son, Melvin Dotis of Plantersville, spent the week-end with Mrs. Clint Cobern.

WEST CHILTON

Noting the voluminous correspondence in The Union-Banner causes us to think some one would be interested in reading a brief review of the happenings in this part since the first of the year.

Among the accidents is L. D. Atchison in cranking his truck broke his arm.

At this writing Joe Atchison is low with pneumonia.

John S. Waldrup has opened a new store at his residence just east of Randolph.

Great many people have gone from this section, so much so it looks as if the churches would not be able to function,—a good time to develop new workers.

Mr. John Crumpton and family, Mr. J. C. Veazey and family, Mr. Pratt Crumpton and family have gone to Childersburg.

W. M. Merchant and family, and Lon Brown and family have gone to Sylacauga.

Miss Bevie Smith has secured a position in Birmingham.

Mr. Arch Crumpton's little child died Monday.

Mr. George Dawson of Autauga was buried at Pleasant Grove Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brockmeyer of Ensley are visiting the latter's brother, Mr. Joe Atchison. Mrs. Brockmeyer was formerly Miss Norene Atchison, one of the finest young ladies this section ever produced.

Mr. M. McCary has moved his family back to Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Barrett of Thorsby were at the burial here Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett are among Thorsby's finest people.

Mr. Newt Atchison and wife of Ensley are visiting here.

Mrs. Bird Smith has recently been visiting in Blocton.

Commissioner Mims was here recently to erect a new bridge on Jemison mail route No. 1. Our people have great faith in our county officials.

Miss Clements closed her school at Freeman last week, the training of the young to be real men and women, to lead them away from the low groveling things that appeal to the foolish, to the high realms of purity and perfection the intended destiny of man, is largely in the teachers' hands.

Miss Effie Atchison has recently been visiting at Dogwood.

Don't Lose Sight of the Food Value of Your Bakings

Plain flour has a large amount of food value but it must be combined with good baking powder in order to retain this value.

Most self rising flours are not successful because they do not raise the bakings to the proper lightness. This means a certain loss of nutrition because they are heavy and hard to digest.

Every time you eat food that does not properly digest you do not get the full nutritional value—you are over-taxing your stomach. Nourishing and perfect bakings are what good health demands. The one sure way is—use pure flour and good baking powder.

If you want to find what thousands of housewives have learned—make some biscuits with self-rising flour—then make some with good plain flour and Calumet Baking Powder—notice the great difference. One trial will satisfy you. Your health demands that you make the experiment.

Those who know—millions of housewives, domestic science teachers, big hotels, restaurants, bakeries and railroads will not use anything but Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder.

Play safe—use Calumet and plain flour. It is the most economical and satisfactory, where light, wholesome and pure foods are desired.

2,500,000 Dollars For Your SAFETY

In order to increase the factor of safety to the millions of passengers who move over its tracks during the year, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is spending millions of dollars in equipping its tracks with an electrically-controlled, automatic block signal system.

These signals protect trains against head-on and rear-end collisions, open switches, broken rails, or cars on the siding standing too close to the main track. In addition to the safety features, these signals expedite traffic and enable trains to be run more nearly on time.

Beginning in 1912, the L. & N. now has completed and under construction and contracted for, 1,089 miles of such signals; at a cost of $2,592,000.00, or $2,380.00 per mile. The Company spends $220,000.00 every year to keep these signals in good working order.

Constant watchfulness and care on the part of the L. & N. organization coupled with the Management's policy of providing proved safety devices, has resulted in the L. & N. having an enviable record for safety to passengers.

Sophomores Entertain Seniors.

The Sophomores of the C. C. H. S. were hosts on last Thursday evening to the Senior class at a pretty Valentine party at the high school auditorium. The stage was decorated with a profusion of red hearts and red balloons and ferns. An interesting program, consisting of readings and music was enjoyed, and later in the evening refreshments were served to the following:

Misses Sarah Mullins, Jewel Minor, Prudie Smith, Estelle Littlejohn, Lila Bell Smith, Evelyn Littlejohn, Lurline Minor, Ida Mae Doster, Rubye Armstrong, Sarah Luckie, Erin Danforth, Jewel McDowell, Frances Lowery, Mary Sue Hinds, Tate, Carter, Mrs. Middleton, Mr. Peterson, Mr. Dark, Prof. Stephens, Charles Moore, Udah Curlee, Burton Mullins, Reese Mullins, Jafie Jones, Billie Smith, Raymond Roberts, Barney Burnett, Thomas Gragg, Grady Parrish, Luther Vines, Lester Glenn, James Higgins.

Spend-the-Day Party Given.

One of the loveliest of the season's social affairs was given Tuesday by Mrs. O. Kyle, entertaining at a bridge spend-the-day party at the home of Mrs. Victor Heard. An attractive arrangement of yellow johnquils in baskets tied with green tulle brightened the apartments. Bridge was played at four tables and at noon a lovely 3-course luncheon was served. Afterwards the game was continued and at the close of the day the top score was held by Mrs. Arthur Johnson, who was presented a set of parfee glases. On the cut for the consolation, Mrs. T. C. McSwain was presented a hand-made handkerchief, while the "booby," a tiny French doll, fell to Mrs. Lyman. Delicious home-made candy was served during the afternoon. Included in this courtesy were Mesdames Hance Alred, John Browder, L. F. Gerald, Arthur Johnson, Oscar Jones, T. C. McSwain, Grady Reynolds, Hugh Simpson, Guy Higgins, Carrie Mullins, Eric Hart, Frank Callen, Guy Roberts, Willis Lyman, Victor Heard and Miss Bettie Mullins.

Sims-Higgins Wedding Solemnized.

The bride is of a charming brunette type and has endeared herself to her many friends here. Mr. Higgins holds a responsible position with the Clanton Mercantile Co.

Mrs. White Hostess.

The hospitable home of Mrs. M. L. White was thrown open to a number of friends and members of the Wednesday sewing club last week. Flowering begonias were used to decorate the living room and music on the Edison was enjoyed. Fancy needle work and social conversation was enjoyed and late in theh afternoon a lovely salad course with hot coffee was served. Those present were Mrs. V. J. Elmore, Mrs. M. A. Gore, Mrs. Grady Taylor, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. Ervin Luckie, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. Barney Roberts, and Miss Olive Rainer Elmore.

Ma Jong Party Given.

Mrs. John Browder entertained at three tables of Ma Jong on last Thursday afternoon at her home. Lovely carnations were the effective means of decorations. Those included in this hospitality were Mesdames N. S. Johnson, T. C. McSwain, Victor Heard, Eric Hart, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, Hugh Jones, R. C. McDavid, J. C. Jones, Hugh Simpson, Hance Alred and O. Kyle.

A salad course with hot tea was served by the hostess.

Bridge Club Entertained.

Mrs. John Browder was a charming hostess to the members of her card club on last Wednesday afternoon. The home was prettily decorated with pot plants and red and white carnations. The Valentine idea prevailed also in the score cards and dainty refreshments served at the close of the game. Bon Bons were served during the game. Besides the club members, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Guy Roberts, Mrs. O. Kyle, and Mrs. McSwain were guests of the club.

The score prize basket of white carnations tied with white tulle was won by Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Mrs. Victor Heard has as her guest her mother, Mrs. Kyle from Heflin.

Mrs. Callie Licker is visiting relatives in the Capital City this week.

Mrs. Bob Jones spent Tuesday in Montgomery.

Mr. Tom Littlejohn made a business trip to Prattville Tuesday.

Mr. Ira Pegues from Scottsboro is visiting in Clanton this week.

Mr. Tom Johnson made a trip to Birmingham Sunday.

Mr. C. B. Cox spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. Percy Pitts made a business trip to Columbiana Monday.

Mr. J. C. Page made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. Lige Jones made a business trip to Anniston Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince were visitors to Sylacauga Thursday.

Mr. M. A. Gore made a business trip to Birmingham this week.

Mrs. Willie Jones had as her guest Sunday her son, Wallace, from Birmingham.

Mrs. Jatie Middleton and Miss Margaret Smith spent Tuesday in Columbiana.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Monroe from Fayette, Ala., were visitors to friends in Clanton Friday.

Dr. E. E. Upchurch was called last week to Carrollton on account of the death of his brother there.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie spent Tuesday in Montgomery with her mother, Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn.

Mr. Ralph Jones was a visitor to Alex. City Sunday to attend the Sims-Higgins wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Reynolds and Children from Montgomery, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

Mrs. Morgan from Montgomery came up Tuesday afternoon for a week's visit to her daughter, Mrs. Grady Reynolds.

Mr. Joe Retherford from Gorgas, and Mr. Ab Retherford from Jemison were visitors to Mr. Green Retherford Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Curlee had as their guests for the week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Curlee from Birmingham.

After spending some time in Clanton with his mother, Mr. John Hayes has returned to his home in Southern California.

Prof. Edward Howe of the University of Alabama, was in Clanton Saturday giving instructions in the University course at the high school.

Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson are expected to return home the last of this week from a motor trip to South Alabama, where they are visiting his father.

The friends of Mr. Bob Jones will be delighted to learn of his being home after a seven weeks under treatment at Yarbrough Hospital in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Reynolds and Mrs. Guy Roberts motored over to Montevallo Sunday to be the guests of Miss Willadean Reynolds.

Child-birth

HOW thousands of women, by the simple method of an eminent physician, have avoided unnecessary miseries through many months and up to the moment Baby has arrived, is fully explained in the remarkable book, "Motherhood and the Baby." Tells also what to do before and after baby comes, probable date of birth, baby rules, etc., and about "Mother's Friend," used by three generations of mothers, and sold in all drug stores everywhere. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally, is safe, free from narcotics, permits easier natural readjustment of muscles and nerves during expectancy and child-birth. Start using it today. Mrs. E. E. Kerger, Slayton, Minn., says: "It pulled me through." Send for book today, to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-76, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL SHOWS A SPLENDID RECORD SINCE IT BEGAN OPERATION

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter recently issued by Miss Gardner, Superintendent of the Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton, which points out some of the things this home institution has done for the people of Chilton County and central Alabama since it went into operation. Below we are reproducing in full the letter furnished by Miss Gardner:

"Clanton, Ala., Feb. 19, 1924.

At the request of the local papers, we are giving out a few figures regarding the work of the Central Alabama Hospital in the past.

The cases treated up to January 1, 1924 include the following:

Eye, ear, nose and throat,	42
Obstetrics,	1?
Pelvic Surgery,	24
Appendicitis,	52
General Surgery,	103
Medical cases,	91
Total,	325

There are in addition to these a number of small emergency dressings and accident cases that have not been enumerated.

These cases were the patients of nearly every doctor in the county as well as some doctors from Birmingham and Montgomery. The hospital is now, as it has always been, open to all ethical physicians and their patients at all times. Our office and library are open to all physicians who patronize our hospital, and all ethical physicians and surgeons are now, and always have been, treated in an equal and ethical way.

These doctors and patients have our sincere thanks for all past favors as well as the assurance of our appreciation of future patronage.

Respectfully,

ANNIE H. GARDNER, R.N., Supt."

By taking the above figures and using the arithmetic a little, one can readily figure what the hospital has meant to the people of this section in the matter of dollars and cents. It is a very conservative estimate to asume that by the cases being treated in Clanton instead of having to be carried to the big cities, an average of $50 was saved to the patients in each case. Of course, some of the cases were minor ones and less than this amount was saved, but there are others such as the fifty-two appendicitis cases where very likely double this amount was saved, and taking them all as a whole, we feel sure that this estimate is very conservative. One can readily see that 325 times $50 equals $16,250, which amount nearly equals the cost of the hospital. So you see, as to money the hospital has already nearly paid for itself in the money which it has actually saved, which means a great deal to the people whom it has served.

But then, the actual money saved is a small item when the general benefits of the institution are taken into consideration. How many lives do you suppose have been saved by us having at our immediate command an up-to-date place for patients to be treated? And too, what is the value of even one human life? These things are inestimable, but one can readily see that from his point of view the Central Alabama Hospital has been of untold value to our people.

One rather heavy stockholder in the corporation the other day was told that the institution had not actually cleared very much money recently, to which the stockholder replied: "We don't care so much about the hospital making money, just so it is serving the needs of our people." This is indeed a very commendable attitude for men to have toward a home institution of this kind. So long as the hospital is taking care of the medical and surgical needs of the people of the community and paying its expenses, we would be rather selfish to expect a great deal from it in the way of dividends. Of course, it is making actual money for its stockholders all the time, but this is not the thing to consider. What we want the hospital to do is to render service, and it is doing this in perfect fashion.

The present officers of the Central Alabama Hospital., Inc., are: Dr. V. J. Gragg, President; Dr. S. C. Wood, Vice-President; T. E. Wyatt, Treasurer; Dr. T. J. Marcus, Secretary. The Directors are: Dr. N. S. Johnson, J. Q. Wade, M. A. Gore and C. B. Cox. The Superintendent is Miss Annie H. Gardner, R. N.

Since the hospital first began operating there have been a number of improvements made to the facilities and accommodations of the institution. Principal among these are the installation of the electric elevator and the building of concrete walks in the yards. This elevator fills an untold need in handling the patients from one floor to another, and the walks around the building materially add to thet appearance of the location. Shade trees have been planted around the yards, which when grown will make the hospital look good indeed.

Since this hospital is strictly a home institution and owned and operated by home people, it behooves not only the officers and stockholders but all the citizens of our county to be continually awake to its interest and to boost it on every hand. It is a thing of which we are all justly proud and it is the duty of everybody to support it every time occasion presents itself, and also see that our neighbors and friends do the same thing. There is absolutely no excuse for patients to be carried fifty or a hundred miles away from Clanton to get the same treatment which they could get right here at home and at much less cost. Let everybody stand behind out hospital and make it continue to serve us and grow as it has in the past. This is not only our privilege but our solemn duty.

We are going to nominate a County Treasurer, two County Commissioners and one member of the County Board of Education on May 11th. We are expecting somebody to break the ice by announcing for one of these offices. Who will be first?

Te New York Central Railway is reported to be in the market for 100 new locomotives, to cost around $10,000,000. Apparently there is no anticipation of a change in the prosperous conditions that now prevail, or in the Republican Administration that has brought them about.

In The Literary Digest's poll on the Mellon Tax Reduction plan taken in all the States of the Union, 635,876 votes were cast in favor of the plan and 251,908 against the plan. These figures indicate a very fair proportion of how the people feel about the matter in question.

The opponents of President Coolidge are trying hard to get him tangled up in the Teapot Dome Oil Scandal, but he is going to come out of that as slick as a button. A thorough probe is being made of everything connected with the scandal, and every official, high and low, who carries the odor of oil on his record will be dealt with strictly according to law. Coolidge believes in justice to everybody and he is going to deal it out in this oil case.

The Standard Oil Company has put out revised road maps of five of the southern states with the names of highways designated, distances between important points shown, and indication made as to what roads are paved, graded, or under construction. The maps are most complete in every respect and up to date. Road maps of Alabama may be obtained on request from most any dealer in motor oil and gasoline, particularly those handling the products of the Standard Oil Company. Maps of Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky and Tennessee cannot be had at the places of motor oil and gasoline dealers, but can be obtained at any service station owned by the Standard Oil Company at Birmingham, Ala.

A school teacher once asked one of her little girls to mention something that God had given her for which she was thankful, and the little girl replied, "My beautiful golden locks of hair." The teacher then turned to another little girl and asked her the same question to which she replied, "My beautiful big dark-blue eyes." The teacher then turned to Johnnie, a ragged, dirty, freckled-face lad of nine years, and asked him what God had done for him for which he was thankful. The boy replied: "I don't think I know of a single thing, teacher, for God just made a plum mess out of me." Most of the people of Chilton county feel toward Messer's contest just like Johnnie felt about himself. Messer has just made a plum mess out of it and that is all there is to it.

REV. EZELL URGES FRIENDLY RELATIONS BETWEEN PEOPLE

Since Rev. S. J. Ezell preached at the Baptist Church last Sunday night, there has been quite a bit of favorable commenting done on the splendid message which he delivered. Besides being a thorough Christian gentleman, Rev. Ezell is very efficient when it comes to handling current matters of local concern. Politics is a very intricate and tedious subject for a preacher to attempt to handle from the pulpit especially where his congregation is likely to be composed of people of different political beliefs, but Dr. Ezell took up this question Sunday night and he thrashed out the subject in such a way that everybody is commending him very favorably.

Taking his text from John 4:9, and also reading the parable about the Good Samaritan, the preacher said in way of introduction: "Feeling for a long time that some things should be said on our political situation in Clanton and also on some other things that are hurtful to our common good, according to previous announcement, I am going to preach on this subject tonight. In the beginning I want it thoroughly understood that I am not interested in issues nor personalities which may be involved, but I am interested only in some practical results."

We could not obtain Bro. Ezell's entire address for publication, but below we are printing a brief outline of the points discussed:

"As a remedy for our hurtful situation I would advise that we put into practice these three fundamental principles:

"First. We should all allow every man the inalienable right to his own views. A lack of respect here is the source of our trouble I disagree with folks about religious views and political views and persons, but I never fail to respect their views and their rights and to love them. Intolerance is the child of 'Mrs. Little' and the sister of 'Miss Ignorance.'

"Second. We should think much more and talk much less. My plea is that we bridle our unruly tongues which are full of deadly poison and evil and which destroy our unity, love, fellowship and co-operation toward obtaining worth-while objects. —James 3:6-8. I suggest that many of us need an injection of Scapolomin's new truth-telling drug. However, I fear that the drug would not suffice for some but the only thing really effective would be a surgical operation for some tongues, taken out root and all. We have talked too much for our good.

"Third. The development of the sense of brotherhood. We should all be brethren, no matter if our views are different. Neither Democrats nor Republicans are dogs, but all people look very much alike. The Christian spirit of brotherhood and love for our neighbors will kill out the spirit of intolerance and solve our every difficulty."

The points laid out above and discused by Bro. Ezell in his sermon are matters which all of us should consider and put into practice. The absence of brotherly love and even friendship in Clanton is entirely too prevalent, and it is to the common interest of us all that we lay aside so much of personal enmity. Just because your neighbor votes against you on election day is no reason that you should hold a grudge aganist him all your life. People have always had different views on different matters and we suppose they always will, but even though this is true, we are all just folks, made out of the same stuff and subject to the judgment of the same God. It is just littleness in a person that causes him to hold a grudge against his neighbor just because they happen to differ a little on politics or religion. What Clanton needs is more honest clean politics and less personal hatred and strife among our fellowmen.

THE NOBLEST OF THEM ALL

Tomorrow, February 22, 1924, is the 192nd anniversary of the foremost American of all time. There has of late been a large amount of propaganda distributed to belittle our Revolutionary heroes, and this man has been a center of attack. Internationalists have been charged with this propaganda, particularly Englishmen. But no decent Englishman would lend himself to such practice. For the benefit of his traducers, the following are taken from foreign opinion of George Washington:

"I have a large acquaintance among the most exalted class of men, but you are the only human being for whom I feel an awful reverence." —Lord Erskine, in letter to Washington, 1797.

"It will always be well with Washington. He is the greatest of men, and he will be venerated by mankind when my fame shall be lost in the vortex of revolutions."—Napoleon Bonaparte.

"The purest and noblest character of modern times—possibly of all time."—Duke of Wellington.

"Of all great men he is the most virtuous and the most fortunate. In this world God has no higher favor to bestow."—Guizot, French Historian.

"No nobler figure ever stood in the forefront of a nation's life."—Green, British Historian.

"Washington invested everything he touched with a kind of sacredness."—von Holst, German Historian.

"If, among all the pedestales supplied by history for public characters of extraordinary nobility and purity, I saw one higher than all the rest, and if I were required at a moment's notice to name the fittest occupant for it, I think my choice at any time during the last forty-five years would have lighted, as it would not alight, upon Washington."—W. E. Gladstone.

"Washington is indeed a far more perfect character (than Hamilton.) Washington stands alone and unapproachable, like a snow-peak rising above its fellows in the clear air of morning, with a dignity, constancy, and purity which have made him the ideal type of civic virtue to succeeding generations. No greater benefit could have befallen the Republic than to have such a type set from the first before the eye and mind of the people."—James Bryce, American Commonwealth, Vol. 2, page 8.

"The greatest of our own or of any age."—Lord Brougham.

"From the oldest soldier of Europe to the greatest soldier in the world." Frederick the Great, when he presented Washington with his sword.

Allison, the British historian, said of Washington's Farewell Address: "Unequalled by any composition of uninspired wisdom."

When the younger Pitt was challenged to give his meaning of the principles of neutrality, he replied: "The principles laid down in the presidency of Washington."

The opinions of such men should shame to silence the voices of Washington's defamers, and strengthen the faith of American youth in the virtue and manhood of the Father of our Country.

Press Pickings

Manufacturers Record—We need no more of the class of people from Russia and from Southern Europe tinged with bolshevistic, socialistic, communistic, anarchistic ideas, whose hearts and lives and brains are fertile soil for the sowing of the seed of revolutionary overturning of this government.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—The people of the United States are not thinking about relief from high taxes from any partisan point of view and Democratic Congressmen who oppose the Mellon plan on any political ground will pay a heavy indemnity for their obstruction.

New Orleans States—Previous to the revolution the French nobility was exempt from taxation. The nobility of this country has never enjoyed such a privilege but it manages to get along very nicely by investing its money in tax-exempt securities.

Los Angeles Times—The Democrats claim that there is a powerful "lobby" behind the passage of the Mellon tax reduction bill. So there is, and the extent of the "lobby" may be gauged by looking over the telephone directory.

Portland (Ore.) Telegram—It is remarkable how few words are necessary for thorough expression of ideas when one's mental processes and vocabulary are as clear and adequate as Calvin Coolidge's.

Detroit Free Press—Secretary Mellon has brought more trouble on the politicians and more joy to the average citizen than any public official the country has known in a long time.

Houston Post (Dem.)—The Democratic leaders in Congress are disposed to play politics with the issue of tax reduction, and in that they are making a fatal mistake.

Indianapolis News—The Mellon tax bill is being vigorously debated in Congress, but the people have consulted their pocketbooks and long since passed beyond the debate stage.

Troy Times—Mr. McAdoo wanted the privilege of explaining. A man who asks leave to explain is a long way from a Presidential nomination.

Philadelphia North American—Some of the Democrats seem to have been among those people who never learn if you start a fire with oil it spreads.

New York Tribune—Since tax relief is urgent, relief in 1924 will be twice as welcome to a long-suffering public as relief in 1925.

Washington Post—The Soviet regime may be losing some of its redness, but it's still far from the pink of perfection.

Springfield News—Mr. Bok is a fortunate gentleman; he can settle every argument he gets into merely by offering $100,000.

New York Herald—Neither grass nor candidacies will grow where oil splashes.

Providence Journal—A reduction of taxation means an increase of prosperity.

TOO EARLY SUPERLATIVES

The New York World is rather free with its superlatives. "By the death of Woodrow Wilson," declares the editor, "the greatest figure in world history that has ever risen from American soil is removed from the scene of his labors." We profoundly respect Mr. Wilson as a sincere man who fought valiantly for his ideals. But what of George Washington? And what of Abraham Lincoln? Where would the world be today if the former had not won and the latter not preserved the independent American Union which Woodrow Wilson found at hand ready to throw into the scales in Europe? By his own admission, Mr. Wilson sought from his countrymen a "supreme sacrifice"—the sacrifice of the very independence which had enabled them to exert such decisive strength in the war. We are bold enough to predict that the men who led in preventing that sacrifice have a surer place in history than the man who urged it.

President Coolidge—"Wisdom and experience have increased our admiration of the Declaration of Independence."

Royster's "cured" fertilizer is certified fertilizer

More profitable crops result from the use of fertilizer that has been thoroughly "aged"

You can't look at the ordinary bag of fertilizer and tell how good it is. You have to risk the time and money of a season's work before you KNOW. It isn't known to be good until you get your money!

Certified Fertilizer

It is certified by the forty years we have spent in learning the needs of the soil you work.

It is certified by the experience of successful farmers all about you, who say "Royster's fertilizer increased my earnings."

"Cured" Fertilizer is better plant food

It is certified by the "curing"—a feature of Royster's fertilizer which increases its value because of a more complete chemical action, making the plant food readily available to the plant. (Royster's goods age in great bins for four to six months. They are then remilled and bagged).

Ask for "Royster's"

Stop guessing about fertilizer. Look for the name "Royster" on your bags of fertilizer and you have found the assurance that your crops will have proper feeding from seed time to harvest.

CONCRETE SATISFIES AS ROAD MATERIAL

Stone and Cement Makes Long Wearing Highway.

Concrete roads, properly made with good Portland cement, offer considerable choice of basic materials, according to the local market, and a satisfactory long wearing road when completed. For suburban and rural roads concrete is an ideal road material. Concrete consists of a mixture of water, cement, sand, and gravel or stone of many varieties. Engineers call the sand part the "fine aggregate," and the pebbles or rock the "coarse aggregate." Given clean aggregates and good cement and the road when finished will be durable, dustless, easily maintained, and smooth.

The two disadvantages, cracking and breaking at the edges, can both be overcome. Cracking, a result of temperature changes, and stress does little or no harm if the crack is promptly filled. Proper shoulders at the edge of the road eliminate the dangerous depression caused by the earlier neglect of this part of the road building, before it was understood how water and weather wear away the edge-protecting earth.

The two general types of concrete pavement are known as one-course and two-course pavement. The former consists of one course of concrete, all of which is mixed in the same proportion and composed of the same kind of materials, while the latter consists of two courses, usually mixed in different proportions and containing different kinds of aggregate. The one-course pavement is much simpler to construct than the two-course type.

In the two-course type of construction local coarse aggregate of average or low wearing qualities is used in the lower course and imported aggregate with high resistance to wear is used in the top course. If the only materials locally available for use as aggregate are of inferior quality, it is more economical to use them for aggregate in the lower course of a two-course pavement and import aggregate for the wearing course than to employ a one-course pavement and import all the aggregate.

DAIRYING HOLDS ITS OWN IN ALABAMA

Estimated That 6,000,000 Pounds of Butterfat Was Produced In State Last Year.

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 18.—Despite unfavorable conditions, dairying held its own in Alabama last year. This is reported by Wm. Hardie, dairy specialist for the Extension Service, who estimates that the Alabama creameries handled 6,000,000 pounds of butterfat during 1923.

The condition of dairying in Alabama is of special interest at this time, because commercial dairying, in the State, has just passed its tenth birthday. In January, 1914, the first Alabama creamery was opened by the Animal Husbandry Department at the Agricultural College here, and from this beginning the number has increased to 33 creameries. Practically every Alabama farmer has access to one or more creameries.

The employment of W. R. Anderson of Selma, by the State Department of Agriculture, as creamery inspector is considered a very important step by Mr. Hardie. He has urged it for several years. Creamerymen have requested an inspector, and Mr. Anderson will work in the interest of both dairymen, creamerymen and farmers. He has had experience as a dairy farmer, and also in all phases of dairy manufacturing. He is, therefore, especially qualified for his present position.

Other states have had a creamery inspector for many years and the appointment of Mr. Anderson gives additional official recognition to Alabama's large and growing dairy industry.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

The society met in regular session Sunday afternoon. Was called to order at 2 o'clock by Chairman, and Bro. Yates led in prayer.

The following directors were then called and directed from 2 to 3 songs each: S. M. Yates, Lee Robinson, W. M. Devaughn, Fonza Cleckler, and a quartet by the home quartet; Archie Devaughn 2 songs, and then we had a recess for about 15 minutes. At the tap of the bell the class came back promptly and did some more good singing.

L. T. Grant was then called and directed 3 songs, followed by a quartet. After which Rev. J. S. Castleberry 2 songs, O. L. Devaughn 2 songs; quartet. Mrs. Alice Baker, Ralph D. Grant, Lee Robinson, Lee J. Grant and Lena Mae Devaughn were the organists for the evening.

The secretary thinks this was one of the best singings the society has had in quite awhile. We noticed that the house was filled almost to its capacity and the singers seemed to have sang in the spirit and understanding.

We thank each and everyone who has helped to make this society what it is today; yet we shouldn't be satisfied—let's try and make it better. Your presence helps, so come along all you folks that sing and you that love to hear good singing. You have a hearty welcome.

The services were closed with prayer by Bro. N. J. Jones of Corinth community.

We meet again the first Sunday in March.

RIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

An interesting letter was received from Mrs. John L. Winslow, and we are sure that the friends of this family in Thorsby will like to hear something of them in their new home.

When they left Thorsby in 1922, they went to the old Winslow farm at Carthage, Ind., but they have now sold that place to a cousin and moved to a farm near Newcastle, a distance of 18 miles from Carthage. They have only 40 acres of land, all in cultivation. They are near a railroad, inter-urban electric lines, also bus lines, so they feel quite well located. Mr. Winslow holds a position with a canning company at Carthage to grow tomato plants for them, he also acts as field director for them. The canning company has farm factories. The company furnishes Mr. Winslow a Ford machine, which he uses for his family as well as in the business.

Their daughter, Luella, now Mrs. Earl Webb, lives about 75 miles from them. Mr. Webb is principal of a high school and Luella teaches the English classes in the four-year high school course. She also has the music in the high school, so she must be very busy.

The mass meeting held at the Wadesonian theatre last Thursday night was well attended by representative citizens of Thorsby. Prof. C. N. Williams presided. Rev. J. M. Graham, Rev. Joseph E. Each and Mr. William Billingsley gave interesting talks. The Thorsby orchestra furnished music. The subdject of the meeting was the building of a new public school house, which now appears to be in sight. By vote of the meeting, the chairman was instructed to appoint a committee of three to confer with the Town Council, with a view to securing the comparatively small sum needed to complete the amount necessary for the enterprise.

The annual declamatory contest of Thorsby Institute will be held at Bates Hall February 23rd at 7:30. The program is as follows:

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Ethel Peterson.
Cuddy, ... Lorena Graham
For love of Mary Ellen, Cola Ruffin
By the rule of Contrary, Lillian McKee.
Benefits Forgot, ... Plato Deason
For his Mother's Sake, Gordon Sorrell
Wilson's Flag Day Speech, 1917, Codie Bell.

The proceeds from the ten cents admission will go into the desk fund. The judges for the contest will be Mrs. Hattie Gerald, Rev. Joseph Each and Prof. C. M. Williams.

On Saturday night, February 16, Queen Esther Sunday School Class of the Congregational church entertained the Loyal Helpersclass of young men at the Thorsby Institute dining hall. The two classes have been holding a contest with the understanding that the class that won was to be entertained by the losing class. The points were as follows: Each Sunday one point if every member of the class was present; one point if every one present in the class brought a bible collection and had read over the lesson. The party given was a valentine party, and the games were along that line. The refreshments were strawberries, ice cream, cake, cookies and heart-shaped mints. The dining hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Thorsby Institute divided two basket ball games last week. On Wednesday they lost to the fast five of Siluria Cotton Mill by three points, 20 to 17. They hope to avenge the defeat on February 26th when Siluria returns the game. Thorsby has previously defeated Siluria 25 to 5 and they hope to make it two out of three.

On Friday Thorsby completely upset the dope by defeating Marbury High on the latter's court. Thorsby defeated Marbury previously this season on Thorsby's court 16 to 14 but had not played on the indoor court, so all were expecting them to lose. But with the odds against Thorsby she went in and fought every mniute and came out victorious 15 to 10.

Friday of this week Thorsby plays Clanton, and an intensely hard fought game is expected, due to the rivalry of the two schools. The game with Siluria February 26th will probably close the season.

The Christian Endeavor Society held its regular meeting last Sunday night. In spite of the fact that there was no leader, the meeting was carried out very nicely. The topic under discussion was "What is sin and how does it affect one's character?" It is remarkable to note the interest that everyone seems to be taking in these meetings; and that is what it takes to make a good society. Interest plus pep and energy, and you've got the stuff that it takes to make a society a success. Let us all come to the meeting next Sunday evening with all these things and see if we cannot have a better meeting than we have ever had before.

Miss Nettie LouGraham, a teacher in the Clanton Public School, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Eugh of Ostrandes, Minn., arrived in Thorsby last Thursday. The Eughs were among the pioneers of Thorsby, it being now nearly 20 years since they left here. Mr. Eugh assisted in dedicating the Norwegian Lutheran Church, afterwards bought and now occupied by the Congregational Church. Rev. Eugh will preach in the Lutheran Church next Sunday, speaking in the Scandinavian language in the morning and in the English language in the evening.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid meets this Thursday with Mrs. K. A. Ekblad.

Mr. Felix Eiland has gone into business in Sylacauga. Mrs. Eiland expects to join him in the future.

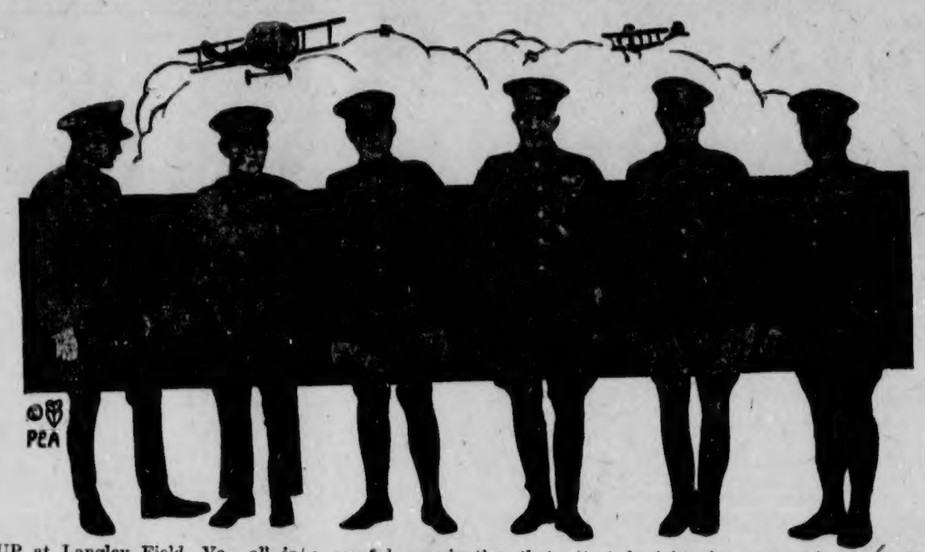
Mr. Ernest Hansen and wife moved back to the farm last week after having lived in town about one year.

Mr. H. V. Thompson was in town Sunday and Monday. He has obtained work in Birmingham after the hold up in work at Cherokee Bluffs.

The farmers have been busy hauling crates and fertilizers for the past week, thus showing their faith in crops on the coming spring and summer.

The Ladies Guild social will be held at Thorsby Institute dining hall Thursday, February 28th. Miss Helen C. Jenkins and Miss Lois Leech will be hostesses. All ladies cordially invited.

"GLOBE CIRCLING" AVIATORS



UP at Langley Field, Va., all is hustle and bustle these days as preparations are being made for the proposed great 'round-the-world flight this spring by half a dozen of the army's best air men. The fliers who are to attempt the trip—you see them pictured above—were selected after a careful examination that attested to their ability to carry out so remarkably a feat. They are now at Langley Field for the purpose of training in all branches of maneuvers for the flight.

POLITICS IN CHILTON COUNTY

It would be the height of injustice to try to implicate Rev. S. J. Ezell of the Clanton Baptist Church in any of the political issues and scraps in Chilton County, because this man is not dealing in politics and is altogether above the idea of such a thing. However, the sermon which this man preached at his church last Sunday night is food for much and serious thought by the politicians of our town and county.

Bro. Ezell expressed our views exactly. We have always contended for exactly the things which he advocated in his sermon. The Republicans of Chilton County have always contended for equal rights for all, and although we enter the elections with our candidates and fight hard for the principles of our party, yet, after the elections are over we are ready to lay down everything, concede to the majority, and drop politics and scrapping. It is very true that The Union-Banner and the Republicans of the county have been engaged in a political skirmish almost ever since the last election in this county, but we will ask who it was that started the fight and forced others to enter it in order to maintain their own rights.

The Republicans of this county have always been on the defensive in politics. The first fire of the battle was opened by a few Democratic politicians in the county, and the Republicans either had to enter the fight against our will and stick out for our rights or else just surrender to the adversary and let them walk off with the spoils.

Although we were opposed to being a party to an unwarranted and drawn-out political harrangue, yet in order to protect ourselves, we were forced to roll up our sleeves and go into it for all we were worth. It is a bad idea for a political battle to be kept up from one election to another, thus keeping men on both sides mad at each other and keeping the people continually stirred up over matters that have already been settled and ought to be forgotten. As the old saying goes, "There is a time for alll things and there is a limit to all things."

Politics is the life of a government and we cannot hope to live in a civilized country of over a hundred million people without having some kind of political parties, but it is a big mistake to let your politics enter into your every-day life and affect the personal feeling between you and your neighbor. If your neighbor sees fit to vote against you, it is his inalienable right, and for you to think hard of him is simply narrowness on your part. Politics is like a negro—it is perfectly all right so long as it stays in its place, but when it is allowed full sway over all other faculties of a person's life it is going beyond its limit and a halt should be called.

As we said in the outset, we do not want anyone to get the idea that we are attempting to draw Bro. Ezell into either faction of the politics of Chilton County at all, because our intention is far removed from this. He has given no one any reason to believe that he is taking any hand in our petty skirmishes. He has simply laid down the law to us and we should all take it for what it is worth. He is absolutely right in his contentions, no matter if he hits you or if he hits me. So let us take the medicine and receive the benefits which are bound to come from it.

MEET AT COURT HOUSE TO CONSIDER TRUCK TAX

Pursuant to a call of Mr. J. N. Scott, about a dozen of the truck owners of Chilton County gathered at the court house last Saturday for the purpose of discussing the extra road tax which the county commissioners have placed on trucks engaged in hauling over the roads of the county.

Mr. Scott acted as chairman of the meeting, and after some discussion by those present the chearman appointed a committee to go before the commissioners court to see if they could either get the truck tax repealed or get the same tax placed on wagons. This committee consisted of C. C. Atchison, H. T. Gore and R. J. Williams.

CANE CREEK

Mr. Luke Hadnot, Mrs. Slimmer Beard and Mr. Jim Retherford are very sick, but we hope they will soon recover.

The school program carried out last Friday night was enjoyed by all present. Miss Parrish, the principal, promised us another entertainment at the close of the school.

Mrs. Minnie Moatts and Rev. W. A. Long visited Mrs. Fannie Retherford Sunday.

Everybody has the farming spirit and are anxious to begin a new crop.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met here last Sunday afternoon, and with the aid of visitors from Collins Chapel and Cedar Grove, we rendered a nice little program. The directors for the afternoon were: Akins Collins, Leonard Culp, Zack Lowery, Misses Etta Foshee, Neacie Smith and Frances Lowery. Organists were: Misses Bonnie Littlejohn, Marietta Walker and Mrs. Marie Littlejohn.

We were glad to have the visitors, and ask them to come again. We meet every first and third Sunday afternoon.

JOHN ROLLINS, Secy.

JACKSON CHAPEL

A few people around Jackson Chapel have decided to try to wake up our community. It seems as if Jackson Chapel community is dead, so we want to revive it. We have the material for the work and the only question is, can we do it? We want to organize a Sunday School, a singing class, a B. Y. P. U., or something. We want everybody who will work to help build up this community. So everybody, both old and young, who are interested in Jackson Chapel, be out next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock and show your spirit.

MR. B. L. DENNIS

On February 2nd the death angel visited the home of Mr. B. L. Dennis and carried him safely home above. He had been sick for a long time, but bore his infirmities with patience. He had been a faithful member of the Primitive Baptist Church for about 40 years. All was done for him that loving hands and physicians could do, but the Lord saw fit to carry him away.

We wish to thank all the people and doctors for their kindness shown us during his illness and death. His remains were laid to rest on Sunday, February 3 at Bethel Cemetery, Rev. Joe Howell officiating. He leaves a wife, 9 children, 28 grand children and a host of friends to mourn his death. HIS CHILDREN.

POOR OR

FARMERS PREPARING TO PLANT COTTON EARLY

That the farmers of Alabama who will plant cotton this year, are profiting by last season's experience and will do their planting early and force the growth of the plant to maturity to beat the boll weevil is apparent from the sale of fertilizer tags recorded recently in the State Department of Agriculture and Industries.

These records indicate that fertilizer is now moving to the farms at a rapid rate which is increasing steadily day by day. It is presumed that in order to force the growth of cotton as much as possible fertilizer is being used in larger quantities than formerly. On one day during the past week, $5,400 worth of fertilizer tages were shipped from the Department of Agriculture, for use on fertilizer shipments.

The Union-Banner is $1.50 a Year.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

EDUCATIONAL STATESMAN IS COMING TO ALABAMA

Dr. Hugh S. Magill, general secretary of the International Sunday School Council of Religious Education will attend the State Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Council, Montgomery, April 21-23, 1924.

Mr. Magill for ten years was general secretary of the International Association, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., and is conceded to be one of the most foremost educational statesmen of the Nation. Dr. Magill's passion is to see the spiritual and social life of the childhood and youth of America developed along with the mental and physical life, so that American citizenship will be foursquare.

Many religious leaders of the state, heard Dr. Magill at the great State convention in Birmingham last year and were delighted with him.

The committee of the Alabama Sunday School Council congratulates the Sunday school workers of Alabama, that they will again be privileged to meet and hear this outstanding religious educational leader.

STUDEBAKER SMASHES ALL PREVIOUS SALES RECORDS DURING 1923

Year Just Completed Is Greatest By Far In History of Studebaker Corporation.

145,162 Cars Sold During 1923 As Against 110,269 In the Previous Year.

Nineteen twenty-three was a banner year for the automobile industry in both production and sales of cars. Coming after the year 1922, which showed a remarkable improvement over the "off year" 1921, the increase in automobile business during 1923 is even more impressive.

Studebaker's record in making 1923 its banner year with the sale of more than 145,162 cars follows a series of phenomenal sales records. Each year for the past six years Studebaker sales have greatly exceeded those of the previous year.

Students of statistics will recall the story that 1921 told. In that year the sales of Studebaker cars were 29.4 per cent greater than in 1920, while the total number of cars sold of all other makes except Ford was 40 per cent less than in 1920.

Stated otherwise, Studebaker's ratio of sales in 1921 was 129 and the total of other makes except Ford was 60, as compared with 1920.

In 1922, therefore, Studebaker had the showing of a record year to surpass and plans were laid for a production of 100,000 cars, as compared with 66,643 in 1921. Even with this large increase in production, at no time was Studebaker able to supply the demand for its cars. 110,269 cars were produced and sold during 1922, an increase of 65 per cent over 1921 which up to that time was the greatest year in the history of Studebaker.

The increasing demand for Studebaker cars continued in 1923. By the end of August, the 1922 record was exceeded, and by December 31 Studebaker sales had passed 145,162—making 1923 the greatest year, by far, in Studebaker history.

Notice of Road Laws

No tax is required of any person for hauling over the public roads of the county with a wagon.

A tax or license is required for trucks hauling timber, lumber or minerals equal to one-half of the tax levied by the State. This tax was due Jan. 15th and will be delinquent Feb. 15th, 1924.

Any person subject to road duty may be exempt for the year by paying $5.50 on or before March 1st.

All of the above licenses and fees are payable at the Probate Office and any person subject to same may be prosecuted for a violation thereof, except that person subject to road duty may work seven days of ten hours in lieu of payment.

This the 28th day of Jan., 1924.

Everybody is rejoicing over the beautiful weather that we are having. Seems as tho spring has come once more.

We were glad to see so many at Sunday school Sunday morning. We invite everybody to come back the first Sunday.

Our United singing society met Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. We were glad to see so many visitors. Directors for the afternoon were Messrs.. H. G. Carter, R. M. Brigance, Olin Williams, Furnice Shepherd, Alonza Askins. Organists were: Messrs. H. G. Carter, Hudson Williams and Mrs. H. G. Carter. We especially invite everybody to come back next third Sunday afternoon.

Miss Katie Limbrick was the guest of Miss Lora Billingsley Sunday.

Miss Isabel Messer was the guest of Miss Alma Askins for dinner Sunday.

Mrs. H. G. Carter, principal of Indian Grave school, spent the weekend at her home in Prattville.

Mr. Alonza Askins dined with Mr. Pratt Billingsley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Limbrick were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Adams Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. M. L. Billingsley was the guest of Mrs. L. F. Askins Sunday.

Messrs. Carl Bookholdt and Leon Pierce were the guests of Misses Isabel Messer and Alma Messer and Alma Askins Sunday afternoon.

Our road machine is doing some good work in our community now, and the roads surely do need it.

Misses Katie Limbrick and Alma Askins spent the day at Enterprise school last Tuesday.

Miss Jettie Adams spent a little while with Miss Katie Limbrick last Saturday.

Mrs. W. C. Fair of Duncanville, formerly of this place, was here visiting a few days ago.

WOULD PURGE PARTY OF OIL LEASE SCANDAL

be willing to enter the world conference for further limitations.

Mrs. Coolidge sat in the balcony opposite the speaker's table. The president sent her a bouquet of pink roses. When she arose to acknowledge the courtesy she was given a great ovation.

Mrs. August Belmont read Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Senator Wadsworth who spoke before Coolidge, said that he (the president) uttered a great simple truth in his statement Monday night in which he defied the senate. He compared this with the simplicity and truth of the Gettysburg address.

Another sound and simple truth, he said, was to befound in the tax reduction program.

The president received a long ovation when he arose to talk. He was visibly embarrassed at the outburst. It was his maiden appearance as an aspirant for the presidency. Mrs. Coolidge was radiantly happy.

Mr. Coolidge began to read slowly and in a somewhat subdued voice. As he proceeded it developed tone and resonance. He realized that there was a greater audience by millions in country beyond and talked for to the little radio transmitter in front of him.

The president enjoyed his first campaign trip despite inclement weather. At every station he went to the rear platform to wave at those gathered at the station.

Upon reaching New York he went to the new club of the Republican women for tea. From there to the hotel where the banquet was held. He had only an hour in which to prepare for dinner.

After the dinner he went directly to his room to doff his evening clothes and shortly after midnight was on his way home.

He was anxious to be in Washington early Wednesday to go into conference with Pomerene and Strawn, special counsel to probe the naval oil scandals.

The president has definitely made up his mind, it was learned, to expedite the inquiry in every way possible so as to put an end to senate pressure and halt the criticism for any delay in political quarters.

SARDIS NOTES

We are glad to say that our Sunday School is moving on nicely now. We didn't have many out Sunday but all who were present seemed interested. Sunday School was conducted by our Assistant Superintendent, Mrs. H. L. Ratliff. We hope to have a large crowd out next Sunday consisting of both old and young. Mr. Enzo Klinner was chosen teacher for the Advanced class. Everyone remember the request of Mrs. Ratliff to answer roll call next Sunday with a verse from the Bible. Mrs. Susie Roper, teacher of the Junior class, gave a bible to some of the students of her class for regular attendance. Some of the ones to receive bibles were: Misses Bessie Green, Jettie Spigner, Alma Anderson and Agnes Ratliff.

All the young folks are looking forward to the singing at Antioch the fourth Sunday in March. The Pilgrim Rest class is to be there, and all lovers of music are invited to come.

Our school at Vermont Closed February 8th. We had a good school Prof. G. S. Milsap was principal and Miss Ruth Carter assistant, and if we had picked the State over we could not have found any better teachers. We already hear talk of trying to get them back next term.

We hope to have a nice consolidated school building by the time school opens next year.

The going-away party given by Miss Anthel Ratliff February 7th in honor of Mr. G. S. Milsap and Miss Ruth Carter, was much enjoyed. Many interesting games were played, after which cake was served the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fisher and children have returned to their home in Carbin, Ky., afetr a few days visit here.

Mrs. Eula Seals of Maplesville visited relatives here recently.

Mr. Charley Carter of Clanton was visiting here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Verge Christian and Joe Motley were out car riding Sunday p.m.

Mr. J. M. Ramsey of Tyler visited parents here recently.

Mr. Sam Christian spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. J. P. Milford was thte dinner guest of his sister, Mrs. Henry Hayes Sunday.

Mr. Harmon Broadhead made a business trip to Pletcher last week.

Mr. George Anderson has gone for an extended visit to friends near Verbena. While there he will repair the organ of Mr. Floyd.

Mr. W. W. Jones of Clanton Route 3 spent Sunday with his uncle, Mr. Henry Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hayes of near Selma are visiting parents here this week.

The Misses Mary, Addie and Frances Christian visited Miss Bernice Broadhead Saturday night.

Messrs. John Foshee, Plesant Lenore and Misses Willie and Lennie Foshee of near Stanton were the guests of Miss Anthel Ratliff Sunday afternoon.

BETHSALEM

We are pleased to state that health conditions in this community is good at this time.

The farmers are looking very happy after having had several days of pretty weather.

Mrs. Susan Moore spent the week with her nephew, Mr. Otis Filmore.

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days, but there was not very many visitors because the weather was so cold.

Miss Eunice Boyd spent last Saturday night with Miss Alta Belle Vinson and reported a grand time.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mims of Clanton are spending the week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Johnson. They will leave Sunday to make their future home at Prattville.

Miss Mae Bowles dined with Miss Dollie Pierce Sunday.

Mrs. Ida Williams and children spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. F. W. Johnson.

Miss Pearlie Mims of Maplesville is spending the week end with her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Bowles.

Mrs. Susie Headley and sister, Mrs. Lela Spignor spent Monday and Monday night with their sister, Mrs. Nellie Bowles.

Mrs. Jim Pierce and children visited their grand mother, Mrs. Silas, on Wednesday. Mrs. Silas has been on the sick list for quite a while.

Miss Alta Belle Vinson spent Wednesday night with her friends, Misses Dollie and Jessie Mae Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mims and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Vinson motored over to Mr. Clem Billingsley's Sunday and spent the day.

Miss Eunice Boyd spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Mary Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Johnson spent Sunday with Mr. A. M. Mims and family.

Messrs. Alvin Billingsley, Olen Bice, Newton Vinson and Hubert Traywick were the guests of Misses Josephine and Alta Belle Vinson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mims spent Friday night with Mr. C. C. Vinson and family.

PROMINENT MEN FROM AUBURN TO BE HERE AT FARMERS MEET MARCH 1

Dr. Spright Dowell, Mr. F. E. Boyd and Mr. E. E. Binford Will Speak to Farmers Here.

Mr. Jasper N. Dennis has handed us a letter which he has from Auburn, which will be of interest to the farmers of Chilton county. The above mentioned men are thoroughly acquainted with agriculture, and it would be to the interest of every farmer in the county to be here and listen to the lectures of these men. Below we publish the letter which Mr. Dennis received:

"Auburn, Ala., Feb. 23, 1924.
Mr. J. N. Dennis,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Mr. Dennis:

"Your letter of February 20 received and in reply will say that I will be at Clanton March 1 to attend the farmers meeting on that day. I will have with me Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the college here, and Mr. F. E. Boyd, our fertilizer and farm crops man, and hope to have a good audience for them.

"Dr. Dowell will talk about the relation of Auburn to the farmer and Mr. Boyd will talk about fertilizers. Both Dr. Dowell and Mr. Boyd will have a message that is of vital importance to every farmer. I will be glad if you will help to give publicity to this meeting. I will be especially glad if you will help to get all the county commissioners out to this meeting.

"While I am there I shall be glad to talk with you about a series of meetings in your county and will arrange to hold them if possible.

"With kind personal regards, I am

"Yours very truly,
E. E. BINFORD,
District Agent."

J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Inasmuch as the last State Legislature passed a special law providing for the election of the county treasurer of Chilton County, and as the Republican Executive Committee is issuing a call for announcements for this office, Mr. J. Wiley Littlejohn has given us his announcement as a candidate for this office.

Mr. Littlejohn needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County, as he has been in public life for several years. We will say though that the above named man has been one of the Republican party's most faithful workers for the past several years. He has never been called upon to serve the interests of his party when he was too busy or had any other excuse to offer. Mr. Littlejohn has been county treasurer before and is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of the office.

Mr. Littlejohn asks us to state to the people of the county that he wanted to assure them that however they felt about him being county treasurer would be perfectly satisfactory with him. If the majority of the people see fit to nominate him he will appreciate it and do his best to be elected, but if the Republicans of the county prefer some other of our men to him, then he will be right with the crowd.

GOOD NEWS REGARDING HIGHWAY IN CHILTON

The people of Clanton and Chilton county have been more or less anxious about the work on the Chilton county link of the Montgomery - Birmingham State Highway, so we are now prepared to tell you that something definite is being done in regard to this matter. The Union-Banner is carrying this week a call from the State Highway Department for bids on a little over 17 miles of this highway. As will be noticed in this call, the bids will be opened on March 31. Shortly after this date, the contracts will be let, and by the time the winter weather is over arrangements will be made for the work on the grading to begin. The Union-Banner for one is glad that the road through Chilton county will soon be built. As will be seen from the specifications in the call for bids, this link of the road will be a dandy when put into concrete form.

It is stated in the call for bids on this project that the bridges on this road will have a clear roadway of 20 feet, and the plans for these bridges will be ready for distribution to prospective bidders about March 10th.

LESPEDEZA WILL BE GROWN IN ALABAMA THIS YEAR

It is a Great Soil Builder and also Makes a fine Pasture

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 26.—During the next few weeks farmers throughout Alabama will plant lespedeza (Japan clover) seed, which is widely recognized among farmers and agricultural leaders as a very valuable crop. J. T. High, District Agent for the Extension Service, regards it as one of the leading soil-improving crops for north Alabama, and the county agents are encouraging farmers to plant it. A special advantage of lespedeza is that it is practically a sure crop. Failures are very rare indeed.

Lespedeza is easily started and builds soil very rapidly. In addition it is a splendid pasture crop, furnishing a large amount of nutritious grazing during the summer and fall. It stands drouth well. It is also a great hay crop where conditions are such as to cause it to make sufficient growth. It will grow practically any where in Alabama, but makes its best growth on the lime soils of the central and northern part of the State. It grows wild in most sections.

According to Mr. High, one to one and a half bushels of seed to the acre is sufficient. They may be sown in oats or in other small grain, or they may be sown on a freshly prepared seedbed, which is a little safer.

MAKING MOONSHINE SPIRITS IN AUTOMOBILE RADIATOR

We have heard of them making it in coffee pots, lard cans and wash pots, but this is the first time we have ever heard of whiskety being made in old automobile radiators. Federal prohibition agents recently captured a moonshine outfit in Shelby county, the condenser of which was the radiator of some kind of an automobile. We do not think it was a Ford radiator, but reports say it was a standard make. But whatever make it was, this incident certainly adds one more star to its crown of usefulness. We just wonder what they will be doing next in Shelby county.

CLOUDLAND RADIO STATION

KEEPING in touch with land is no longer a problem for aeroplane pilots. Not for Jack Knight, the American Air Mail Ace whose likeness we picture here. He's made Radio solve the question for him and is finding it a very efficient method of communication indeed. In fact, his merry voice is listened for daily by many radio fans while he is making his flights through cloudland in the middle west.

Knight, who is said to hold the world's record for the number of miles flown, carries with him a complete receiving and transmitting set while in the air. With it, he is in constant touch with his Central Division Headquarters at Omaha. It has proved so successful that he never attempts a flight without it. You see him here, all ready to set forth with the radio receiver adjusted to his helmet and the transmitter suspended from his neck.

A very interesting and useful contrivance, we should say.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN SESSION AGAIN THIS WEEK

Failing to get all of the business before them passed up last week, the commissioners court of Chilton County was in session again the first of this week. One of the principal matters under consideration this week was the special road tax on trucks. Not all of the commissioners were present Monday and Tuesday on account of the bad weather and nothing permanent was done, but it is generally understood thtat either the special tax will be extended to all wagons doing heavy and regular hauling or else the tax now holding against trucks will be repealed. The former, however, seems more probable now.

The Commissioners have a hard problem before them in getting the new road law in operative form. They have worked hard trying to get a system established which will work satisfactorily, and they are going to do their best to be fair to everybody and at the same time build us some roads.

WADESONIAN THEATRE MOVES TO NEW PLACE ON WEST SIDE

Mr. C. W. Wade has moved his picture show from the Downs Warehouse building into the building on the west side of the railroad recently vacated by Mr. B. L. Jones. The new location is much better than the old one and new seats have been installed which will make the show much more desirable. Mr. Wade is showing three nights each week now, and he is putting on some mighty good pictures. A specialty is made of clean and interesting pictures in the Wadesonian shows, which no one could find any objection to. Besides his show in Clanton Mr. Wade now runs a show in Thorsby, Calera, Montevallo and Columbiana. By running his pictures in all of these towns, he can afford to show very high class productions.

PECULIAR FOWL BROUGHT TO CLANTON ON SATURDAY

Mr. Luther Patterson of New Salem was on the streets of Clanton Saturday with a curious looking fowl which he had shot down at his place on the previous Tuesday. The bird measured exactly 48 inches from tip to tip and had the resemblance of a wild goose, however several who have seen lots of wild geese say that it is different from any they have seen before. Mr. Patterson shot into a drove of six, killing one and only slightly injuring the one which he had here Saturday.

NEXT FRIDAY UNCLE DOCK WELLS HAS A BIRTHDAY

Uncle Dock Wells' birthday being on the 29th day of February, he is permitted this occasion only once in every four years. Uncle Dock has just returned from a week's visit to his children in Sylacauga, and he wishes to let his friends know that he is now back home and at their service.

Uncle Dock would also have you bear in mind that his birthday comes only one-fourth as often as other folks', so in selecting your presents for him, you may be governed accordingly. He also said that if you did not happen to be coming to town Friday, it would be perfectly all right for you to just bring his presents along Saturday. Although a day late, they would be acceptable just the same.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING IN BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

The marriage of Miss Mae Wright, the beautiful and charming young daughter of Mrs. Lily Wright, to Mr. Ozzie R. Poore of Birmingham was solemnized Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock, February 21st, 1924.

The bride was lovely in a grey satin crepe costume with accessories. Never has a more radiant bride been given at the altar of marriage.

A reception at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Poore will be at home in Birmingham. Mrs. Poore has been a popular and admired member in church, social and intellectual circles, and is well known in east Chilton where she spent several years of her life. Mr. Poore is connected with one of the largest companies in business in the City of Birmingham.

GETTING READY TO DO A BIGGER DAIRY BUSINESS

Mr. Ed W. Miller, who is a rural mail carrier from Clanton, and who has been running a dairy farm for the past several years, is making extensive improvements in his facilities for the dairy work at his place a mile out of town. Mr. Miller has recently completed a big fine barn which he intends to use in connection with his dairy. This building is distinctly modern in design and structure, and from all appearances Mr. Miller is going to bring his dairy up to a high standard. "Boss" is a hustler and never goes at a thing with the possibility of failure in his mind.

HAWK KILLED WITH STICK; MEASURED 48 INCHES

Mrs. John Ramsey of Mulberry performed a rather unusual feat one day last week when she killed an exceptionally large hawk with a stick. The hawk had caught a duck in a small pond of water and the attention of the lady was called by the squawks of the duck. Upon entering the scene Mrs. Ramsey saw that a large hawk had caught the duck and was trying desperately to raise him from the water. Mrs. Ramsey procured a good sized stick and striking the hawk with it killed him instantly. Upon measuring the hawk's wings it was found that from tip to tip he measured exactly 48 inches, which is rather unusual for a hawk.

COMMISSIONER WALKER IN CLANTON TUESDAY

Mr. C. T. Walker, County Commissioner from the Third District, was in Clanton the first of this week attending to some court matters. Mr. Walker was in The Banner office, and we noticed a twinkle in his eye which means that he may have a bee in his hat which means that he may intend to become a candidate to succeed himself as county commissioner.

CIRCUIT COURT WILL CONVENE IN CLANTON MONDAY, MARCH 24

The next regular term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County will convene at the court house in Clanton on Monday, March 24th. Judge Geo. F. Smoot, Circuit Judge for the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, will have charge of the court. This is a regular jury term, and a Grand Jury will be empanelled to make usual investigations.

ALL BANNER SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE!

In mailing out notices to our subscribers notifying them that their subscriptions are about out, we sometimes make mistakes by mailing notices to parties whose time is paid up well in advance. In such case, we are always glad to correct the error if our attention is called to the matter. The purpose for which we issue receipts to all subscribers when they pay is to be sure that any error that may appear in your record may be straightened out. So it is a mighty good idea to hold on to your receipt. Of course, we are not likely to get your record entered wrong, but you know we are just folks and subject to mistakes. So, we always appreciate our subscribers calling our attention to any error which may be made in your record. We want everybody to get the paper who pays for it. TOLBERT SHOW COMING AGAIN FOR WEEK HERE

Popular Tent Theatre Company Will Open Here March 3rd.

With probably the largest and most complete entertainment ever offered under canvas in Clanton and an entirely new program of plays, vaudeville acts and musical comedy features the Milt Tolbert Tent Theatre Company will open a week's engagement in this city Monday, March 3.

"All New But the Name" might well be the slogan of this popular company for their entire program, personelle, scenery and special effects have never before been seen in this section. This Tolbert company has the largest organization of artists and stars of the big vaudeville circuits that has even been gathered together under a tent in the South.

The opening play announced for Monday night is that Metropolitan comedy-drama "When Dreams Come True," which has created a furore of complimentary expressions in every large city in the country and in the many cities in which the Tolbert company has presented it.

"When Dreams Come True" will make you lough, cry and thrill, with its intense situations and dramatic climaxes. It is a clean, moral play that has the endorsement of press and pulpit alike and is as refreshing as a sweet summer breeze.

A feature of the Tolbert program this season is their musical comedy concerts featuring such stars of musical comedy and vaudeville as Roy E. Butler, Helen Yearger of the New York Revue, Alice Richy of musical comedy fame, Bessie Leighton of the Keith vaudeville and a beauty chorus that leaves nothing to be desired.

The citizens of Chilton County know the Tolbert company, know of its clean personelle and its reputation for presenting clean, wholesome plays that will entertain men, women and children without leaving a bad taste. A large crowd is expected to be present Monday night when the show opens here to enjoy a week of pleasure and profit during their stay in this city.

SPORTSMEN OF COUNTY ENJOY ANNUAL RABBIT HUNT ON LAST FRIDAY

Forty Hares Run Down and Cought by Sport Lovers; About 90 Men and 30 Dogs in Races.

If those who might have considered the annual rabbit hunt of Chilton County a joke had had occasion to drive out the Lock 12 Road last Friday about noon, they would doubtless have changed their minds.. In the neighborhood of Uncle Jack Vines' about 8 miles from Clanton there were parked 21 cars and one truck, which had been driven there to carry the members of the Chilton County Hunters Association to and from the hunting grounds.

There were about 30 dogs and 94 men and boys, which together caught and killed 40 rabbits. About 3:30 or 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon the men, boys and dogs began gathering around the cars, getting ready to return home. Practically every one present expressed himself as having enjoyed a day of good clean sport and hoped to live to see another day of just such sport on February 22, 1925.

During the day there was a very funny thing happened. Of course, there were several funny things, but there was one which was especially amusing. There was an old brindle cow out there that jumped a total of 10 rabbits all at one time. Should anyone doubt the truthfulness of this statement, we refer you to either Mr. G. O. Foshee or Uncle Jimmy Broadhead.

The following is a list of those who participated in the hunt: Floyd Gore, Robert Davis, Sam Pate, Joe Maddox, John M. Robinson, Percy Pitts, J. D. Cox, J. D. Collins, Phillip Headley, Geo. Davis, Robert Gore, J. W. Gore, J. E. Jones, Clarence Cleckler, Madison Davis, Girrus Moody, Clarence Popwell, Earl Martin, Henry Gore, G. O. Foshee, J. D. AROUND CALERA

Funds have been raised and a new cover put on the Shiloh Methodist church near South Calera. Quarterly conference was held there Sunday, Rev. Morten, the pastor, being present, also the Presiding Elder, Rev. Holcombe, who delivered the morning sermon. Quite a crowd remained over until afternoon when the business meeting was held.

Mrs. Henry Robinson from Pelham was visiting relatives in South Calera Sunday, returning home Sunday night.

Mr. Clyde Tate visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Tate last week. Mr. Tate holds a responsible position with the telephone company at Tuscaloosa, where he is now permanently stationed.

Miss Mayme Clark has returned from Birmingham where she has been visiting for the last two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox Busby were visitors in South Calera last week-end.

Mr. Elmer Campbelle from Montgomery was home last week.

Mr. E. D. Crim, who has been holding a position at Cherokee Bluffs, came home last week, accompanied by his father, Mr. R. L. Crim.

Mr. Homer Martin was home for the week-end.

Mrs. Morten, Misses Morten and Miss Glass from Jemison came up Sunday to Shiloh church to attend Quarterly Conference.

Mr. Carl Glass, who is now working in Walker county, spent the week-end with his home folks in South Calera.

Mr. Amy Boswell was among the Pelham visitors to South Calera Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Pilgreen was the guest of Mrs. G. S. Tate Monday.

Miss Ruth Mooney went to Birmingham Friday night to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Shrader. She returned Sunday afternoon to be ready to take up her school Monday morning, this week closing the school.

The community was very much shocked to hear of the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Martin of Calera, which resulted from pneumonia. Much sympathy is extended to them in their loss, many of the relatives being residents of South Calera.

Mrs. Jessie Cox spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Pearl Anderson of Minooka.

Mr. Roy Virgin from Birmingham spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Virgin last week.

Miss Dora Campbelle came home from Montgomery last week, where she has been visiting for quite a while.

A number of people from Minooka attended church at Shiloh Sunday.

Mr. Clarie Vines from Pascagoula, Mississippi is visiting relatives in Clanton this week.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

REPUBLICANVILLE

Health of our community is not so good at present.

Capt. J. B. Hutchinson went to Montgomery last Saturday night to see his father who got hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Gray of Clanton spent last Friday night with Mr. J. H. Williams.

Miss Roberta Collins spent part of last week with her brother, A. D. Collins.

Mrs. Mattie Pruitt of Shelby county visited her father, J. A. Langston Sunday.

Mr. V. A. Whatley spent last Sunday at Mr. A. D. Collins.

Jim and Frank Nelson spent last Sunday with Wallace Vickers.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Langston visited Mr. Stephen Pate last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. R. L. Duffy and family of Mt. Creek visited at Mr. Rube Williams last Sunday.

Mr. Clyde Williams of Birmingham visited his father, Mr. J. H. Williams last Saturday night.

If Oscar Underwood is as mean as Musgrove's crowd claims that he is and if Musgrove is as mean as the Underwood crowd says that he is, I don't see how that any voter can vote for either with a clear conscience.

CLYDE J. DAVIS IS NOW LOCATED IN DOTHAN

A letter from our good friend, C. J. Davis, who is working with Bradstreet's commercial agency, says that he has been transfered from Montgomery to Dothan, Ala. Clyde's letter follows:

"Dothan, Ala., Feb. 24, 1924.

THIS HAS BEEN DESIGNATED AS BETTER MAILING WEEK

Thorsby, Ala., Feb. 25, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

In view of the fact that the Postoffice Department has set aside this week as Better Mailing Week, I wish you would print in this issue of your paper the following helpful suggestions and instructions.

The Public Can Help Make the Postal Service Better

By depositing outgoing mails in postoffice early in the day and as frequently as possible.

By tying out letters and circulars in separate bundles for states and cities when the quantity justifies.

By addressing all mails plainly and sufficiently. See that they are addressed to an existing post office, and if to city the street and number or P. O. Box is included. By securely wrapping and preparing for mailing all parcel post packages, especially those liable to be damaged or to damage other mail or the persons who handle the mails.

Before mailing packages for destinations abroad ask your postmaster for information relative to the regulations of the country of destination. These regulations vary greatly.

When in any doubt about amount of postage required for foreign mail ask the postmaster. Packages to go abroad should be packed even more securely than those for domestic destination.

Address to Be Complete and Plain.

The address should always be complete and plain, mail for delivery on rural routes should indicate that fact in the address and include the route number.

Abbreviations Should Be Avoided.

The names of the addresses should be written in full to assure proper delivery, as frequently two or more patrons of the same postoffice have identical initials.

Return Card Essential

A definite return card giving the complete address of the sender should be placed in the upper left corner of the address side on all mail. This is required on all fourth class mail matter, on all mail inclosed in window enveloped, on all registered matter, and is highly desirable in the case of all mail. Buy stamps where used. The mailing postoffice is entitled to the revenue from the sale of postage stamps used on mailings.

Preparing parcel post matter, patrons should acquaint themselves with the various provisions that have been made to promote the usefulnes of the postal service. Among these is the provision under which parcels of fourth class matter mailed at the fourth class rate of postage may be sealed if properly labeled in printing. This facility enables mailers to prepare their parcels in a better and more substantial manner, thus assuring the safer transmission of the parcels and at the same time effecting an economy to the mailer.

Attaching Communications to the Parcels

It is often a great convenience to have a communication concerning a shipment reach the addressee at the time the shipment does. This can be accomplished by attaching the communication prepaid at the first-class rate of postage, to the parcel containing the shipment on which the regular fourth-class rate is paid. This is another advantageous facility and its use is constantly increasing.

Cut this out and put in some convenient place to refer to when in doubt as to proper method.

Consult the postmaster for any other information regarding the postal service.

Help us to make the postal service better.

Yours very respectfully,
GROVER A. BICE,
Postmaster, Thorsby, Ala.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

On February 21st the death angel visited the home of Mr. Emmett Smitherman, Tuscaloosa, Ala., and carried his faithful and loving wife, Mrs. Mary, safely home above. She was from Tuscaloosa, though she is friend from Maplesville. She had been sick for a very long while. All was done for her that loving hands and physicians could do, but the Lord saw fit to carry her home.

Her remains were brought to Maplesville and laid to rest in the Maplesville cemetery, Rev. Jones officiating.

She leaves a husband, eight children, one sister, Mrs. Monroe Lawrence; two brothers, Messrs. John and George Fox, and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her death.

We are indeed glad to say that our beautiful new high school building is completed at last. Will open school in it Monday, Feb. 25th. We are proud to know that Maplesville has progressed that much. We hope to have a good school next year.

Maplesville Boys' B. B. team played another game with Isabella Friday p.m., Feb. 22nd, on Isabella court. I don't suppose Isabella will tackle us any more as we have defeated them every game. Looks like they would know we can beat them if they will just treat us fair. The game Friday was 20 to 4 in favor of Maplesville. Our boys haven't lost a single game this season, we are glad to say.

Our Sunday school is still increasing. We had present Sunday 75. Let's make it 100 next Sunday. We were very sorry that our superintendent was absent on account of sickness. We thought the mumps were gone, but Mr. H. A. Harris has them, we are sorry to say, and hope him a quick recovery.

Little Charles Parnell was carried to Selma to the hospital last week for an operation of appendicitis. We are hoping him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. John Fox of Birmingham spent the week-end here with relatives and attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary Smitherman.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Seales spent the week-end in Selma with his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bloss.

Mr. Sam Seales spent Saturday night with his sister, Mrs. Emmett Christian.

Misses Mattie and Fae McAfee, Allie and Lucy Walker were visiting Maplesville Sunday p.m.

Mrs. Alpha Grooms and Mrs. Odra Wyatt spent Sunday p.m. with their aunt, Mrs. R. R. Seales.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Dennis are the proud parents of a little girl which arrived February 18th, whom they named Willie Mabel.

We are very glad that Mrs. Stanley Hays has recovered from a recent spell of sickness.

Mr. Arthur McGee of Tuscaloosa came home Sunday visiting wife and children.

Reduce The Railroads' Bills -and They Will Reduce Yours

Many people seem to think that by simply repeating the magic words "We will reduce rates", the railroads can make a big cut in rates. Evidently they do not realize that existing rates are based upon what it costs railroads to furnish transportation. About 80c on every $1 collected by the railroads now goes for operating expenses, leaving only 20c to pay interest; replace worn-out equipment; make necessary improvements and expansions; pay taxes and the dividends to which stockholders are legitimately entitled.

While railroad rates, on an average, are 50% higher than in 1916, operating expenses are 100% higher; and these costs are not fixed by the railroads and cannot be regulated by them. Before the public can enjoy the benefit of lower rates, the railroads must be given the benefit of lower costs on the essentials of operation. This means that everyone depending on the railroads would have to accept smaller pay.

Through greater efficiency in all operations, railroads have been able to effect many savings; which have been passed back to the public in improved service and in rate reductions amounting to more than one billion dollars during the past three years.

If the railroads are to continue to furnish adequate service, a general reduction of rates will not be possible until operating expenses can be reduced; which can be done only when those things which the railroads purchase are reduced in price.

In the final analysis, lower railroad rates hinge entirely upon the public's ability and willingness to live at lower cost.

George Washington Party Given.

Among the most delightful affairs of the season was a Washington party given at the home of Mrs. R. E. Luckie on Friday, when she and Mrs. Clyde Jones, were joint hostesses at a "42" party. Patriotic decorations prevailed throughout the apartments, also the score cards, being tiny red hatchets and the refreshments. Baskets of red and white carnations were effectively arranged, and red, white and blue draperies further carried out the Washington idea. Music on the Victrola was enjoyed, Mrs. Grady Taylor presiding here. Eight tables were grouped in the living room, dining room and bed room. Salted nuts were served in red baskets during the game. After several games were enjoyed the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. M. A. Gore and Mrs. M. L. White and Mrs. Armstrong served a lovely salad plate with iced tea. Miniature silk flags were used as favors. On a draw for a bunch of red carnations, Mrs. Percy Pitts proved "lucky."

Enjoying the game were: Mesdames Pitts, L. C. Ross, Grady Reynolds, John Vanderveer, M. L. White, John Armstrong, M. B. Arant, Geo. Polk, J. P. Hayes, J. C. Jones, Claud Jones, Earl Gowan, Eric Hart, L. F. Gerald, Hugh Simpson, Hugh Jones, John Browder, Arthur Johnson, Victor Heard, Hance Alred, McSwain, Grady Broadhead, W. Z. Hodges, R. C. McDavid, V. J. Gragg, P. D. Wilson, Hosea Downs, Barney Roberts, Morgan from Montgomery, O. Kyle from Decatur, Bill Lanier from Tallassee and Miss Madelyn Orr.

Missionary Society Meets.

Mrs. Thad McSwain was hostess on last Monday afternoon to the members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Jones, president. Opening song "Guide Me Oh Thou Great Jehova." Devotional was conducted by Rev. Wilkerson and a splendid talk on unity in the church was enjoyed. Mrs. Barney Roberts gave the report from the Annual Conference held recently at Dothan. Mrs. Wilkerson delighted her hearers with a talk on Christian stewardship. A couple of papers on the superannuate preacher or the forgotten man was read by Mrs. Luckie and Mrs. Petrey. During the business session plans were made to serve a dinner down-town next week and plans for the Bazaar were discussed.

A contest was put on to create interest and attendance for the Mission Study Book, with Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Luckie captains. After the book is finished, the winning side is to be given a spend-the-day party by the losing side. No further business, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Simpson, served chocolate and cake.

The society gladly added the name of a new member, Mrs. Petrey, who has recently moved into our midst.

Lovely Children's Party Given.

Little Miss Mary Heard was a charming young hostess on last Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Heard. The entire apartments were lovely with Washington decorations. Baskets of white narcisuss tied with red tulle were an added interior decoration. A unique game of "George" was played at four tables and Miss Exie Jones was the lucky contestant, and was given a box of George Washington cherries. An interesting red, white and blue spider web contest was enjoyed. Miss Myra Johnson was the successful contestant and was also presented a box of candied cherries. Cream and cake further emphasizing the color note, was served late in the afternoon to Misses Jones, Madelyn Orr, Myra and Elizabeth Johnson, Josephine Littlejohn, Gertie Mae Fiquett, Nell Neighbors, Charlsie Pyron, Mayme Maroney Middleton, Manette Wallace, Kathryn Hayes, Mary and Louise McSwain, Julia Hester and Jane Roberts.

Miss Jones Becomes Bride of Mr. Todd.

A marriage of much interest to a large circle of friends was that of Miss Billie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen L. Jones of Clanton, Ala., to Mr. Robert Cecil Todd, of Montgomery. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Nicol Huggins, in the Dulion Apartments, Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. R. Hendrix officiating.

The bride has been quite popular in Montgomery and in Clanton, having attended the Woman's College, and later making her home there. She was unusually attractive on this occasion, wearing a dress of brown trimmed with Viatka squirrel, and hat of harmonizing hue. Her corsage was of Butterfly roses, valley lillies and rainbow freesias.

Mr. Todd is an Auburn man and prominent in automobile circles in the state. After an extended wedding trip, this popular couple will be at home, temporarily, in Selma.—Birmingham News.

Card Club Meets.

The attractive home of Mrs. Hance Alred was the meeting place of the Wednesday card club. Baskets of yellow jonquils were used to brighten the apartments where the tables were arranged for the game.

After several games of bridge were enjoyed the top score was held by Mrs. Grady Reynolds, who was awarded a table cover with filet corners. A dainty salad plate was served at the close of the game. Besides the club members, Mesdames O. Kyle, Mrs. Eric Hart and Mrs. T. C. McSwain were present.

Mrs. Armstrong Hostess.

Mrs. John Armstrong was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of the sewing club. Yellow jonquils were used to brighten the reception rooms. Fancy work was the diversion for the afternoon and later a refreshing salad plate with hot tea was served to Mrs. Barney Roberts, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. M. L. White and Mrs. O. O. Roper.

Mrs. Watts Moore will be hostess next week at a spend-the-day party.

BEE MEN WANT HELP; APPEAL TO AG. BOARD

Alabama Leads All Other States In Shipping of Bee Hives and Highly Bred Queens.

Montgomery, Ala. Feb. 23, 1924. Although handicapped by lack of funds at the present time for this particular work, Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries J. M. Moore has advised officials of the Alabama Bee Keepers' Association that he will make every possible effort to render them assistance on behalf of the State, in preventing the spread of a disease peculiar to bees, which is causing the bee-keepers considerable worry.

The disease in question is known as "foulbrood," and is said to be one of the most destructive to honey bees that is known to the bees and honey industry of this country. The appeal for aid in fighting this pest in Alabama, has been made to the State Board of Agriculture through Commissioner Moore as executive officer, by J. M. Cutts, of Snowdoun, and M. C. Berry, of Montgomery, president and secretary, respectively, of the Alabama Bee Keepers' Association. Provisions for the assistances asked is made under Article 13 of the New Agriculture Code.

In connection with the appeal, attention is called to the fact that with a much smaller bee and honey industry than Alabama, the State of Florida is now spending approximately $15,000 a year in the production of the industry, and its promotion. There are 153,766 colonies of bees on 24,266 farms in Alabama, according to the census of 1920, not including bees owned by persons living in cities and towns, who in many instances are among the largest bee keepers in the State.

It is claimed that Alabama not only ships more hives of bees and more queens than other states, but as many as all the other states combined. These shipments, of course, represent many thousands of dollars. It is apparent from the figures indicating the proportions of the bees and honey industry in Alabama that it is of the highest importance that every assistance be given in keeping the apiaries free of disease, and that this industry which contributes much to the wealth of the state, should be adequately protected and its growth be promoted and encouraged to the greatest possible extent.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court in Equity, February 22, 1924.

Alabama Machinery and Supply Company, a Body Corporate, Complainant, vs. Ralph Calloway and Mrs. Geneva Calloway, Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds that the Defendant, Ralph Calloway, is a non-resident and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Ralph Calloway, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 24th day of March, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 22nd day of February, 1924.

CHEAPER ROADS BY STATE PURCHASES

Wholesale Buying Saves Taxpayers Much Money.

That wholesale purchases of road materials by States is a method of saving taxpayer's money is demonstrated by the records of several States which have adopted a central purchasing department for all road materials. North Carolina, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Delaware, Connecticut, and Indiana are among the good-roads States thus cutting out waste and centralizing their buying.

B. H. Piepmeier, State engineer for Missouri roads, estimates that centralized buying has saved the "show me" State over $3,000,000. In addition to the saving due to low prices on large lots in wholesale quantities, the unified purchases save time, red tape, and duplication. Regarding the plan, Mr. Piepmeier says:

"It could be tried with success in other states. The plan secures steady supply of cement, speeds up delivery, and reduces the expense to the tax payer. North Carolina has saved in three years in this way $350,000. The contractors are better pleased, too, on account of competition with privately operated plants. Because of the great expense in getting started, it was decided that it would be inadequate for the state to manufacture; so the commercial plants were enlarged. In my opinion, a government operated plant can not be so efficiently operated as a privately owned one in which keen competition keeps the managers active all the time. A privately operated plant does not suffer from political turnovers or other such influences."

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of Chilton County, Alabama, subject to the action of the Republican Primary to be held on May 13, 1924.

J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN.
(Paid pol. adv., by J. Wiley Littlejohn, Clanton, Ala.)

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER (Fourth District)

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Chilton County from the Fourth District, subject to the action of the Republican primary to be held on May 13, 1924. H. B. GLENN.
(Paid pol. adv. by H. B. Glenn, Clanton, Ala., R. 6.)

The political pot in Chilton County is beginning to simmer a little. The announcement of Brewer Glenn for County Commissioner opened the way for the real fun to start. Who will be the next one to throw up his hat?

From the bad weather we are having this week, we believe that the Ground Hog must have got scared at his shadow on Feb. 2 and run back into his hole so far that he has forgotten the way back out, or else hung his head behind a root and broke his fool neck. It is a fact that we are having some more bad weather all right, whether the ground hog has anything to do with it or not.

The date for the big Democratic presidential preferential primary is only a few days off, but from what we can hear, the people are not looking forward with much anxiety to this event. They must figure there is something dead up the branch. Some say that everybody who participates in this election will commit a misdemeanor against the State Constitution. The question arises, which is the bigger, the State Legislature which brought the law into being or thte State Constitution which says that no primary can be held except on thet regular specified dates?

ANOTHER REMINDER DUE

It is likely that another reminder may soon be sent to foreign debtor countries advising them that the United States stands ready to consider any funding offers they may wish to make. There is at present more than $7,000,000,000 of the foreign debt still outstanding, of which there has been no arrangement for repayment. The Treasury holds demand notes for the full amount, but no attention is being paid to them by the signers, and there will be no receipts of interest or principal until detailed terms of repayment have been decided upon.

THE PEOPLE'S FIGHT

In his New York address the President told the people that the fight for sane tax reductions was their fight. "They alone can win it," said he. "Unless they make their wishes known to the Congress, without regard to party, this bill will not pass. I urge them to renewed efforts." The decision of the House Democrats to stand solidly behind the Garner substitute for the Mellon bill intensifies the need for emphatic and unrelenting effort by the people. If it had not been for the flood of letters received at the Capitol favoring the Mellon plan, that bill would now be reposing in the files of the Ways and Means Committee, and a compromise measure would be before the House for consideration. But public pressure succeeded in getting the Mellon bill out of committe and on to the floor of the House with little substantial change. It will be passed in that form only by the renewed and unremitting efforts of the taxpayers. The situation is vividly presented by one eastern editor when he says:

"Not until the revenue measure is out of joint conference and on its way to the White House should the taxpayer cease his drum-fire of personal letters, telegrams, petitions and resolutions upon the bomb-proofs, strong points, dugouts and funk holes of Capitol Hill. Neither oil scandals nor political smoke screens should be permitted to draw the public attention away from this vital tax-relief legislation. If the taxpayer fails to follow up his Congressmen, he will sup with trouble and eat the bitter bread of disappointment."

It Wouldn't Take Much More Energy to "Skin Up" That Tree

THE CORNER OF THE SHROUD IS DROPPED

To adopt the circumlocutory language of Frank A. Vanderlip, several million people are broadcasting the fact that a rumor is being broadcasted that Mr. Vanderlip left the witness stand a sadly discredited man, following his testimony before the Committee on Public Lands recently. Admitting that he had not a shred of evidence nor a morsel of fact to support what his Briar Cliff audience of a few evenings before must have accepted as inference that the late Warren G. Harding's sale of the Marion Star was open to suspicion, the retired banker presented a pitiable spectacle of Dame Gossip unfrocked.

The committee rooms were crowded with the four estates on the day Mr. Vanderlip took the stand to explain his poisonous thrust at the memory of the dead President. Washington thought that this man of high financial and social standing might have had justification for his strictures and that the corner of "the shroud," which he had raised was to be followed by the exposure of the entire body. The audience listened to Mr. Vanderlip's feeble explanations with disgust amounting to nausea. The committee turned the gentleman inside out and they discovered nothing but a disordered imagination. The most that Vanderlip could say was that he had heard rumors from a dozen sources that the sale by Mr. Harding of the Marion Star to Messrs. Brush and Moore would not bear the light of day; that he believed it a "patriotic duty" to peddle these rumors wholesale to his audience in order that his "broadcasting" might precipitate an investigation of the transaction by the committee. "I was a lifelong friend of Mr. Harding," declared Mr. Vanderlip. "I wanted to clear his memory. That was my only purpose." The sense of the audience, individually expressed, seemed to be, "Heaven protect me from such a friend!"

In his speech directing invidious attention to the Marion Star sale Mr. Vanderlip had inquired: "Where did the money come from? Where did it go? These are matters of public interest." As was well pointed out by Senator Adams, Democrat, of Colorado, such a question must of necessity have caused the auditors to speculate on the matter. Yet Mr. Vanderlip declared these questions to be "all a part of the rumor." Following them, in his address he intimated the Senate "did not go further in investigating Secretary Fall, because Fall was ready to preach and what he would have said would have gone into high places. They didn't dare." Having passed that on to his audience in Briar Cliff, he told the committee in Washington, "that was my own personal inference." The committee showed Mr. Vanderlip that to have insisted on Fall's testifying would have rendered the former Secretary of the Interior immune from criminal prosecution.

He pleaded ignorance of that fact. He pleaded ignorance of any fact. He had disseminated base rumor without inquiring of "the two young men of no financial standing who purchased" the Marion Star, or of the committee investigating the oil scandal, or any one. If he had been uttering counterfeit money in this manner he would have been indicted by legal process. But to spread a rumor which traduced the dead was "a patriotic duty." As the investigation progressed the aged banker became highly nervous. His face twitched, his fingers fluttered. One was reminded of the line, "his coward lipe did from their color fly." He attempted to distinguish between gossip and rumor. "I was stating there was such a rumor, not giving currency to it," said he. But the report of his address, which he was given opportunity to correct, purported to state facts, not rumors.

There was suppressed laughter among the press representatives as Vanderlip made his rhetorical distinctions which lay him open to the flat charge of scandal-mongering. As the banker quit his chair it became manifest that though the last long sleep of Warren G. Harding may have been rudely interrupted, it could be resumed without fear of another disturbance from this source. Vanderlip had failed miserably to make out a case or an excuse. The corner of the shroud had dropped back to its wonted position.

MEXICO CONVALESCING

The Mexican revolution seems to be subsiding, thanks in large measure to the wise policy of President Coolidge in selling munitions to the Mexican government. There will probably be more outbreaks in the future, until the generation of professional revolutionists, who seem to have formed the habit in the last ten years, have become too old to fight. Had Mr. Coolidge been less accurate in reaching conclusions and equipped with less courage in carrying them out, there might be a different story to tell of Mexico. The issue was squarely presented to the President When Obregon asked permission to buy arms. He had either to reject the request or grant it. We had recognized the Obregon government, and to have refused it aid would have been equivalent to expressing the wish to see it destroyed and another set up in its place. Mr. Coolidge saw where justice pointed and did not hesitate to give practical expression to our approval of the Obregon regime. The arms we supplied contributed to an earlier peace, not to a prolongation of war.

WHY NOT REAL SUPPORT?

The leading Democratic newspapers of the country are supporting the Mellon plan for the reduction of taxation. Yet all those papers will just as earnestly support for re-election those Democrats in the House and Senate who are opposing the Mellon recommendation. If the "World" and the "Times" are sincere in their desire to have the Mellon plan adopted, why do they not announce that they will oppose the re-election of any Democrats who fail to support that plan?

There is no more important issue before the country today than that of reduction of taxation. While it is true that Federal taxes are a far smaller burden upon the people than state and local taxes, and while it is also true that Federal taxes have been going down while state and local taxes have been going up, yet it is highly desirable that further reductions be made in Federal taxes—for both small and large taxpayers.

That is what the Mellon plan proposes, and those Democratic editors who favor it ought to be willing to go the limit in its support.

JAPAN INVESTMENT

The readiness with which the American public absorbed the $150,000,000 worth of Japanese bonds recently placed on the market not only indicates confidence in the character of the Japanese people, but also is a reflection of the improved relations with that country growing out of the Washington armaments conference. Had the Washington meeting not settled the long-standing controversies between the two governments, and definitely removed the shadow of war, there would have been little desire to invest in Japanese securities.

BALDWIN AGREEMENT SAFE

The labor government of Great Britain has let it be officially known that no attempt will be made to alter the terms under which the British debt to the Unied States will be paid. Apparenly all classes of the British people are united in the determination to uphold their country's credit. Of course a few individuals are found who are ready to denounce the Baldwin debt agreements, but their statements merely serve to emphasize the prevailing sentiment throughout the country.

Stubborn coughing is a needless waste of strength. And it increases the irritation that is causing the cough. Stop it quickly. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey combines the very same medicines which the ablest doctors use with the old time, well-tried remedy—pine-tar honey that generations have relied upon. CHARGE IT !

She can say it with a smile:
"Charge it!"
Picks a hat right in the style:
"Charge it!"
Shoes and underwear and lace,
Ribbons, powder for her face,
Anything at any place,
"Charge it!"

What a handy little phrase:
"Charge it!"
Earning every woman's praise:
"Charge it!"
"Yes, I think this one will do,
And I'll take the other, too,
And the pink one and the blue,
"Charge it!"

"Send this costume up today,
"Charge it!"
This is all she has to say:
"Charge it!"
Rocking chair, new kitchen range,
Something striking, something strange,
And she needn't wait for change:
"Charge it!"

It is good to hear her say:
"Charge it!"
For she has a queenly way:
"Charge it!"
But the monthly bills I dread,
For I always shake my head
When I find how oft she's said:
"Charge it!"

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

At the meeting of the Town Council last Thursday night, the committee appointed as a result of a mass meeting a week previous to arrange some plan for raising funds needed to secure the building of a new public school building in Thorsby, was ready to make a proposition to the Council.

There has been a good deal of objection to any plan looking to raise the money wholly by subscription or gift to the enterprise, because it would provide a way for any who would not assist in this way to wholly escape their responsibility in the matter.

Last year the Town Council had an accumulated sum of upwards of $1,000 in the treasury, and they were easily induced to use it in the purchase of a desirably located 5-acre tract as a site for a new school building. Knowing this, the committee presented a plan which would authorize the Mayor and Clerk to borrow, in the name of the Town, from citizens of Thorsby and vicinity a sum not exceeding $3,000, for which one, two or three year notes would be given by the Town Councol. These notes would bear 6 per cent interest and payment of them be provided by income from taxes, which is a just and equitable way of ultimate payment for the improvement desired.

The legality of this proceeding is pointed out by Judge Mayfield of Montgomery, an authority on Alabama statutes, who is reported to have informed the committee and Council that there is a statute of Alabama which specifically provides for just such proceedings.

It must not be understood that $3,000 is the whole sum which it is contemplated to invest in this new building. This is simply the amount which the people of Thorsby must raise AT ONCE to secure about $8,500 from other sources, which is now available for this purpose, but the opportunity to get it will pass soon if Thorsby fails to do the part assigned to her.

Mrs. Martha Grothy and daughter, Nellie, entertained a few friends last Saturday afternoon in honor of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Engh. Rev. Engh was one of the pioneers of Thorsby and returns after an absence of about twenty years to spend a few weeks away from the rigors of a Minnesota winter.

Mrs. James Bosworth visited Jemison last Monday.

The many friends of Rev. George Eaves of Birmingham, who reside in and around Thorsby, will be pleased to learn that he is now convalescent after a long and serious illness.

We are pleased to note that Miss Marie Flummer is at home, much improved since her sojourn in a Birmingham hospital.

The declamatory contest among Thorsby Institute students who had been selected as the best from a large number of former students, was of a very interesting character and manifested no small degree of ability on the part of some at least who took part. We note that every one of the seven gave long recitations without hesitation, showing capacity to memorize, which is a most worthy accomplishment. The winners were for the boys—Gordon Sorrell, who gave "For His Mother's Sake" in a very effective manner; for the girls, Miss Lorena Primm was easily the favorite in "Cuddy" by Margaret McCarter. Miss Ethel Peterson was handicapped by a severe cold which would have discouraged most any one, bu: she put it over in a way to receive honorable mention, and Miss Cora Griffin also received honorable mention. The prize in each case was $5 in gold.

The Ladies Guild social will be held Thursday afternoon, February 28th at the girls dormitory. Misses Jenkins and Leech will be hostesses.

The Congregational Ladies Aid social will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Thursday afternoon, March 6th.

Fourth term examinations will be held at Thorsby Institute Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7.

Miss Bertha Littleton, assistant cashier at The Bank of Thorsby, has been drafted by the Alabama Bank Inspector to supply, for a few days, the place of the cashier of the Bank of Maplesville, who is sick. On arriving there she found that there was no other bank official on dufy and she was the only authority on the job. She says it has kept her pretty busy, but she at least kept the bank open during business hours until relieved.

Little Lucile Each, next to the youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Each, has been quite ill since Sunday. There were fears of pneumonia at one time but it is hoped that is now past.

Next Sunday night, March 2nd at 7:15 there will be held at the Congregational church another of those delightful praise services, which have become a popular part of the regular activities of this church, the first Sunday night each month being given over to a service of song.

The Thorsby Institute basketball team defeated Clanton high last Thursday by the decisive score of 18-9. There were no features of the game as the game became too rough in the last quarter for real basketball. Thorsby closes its season next Saturday, when they play the Buck Creek cotton mill team of Siluria.

Thorsby Institute now claims the championship of Chilton county, as she holds wins over Verbena and Clanton, while Jemison only holds victories over Thorsby. Clanton holds one victory over Verbena, while Clanton and Jemison tied each other. Thorsby holds two victories over Marbury which we think, no other team in Chilton county does.

IN 1859 THE GIRLS WERE DIFFERENT FROM 1924's

Through the courtesy of Mrs. J. H. Gore of Friendship community, The Union-Banner is in the possession of a leaf from a Christian publication called "The Child's Paper," which was published in August, 1859. We notice on this sheet an interesting little story of two girls which we are publishing below:

A Visit From the Angels

Two young girls found Jesus, and they were so happy they wanted, like him, to go about doing good; so they went to see a poor old blind woman, and took her a basket full of food and hearts full of love. "Now," they said, "don't you want us to read you a little from the Lord Jesus Christ?" "Oh yes," answered the poor blind woman. And after they read, "Now shall we not have a little prayer meeting with you?" they said. "Oh yes," answered the poor blind woman; and that was the best of all.

When the pastor made his next visit, what do you think the old lady told him? "Oh, I have had a visit from the angels since you were here," she said.

Now, how often do you hear of the girls now-a-days doing a deed like this? The attention of most of our girls today is turned toward automobile riding, dancing, going to swimming parties, vamping and "having a good time". It is very seldom that they find time to visit the afflicted and try to console them in their infirmities, but such people are generally ignored and very often sneered at and made fun of. The girls of today are very different from those of our grandmothers' time.

MILT TOLBERT SHOWS TO BE HERE ALL NEXT WEEK

"When Dreams Come True" will be Introductory Offering on Monday Night.

After exhibiting a full week in Selma this week, the Milt Tolbert Tent Shows will be in Clanton next Monday, March 3, to begin a full week's series of performances in our city.

"When Dreams Come True" has been chosen as their introductory vehicle. We say introductiry advisedly because this tent theatre company is new in everything but the name. New performers will appear for the approval of Clanton theatre-goers, while the equipment is new from the ground up, a fire a few weeks ago having cleaned out the entire show from its trunks to its tent.

An extraordinary week's entertainment is promised by the management. No expense has been spared, they claim, in order to give the best possible productions. Aritsts with the company are headliners in epery respect and will satisfy the most critical. Some idea of the effort put forth may be had when it is realized that there are 35 people in the company.

Their introductory offering "When Dreams Come True" is a comedy that is bound to chase away worry and care.

The Milt Tolbert Shaws are well known in Clanton and should be accorded a hearty welcome. Theatre patrons are advised to read the advertising matter in The Union-Banner and see the good things that are in store for them.

Nitrate of Soda, The Miracle Fertilizer Shown in

"White Magic"

A MOTION PICTURE

SHOWING THE EFFECT OF NITRATE OF SODA ON COTTON—WILL BE SHOWN AT

VERBENA, TUESDAY, MARCH 4th
2:30 p.m., in School Building

THORSBY, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5th
10 a.m., in Theatre

CLANTON, TUESDAY NIGHT, MARCH 4th
7:30, in Theatre

THERE WILL BE NO CHARGE FOR ADMISSION

The picture tells the story of how a brave young girl—the ward of an old cotton planter whose crops and fortune had been destroyed by the coming of the boll weevil; who was made desperate by the fact that their poverty had forced her sweetheart, the son of the old planter, to leave his home to try to make his fortune in the North. Seeing the good crops made on a neighbor's land, she goes to him and later to an experiment Station to learn how it was done. Unable to persuade the old man to try modern methods, she decides to try what she can do to restore their fortunes and bring back her sweetheart.

THE PICTURE SHOWS HOW NITRATE OF SODA WAS HER BEST AID

—ALSO—

"WHITE MAGIC TURNED INTO GOLD"

A TWO-REEL SHOW

A cotton cultural picture with some of the best suggestions in terracing, fertilization and methods of applying fertilizer, as well as improving and grading cotton seed. And better methods of Fertilizing will be discussed by a representative.

Don't miss seeing in one hour's time what the experience of the most successful growers and experimental men have demonstrated to be our best method of fertilizing cotton.

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Sale of 126,672 acres of state swamp and overflow lands for 10 cents an acre, during the days of "carpet bag" rule in Alabama immediately following the Civil War, has just been brought to light through investigations by R. W. Manning, special agent for the resident committee for the Alabama Insane Hospitals. Most of these lands, it is stated, are located in the counties of Mobile, Baldwin and Washington. The tract book shows that the sales took place in the years 1871 and 1872, it is stated.

Although not generally known, a dry rot fungus is doing considerable damage to buildings in Alabama, Dr. L. E. Miles, plant pathologist for the Alabama extension service, and Dr. C. J. Humphrey, of the United States department of agriculture made a ten-day scouting trip through the state to determine the extent of the occurrence of this fungus, and found 21 infestations in churches, dwellings, lumber yards, warehouses, stores and other buildings in Montgomery, Opelika, Troy, Selma, Orrville and Eclectic.

Detectives are reported to have recovered 24 automobiles in Cherokee county which had been stolen from the streets at Atlanta in the past four months, and news from Centre indicated that sensational developments might follow. Some of the best known farmers of the county bought the cars, paying from $150 to $300 for them, it is stated. The thieves welded new number plates over the original engine numbers and these were burned off by the detectives, enabling them to recover the cars, reports say.

It is now but a question of a few years until the Alabama National Forest in Northwest Alabama will be accessable as a national park to all lovers of the out-door life in north Alabama and nearby territory. Plans are being made by government officials to enter at once into the construction of the road between Moulton and the reservation by way of Wren. This road is to be graded by the government and rocked by the farmers with crushed material furnished by the forestry officials.

The first carload of seed Irish potatoes, ordered cooperatively, has been distributed to the farmers of Scottsboro community. The car is made up of certified potatoes absolutely free of any disease. Last year three carloads of potatoes were shipped from Scottsboro and the farmers were well pleased with the returns and this year it is expected that several car loads will be produced.

Owen R. Lovejoy, of New York, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, and known as "The Children's Statesman of America," has notified Mrs. L. B. Bush, president of the Alabama Conference of Social Work, of his acceptance of the invitation to deliver an address at the annual meeting of the conference, in Tuscaloosa, March 9, 10 and 11.

Alabama City is preparing to spend $25,000 for additional paving, the council having ordered asphalt paving on Fourth Street, between Kyle Avenue and Forrest Avenue. The improvement will be started during March. It will "tie-in" a lot of paving now being completed on Forrest Avenue and Kyle Avenue.

Tom McClellan, living near Lincoln, was the victim of a peculiar accident resulting in the loss of his right eye. He was yoking up a team of oxen according to reports, when one of the oxen gored him in the eye with its horn.

J. R. Thompson has been appointed license inspector of Tuscaloosa county by the board of revenue and his duties will be mostly to round up those who have failed to get licenses for their trucks.

Two men wearing black masks and heavily armed entered the store of E. B. Halliday at Plateau, near Mobile, and robbed the cash register of $19.

Plans have been set on foot to enlist the support of all civic organizations in Huntsville in the Boy Scout movement inaugurated two weeks ago.

At a meeting of stockholders of the Decatur Brick and Tile Company, an addition to the local plant was authorized.

Mr. J. C. Page was out of town Monday on business.

MR. H. BREWER GLENN FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

The first fellow to get in his little canoe and venture out onto the sea of politics in Chilton County this year is Mr. H. Brewer Glenn, who comes out as a candidate for County Commissioner from the Clanton or Fourth District. Mr. Glenn is rather well known in Chilton County and especially so in the south-eastern portion of the county, as it has been here that he has lived all the time he has been in the county.

Mr. Glenn was born in Verbena in this county in 1875. When he was only three months old his parents moved with him to Coosa County, where he lived until 1900. While in Coosa Mr. Glenn lived in the famous old Providence community, which is more or less known to the people of our county. After moving back to Chilton, Mr. Glenn lived at Rushton on the river for around twenty years. When the operations at Mitchell Dam began Mr. Glenn was forced to leave his old home and look for new quarters, so he came to the old Newt Calloway place, two miles south of Clanton, where he has lived for the past four years.

Although Mr. Glenn was born in this county and has spent the past twenty-four years of his life here, yet he grew up in good old Coosa and carries with him today several of the noble qualities which are found in the natives of that county. The qualities refered to are loyalty, honesty, truthfulness, personal accommodation and unwavering in convictions. These are all found in the above named man. Some people have the idea that folks realed in Coosa county are all kindly backwoodsmen, but if you shoot at Brewer Glenn with this kind of an aim you will miss him a hundred yards. Mr. Glenn hasn't a high education, but he has taken advantage of the experiences of his past life and is thoroughly qualified for the job for which he aspires. He has always been a farmer.

Mr. Glenn cast his first vote in the Populist pary about 1897. When this party went dead de joined the Republicans, to which party he has been very loyal ever since. We are sure that a more staunch Republican could not be found in Chilton County and if he should be nominated and elected he would do his duty well as a county commissioner.

OLD RESIDENT GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and all good druggists.

MR. BICE WRITES MORE ABOUT CANNING FACTORY

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 20, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words. I saw a piece in the paper week before last stating something about our canning factory. I don't know whether it was to deceive the people or whether the writer had been deceived. If he had signed his name, I would have had a better idea.

We all know that "Baxley" went through this country getting the people to sign up and take stock in a cannnig factory. There has been between twelve and fifteen thousand dollars collected, and the factory is not yet paid for. Mr. Baxley doesn't seem to know where the money is and I have been informed that he says the canning factory is paid for. People don't believe this statement is true. Let them inquire of Dr. Gowan and others.

Very likely, the canning factory will not do anything this season and may never do anything. I feel it my duty to state to the people that they would not be safe to raise fruits, berries, or vegetables for the canning factory.

I want to state to the people that five thousand dollars would have been an overwhelming price for the whole business of the canning factory. I could say a lots more concerning the canning factory, but I will wait a little later on.

With good wishes to the Union-Banner and all of its readers.

I. W. BICE.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON GOES TO CHICAGO, ILL.

Dr. Arthur Johnson left Monday night for Chicago, Ill. He will be there for about six weeks where he is taking a special course in the diseases and treatment of eye, ear, nose and throat. Dr. Arthur has already made a specialty of these diseases, and when he returns he will be even more proficient in the treatment of them.

FARMERS MEETING HELD AT COURT HOUSE HERE ON LAST SATURDAY

Prominent men from State Department of Agriculture Speak on Vital Questions.

As announced in The Union-Banner last week, three Auburn men were in Clanton last Saturday and addressed the farmers at the court house. There were not a great number of farmers present, but those who were there heard some mighty fine lectures and received some mighty good and timely advice.

Mr. A. B. Baxley, State manager of the United Farmers of America, called the meeting to order, and asked Prof. Caldwell of Isabella school to act as chairman of the meeting. After a few remarks by Prof. Caldwell, Mr. E. E. Binford of Auburn was introduced, who made a very interesting lecture. Mr. Binford dwelt principally on the importance of a farm demonstration agent for Chilton County.

Next came Dr. Dowell, president of Auburn College, who spoke very interestingly on general educational problems and their solutions of the State. Dr. Dowell made a splendid speech, which everyone enjoyed.

The principal speaker for the meeting was Mr. Boyd, Auburn's fertilizer and farm crop man. According to Mr. Boyd's speech and statistics furnished by Mr. J. N. Dennis of Clanton, the following is given as sound fertilizer advice to the farmers of Chilton county:

Fertilizer needs of cotton for soils in the upper coastal plains, which includes practically all lands in the western two-thirds of Chilton County, was explained to the farmers by Mr. Boyd.

The following recommendations by the Alabama Experiment Station, known as the "Auburn Method" of fertilizing cotton, are the results obtained by twelve years of experimental work with 143 practical farmers in fifty-seven counties representing every soil division in the state.

For cotton on all the gravely soils in Chilton county, the smallest amount of plant food recommended per acre is 32 pounds phosphoric acid, 18 pounds ammonia and 12 pounds of potash, which may be obtained by using 200 pounds of 16 per cent. phosphate, 100 pounds of nitrate o fsoda and 25 pounds of potash or 100 pounds of kainit per acre.

However, for the best results use 300 pounds phosphate, 200 pounds of soda and 25 pounds muriate of potash per acre.

Apply all the phosphate and potash and one-fourth the nitrate of soda at planting and the other three-fourths of the soda may be applied as a top dressing immediately after chopping the cotton.

Special stress was put on the necessity of as much as 12 pounds of potash for each acre planted to cotton if the best results are to be obtained, also the need of a quick-acting ammoniated fertilizer was stressed and nitrate of soda was recommended as one of the best sources obtainable.

For corn following cotton the only fertilizer recommended was 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre to be applied as a side dressing by the time the corn was knee high.

We wish every farmer in Chilton County could have heard Prof. Boyd's talk Saturday. His recommendations were simple, easily understood and easy to apply, and, coming from results obtained by 143 farmers in 57 counties, naturally carry conviction with them. If the recommendations made by him were applied by three-fourths of the farmers in our county it would be worth many thousands of dollars to us each year.

MANY PAY ROAD TAX DURING LAST DAYS

The probate judge's office was a rush and a jam most all last week by those in the county subject to road duty who came there to pay their road tax. Last Saturday was the last day allowed to pay, and when the books closed Saturday night a total og 1220 had paid up. The estimated number of road subjects in the county is about 2,000, so there are less than 800 who have chosen to work their seven days in preference to paying the tax of $5.50.

Up to the present 19 special truck tax receipts have been issued by the probate's office. This tax was due and became delinquent on February 15th. We understand that there are quite a few truck owners of the county who as yet have not paid their special county tax.

MISS GENIE COLLINS IN THE RACE FOR CO. TREASURER

The second announcement to be made for the Republican nomination for county treasurer is that of Miss Genie Collins of Thorsby, which we are carrying this week.

Miss Collins is well known to the people of the county, she having been clerk in the tax assessor's office for the past three years. She is the daughter of J. H. Collins, formerly of Collins Chapel but now living in Thorsby. The Collins family is one which has always stuck close to the Republican party, and Miss Genie has certainly been true to the traditions of her family. Besides being a staunch Republican, this young lady is thoroughly competent to take care of the affairs of the office of treasurer. Before going to work in the tax assessor's office, which was during the last year of Mr. Dennis' term, Miss Collins spent most of her time teaching school.

So far as competency and ability is concerned, a better person could not be found for this job. The only possible objection that anyone could find of her is the fact that she is a woman, and some people have the idea that a woman should not be given a public office. We are not going to argue this question, because this is purely a matter for the people to thrash out among themselves. All we will say is that we believe that Miss Collins is as capable of performing the duties of this office as any man, and it is up to the Republican voters of the county to do as they see fit. Miss Collins is a lady from every angle and her service to the party thoroughly justifies her in asking for this office.

NOTICE—COMMISSIONERS WILL MEET AT THORSBY ON MONDAY

The Commissioners Court will meet at Thorsby at 9 o'clock a.m. next Monday, March 10th, for the purpose of obtaining right-of-way for the proposed State Highway through Chilton County. We invite all parties whose land this road will cross to meet the Court at the above time and place as we want to obtain the titles to the said right-of-way at once.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

COMMISSIONERS COURT WILL SPEED UP WORK ON CHILTON HIGHWAY

Meeting to be Held at Thorsby Next Monday to Discuss Matters with Land Owners along Road.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner we are carrying a call by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County for a meeting at Thorsby on next Monday for the purpose of getting together with the land owners through whose land the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway will pass regarding the right-of-way for said high way. The Commissioners have selected Thorsby as the meeting place since it is about the center of the territory through which the present link of the highway will pass.

In order to expedite the work of getting the highway started in Chilton County, it behooves the land owners along the proposed route to be on hand at this meeting and use your influence to get things on a working basis. The next necessary thing to do is to get the deeds to the right-of-way properly sgined up, and this is what the commissioners hope to do at this meeting.

So let those who want the work on the highway to start discuss the matter with the land owners and get them to be present at Thorsby at 9 o'clock next Monday morning.

WHITE MAGIC TURNED INTO GOLD COIN

How to Use Nitrate of Soda

At the court house Tuesday night Prof. E. F. Cauthen of Auburn showed to a good number of farmers two reels of motion picture. These pictures brought out the advantages of large open fields which dry out and warm up quickly after heavy rains, as a means of combatting the weevil; the selection of better seed and the variety best adapted to this section; the advantages of a good stand of plants, declaring that skips in rows are "robbers."

These pictures showed how to properly mix fertilizers and explained that there was considerable advantages in home-mixing—a saving to the farmer, the making of the formula that the crop needs, etc. Prof. Cauthen contrasted parts of fields not fertilized with parts fertilized with acid phosphate and 200 pounds of nitrate of soda, showing that the yield was more than doubled. He recommended a mixture of 200 pounds or 300 pounds of nitrate and from 25 to 50 pounds of muriate of potash per acre for cotton and from 100 to 200 lbs. of nitrate alone for corn and this applied at second cultivation.

The urgent need of broad terraces to prevent soil erosion and how to build them was shown. Also he contrasted labor-saving implements in preparation of seed beds, planting, putting out fertilizers and cultivation.

The show was full of valuable suggestions for better farming and was highly enjoyed by those who saw it.

MARRIAGE MARKET DOES BIG FEBRUARY BUSINESS

During the month of February a total of nineteen marriage licenses were issued by the Probate Judge of Chilton County. Following are the names of the parties who were pierced in the heart by the amorous arrow of Dan Cupid shot from his bended bow:

COTTON MILL IN CLANTON IS STRESSED BY FORMER CHILTON COUNTY CITIZEN

Oliver W. Dennis of Tallassee Gives People Here Some Good Advice On Cotton Mill Subject.

Tallassee, Ala., March 2, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to Clanton and Chilton County and the location of a cotton mill there. Chilton County needs a cotton mill, and it would be one of the best things that could possibly be located there. It would help the town grow. Just think about 400 or more laborers getting a pay day every week, and how much more business your town would do.

It takes $18,000 a week to pay off the hands that work at the mill here. Of course it would take some time for Clanton to get up to this figure. This mill was started in 1852 and has grown up to the present and is still growing. The contract has already been let for it to double the size of the plant here, which will require about two years for completion.

Clanton could start with a small mill and with good management in ten years be enlarged to a much bigger mill. Opp, Ala., started up its new mill last Friday at noon. It takes money to build a mill, but it would pay every business man and farmer in Chilton County to donate all the money he could to building a cotton mill in Clanton. You get 400 families in a mill village at Clanton and the farmers could sell anything they might carry to them. We are paying 40c a pound for butter and 35c a dozen for eggs, $1.10 a gallon for syrup, which are war-time prices, but we are glad to get it at that price.

There is plenty of money in Chilton County to build a mill and there are plenty of good men to manage it. So I can't see any reason why Clanton should not have a cotton mill. All I see in the way is somebody to go to work for it and keep pulling till they succeed. You have the power from the Alabama Power Company right there. There is one thing Clanton will have to learn and that is that a mill is not coming there if the people all just sit down and wait for it. The thing to do is go to work for it just like Opp and all other places have done.

I was born and reared in Chilton County and one of the old-time Republicans that that county has produced. I would like to see Clanton get a cotton mill. I left Clanton in 1919 and came to Tallassee where I have been ever since. I know what is in a cotton mill from ground to roof. I have taken a textile course since I have been here, which this company gives free to its employees.

I will close for this time and may write some more later.

OLIVER W. DENNIS.

MILT TOLBERT TENT SHOW IS SHOWING IN CLANTON

According to announcement, the Milt Tolbert tent theatre is showing in Clanton every night this week. The show is really bigger and better this year than ever before, and the plays which they are putting on are measuring up well to their promises. "When Dreams Come True" played Monday night was fine indeed. They have a repertorie for every night this week and Saturday afternoon which consists of some of the best dramas of the season. The players which they are carrying with them this year are all real artists. The Milt Tolbert show is an Alabama organization and is the cleanest transient tent outfit we have ever seen. They present real high-class stuff which cannot be objected to even by the most critical.

NOTES FROM CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL

The Ladies Auxiliary met at the hospital last Friday and discussed plans for the betterment of the hospital and its work. We feel sure that the efforts of these ladies are appreciated by all concerned.

Grady Sammons, who has been in hospital several days went home on Wednesday.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray was dismissed from the hospital Saturday.

Mrs. Jesse C. Jones was able to go home last week after undergoing a minor operation.

Mr. Posey Williamson from Cane Creek is rapidly recovering following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Willie Williams will be able to return home in a few days.

Vera Mae, the little daughter of Mr. Lindsey Nicholson, is in the hospital very sick.

Miss Mae Williams, who has been in the hospital several days, was able to go home last week.

Several cases have been treated for minor operations for the past few days, which are not mentioned.

WILD CATAMOUNT BROUGHT TO CLANTON ON SATURDAY

Mr. Napoleon Willis of Providence brought to Clanton last Saturday the wild catamount which he caught on Coosa River a few weeks ago. The animal, which was confined in a wire cage, was inspected by several hundred people. It is very seldom that one of these animals is caught and kept alive.

The cat was left in the possession of Dr. J. P. Crumpton. We do not know what Pink is going to do with the wild cat, but we presume that he is going to keep him instead of a dog from now on. He has had awful bad luck with his dogs of late as some body either kills them or carries them off, so we guess Dock figures that no one will hardly have the gall to take off his wild cat. And too, he may have the wild cat there to guard his dogs with.

W. H. ROBINSON OF BEAT 16 ANNOUNCES FOR COMMISSIONER

Elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner will be seen the announcement of Mr. W. H. Robinson for county commissioner from the Fourth district of Chilton county. Mr. Robinson, better know nas Uncle Henry, hails from Providence in good old Beat 16, and this fact alone goes a long ways in proving his qualifications for the office which he is pursuing. W. H. Robinson is a brother of Riley Robinson of Providence and Till Robinson of Verbena, and all three of these men are quite well known over this county, particularly for their upright Christian character and their faithfulness and loyalty to the Republican party. There is scarcely a family in the county which has made for itself a cleaner record in these respects than the Robinson family.

W. H. Robinson was born in Chilton county in 1861, and has lived here all his life. Like the other older Republicans of the county, he voted with the Populists when that party was in power in this county, and after it saw its day, he joined hands with the Republicans and has stuck to them lkie a leech ever since. However, this is the first time Uncle Henry or any of his family have ever asked for a public office, with the exception of A. L. Robinson, present member of the School Board and a nephew of the above. Uncle Moses Robinson, former county commissioner, was from Beat 16 but is only distantly related to W. H. Robinson.

Although a farmer by occupation, Mr. Robinson has taught singing schools in Chilton, Coosa and Elmore counties for the past forty-three years. He has taught in almost every section of Chilton county with the exception of the north-western part. Very likely no other man in Chilton county has taught more singing schools than Mr. Robinson has.

Having been a practical farmer all his life and having been a careful observer of the things about him, Mr. Robinson, we feel sure, is well qualified for the office of county commissioner. He knows what the duties of the office are and he will at all times be respondent to the wishes and needs of the people whom he will serve.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET TO STUDY METHODS OF WORKING THE ROADS

Go to Elmore County and See Road Machinery of that County Doing Work.

The county commissioners of Chilton county came together Monday and went down in Elmore county for the purpose of investigating some road work which was going on down there. The work which they went to look at was being done by tractors, and their purpose in going was to learn what kind of machinery would be best suited for our road work here.

One rather funny thing happened to some of the commissioners while they were down there. Messrs. Walker and Dorminey went in a car following Judge Reynolds and the other commissioners. Somehow the two men in the rear car got in behind another car and, thinking it was the one in which the other commissioners were, followed it away off out of the way and lost track of Judge Reynolds and the other commissioners altogether. Walker and Dorminey went to Wetumpka, from there to Titus, and crossing the river at Noble's Ferry, came back to their own at Coosa River Church. Mr. Walker says that although they lost their way, yet they saw what they went to see. While they were lost they ran upon a crew of men in Elmore county working the roads with a 5-ton Holt caterpillar tractor, which they say was doing some mighty fine work.

Mr. McDavid of the Clanton Motor Car Company went with the commissioners for the purpose of showing them some work that was being done by a Fordson tractor down there. The purpose of the commissioners in making these investigations was to give them a chance to see what would be the best kind of machinery for them to buy for Chilton county. This is a mighty good idea, because after seeing the machinery actually at work they will naturally have a much better idea as to what can be done with different kinds of machines.

BOARD OF REGISTRARS TO SIT AT COURT HOUSE FOUR DAYS

The Board of Registrars of Chilton County has issued official announcement that they will be in session at the court house in Clanton beginning Wednesday, March 26th and staying through Saturday, the 29th. The Board has done this for the purpose of giving those a chance to register who have become 21 years old since the Board was last in session and for the benefit of all others who have not previously registered.

Voters from all Beats in the County will be allowed to qualify during these four days.

MR. J. BICE FOR TREASURER

Mr. J. Bice of Thorsby was in Clanton Wednesday, and just before we went to press, gave us his announcement for County Treasurer of Chilton County.

Mr. Bice needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County. He has been county treasurer several times before and is well known by everybody in the county.

K. M. VINSON ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Another announcement has been made for the office of county treasurer of Chilton county. This time it is Mr. K. M. Vinson of Clanton. Kin is a promising young man who has a good record behind him as regards the Republican party of the county.

He was clerk for Mr. J. N. Dennis in the tax assessor's office for three years, and performed his duties there very satisfactorily, both to the public and to his employer. Mr. Vinson also worked in the probate judge's office as chief clerk for a period of six months about a year ago. With the exception of the two years Kin worked for Uncle Sam in the U. S. army, he has been doing office and clerical work of different kinds for the past six or eight years. He is now bookkeeper for the Clanton Motor Car Company, the biggest automobile concern in Chilton county, which position he has held down very satisfactorily for the past year.

Mr. Vinson's record as a true Republican is beyond reproach. Ever since he was old enough to vote he has worked for the success of the party, and whoever the party saw fit to nominate he has stood behind them in the general election and lent the entire ticket his undivided support. His experience in bookkeeping and clerical work makes him thoroughly qualified to handle the affairs of the county treasurer's office, and if he should be nominated and elected, we feel sure that he would handle the county's funds to the perfect satisfaction of everybody concerned.
faction of everybody concerned. He is the son of E. Jerome Vinson of Clanton.

MR. D. F. JACKS DEAD

On Monday morning of this week at the home of Mr. C. B. Norrell between Clanton and Coopers occurred the death of Mr. Doctor Franklin Jacks. Mr. Jacks was 80 years old and death came as a result of apoplexy. Reports say that he had been sick for several days, but his condition was not considered serious. Death came all of a sudden.

The body was prepared by Martin, undertaker, and removed to Prattville, where burial was made in the Prattville cemetery beside the mother of the deceased. Elder Haughey of the Clanton Seventh-day Adventist church conducted the burial rites.

Mr. Jacks had many close and loving friends in and around Clanton, who will learn with deep regret of his death. Mr. Jacks was a good old man whom everybody enjoyed being acquainted with.

L&N Employees With Their Families Would Form A City Of 200,000

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has on its pay-roll 52,000 employees to whom it paid in 1923 over $75,000,000. Most of them have families, and every one, no doubt, contributes to the support of some family.

Computing by the Government average of 4.3 persons to an American family, there are wholly supported or to some extent benefited, by the wages of L. & N. employees, over 200,000 people—a number greater than the population of a city the size of Atlanta, Georgia.

In addition, thousands of other people are given employment in various industries from which the L. & N. purchases materials and supplies of all descriptions, aggregating in 1923 over $37,000,000.

Moreover, these 200,000 people of the L. & N. family constitute a complete city; because there is no class of labor, and hardly a single profession, not represented among the L. & N.'s 52,000 employees.

These, and other facts which the L. & N. is making public, will enable you to realize the economic value of this great transportation system to the territory it serves. They should help you to remember that as this railroad prospers so you and your neighbors prosper, and that whatever hurts the L. & N. and restricts its capacity for profitable public service must necessarily hurt you and your community.

Mrs. Mary Griffin is visiting in Calera this week.

Mr. R. L. Crim was in Jemison Tuesday.

JEMISON NEWS

Health of this community is good at present, except Miss Astrid Ekblad, who has been on the sick list for several days. We hope to see her well and in school again soon.

Misses Bertha and Iowa Crowson delightfully entertained a number of friends at a fruit and cake supper Saturday night. After having music and several games were played the entire party marched into the dinning room where a tempting plate of cake and fruit was served by Mrs. T. P. Crowson and Mrs. H. M. Dykes.

Miss Nora Lee Lesslie spent Saturday night with her cousin, Miss Persia Lesslie.

Mr. Ruben Crowson of Bessemer spent the week-end with home folks. His mother accompanied him back to Bessemer to spend a few days with her son, Andrew.

Mrs. H. M. Dykes left Sunday morning for Deatsville to spend a few days with her mother.

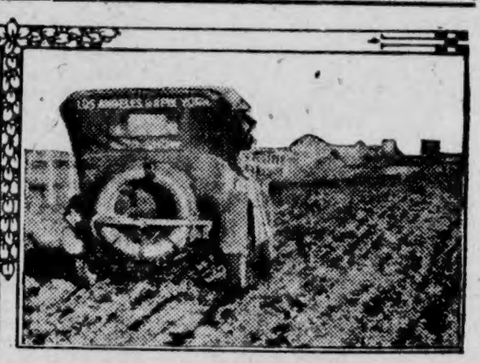
Mr. Marvin Merchant of Birmingham is spending a few days with home folks.

Miss Jewell Lowery dined with Miss Ruby Merchant Sunday.

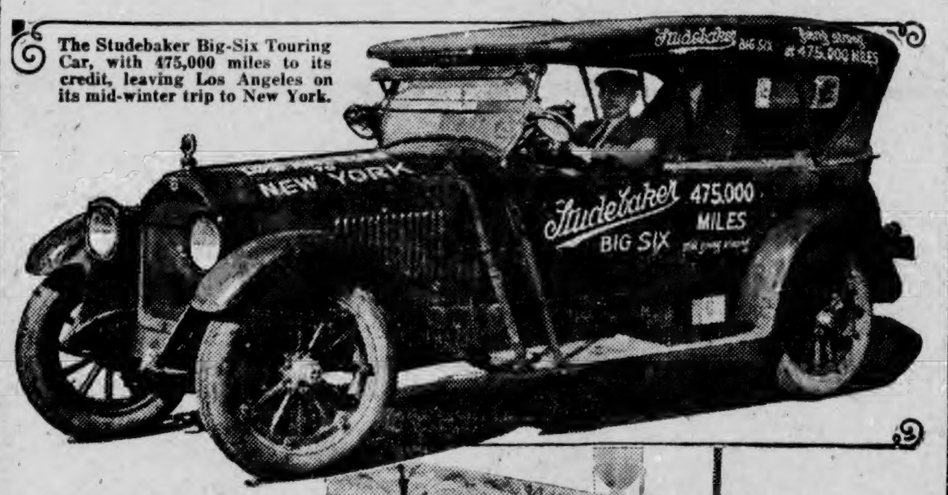
Mrs. F. F. Merchant and son and two daughters and Misses Bertha and Iona Crowison motored to Clanton Monday afternoon.

AUTOMOBILE TRAVELS 475,000 MILES IN FIVE AND ONE-HALF YEARS' GRUELLING SERVICE

The Veteran Big-Six on the Mohave desert near Barstow, California, on its triumphal trip from Los Angeles to New York.



Nowhere else was the power and stamina of the Big-Six put to better test than through stretches of "gumbo" roads along the route.



The Studebaker Big-Six Touring Car, with 475,000 miles to its credit, leaving Los Angeles on its mid-winter trip to New York.

Studebaker Big-Six Crosses the Continent After Piling Up Nearly Half a Million Miles.

This Automobile Covers Greatest Distance Traveled by Any Motor Vehicle in Like Period of Time.

A VETERAN Studebaker Big-Six touring car which recently completed a triumphal trip across the continent from Los Angeles to New York after having traveled more than 475,000 miles, is now being driven to South Bend, Indiana. There it will be placed in the Studebaker museum with other famous vehicles of the last century and a quarter.

It is believed that this car covered the greatest distance ever traveled by any motor vehicle in a like period of time.

Starting today and driving 6,000 miles each year, the mileage of this Big-Six could not be equalled until the year 2004.

Put to Severe Test

This Big-Six was delivered on June 13, 1918, to Fenton Norman, of Santa Paula, California, who, according to his affidavit, drove it 94,000 miles up to October, 1920, when he turned in the car to the John Opsahl Company, Studebaker dealers at Fillmore, California. They sold it as a used car on October 27, 1920, to the firm now known as the Associated Transit Company of Los Angeles.

For more than three years this firm used the car as a "newspaper express." In that time, according to the affidavit of the Associated Transit Company, it traveled more than 400,000 miles. It was used to carry Los Angeles newspapers to Southern California cities.

For three years, rain or shine, this Big-Six made a daily run of 400 miles at an average speed of 30 miles an hour. On each of these trips it carried three-quarters of a ton of newspapers in the tonneau. This burden is equal to ten grown persons.

Also Pulled Ton Trailer

Nor was that all. To make each trip doubly profitable, the car was often called upon to pull a trailer containing an additional ton of newspapers.

According to the records of the Associated Transit Company, fuel mileage for this Big-Six averaged fourteen miles per gallon of gasoline. With frequent drainings of the crank case, the oil mileage averaged from 200 to 300 miles per quart. And tires covered from 15,000 to 30,000 miles to the set.

The trip from Los Angeles to New York was begun on November 26th and ended on January 5th. No attempt at unusual time was made. Studebaker dealers all along the route welcomed the car into their territories with parades and the car was exhibited at important points for a day or more, in order that the public could examine it.

Complete Cross-Country Trip

However, an average far above the gait of the every-day tourist was maintained. The 2,500 miles from Los Angeles to St. Louis were covered in eleven and one-half days in spite of stops made for exhibition purposes.

The veteran bucked the hot, arid desert, conquered the bad roads that sometimes lead into treacherous, snow-covered mountain trails, ploughed through many stretches of the quagmire in the Middle West, and completed the entire journey from coast to coast without any road delays except for three punctures.

Leap Year Party Given.

A delightful affair of Saturday was a luncheon given by Mrs. E. E. Upchurch in celebration of her daughter, Mary's fifth birthday anniversary.

Silver baskets and vases of roses and carnations were in evidence throughout the entire apartments—the dining table was centered with yellow roses and place cards in same colors were used. An elaborate six course dinner was served. Music by the different guests were a rare treat between courses.

Included in the "house party" and guests for the dinner were: Misses Warrene Spigener, Frances Hopkins, Gladys Rickles, Maud Sutton, Fannie Speers, Beverly and Margaret Hester, Frank Mullins, John Ellis, Jr., Kendrick Upchurch, Douglas Braswell, Frank Norris, Laurie Sairier, Mr. and Mrs. Latham Ellis and Sam Upchurch.

Mrs. Upchurch was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. John T. Ellis and Mrs. Jasper Calloway.

After the luncheon a delightful musical program was enjoyed.

Messrs. Guy Higgins and Burt Higgins made a business trip to Cullman Tuesday.

Mrs. Bessie Hayes Poyner from Selma was the guest of her mother here last week.

Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge attended a meeting of the U. C. V. at Camp Hardee in Birmingham Saturday.

Miss Abbott McKinnon, a student of Montevallo, spent the week-end in Clanton as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Walter A. Calloway. Miss McKinnon is a charming young woman with a wonderful musical talent. She is president of the Montevallo glee club, which she agreed to bring to Clanton about the 15th of March.

Miss Frances Hopkins from Birmingham was the week-end guest of Miss Mary Upchurch.

Mr. Ellis Arant of Athens, Ala., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Arant.

Mr. L. N. Henderson made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. C. A. Mitchell from Louisville, Ky., was in Clanton on business last Thursday.

Miss Marjorie Murphy, who is teaching at Oak Grove, spent Monday night at home.

Mr. Geo. Polk was a recent visitor to Birmingham.

Mrs. M. B. Arant spent a couple of days in Montgomery this week.

Mrs. Jatie Middleton spent Saturday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Barney Roberts was a visitor to Birmingham Saturday.

Miss Mary Upchurch from Judson College was home for the week-end.

Miss Warrene Spigener from Marion was included in Miss Upchurch's week-end house party.

Surprise Party Given.

Varieties of yellow jonquils and white carnations formed a colorful setting for a "surprise" party given by Mrs. John Armstrong, entertaining in honor of her mother's 56th birthday anniversary.

The luncheon table held for its central ornament a large white cake holding 56 flickering candles, and was surrounded by yellow jonquils. Baskets of cut flowers were effectively arranged throughout the apartments. Rev. C. C. Wilkerson was toastmaster and rendered an effective prayer.

Covers were laid and dainty cards bore the names of Rev. and Mrs. Wilkerson, Mrs. O. O. Roper, Mrs. G. L. Phillips, Mrs. J. Q. Wade, Mrs. B. L. Jones, Mrs. J. R. Broadhead, and Miss Florence Headley.

Mrs. Armstrong being assisted by Mrs. Luckie and Mrs. M. L. White.

Mrs. Roper was the recipient of several useful remembrances and each wishing many happy returns of the day.

Mr. A. G. Erin and family of Birmingham spent a few hours in Clanton Monday enroute to Jacksonville, Florida.

Pretty Luncheon Given.

Mrs. Watts Moore's lovely home was thrown open to the members of her sewing club and friends when she entertained at a spend-the-day party on last Wednesday.

Lovely baskets of white carnations adorned the rooms and also used as central table decorations. A delightful 4-course turkey dinner was served. Dainty hand painted cards marked the places of Mrs. Clyde Jones, Mrs. J. D. Armstrong, Mrs. Geo. Polk, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Evin Luckie, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. E. E. Upchurch, Mrs. Guy Higgins, Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. John Ellis, Mrs. J. P. Hales, Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Hugh Simpson and Mrs. T. C. McSwain.

In the afternoon tables were arranged for the game of Mah Jong and "42."

Mrs. Wilkerson will be hostess on next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Will S. Wilson from Fairfield was a visitor to Clanton the first of the week.

Mr. Diefenderfer was a visitor to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Higgins Entertains.

Among the many delightful events of this week was a luncheon given by Mrs. Guy Higgins when she paid a special courtesy to Mrs. O. Kyle of Decatur.

Bridge was the diversion of the day, a pair of silk hose being the high score favor and was won by Mrs. Willis Lyman. Mrs. Artheur Johnson was awarded a guest towel on cut for the consolation, while Mrs. Kyle was presented a box of dainty handkerchiefs.

Exquisite spring flowers of every variety were used in decorations. Bowls and vases of jonquils and narcissus combined with fragrant carnations made an attractive combination.

After the game an elaborate luncheon in 4-course was served. Included in this hospitality were Mesdames Kyle, Heard, A. Johnson, Hance Alred, W. Lyman, Grady Reynolds, Percy Pitts, Eric Hart, Hugh Jones, Hugh Simpson, John VanDerveer, Guy Roberts, L. F. Gerald, Lande, Carrie Mullins, N. S. Johnson, T. C. McSwain, Misses Madelyn and Louise Orr and Bettie Mullins.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. P. T. Hinkle and Mrs. Watts Moore.

Miss Gladys Pickles, a student of the Judson College, was a visitor to relatives here the past week-end.

Misses Gladys Mae and Evelyn Nix from Wilson were the week-end guests of Mrs. J. M. Potts.

Miss Mary Bess Sims from Alex City was the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Joe Higgins.

Miss Beverly Hester from Birmingham was a guest of the Upchurch house party during the past week-end.

Mr. J. Q. Wade returned home on last Sunday from a month's stay at Russellville where he is installing an ice plant.

Mr. Jasper Calloway has returned home from a visit to relatives in Tampa, Fla.

Mr. Wallace from Birmingham visited his children here Sunday.

Mr. Claud Reynolds was caled to Nashville, Tenn., Sunday on account of the sudden illness of his father-in-law, Mr. Sid oJhnson.

Frank Mullins of Howard College was home for the week-end.

Card Club Meets.

A profusion of jonquils were the effective means of decorating the pretty home of Mrs. L. F. Gerald on last Thursday, when she was hostess to her card club and extra guests at a pretty luncheon.

Four tables were grouped for the game. The members of this club are proficient players and an interesting game was enjoyed. The prize for top score was a bon bon dish filled with home-made candy, and was won by Mrs. Hugh Simpson. Mrs. O. Kyle was recipient of the guest prize, a similar trophy.

A four-course luncheon was served. The guests of the club for the day were Mesdames Kyle, John VanDerveer, Guy Higgins, Guy Roberts, John Page and Grady Broadhead.

Miss Margaret Hester, who is teaching music in Columbiana was at home this week-end and was a guest at Miss Mary Upchurch'e House party.

Mr. Joe Mullins from the University of Alabama was a week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. P. D. Wilson.

Mrs. L. C. Reynolds went down to Montgomery Sunday for a few days visit to her mother, Mrs. S. A. Johnson.

The friends of Mr. Sidney Johnson will be grieved to learn of his illness in Nashville, having had a stroke of paralysis Sunday.

Sam Upchurch and Joe Hester were visitors to Birmingham Saturday.

Mr. H. T. Pipes made a business trip to Birmingham Saturday.

Mrs. P. I. Hopkins from Dothan was the house guest of Mrs. E. E. Upchurch last week.

Mrs. Ruben Lowe and Mrs. Lee Smith were visitors to Montgomery Thursday.

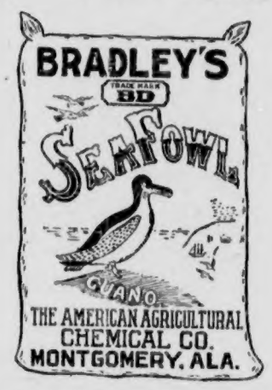
What is IN the bag?



A FERTILIZER may contain just the right elements of Plant Food, in just the right proportions for your soil and the crop you want to grow.

BUT—is each element in such a form of availability that the plant is able to use it at the right time and over the proper period of growth? Are the three different elements thoroughly mixed? Chemically blended? Or, will one plant starve for lack of one essential element, and another be "gorged" with the second?

Since you can't SEE quality in fertilizers and must buy them on faith, your best guide is the reputation, experience and facilities of the people who make them.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers have behind them the largest manufacturing organization, and are supported by the experience of LEADERS in the industry.

No man need ever guess what's in the bag if the fertilizer is "AA QUALITY." It contains maximum fertilizer efficiency.

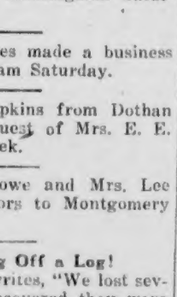
Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:



"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

IN TRUE McADOO STYLE

Tammany is proposing municipal ownership of all public utilities in New York City. Telephones, telegraphs, electricity, gas, and transit are included in bills introduced by Mayor Hylan. If the measures pass, the Democrats will fill the offices, taxes will pay the deficits, and the people will get along as best they can under the poorer service delivered.

NO PLACE FOR COWARDS

Chairman Adams of the Republican National Committee has been deluged with letters and telegrams of congratulation on his call to his party associates to rise up and begin an aggressive warfare against their "political traducera." The people of this country want their leaders possessed of the fighting spirit. Apologists never commanded public support, and the man who flinches every time his opponent makes a face at him can never win popular favor.

POOR BASIS FOR CANDIDACY

Mr. Doheny thinks Senator Walsh is laying the groundwork for his own candidacy for the Presidency. Perhaps so, but no man ever was elected to the White House upon such a tissue of falsehood and innuendo as has marked the testimony before the Walsh committee. Mr. Walsh will have to find something more substantial with which to attack the Republican Administration before he can command votes.

UNSOUND FINANCIAL PLANS

It is the opinion of experts that the Garner rates, substituted for the schedules in the Mellon tax bill, will not only wipe out the surplus in the Treasury but incur a deficit of $300,000,000 the first year. President Coolidge will never permit such a catastrophe to overtake the country, and will veto any tax measure that has such an effect. But the mere fact that it is supported by Democratic and radical votes shows how some men will disregard public welfare for a chance to manufacture political capital.

THE COOLIDGE CARTOON

We ask our readers this week to notice carefully the big cartoon of President Calvin Coolidge and the excerpt from a speech recently made by him. The oil scandal picture as painted by southern newspapers attempts to cast a dark shadow over the Republican administration at Washington, but when we are permitted to view both sides of the scene it looks entirely different. It is true that some prominent Republicans are implicated in the muddle but these men are going to be handed what is coming to them. Those really in power at Washington had nothing to do with the illegal transactions regarding the Teapot Dome.

TRADE BALANCE FAVORABLE

The balance of trade in our favor for January 1924 was $95,000,000, imports totaling $299,000,000, or at the rate of about $3,600,000,000 a year, while exports totaled $394,000,000, or at an annual rate of $4,700,000,000. If this rate should be maintained throughout the current year it would give us a favorable balance considerably in excess of a billion dollars.

For the seven months ended January 31 imports totaled $2,003,000,000, while exports totaled $2,616,000,000, or a favorable balance over the period of $613,000,000. This is an average of $87,500,000 a month, or over one billion a year.

During March, April, May and June of last year the trade balance ran against us, the aggregate for the four months being $151,815,000. This roused the opponents of the tariff to attack the measure on the ground that it was curtailing exports and increasing imports, the characteristic effect of a Democratic tariff law. It was freely predicted, however, by the Republicans that the law would make a better showing when it reached running heat.

The prediction has been justified.

Schenectady Union-Star—It must be conceded, withal, that the President's mental processes are unerring and his conclusions sound.

UNCLE TED'S VALUE OF OIL; SAYS A BARREL IN A TANK IS WORTH TWO IN GROUND

"Here comes Uncle Ted," cried Jack, as he and Ruth spied their popular relative coming up the walk. Uncle Ted had been on a trip to Washington, but he had telegraphed his frenids that he would be back that evening. They knew that every time he visited the National Capital he heard and saw many things that would be put into stories for their evenings' entertainment.

"Hullo, children," called Uncle Ted as he saw their eager faces. "Don't ask me to talk much now. I am tired and cold and hungry after my long trip. Just let me have a warm dinner and a little rest, and then I will tell you something of what I saw at Washington."

It was not long before the familiar group was gathered around the fireplace. Jack began, "When you were gone I saw a lot of headlines about navy oil, Teapot Dome, and tanks. I didn't try to read about them, because I was afraid I could not understand it even if I tried. Now, won't you tell us what all this talk about oil has to do with our Navy?"

"You are a very observing young man," was Uncle Ted's comment. "This matter of oil may decide the next war in which the United States may become engaged, but most people do not realize its importance and know little more about it than you do. When I was in Washington I learned some things that, I hope, will make you understand it.

"Nearly all our battleships burn oil instead of coal. During times of peace it is easy enough to buy oil from private sources, but in times of war they cannot be depended upon, so the Government determined to have an oil supply of its own. Some large tracts of land in California and Wyoming, known to contain oil, were therefore reserved by the Navy for its own use. Those reservations were made by Presidents Taft and Wilson. It was thought at the time that the oil could stay in the ground, where it would be perfectly safe until needed by the Navy.

"But all the ground around those reserves contains oil, too. It is all owned or leased by private companies which have been busily taking out oil and gas for several years. Now, the oil is contained in sand several thousand feet underground, and when a well is bored into that sand and the oil pump begins to work the oil is drained from the sand in all directions. Then there is a great deal of gas in the sand with the oil. It is under great pressure and forces the oil part way up the well where it can be easily brought to the surface. But the gas, after awhile, is all blown out, too, and then it is almost impossible to get any more oil, even with the most powerful pumps.

"With those wells all around the naval reserves, each one pumping out oil and gas as fast as it could, the oil was being rapidly drained and the gas pressure speedily lowered in the naval reserves themselves. In other words, the reserves would soon be nearly worthless as a future source of fuel for the Navy. Everybody knew what was going on, so what did the Government do? It made a contract with two of the biggest oil men in the country to dig wells all over the naval reserves in California and Wyoming and begin to get the oil out of them at once. They were Mr. Doheny and Mr. Sinclair. They were not only to dig wells and pump oil, but were also to build pipe lines to carry the oil to the seacoast, where big tanks were to be erected to hold the oil until needed. The tanks were to be located at Atlantic and Pacific ports and in Hawaii, where our ships could just run up to the dock and have it pumped aboard ready for burning.

"Payment to the oil men for all their work was not to be made in money, but in part of the oil they took out of the reserves. It didn't make any difference to the Government how or when it was paid for. The cost would have had to be paid some time if the oil was ever to be taken out, cleaned and refined, carried to a seaport, and put on a ship. Another thing. Even if the oil could have been kept in the reserves without drainage, and a war had come upon us, it would have taken months to drill wells, pump, refine, and trnasport the oil where the ships could get it. Meanwhile the war might have ended, without our war resreves of oil playing any part in it whatever.

"So you see that the Government accomplished two very wise objects in arranging to get the navy oil out of the reserves now. It prevented the loss of the oil by drainage, and it put the oil into storage tanks on the coast where it could be instantly available for our big battleships.

"While I was in Washington I attended the hearings before the Senate committee that is investigating the oil reserves. Some Senators think that a former Secretary of the Interior was dishonest when he made the contracts with Mr. Doheny and Mr. Sinclair. Maybe he was, but the Democrats seem almost to have forgotten him now and appear anxious to tear up the leases of the reserves and prevent the pumping, refining and storage in tanks of any more oil. Special lawyers have been hired to do that very thing through the courts. If they are successful every well in the reserves will be plugged up, but every well round about the reserves will run merrily on, draining out just as fast as it can, the oil and gas that really belongs to the United States Navy.

"That is the real story that runs through the pages and pages of oil news that you see in the papers nowadays. Why do the Democrats dare to do a thing that may cripple our Navy if it ever gets into another war? I'll tell you why. All over the country people are contented with the way President Coolidge and the other Republicans at Washington are handling things. Prosperity, high wages, plenty of work, lower taxes, and reduced cost of government seem to make certain Mr. Coolidge's reelection. The Democrats have been about crazy for some way in which to fight the Republicans. All of a sudden they thought they had found it in the oil inquiry. With a hint of dishonesty in one individual Republican, they have been willing to cast slander at every Republican official, and throw to the winds the vital means for making our future naval defense effective. All for a chance to lick the Republicans in the elections next fall.

"Now, tomorrow you tell that story to Freddie Jones, and anybody else you can find to talk to. I want their fathers to know just what is going on at Washington."

Houston Post—Cato learned Greek after he was 80. Frank A. Vanderlip learned one of the greatest lessons of his life at 59, that being that peddling slanderous gossip about the dead is never becoming in a man who claims the respect of his fellows.

Detroit Free Press—If Mr. McAdoo had his eye on the Presidency when he left Washington a few years ago and went into the law business, the character of his clientele indicates that he is a mighty poor politician.

Corvallis (Ore.) Gazette Times—As we understand McAdoo's explanation it was perfectly proper for him to accept Mr. Doheny's money for the use of his influence with the Wilson administration—until the public found it out.

Boston Transcript—Americans are told that they are getting round-shouldered under their burden of taxation, but if the President and Secretary Mellon have their way, we can all straighten up a bit.

Marion Star—Secretary Mellon is one of those old-fashioned individuals who think that the way to reduce taxation is to reduce it, and not chase about everlastingly talking about doing it.

Portland Oregonian — William Gibbs McAdoo is going to use the radio to broadcast his campaign addresses. His opening song selection will be, "Yes, We Have No Retainers Today."

ALPINE SCHOOL CLOSES

The Alpine school closed Friday, Feb. 22, 1924, with honor to Miss Hazel Phillips, teacher, after an applicable program with great honor to the teacher and pupils. The dinner was most appetising and plentiful. We had a match ball game with Vine Hill school team which all enjoyed sumptuously. The score was 8 to 10 in favor of Vine Hill, owing to the Alpine school team only having had two weeks practice. There was a large attendance; the community of Alpine was well represented.

After the program, we had a short address by J. E. McCullough. We were glad to have Mr. J. C. Walker to grace the table, after it was so bountifully spread upon, which there was plenty and some to spare.

The patrons of the school were unanimous in choosing Miss Hazel Phillips for our teacher for the next school, on which they agreed to add one month to whatever the county board agreed on—if a 6 months school they would make it a seven months school by supplement.

We can say as a truth that Miss Phillips has by far taught us the best school we have had for three years. Every pupil that attended any ways near regular made a grade with honors.

One of the patrons,
J. E. McCULLOUGH.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court in Equity, February 22, 1924.

Alabama Machinery and Supply Company, a Body Corporate, Complainant, vs. Ralph Calloway and Mrs. Geneva Calloway, Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds that the Defendant, Ralph Calloway, is a non-resident and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Ralph Calloway, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 24th day of March, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 22nd day of February, 1924.

FARMERS TO MAKE STUDY OF COTTON

Fertilizer and Poisons for Boll Weevils Receive Special Attention. Old Methods Being Improved.

Auburn, Ala., March 5.—More information about the effects of different kinds and amounts of fertilizers on cotton, and also more information about poisoning boll weevils are the chief reasons why a record number of Alabama farmers will conduct practical demonstration tests this year.

Interest in these demonstrations appears to be greater this spring than at any other time in the history of demonstration work. Farmers thruout the State appreciate the fact that the Experiment Station has worked out definite fundamentals regarding cotton fertilizer and poisoning of boll weevils, and, in co-operation with their county agents, they are making practical application of this information to their local conditions.

District Agents W. D. Barton, W. O. Winston, E. E. Binford, and J. T. High are giving special attention to these cotton demonstrations because cotton is the outstanding cash crop of the State, and also because yields have been entirely too low because of poor soils, wrong varieties, methods, and the ravages of the boll weevils.

Demonstration tests have been a leading feature of demonstration work from its beginning, and the test plans for this year are in line with those of previous years. The chief difference is that they are more comprehensive and will be put on in a more effective manner. In most instances one farmer will conduct a test for the benefit of a community and by means of the community and county organizations the information gained will be used to maximum advantage. They are being directed by the county demonstration agents.

ZE BACK "BIEN JOLIE!"

DON'T suppose many of you readers know what "bien jolie" means, so we'll let you in on the secret. It's French for "very pretty" and it's the description everybody—that is, most everybody who has seen her—applies to the back of Miss Margaret Irving, the well known vaudeville actress. And we're inclined to agree with the description after one glimpse of the photo reproduced above.

Ben Ali Haggin, the internationally famous artist, goes the popular verdict one better. He calls it the "most beautiful back in vaudeville." Mr. Haggin ought to know a good back when he sees one, for—his job is that of selecting the most beautiful girls the world affords for places in the Tableaux Vivants of Flo Ziegfeld's Follies. So naturally, it's made him quite a connoisseur of beautiful shoulder blades.

Mr. Haggin, it is said, has made several attempts to spirit Miss Irving from the vaudeville ranks but she has always refused. She would rather be a featured player on the "two a day" circuit than one of the many beautiful girls in the Follies' tableau.

RESIDENT HAS AWFUL EXPERIENCE

"I was twice confined in hospitals, in the last one nothing but gruel water was injected into me 4 times a day, as my stomach would not retain any food. I suffered terribly; was reduced to a skeleton. My folks saw an ad of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has surely saved my life. I weigh 180 lbs. now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and druggists everywhere.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

The matter of "paramount importance" in Thorsby these days is "What's Doing" about a new public school building. Because of the manifest need and the hope now almost universal in Thorsby hearts, we are pleased to report substantial progress in the enterprise.

At a meeting of the Town Council last Thursdaay night the committee of citizens appointed to secure pledges for loans to the Town Council to the amount of $3,000 which Thorsby would be required to raise to augment other funds available sufficient to finance the project, reported that they had secured practically the entire amount of subscriptions needed, within the one week they had been at work, and notified the Council to proceed with their part of the program.

The next step is to supmit the deed to the property to be used as a building site to our County Board of Education for examination and approval. This is the part of the work now under way. If the deed is approved by the State, both State and county departments of Education will make appropriations covering their share of the funds and collections will be made on the Thorsby pledges and then building plans, provided by the State must be examined and approved by our local authorities, a building committee provided and work can begin either by contract or under direction of the building committee, in either case under supervision of the State and county building inspector.

Mr. C. R. Foss and family are enjoying the luxury of a new car, bought for them by Mr. J. L. Foss, who makes his home with this interesting family.

Dr. Junkerman and Mr. Jones, proprietor of Thorsby Drug Store, both returned to Thorsby last Monday after an absence of several weeks at different sanitariums.

Mr. Clifton Wells of Jemison moved into one of Mrs. Villadsen's cottages, and Clyde Sims has rented and now occupies her green bungalow.

Mr. Archie Robinson has moved from the Neil house near the Lutheran church to the Judge Adams place north of town.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Ed Piper Thursday afternoon, March 13th.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Thursday afternoon, March 6th.

The Helen Keller Literary Society will have a debate Saturday night, March 8th at 7:30 in Bates Hall. The subject will be, "Resolved that the Bonus should be granted to the Soldiers." For the affirmative Edmund Lakeman and Plato Deason; Negative Gordon Sorrell and Palmer Lefstead. A part of the program will consist of reading from "The Cernival Scene" written by Schuman about 1870. This will be in the nature of descriptive music and will be interpreted by Miss Parker at the piano.

The monthly Praise Services(Singing) at The Congregational Church last Sunday night was attended by a capacity audience who genearly enjoyed all of it.

The United Singing Society met at the Baptist church at Thorsby last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. On account of the absence of the president, Gresham Lowery acted as chairman. The directors for the afternoon were: Gresham Lowery, Spurgeon Kelly, Gordon Sorrell, Akins Collins, H. H. Hayes and A. H. Glascock. The pianists were: Misses Genie Collins, Alithea Parker, Mrs. Enoch Cox and Mrs. O. H. Garrick.

We had a full house and lots of good singers.

The society meets here every first Sunday in each month, and we cordially invite all to attend.

I. H. C. DEMONSTRATION AT THORSBY HARDWARE CO.

Through the courtesy of the Thorsby Hardware Co., Thorsby, Ala., we desire to cordially invite you to attend a demonstration we are going to hold in their store on Saturday morning, March 8th, at 9:00 o'clock, of a Primrose Cream Separator, together with a small 1½ H.P. Type "M" McCormick-Deering engine.

On that date, if you will bring in your morning's milking, we will be glad to have one of our men present separate the milk for you, turning over to you the sweet cream and warm skim milk.

It will pay you to attend this demonstration. Rapid strides are being made at this time in diversified farming and dairying is coming into its own.

Come, bring your friends along, and have a regular get-together meeting. Don't forget the time and the place; Saturday morning, March 8th at 9:00 o'clock at the Thorsby Hardware Company's store.

Yours very truly,
INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY OF AMERICA.
By N. W. HOFFMAN.

The Thorsby Institute Basketball team closed the season last Friday by a decisive win over the Buck Creek Cotton Mill team of Siluria. Thorsby jumped to an early lead due to the sensational shooting of Captain Littleton and were never in danger. The final score was 35 to 11. Siluria passed well but could do nothing with the ball when near the basket.

Besides Littleton, Davenport starred with nine points, while Turner and Pate put up good games at guard. Ziderhoeck and Carey were the whole show for Siluria.

This closes the most successful season of any basketball team in the history of the school. The team at the beginning of the season was pronounced "no good," but by hard work and practice it has come thru with an enviable record.

The season's record:

One of the Things Mr. Royster Discovered About the Feeding of Crops

Cured Fertilizer Has Increased Farmers' Earnings

Haven't you heard about the more thorough and scientific feeding for plants—hastening maturity and helping to grow crops that bring higher prices? Everywhere you find farmers talking about the remarkable results through the use of Royster's Cured Fertilizer.

Why Cured Fertilizer Grows Better Crops

Mr. Royster discovered that by aging or curing fertilizer for four to six months he could increase its value as a plant-food. He found that this curing brought about a certain chemical action which prepared the fertilizer for the use of crops and made food elements available at the very time they are needed.

Why Mr. Royster can Cure his Fertilizer

Naturally it requires vast quantities of material in order to anticipate a season's supply, half a year before it is needed. (This half year representing the aging period). It also requires strong financial resources. Thus;—only a company like Royster's can offer this improved type of fertilizer.

Look for the Name on the Bag.

Don't guess about fertilizer. Look for the name "Royster's" and know that your crops will be well fed—for the sake of greater earnings.

What Farmers are saying:

"I have used other guano, but Royster's is the best for me."

"I have used no other brand of fertilizer for three years."

Royster's Fertilizers distribute better and retain their fertilizing power longer."

"———used your fertilizer for the past two years and have had the best crops I've had for many a year."

"———I shall continue to use Royster's as long as I farm."

"——— better results than I have ever gotten before from use of fertilizer."

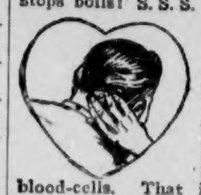
Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:



"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

CANE CREEK NEWS

Estelle Giles, who has been real sick with head trouble, is about to recover.

Mr. Rutherford, and also Mrs. Beaird are better.

Mrs. Posey Williamson is in the infirmary suffering with appendicitis but is improving very fast.

Last Saturday and Sunday were regular preaching days at Cane Creek. The Pastor, Mr. Parrish rendered two excellent sermons. The regular preaching day has been changed from the first Sunday to the fourth, and there will be preaching the fourth Sunday of this month.

Our school lasts only two weeks longer and we are sorry to see our teachers leave, Miss Julia Parrish and Miss Claudia Mooneyham. They have done some excellent work this school term.

At the close of school there will be a concert on Friday night, March 14. Everybody come, and we promise you some fine music, at least.

Misses Bertha Giles, Claudia Mooneyham and Era Lee Williamson spent the day in Montgomery last Sunday.

Miss Maggie Giles spent last Saturday night with Miss Pearl Giles.

Miss Hermie Gentry spent last week-end with Miss Julia Parrish.

Misses Bertha Giles and Claudia Mooneyham spent last Thursday night with Misses Sara and Delene Lambert.

Mrs. Lula Giles spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Nola Giles.

Mrs. Cora Thompson visited her mother, Mrs. Newt Minor last Sunday.

STUDEBAKER CAR SETS 4 RECORDS IN AFRICAN TRIP

Spectacular 100-Hour Circuit Drive Over Mountainous Trails—Washouts and Mud Put Car to Severe Test.

Stock Studebaker Light-Six Completely Encircles Union of South Africa in Less Than Hundred Hours.

Johannesburg, March 3.—Old timers of the Boer trek wgaon trails thronged around a mud-daubed automobile, when it drew up at the curb on a main thoroughfare in Johannesburg today.

The machine, a Studebaker Light-Six touring car, had just written a new page in the colorful history of the Union of South Africa. Without a pause in the motor's steady throb, it had set four records in retraveling the older settler routes, completely circling the Union, in less than 100 hours—a perilous trip that once took weeks for the bullock carts.

Made Three Other Records

Not only did the Studebaker establish a new round-trip record around the Union, but it also shattered three other records between points along the course. Notable among these was the new running time of 35 hours and 57 minutes between this city and Cape Town. This was a distance of 996 miles.

A standard stock model was driven out of Johannesburg by H. F. Payne, Fred Scantlebury, L. O. Bright and W. B. du Preez. They drove over mountainous roads thick with mud to Cape Town, then through Port Elizabeth, East London, Kokstad, Durban and return. The car made a 2,687-mile circle.

Running time from the start here and return was 99 hours, 46 minutes. Gasoline consumption averaged 21.5 miles per Imperial gallon. The gasoline mileage was unusuall yhigh, motorists agreed today, considering that an average spede of 26.75 miles an hour was maintained along roads broken by frequent streams, which compelled fording.

Numerous washouts, due to heavy rains, forced the car to travel along long stretches of hilly, slippery roadway, subjecting the Studebaker and its drivers to severe test. For this reason thhe trip proved one of the most sensational ever staged in South Africa.

Lost In Diamond Diggins

The maze of roads running around hundreds of diamond diggins, near Kimberley, brought confusion to the record-breakers. The running time suffered serious disadvantage thru time lost in opening and closing cattle gates. Metropolitan motorists may be surprised to know that actually 309 gates barred the Studebaker's path.

Returning to Johannesburg, the Light-Six was examined by several hundred motor car owners. The engine was still running smoothly. The body was uninjured—although it was thickly coated with mud, from axles to top. Then a careful examination of the chassis showed that the car had gone through the gruelling strain without the slightest breakdown.

CONCORD—BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Dear Editor and Readers:

As I haven't seen any news from this part of the world lately, thought I would write a few lines.

Concord is one and a half miles north of Billingsley. Sunday was our regular singing evening and we had a large crowd out, which we were very glad to see. Directors for the afternoon were: Prof. H. G. Carter, Messrs. Olin Williams, Furniss Shepard, Horace Williams, Miss Willie Mae Shepard, and the organists were Hudson Williams, Mrs. H. G. Carter. We had some visitors from New Cedron, Indian Grave and Billingsley.

Our Sunday School is progressing nicely and hope it will continue.

We are glad to see the sun shining again as we have had a lot of rain.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING

The Chestnut Creek Singing Society met Sunday afternoon in regular session with a large class and a house full of listeners. The chairman opened services by singing song No. 6 in the Showalter book, after which prayer was offered by Rev. J. D. Hughes. Ralph D. Grant, F. M. Taylor sung three songs each and a quartet wes rendered by home quartet. Mr. Huff Buckhalter and Ye Scribe directed three songs each, followed by a quartet. After a 15-minute recess, Bro. S. M. Yates, Jr., directed three songs after which we had a splendid duet and quartet rendered by W. M. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, Lena Mae Devaughn and Ralph Grant. J. R. Robinson directed one song followed by Prof. L. T. Grant who introduced the 1924 Ganus book by singing three splendid selections. We then had another quartet by L. T. Grant, W. M. Devaughn, Ralph D. Grant and Ye Scribe.

Lee Robinson, Ralph D. Grant, Lena Mae Devaughn, Letha Taylor, Claudie Hughes and Mrs. Alice Baker very ably performed at the organ. Bros. T. L. Robinson, D. S. Robinson and Rev. Hughes made some short but very interesting talks at the close of the song service.

We thank everyone who helped to make this meeting the success it was and invite you all to meet with us again next third Sunday at 1:30. We are always glad to have visitors. If you have a quartet come along. We like 'em and asure you that they will be welcome and given a chance.

Services were closed with prayer by Rev. J. D. Hughes, to meet again the third Sunday.

O. L. DEVAUGHN, Secy.

Watch "His Smoke" This Season

"HOT STOVE" league baseball prophets predict great things from this young pitching star this season. He is Wayland Dean, a 21-year-old right-hand flinger whom the New York Giants recently purchased for a price reported at $50,000 or its equivalent in players and money. The youngster is at present preparing for his southern training trip with McGraw's outfit.

Dean has had a meteoric rise in the baseball world. Just two years ago he came into the limelight and last season was the second most effective hurler in the American Association, winning twenty-one games and losing eight as a member of the Louisville club.

"Just watch his smoke this season on the big time"—say the prophets.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION ASKS FOR NEW BIDS IN CHILTON

Highway Commission Changes Specifications on Base For 17-Mile Road in Chilton; Lifting Limitation.

Published specifications for the base of the first seventeen miles of the Chilton county link of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway were changed Monday from Portland cement to cement. On motion of Commissioner Suttle, seconded by Commissioner Scruggs, and unanimously voted by the State Highway Commission, the highway engineer was authorized to re-advertise for bids for this section of road.

The action of the commission makes competition possible among various types of road building material in the bidding on this seventeen mile section. The original specifications for this road named Portland cement exclusively for both base and top. This was later changed to take in such types as asphalt, bitulithic, Warrenite, etc. However, representatives of these types of paving appeared before the commission and protested that even with the allowance of bids on these types, it would be impossible to compete with concrete in the bidding because of the specifications. It was argued that while only six inches was demanded for concrete, bidders on asphalt, Warrenite, bithulithic, etc., would have to put in a six inch base of Portland cement concrete and then a two inch top on that. They argued they could not do it and that really only concrete bidders could take part.

Following the action of the representatives of these different types of paving, the commission Monday decided to re-advertise for bids taking out the Portland cement from the specifications and naming merely cement on the base. Under this wording slag cement can be used as a base and bidders can take this into consideration when making up their bids.

To Make Survey

The commission by unanimous vote decided to make a preliminary survey of a proposed route of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway beginning at Reese's Ferry across the Alabama river, thence northward taking in Prattville, thence White City and to Clanton. The proposed new route would make the road run ten miles west of Verbena, the present route of the Birmingham - Montgomery Highway. After this survey is completed, the commission will decide definitely on the location of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway from Clanton south to Montgomery. It will either be from Clanton via Verbena, Marbury and Prattville to Montgomery or from Clanton via White City, via Prattville to Montgomery. It is claimed the proposed new route would be four miles shorter than the present survey and would cost $100,000 less to construct.

A delegation of citizens headed by W. A. Gulledge of Verbena, appeared before the commission to urge the Lower route for the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway. This route would run from a point one and one-half miles east of Prattville to Marbury, thence through Verbena to Clanton. These citizens pointed out that there is a 90 per cent white pop-

COMMISSIONERS MEET AT THORSBY ON ROAD MATTERS

On Monday of this week the County Commissioners and Judge Reynolds went up to Thorsby and held a meeting with the land-owners along the right-of-way of the proposed State Highway in the northern part of Chilton county. As the county commissioners are required to obtain the right-of-way and turn same over to the State, the purpose of this meeting was to find out how the people felt about the highway going through their land and how much damage they would charge the county for the right-of-way.

From the general expressions of the landowners, they do not want the highway to go through their lands at all, since most all of them ask enormous damages for the road to go through their property. Judge Reynolds states that from the way the people talked at the meeting Monday, the right-of-way between Lomax and the north county line would cost Chilton county around $10,000. The county cannot afford to pay this price, so it appears now that either an arbitration committee will have to be provided to condemn the right-of-way and set a fair price for the damages or else the right-of-way will have to be changed over on the west side of the railroad. It appears that the people over on the west side want the road to go through their land and most of them are willing to donate the right-of-way This being the case, very likely the highway commission will consider putting the road over on the west side of the railroad near where the old highway now goes.

TO DEMONSTRATE AVERY FARMING IMPLEMENTS

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, March 20, 21 and 22, B. F. Avery & Sons, big farm implement manufacturers, will have representatives in Clanton to demonstrate the work of the famous Avery implements. A big lot of the various kinds of implements will be brought up from Montgomery and put to various tests. The demonstrations will be held at the store of Mullins & Moore, local representatives of the Avery line. Different kinds of entertainment is promised, and if the weather is agreeable some actual work will be done with the implements to show the farmers how they are used. The farmers of this county should attend at least some of these demonstrations, as you will learn something which will be of value to you. Read their announcement in this paper and watch for their big advertisement in The Union-Banner next week

OFFICIAL CENSUS OF CLANTON IS 1,714

Complete Returns Give Clanton A Total of 1,336 Whites and 378 Colored.

By order of the Mayor and Town Council of Clanton the program of taking the complete census of the population of the town was instituted a few weeks ago, and the work has now been completed. The following figures have been compiled which are sworn to as being the correct number of those bona fide residing within the corporate limits of the Town of Clanton:

WHITE
Males	658
Females	678
Total Whites	1336
COLORED
Males	175
Females	203
Total Colored	378
Total Population	1,714

The government census taken in 1920 gave Clanton only 1,411 population, which must have been incorrect. The town officials were very careful in computing these figures, and no doubt, they are very nearly if not absolutely correct.

If the corporate limits of Clanton were extended to take in the people who live out in the edges of town we would have up close to 3,000 people. These people really belong to be considered in the population of Clanton, so why can't we put on a move to get them in? It would be a great boost to Clanton if we could go before the world with a population of 3,000. This would help us out in more ways than one. We could command much more recognition from the railroads and other big corporations if we could tell them that our population is 3,000. This would enable us to make the L. & N. build us a big fine brick and stone depot and make other needed improvements. Let's get busy and do it.

CHILTON COUNTY MUSIC CLUB IS ORGANIZED

A meeting of the music lovers of Clanton was held in the Wadesonian Theatre Tuesday night. The purpose of the meeting was the organizing of a music club of Chilton County and the forming of a band.

The Weldon Music House of Clanton had a number of their new band instruments on display at the meeting and some talented people were there to demonstrate them. Mr. Williams of the Williams Music House in Birmingham played the saxaphone and Mr. Bice of Thorsby performed on the violin. Mr. Foss of Thorsby drummed and Miss Kemp of Clanton accompanied with the piano. Some fine music was made which commanded much applause from the audience.

Col. J. O. Middleton was called upon to act as spokesman, who came forward and briefly stated the purpose of the meeting. Mr. E. T. Weldon acted as temporary chairman to begin the organization. Hon. J. O. Middleton was unanimously elected president of the Chilton County Music Club, who came forward and took charge of the meeting. Percy M. Pitts was elected Secretary, J. Z. Mims Treasurer and T. J. Beutell, Business Manager.

After a couple of nice vocal solos by Percy M. Pitts and a short talk by J. L. Johnson and Mr. Williams, the meeting was closed. Those who wished to take part in the band met at the Weldon Music House after the meeting, where the organization of the band was completed

It will be very gratifying news to the people of Clanton and Chilton County to learn that we are going to have a real honest-to-goodness band here. There is nothing quite so attractive and admirable as a well organized and well trained band, and we are indeed proud that the movement is well on foot.

WAY IS SHOWN TO BIGGER INCOMES

Prof. Duncan Declares That Big Increase in Profits Will Follow Application of New Information.

Auburn, Ala., March 10.—Application of the latest scientific information regarding agriculture is one of the easiest ways for farmers to increase their incomes this year, in the opinion of Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Alabama Extension Service.

To illustrate the advantages of this information Prof. Duncan calls attention to the results of variety tests conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station last year. Valuing lint cotton at 30 cents a pound the difference between the highest and lowest yielding varieties in north Alabama tests was worth $37.50 per acre; and in the south Alabama tests $35.10 an acre; and in tests on the Experiment Station at Auburn, $52.80. "Think what it would mean," said Prof. Duncan, "if every cotton grower in Alabama would plant good seed of the best and highest yieylding varieties. Millions of dollars would be added to the value of the cotton crop of the State."

Similar results were obtained in corn variety tests. Over a four-year period nine varieties of corn on the Experiment Station at Auburn were judged worthy of being reported, and the average difference in yields of the highest and the lowest varieties was 8.6 bushels per acre. Results in line with these were obtained in central and south Alabama tests.

The same is true of fertilizers. During the last twelve years the Alabama Experiment Station has made a special study of fertilizers for cotton, and by following information gained as a result of these experiments farmers may receive much larger profits from the use of fertilizer.

UNCLE JOE POPWELL DEAD

After an illness of several days and after being in declining health for the past year, Uncle Joe Popwell of Fairview community, died last Thursday evening. "Uncle Joe," as he was most familiarly known, was 68 years old and was the father of nine children, four boys and five girls. The boys are Lee, Iven, Rufus and Joe, Jr. The five girls are all married and live near the old homestead of their parents. Lee and Iven also live in the Fairview community, but Joe lives in Birmingham and Rufus lives in Seattle, Washington.

The old man was a member of the Baptist church at Highland, and has been a most faithful worker in his church for a number of years. He furnished his children with a fair education, and was a true husband and father from every standpoint.

The remains were buried at Highland cemetery Friday afternoon, Rev. T. J. Deason preaching the funeral. During the funeral services, the church house was filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends and relatives who were there to pay their last respects to the noble life which God had seen fit to separate from this world. Uncle Joe was indeed a faithful worker in his church and community, both of which, together with his loving wife and children, will sorely miss him.

30,000 NEW SPINDLES FOR TALLASSEE MILLS

Tallassee, Ala., March 10.—Extensions to the Tallassee Mills provide for an additional 30,000 spindles and an expenditure of a million dollars or more. Bids have been asked for, says J. E. Harris, agent, who recently returned from Greenville, S. C., and Baltimore.

Approximately 150 new houses are to be erected in addition to the additions to the mill. The mill now employs about 1,400 people and consumes approximately 25,000 bales of cotton every year. When extensions are completed, the mills will employ 1,800 people and consume over 40,000 bales annually.

Good people of Clanton, just read the above and think how stupid and how unconcerned we are and how our neighboring towns are taking from us the things which we need so badly and which they could get along all right without. Tallassee already had a big cotton mill and now it is being doubled in size and capacity. Clanton has no manufacturing industry at all and we just continue to snooze on and let all the good things go by. Why in the world don't our citizens and business men get in behind our Chamber of Commerce and get something started here? Our people all want the Chamber of Commerce to do something for our town but they don't want to be bothered with the trouble themselves. The Chamber of Commerce can't accomplish anything unless the entire citizenship attends its meetings and backs it up. Let's get together and have some action.

Rev. C. C. Wilkerson is on a business trip to Albany, Ga., and South Alabama this week.

FORD'S OFFER FOR SHOALS IS PASSED BY THE HOUSE

MORE ANNOUNCEMENTS THIS WEEK FOR COUNTY OFFICES

In reading over our column of political announcements this week our readers will notice a number of new candidates. The candidates for commissioner from the Fourth district and for County Treasurer are piling up rather high, but those for Commissioner from the Third district and member of Board of Education are not commanding much attention so far, as only one candidate has announced for each of these offices.

Mr. A. P. Vinson of Clanton, Route 6, comes out as a candidate for Commissioner from the Fourth district. It will be remembered that Mr. Vinson was commissioner the term preceding the present one, during which time he made one of the best commissioners we have had. He also ran in the primary last time and was defeated by Mr. Littlejohn. Mr. Vinson took his defeat like a man and stood squarely behind the ticket in the general election.

Mr. C. T. Walker of Lawley carries his announcement for re-nomination as commissioner from the Third district. Mr. Walker has made a good record in this office and he is highly recommended for re-nomination by the citizens of his home district comprising Beats 7, 8 and 15. We are carrying elsewhere in this issue of the paper a long list of names from these beats who are backing him up in his race for re-nomination.

Another announcement for County Treasurer is that of Mr. C. D. Hughes of Verbena, Route 2. Mr. Hughes is a school teacher and the son of Rev. J. D. Hughes. Cherly is a fine young man and no doubt possesses all the makings of a good county treasurer.

Mr. J. L. Burnett of Lawley Route 1, better known as Lonza Burnett, has come out for county commissioner from the Third District. Mr. Burnett lives in Beat 7 near County Line School house and is a close neighbor to Mr C. T. Walker, the present commissioner from that district. We learn that Mr. Burnett stands well in his home community and in his district. He is a firm believer in the principles of the Republican party and if nominated and elected will no doubt make us a good commissioner.

RAT KILLING CAMPAIGN EXTENDED TO MAY 1

The rat killing campaign put on in Clanton by the Civic Club, which was to have closed on March 28th has been extended to May 1st. The purpose of the extension of the time was on account of the late cold weather hindering the killing of rats. It is hoped that the boys may be able to destroy a good many rats before this date.

ROAD LAW AMENDED

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County has amended the road law, and where it was a violation to haul in 36 hours after a rain, they made it 24 hours after March 15th. They decided that after this date the roads would dry out in 24 hours.

After Two Years, McKenzie Bill Starts to Senate With 227 For and 142 Against Its Adoption.

Washington, March 10. — Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, pending before Congress for more than two years, was approved today by the House of Representatives.

By a vote of 227 to 142 the McKenzie bill, which would authorize acceptance of Ford's bid, was passed and sent to the Senate where there is uncertainey as to what action, if any, will be taken on it at this session. Continuously before the House for a week, the McKenzie measure was approved practically in the form in which it was reported by the military committee, which had been informed by Mr. Ford that he would take over the government's nitrate and power project on the Tennessee River under the terms embodied in the bill.

To the last, advocates of the Ford offer resisted attempts to modify the proposed contract. Amendment after amendment, aimed at the heart of the bill, was thrown out by decisive vote, and as passed the measure carried less than half a dozen of minor amendments which proponents of the bill were willing to accept.

Gets Amendment.

Attached to the bill, however, was the Madison amendment, approved by the military committee, which obligates the government to replace the Gorgas steam plant, recently sold to the Alabama Power Company. Provision is made that this plant, which is not to cost, with a transmission line to nitrate plant No. 2, more than the $3,472,487 received for the Gorgas property, is to be sold to Mr. Ford, along with nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2 and the Waco quarry near Russellville, Ala.

Under terms of the bill, Ford will have the right to lease for 100 years dams 2 and 3 at Muscle Shoals and adjacent power stations. Outnumbered but fighting stubbornly to the last roll call, opponents of the offer made a futile last-minute attempt to bring him under the terms of the federal water power act, thereby limiting his lease to fifty years and to keep in the bill an amendment adopted Saturday, which would enable the government to "recapture" the properties in the event the Detroit manufacturer failed to live up to his contract in any particular.

On the demand of Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee, one of the leading Ford offer advocates, a roll call was demanded just before the final vote on the amendment, and it went out of the bill by a vote of 197 to 176.

UNDERWOOD COMES OUT ABOUT 30,000 AHEAD IN RACE

Unofficial and incomplete reports Wednesday at noon said that Underwood won over Musgrove in the preferential primary election by around 30,000 votes. Eleven boxes from Chilton County gave Underwood 275 and Musgrove 81 and Dinsmore 1.

Musgrove speaks of contesting the primary on the ground that the count was turned in wrong by the election officers of the State.

HOW MUCH DO YOU PAY FOR GOOD ROADS?

Study of Relationship of Transportation and Taxes Interesting.

A study of taxes as they pay for, or are paid by, transportation, and the interrelation of roads, tax, transport, and expenditure, has been made by Mr. John E. Walker, former tax adviser, U. S. Treaury.

According to this report, the counties of the United States administer 60 per cent and the States 40 per cent of all the highway funds spent. Of all highway expenditures, 60.5 per cent is spent for new or reconstruction and the balance of 39.5 per cent for maintenance, amortization, and interest. Of the general tax dollar, 5.6 per cent—slightly more than one-twentieth—is expended for highways.

A very interesting angle is brought out in the statistics which show that the total taxes levied on motor vehicles are now more than equivalent to the cost of highway maintenance. In other words, after the road is built the users pay for its upkeep without cost to the State or county doing the building.

All transportation together, which includes all motor vehicle, both passenger and freight, all electric railways, all steam railways, and all boats of all kinds, pay 8.1 per cent of the Nation's total tax bill, which would indicate that a fair proportion of what is being spent on highways comes from highway users direct instead of from the general tax dollar contributed by everyone, yet everyone benefits from highways.

It is also interesting to note that of the $1,150,000,000 of "highway income" reprensented in the chart, 38.1 is derived from bonds, 44.2 from taxation, 10.6 from motor fees, and 7.1 from Federal aid.

CELEBRATE THEIR 50th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On February 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sample at Plantersville, Mrs. Sample celebrated the 50th wedding anniversary for her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry of Plantersville. The invited guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Terry and family, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry, Mrs. Terry's sister, Mrs. Eliza Sanderson of Selma, Mr. Terry's sister, Mrs. Bettie Eaves who resides with him at Plantersville, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sample, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Milling, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fuller, Mrs. Dewitt Reed and Mrs. Joe Hathcock. A delicious dinner was served at 1 o'clock. The center of the table was a boquet of yellow narcissus and a large white pound cake containing 50 little lighted candles on it to represent the 50 years of happiness spent by Mr. and Mrs. Terry.

After the dinner was served a beautiful wedding march was played by Miss Inez Sample, attractive grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry, while little Frances Terry, 6-year-old grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry was the golden ring bearer of a beautiful ring given by their children and grand-children.

WIDOWER CONGRATULATED

"Since my wife's death, five years ago, I have suffered greatly from stomach and liver trouble and gas attacks. I lost over 50 lbs., and at times was as yellow as saffron. My doctors could not help me. Six doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy have entirely cured me. I have regained my weight and every one is congratulating me how well I look." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and leading druggists everywhere.

QUINCY, FLA.

We are having some beautiful weather here now. The tobacco growers are very busy preparing their shades to grow tobacco, and the saw mills are all running full time. There are about five or six mills near Quincy.

The fish are plentiful here on the little rivers and creeks; almost every day a negro boy can be seen going by with a long string of fish.

All the people who are here from Alabama seem to like Florida. Some say they are going to make Florida their future home. There is plenty of work, good schools and churches, perfect roads and plenty of things to amuse.

On last Tuesday evening the people of Quincy and vicinity enjoyed a band concert given by 16 orphan boys, from the orphanage at Macon, Ga. These boys are now traveling from place to place giving these concerts in the interest of the orphan home in Macon, Ga., and they were given quite a lot of money here for the Home. The bandmaster gave a very interesting talk about giving the unfortunate children "a chance in life," which was very much enjoyed. Those who attended the concert from our mill camps were: Mr. and Mrs. Culp, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman, Mr. Eugene Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Love, Mr. Lum Hicks and a fe wothers.

Mrs. Mertis Parker and baby of Birmingham are here visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. T. Holmes. Mrs. Parke ris a former resident of Centerville, a graduate of the B. C. H. S. there, and will be remembered as Miss Mertis Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks and children were out last Sunday afternoon trying their new Ford.

Messrs. W. P. Hicks, Jack Collins, Eugene Thompson, Moodie Collins and Lum Hicks attended preaching services at Quincy Baptist church Sunday night.

Last Thursday the real "Buster Brown and Tige" was here from St. Louis. The children from here went to see them and hear what "Buster" had to say. Those who saw and heard him were: Warren Culp, Lumon Layden, Philip Hicks and Malcom Hawkins. Buster and Tige gave their entertainment on the streets of Quincy. The children enjoyed this very much as they had never seen Buster and Tige. He gave the children all several toys to take home.

The people here from Chilton and Bibb counties wish all the homefolks and The Union-Banner much success.

TWO MEN CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY AT COOPERS

Deputies Foshee and Easterling captured and arrested at Coopers last Saturday afternoon two men, whom it is alleged, have been carrying on quite an extensive bootlegging business in Coopers for some time past. These men were Alphus Grant and Jasper Glenn. The officers captured them on the railroad near the north switch at Coopers and they were in the possession of three pints of whiskey. The officers state that the men had with them four Coca-Cola bottles, which it is supposed they were going to use in measuring up their spirits for distribution.

Both Grant and Glenn were arrested and brought to Clanton and lodged in jail, where they remained until bond was procured.

Deputy Culp and John L. Gore, prohibition officer, made a sashay up around Union Grove Saturday night and caught in their net Walter Campbell who had in his possession a pint of moonshine. Campbell was arrested and brought to jail in Clanton. Up until Monday he had failed to make bond.

L&N — THE OLD RELIABLE

An Enviable Record of Service

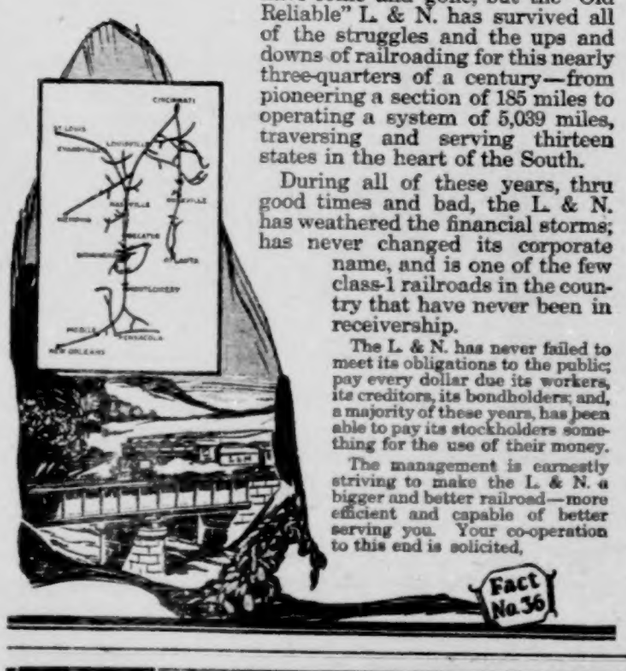
On March 5, 1850, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad received its charter from the State of Kentucky.

Since that date, ideas and customs have changed; panics have come; great wars have been fought; population has increased; the country has developed; and businesses have come and gone; but the "Old Reliable" L. & N. has survived all of the struggles and the ups and downs of railroading for this nearly three-quarters of a century—from pioneering a section of 185 miles to operating a system of 5,039 miles, traversing and serving thirteen states in the heart of the South.

During all of these years, thru good times and bad, the L. & N. has weathered the financial storms; has never changed its corporate name, and is one of the few class-1 railroads in the country that have never been in receivership.

The L. & N. has never failed to meet its obligations to the public; pay every dollar due its workers, its creditors, its bondholders; and, a majority of these years, has been able to pay its stockholders something for the use of their money.

The management is earnestly striving to make the L. & N. a bigger and better railroad—more efficient and capable of better serving you. Your co-operation to this end is solicited.



Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

AVERY SHAWNEE JR. PLANTER

An Old-Time Favorite

THERE are no frills about the Shawnee Jr. It is simple and sturdy. It responds instantly to the operator's every desire. Depth of planting is accurately controlled by a simple movement of the handles, without stopping. In the same way the opener is lifted clear of the ground and planting mechanism is thrown out of gear at the ends of the rows. Perfect control means more and better work with greater economy.

The Shawnee Jr. has no sprockets to clog, no chains to break. A double pitman gives a simple, direct, trouble-free drive. Supplied with the Shawnee Jr. as regular equipment is a wide variety of plates. A standard picker wheel gives continuous force feed. Special picker wheels give intermittent spacing of seeds. Quantity of seed planted is easily and accurately controlled. Special hoppers, duplex and single seed, are supplied as extras. All changes in equipment are easily made without tools.

The Avery Shawnee Jr. abundantly supplies the farmer's needs for a walking planter that does all sorts of planting. We will gladly demonstrate it. Come to our store and see for yourself its many good features.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines

Thought For the Day:

You're sick of the game? Well now that's a shame!
You're young and you're brave and you're bright.
You've had a raw deal, I know, but don't squeal
Buck up, do your damdest and fight!

It's the plugging away that will win you the day
So don't be a piker old pard;
Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit—
It's the keeping your chin up that's hard.—Robert W. Service.

Missionary Society Meets.

Mrs. W. A. Reynolds was hostess on last Monday to the W. M. S. of the Methodist Church. The reception rooms were brightened with vases of narcissus and hyacinths. The meeting was opened with a song and the study of the Mission Book, "Building with India" was most interesting. A contest recently put on manifested a bit of enthusiasm. Several instructive papers and talks were heard.

Later a business session was held and plans for a dinner to be served was completed. A short discussion of the Easter bazaar was heard. At the close of the program a lovely plate luncheon with hot coffee was served to the twenty members present. Mrs. Barney Roberts will be hostess in two weeks.

Civic Club Meets.

Questionnaires of yellow jonquils and spring blossoms were the attractive means of decorating the home of Mrs. J. P. Hayes on Tuesday afternoon when she was hostess to the Civic Club. An interesting program on "Better Speech" was enjoyed and Book Week was stressed. Illiteracy week is to be observed by the Club on March 20-28 and a sale of illiteracy stamps will be put on. Later in the afternoon a delightful salad plate was served and a short business session was held. The Club had as its guests Mrs. Daily Miller and Miss Jessie Goodwin who is the guest of Mrs. P. D. Wilson.

Pretty Children's Party.

Master John Ezell was a lovely little host on last Saturday afternoon when he celebrated his seventh birthday anniversary at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell. Red and white were the chosen colors for the occasion. Numerous nice games were enjoyed and the bursting of the peanut bag by the boys who were blind-folded created much merriment. The birthday cake which held seven lighted candles was cut and Easter rabbits drawn as favors of this happy affair. A delightful dessert course was served late in the afternoon to about 18 little guests.

Mrs. Chandler Entertains at Forty-Two.

On Wednesday Mrs. H. F. Chandler entertained at six tables of forty-two. The house was decorated with palms and yellow jonquils and narcissus. At the close of the game a salad course was served, after which the guests drew numbers from a huge jonquil. Mrs. Guy Higgins drew the highest number and was presented with a linen handkerchief. Mrs. L. C. Ross received a hand-made apron for the lowest number.

Mrs. Wilkerson, Hostess.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson on last Wednesday, when she had as her guests the members of her sewing club. Fancy sewing and social conversation was indulged in until late when a refreshing ice course was served. The club regretted to accept the resignation of Mrs. Wilkerson, which was tendered on account of her many religious obligations. Mrs. Petrey was a visitor for the afternoon.

Mrs. Heard Hostess for Club.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Mrs. Victor Heard entertained the members of the bridge club at her lovely home on Seventh avenue.

The living room was tastefully decorated in ferns and baskets of narcissus . Bridge was enjoyed until 5 o'clock, after which a delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. Hance Alred received a beautiful hand-painted tea pot for highest score.

FORMER CHILTON CITIZEN DIES IN NASHVILLE, TENN.

The body of Mr. Sid Johnson arrived in Clanton Tuesday afternoon on No. 3, from Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Johnson died of heart trouble early Monday night. Mr. Johnson's home was in Montgomery, and he was conductor on the L. & N. Pan American. He was one of the oldest conductors on this road. Although having lived in Montgomery for the past several years, Mr. Johnson and his wife were natives of Chilton County.

Mr. Johnson was nearly 61 years old. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Claud Reynolds of Clanton, Mrs. Harry Tarpley of Tuscaloosa and Miss Ruby Johnson of Montgomery.

Mr. Johnson was a Mason, being a member of the Andrew Jackson Lodge of Montgomery. He was also a member of the Clayton Street Methodist Church of Montgomery.

Funeral services were held in Clanton at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Wilkerson, the Methodist preacher being out of town, Dr. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist church preached the funeral. The Masonic order conducted the burial rites, of which order Mr. Johnson had been a faithful member for many years.

Mr. Leon Kemp spent Sunday in Montgomery.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. L. F. Gerald and Charles Moore enjoyed a motor trip to Montgomery Saturday.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mr. McAdoo's friends say he is going to stick. They may rest assured that his oil reputation will also stick.

THE BREAD SPREAD

A Senator, after investigating the matter, reports that the spread between the cost of a barrel of flour and the bread it would make was $18.30 in 1923 and that a New York baking house made 118 per cent on its 1923 business. Evidently the farmer is being gypped, the consumer is being mulched, and the baking house has been profiteering. Such transactions call for effective organization to combat them, or the modern housewife will have to resume bread baking.

THE FACTS IN THE OIL LEASING MATTER

So much politics has been injected into the oil leasing investigation on Capitol hill that the fundamental facts have been hidden from the public. Briefly, they are as follows:

Under the Taft administration certain portions of the public domain were set aside as oil reserves for the special use of the navy.

On Feb. 25th, 1920, an act of Congress, fathered by Senator Walsh, became a law, authorizing the leasing of public oil reserves to private companies for development on a royalty basis, the Secretary of the Interior being invested with the authority to make the leases.

On March 5th, 1920, Secretary of the Navy Daniels addressed a letter to the chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs requesting that the law be amended to give the navy absolute power over all naval reserves, with authority to "develop, use and operate" the oil reserves, directly or by lease, on the ground that drainage of these reserves by wells on adjecent territory made this necessary.

Following this request Secretary of the Interior Payne continued to grant leases on public lands adjacent to the naval reserves, increasing the danger of drainage of the naval reserves of their oil.

In June, 1920, the request of the Secretary of the Navy to assume control of the naval oil reserves with a view to their "development" was granted by a "rider" in Congress.

Thereafter seven leases were granted on these naval reserves to private parties by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the action being taken by him in conjunction with Secretary of the Interior Payne, without the formality of a presidential order, but only by correspondence between the two offices.

In line with this precedent the leases to Doheny and Sinclair were granted by Secretary Denby and Fall. These leases were based on the same necessity to guard against drainage by adjacent operations mentioned by Secretary Daniels. The terms of the leases were as favorable as any granted under the preceding administration. They involved vast expenditures of money by Doheny and Sinclair which could be undertaken only by a few oil operating concerns. They provided for the erection of storage tanks and the storing of oil for navy purposes at huge expense to the operators, who were to be reimbursed in government oil.

Both Sinclair and Doheny publicly exploited these leases as being immensely profitable in order to boost the stocks of their oil companies, succeeded in doing so, and thus made huge profits in the market. Later the quotations on their stocks dropped. It is the belief of oil experts that the leases are not in fact profitable to the operators, especially in vitw of the fact that the drilling results have been far below expectations.

The scandal in connection with these leases is that Secretary Fall, pressed for money, borrowed $100,000 from Doheny and $25,000 from Sinclair, and lied about the transactions publicly and privately when his financial relations with the two men were made public, thereby leading to the public belief that the transactions were corrupt and detrimental to the public interest.

That is all there is in the oil scandal; there isn't any more. Taft locked up the naval oil reserves, Daniels and Payne opened them and Fall made leases to Doheny and Sinclair under circumstances now on the way to court determination as to whether they were criminal, but which everyon knows were reprehensible.—National Republican.

POLITICAL LYNCH LAW

From the Atlanta Constitution (Democratic)

The refusal of Attorney General Daugherty to summarily resgin his office during a storm of political hysteria and congressional mobocracy, without trial or hearing, and without even a flirect charge of wrongdoing again him, was right; and for his courage, and for upholding the faith of a democratic form of government that guarantees fair play to every individual, he will be commended by right-thinking Americans, regardless of party affiliations.

If Attorney General Daugherty has been guilty of corruption, direct or indirect, the latter thruogh shielding, as a federal prosecutor, the guilty, he should be not only dismissed, but punished. But as the defendant before the bar of justice, he should be tried and the facts should be established.

If he has been guilty of subverting justice to party or political exigencies, or of using the great temple of justice over which he presides for personal financial gain, directly or in collusion with other private citizens or officials of government, he should be dismissed and, if guilty of any crime, punished.

But in the absence, as yet developed, of one iota of evidence connecting him with any irrregularity of any kind, his firm, resolute and defiant attitude in not voluntarily surrendering to the political hounds who are on his trail shows a fighting spirit that is admirable, a character that is unafraid, and a will power in defense of the cherished institutions of our government that is commendadble and appealing.

The Attorney General is today a bigger man, though hounded more during his term than any man in public office in a generation, than he has ever been. His failure to show weakness under fire has gripped the public thought.

He asks for a fair trial—and for nothing more. It is the inherent right of every man. Not only is it the inherent right, but it is the bedrock of our system of government.

The present hysteria has developed unfortunately into a mob spirit. It is undermining the institutions built upon the constituted rights of individuals. It is tearing at personal reason and prudence.

The guilty should be punished; those of guilty knowledge who shielded the guilty, should go. But in the name of reason and justice and in the spirit and letter of the Constitution and the Magna Charta of American liberty, let the facts be established through constituted channels, and let justice prevail in the verdict.

We decry lynching—the mob spirit. And yet by those who talk the loudest of law and order and constituted authority and the bulwarks of democrncy, attempts are being made today to lynch public men that are just as reprehensible as is the mob spirit in any of its wild, unfettered rampades.

GOSSIP IN RHYME

Washington, March 10, 1924.—The gossip style of scandal-mongering, to which the Democrats in Congress have resorted, was very aptly described by Senator Lodge when he recently read in the Senate a parody on "Brothers and sisters I have none." The lines, read in the midst of one of the frequent Democratic outbursts of inuendo, have created much amusement and have served to emphasize the vague character of many of the accusatlions directed at public officials. The parody is as follows:.

"VANDERLIP SAYS"

"Absolute knowledge have I none,
But my aunt's washerwoman's sister's son
Heard a policeman on his beat
Say to a laborer on the street,
That he had a letter just last week—
A letter which he did not seek—
From a Chinese merchant in Timbuctoo
Who said that his brother in Cuba knew
Of an Indian chief in a Texas town
Who got the dope from a circus clown
That a man in the Klondike had it straight
From a guy in a South American state
That a wild man over in Borneo
Was told by a woman who claimed to know
Of a well-known swell society rake
Whose mother will undertake
To prove that her husband's sister's niece
Has stated plain in a printed piece
That he has a son who never comes home
And who knows all about the Teapot Dome."

SHIN BONES FOR SHINTOS

As a general thing, the United States imports raw material and exports the manufactured product. But this process is being reversed in the case of the mah jong sets that enter this country. It seems they have their origin in the Chicago abattoirs. The other day three carloads of selected shin bones from cows were exported to Japan, whence they will be sent to China to be manufactured into "east winds," "west winds," "four seasons," etc., and then brought back to this country for the entertainment of American faddists.

Here is an apparent need for a higher rate in our tariff law. There is no reason in the world why our own workmen should not make the games with which they and the rest of our people find enjoyment, especially when the material that enters into their construction is obtained in this country. But of course our wage earners cannot compete with Chinamen working under their native standards of living, even after ocean freight rates to and from China are added to the cost of their product. The evolution of the mah jong sets offers a striking endorsement of Republican economic policies.

POLITICAL SITUATION CHANGES

President Coolidge as the nominee of the Republican party and appealing to the conservative element of the voters, would doubtless have his majority in the fall elections materially increased if Mr. McAdoo were to be the candidate of the Democrats. The latter would gather to him the votes of the radical element, but would lose the support of those old-school Democrats who can intelligently appraise the sound policies of the Coolidge Administration. But the disclosures in the Senate oil investigation appear to have seriously impaired McAdoo's chance for the nomination. With him out of the field, the situation must be sized up anew. Of course there are others more or less radical candidates around whom much of the McAdoo strength will gather, but some of the more conservative aspirants may also expect some of the McAdoo support. A candidate like Senator Underwood would attract support of a different sort than that commanded by McAdoo, leaving the lowler strata of intelligence in the Democratic ranks to rally about somebody who might be named by the Farmer-Laborites or some other third party.

Conservative Democrats can look with relish upon the practical elimjnation of Mr. McAdoo. So can those who want to see a third party entered in the Presidential race. So, also, can the Republicans, who are bound to gain whether their opponents stand solidly behind a man of the McAdoo stripe or whether they split into two camps, each with its respective leader.

ONE MILLION A DAY FOR OCEAN COMMERCE

While it is important that public attention should be directed to the developments of the oil investigation there are other matters of public concern which it will be folly to neglect. Among these is the necessity of adopting some sort of plan which will insure the permanent maintenance of a merchant marine. We have reached an agreement with the principal nations of the earth as to the relative strength of our fighting navy. That agreement provides that we shall be on an equality with Great Britain, but experience has shown that we can not wage a war without merchant ships. If the war is at home we need the ships to bring in supplies from abroad; if the war is to be fought in other lands we need the ships to carry our armies abroad and to keep them supplied with food and munitions. Nevertheless, under the present trend of events we are steadily losing our merchant marine.

Recently compiled statistics show that we are carrying only 40 per cent of our ocean-bound foreign commerce and, if the oil tank ships be eliminated, we are carrying only 31 per cent. No one proposes that we shall carry 100 per cent of our ocean commerce. The most that anyone has asked is that we should carry not less than 50 per cent. No American should be satisfied with a policy that provides for less than that proportion to be carried in ships bearing the American flag.

It has been common knowledge for many years that foreign ships can conduct carrying trade at less cost than possible to American shipping paying American wages and maintaining American standards for ship employes. Those who oppose the maintenance of an American marine make the very plausible comment, "Well, if other nations can carry our goods at less cost why not let them do it". At first glance this will appear to many as a conclusive argument but experience has shown that although foreign ships are able to carry our commerce at less cost than it can be carried in American ships, they actually carry at less cost only so long as necessary to drive our ships off the seas. When they have a monopoly of our carrying trade they raise their rates.

An illustration of the methods pursued by our competitors was cited recently by a member of the Shipping Board who recalled the experience of American cement producers who, in 1915, secured what was considered a desirable contract in Brazil. There was no American steamship line existing at the time to carry the cement, and European lines at once raised the rates for transportation so high that the order was cancelled. For similar reasons when American manufacturers were the lowest bidders on 50 locomotives to be delivered in Argentina the freight rate was immediately raised to such an extent that the contract was lost and American workmen lost the wages they would have received if the work had been done in American mills.

The fact is that foreign ships are willing to carry our commerce for less than our own ships can carry it, if they are compelled to do so in order to get the traffic. As soon as American ships are driven out of business, foreign ship lines will raise the rates as high as possible.

In round figures, we are paying over a million dollars a day for the carrying of our ocean commerce. At least half of that ought to be paid to American ships. Sixty-six per cent of Great Britain's trade with other nations is carried under the British flag. Ninety-four per cent of her commerce with her colonies is carried in English ships. We are not jealous of her success in those particulars but we may very reasonably ask that at least 50 per cent of our own commerce, export and import, shall be carried in American bottoms.

MAPLESVILLE SCHOOL NOW IN ITS FINE NEW BUILDING

The new home of the Maplesville Consolidated School has been completed and school is now being held in the fine new building. It has taken lots of work and lots of money to put up this building, but it is something of which Maplesville and surrounding community can be justly proud.

The opening exercises of the school in honor of entering the new building was held on Friday night, February 29th. A nice program was put on by the students of the school, also a box supper was held. Quite a nice sum of money was raised to help pay for the seats in the auditorium. Prof. H. A. Harris, principal of the school made a nice educational address, also Judge L. H. Reynolds was present and at the request of the people there came forward and made a very interesting educational lecture. A large crowd of people was present and everyone seemed very proud of their new school building and filled with enthusiasm in the interest of education.

SARDIS NOTES

Sunday was our regular preaching day but the weather was so bad that there wasn't many out. Our pastor, Rev. Taylor of Verbena, preached us a short but interesting sermon. Bro. Taylor has been our pastor for 7 years. He wants all the church members to be present on next preaching day on Saturday, as we are going to appoint two deacons. Bro. Taylor will preach on "The Duty of Deacons." The deacons appointed will be ordained on Sunday following.

The patrons of Vermont School called a school meeting for the purpose of electing a teacher for our next school. Prof. G. S. Millsap of Jemison was unanimously elected as principal. It is the intention of the patrons to build a new school building or put the old one in first class shape, as we want to have a three-teacher school next time. We have over one hundred pupils on roll..

Sunday School is moving on nicely under the management of our superintendent, Mr. H. L. Ratliff. We wish to invite the old folks out as most all the young people attend regularly. Let's make our Sunday school one of the best in the history of our church. We have about 75 on roll; let's make it 100 by our next preachinceg day.

There will be an egg hunt at this place Easter Sunday evening. Everybody come and join in the fun of findinng the eggs.

The fruit supper and cake contest at Mr. White's was enjoyed by a very large crowd Saturday night. Miss Ophelia Ratliff won the cake for being the prettiest girl. The proceeds of the entertainment were $18, which goes to pay on the new organ at the new Methodist church. We wish to congratulate the people of Antioch community for their nice new chucrch building.

Mr. Arch Fisher and wife have returned to their home in Corbin, Ky., after several days visit to parents here.

Messrs. David Weaver and Luther Traywick of Selma were the guests of Misses Anthel Ratliff and Anna Hayes Saturday afternoon.

Messrs. Enzo and Errest Klinner were the welcome guests of Misses Annie and Tressy Ratliff Sunday.

Mr. Willie McCarty of Stanton was the guest of Miss Anna Hayes Saturday night.

Miss Anthel Ratliff spent Saturday night with her cousin, Miss Anna Hayes.

Messrs. Floyd Ratliff and Charley Deramus are the happy possessors of a Ford car.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Deason announce the birth of a fine baby girl, which they have named Annie Mae.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Headley are the proud parents of a fine baby girl which they have named Margaret Odell.

Miss Lennie Headley has returned home after an extended visit to her brothter near Selma.

Mrs. T. J. Klinner is visiting her children in Burnsville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grover of Adams visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. Charley Carter wis visiting here Sunday. He has just returned from a two-weeks tour in Florida.

Mr. H. L. Ratliff made a business trip to Billingsley Friday.

Mr. John Ratliff of near Selma spent last week end with parents here.

Tell Us Why--

When you tell us why you have your clothes made by a high class, high cost custom tailor, you will be telling us exactly why you should switch to

Curlee Clothes

Take for instance, the Curlee Clothing Company. They secure their woolens from identically the same sources as do the best custom tailors. They employ designers, cutters and tailors, who are graduates of the most exclusive and celebrated custom shops. Each garment is cut singly and hand tailored by identically the same process as that in custom workmanship—except that each process is delegated to a specialized expert in that operation, which makes for faster and finer work.

As to fit—about twenty different models, longs, shorts, stouts, long stouts, stubs, slims and regulars. All these are designed with mathematical precision to conform witht every normal masculine statue. For each model there are a dozen or so different sizes, hence, it is a very peculiar figure indeed that cannot be properly fitted in CURLEE CLOTHES.

Calling CURLEE CLOTHES "hand-me-downs" is as absurd as calling Shakespeare a lyon taimer. They are as truly custom tailored as any clothing you can order. The only difference is the vast difference in cost—and smart business men don't usually turn up their noses at $10 to $25 saving.

If you want proof of this, you can come here and try on a suit of CURLEE CLOTHTES, or you can ask for the names of our customers, prominent and critical men whom we have weaned from their high-priced tailors

We have now on display all the new thnigs in men's and boys' oxfords, caps, hats, hosiery, underwear, collars, shirts, and lots of other things that we can save you money on. These are all of standard brands.

THTORSBY SECTION

Now that the success of the public school building project seems to be assured, movements are already on foot to raise funds for equipment of the building, which have not been provided for in the building plans. The first effort in this cause will be made under the auspices of Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association, which through their social committee, composed of Mrs. J. H. Goddard, chairman, Mrs. Joseph E. Each, Mrs. Ed Piper, Mrs. S. C. Wood, Mrs. T. W. Robinson and Mrs. Martin Peterson, will serve a bountiful dinner at 25c per plate at Mr. G. L. Foshee's store on Saturday, March 15th beginning at 11:30 a.m.

It would scarcely be possible to select among Thorsby ladies a more competent sextette in culinary skill and as steering committee they may be depended upon to secure a satisfactory collection of edibles. Remember the day and date, the place, and especially the cause!

Next on the program for the benefit of this project will be a unique entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of Thorsby to be given in the near future This affair will be of a nature that should attract men, women and children to the capacity of any audience room in Thorsby. Full announcement will be made later.

On Sunday, March 16th at 7:15 in place of preaching service at the Congregational church in Thorsby, there will be a short address or "sermonett" and presentation of a moving picture film entitled "Cain and Abel" under thte direction of Rev. J. M. Graham, who has a good moving picture outfit and knows how to use it.

The day has passed when Thorsby people, as a whole, object to such means being employed, to impressively present religious truths. All innovation find objectors at first. The writer can remember when it was thought sacreligious to use instrumental music in our churches and a violin was regarded as exclusively the property of "his Satanic majesty" and had no place in public worship. Rightly used, there are many things that contribute to spiritual growth.

Mr. C. E. Lucas, president of the Bank of Thorsby, has been ill at his home several days with a severe cold.

Mr. Robert Johnson is reported ill at his home.

Miss Beatrice Johnson is spending several days in Birmingham this week.

The Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association held on interesting meeting at the public school house last Friday afternoon. Several new members were added and work was planned to raise funds for the equipment of the new public school building. Here is an organization all good citizens of Thorsby should join and identify themselves with those who are working for the improvement of educational facilities for our children who, ere long, will have the responsibilities of citizenship.

Mrs. M. J. Soberg entertained a few friends Tuesday afternoon in honor of Rev. and Mrs. H. Engh, who returned last week from a trip to Mobile, Biloxi, New Orleans and other points of interest.

Among Thorsby's week end visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Thompson, Misses Anna Werness, Palma Dahl and Clara Peterson, all from Birmingham. Miss Peterson also had as her guest Miss Effie Donaldson.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society will meet Thursday, March 20th with Miss Ida Grenn.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Ed Piper Thursday, March 13th.

The regular meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society held Saturday evening, March 8th, was well attended and listened to a spirited debate on "Resolved that the Bonus should be granted the Soldiers." Edmund Lakeman and Plato Deason of the affirmative were declared winners.

Now that the basket ball season is over, the boys have organized a base ball team, under coach Lefstead, and will probably be heard from from time to time during thet remainder of Thorsby Institute school year.

Mrs. Martha B. Hunter who for nearly two years past has been not only a member of Thorsby Institute faculty but a devoted house mother for the boys at their dormitory, has resigned on account of poor health, and left early this week for the home of her parents in California. Mrs. Hunter was an efficient church and Sunday School worker and will be greatly missed among her many friends and acquaintances in Thorsby.

Miss Olive Pearson, field worker of Congregational Sunday School Extension Society of New York, was a Thorsby visitor Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Next Saturday night, March 15th at 7:30 the Aeolian Concert Company," composed of three young ladies will give the fifth number in the Thorsby Institute Lyceum course in a varied program which is promised to be exceptionally good.

Mr. A. E. Reagan, manager of Thorsby Hardware company, informs us that as a result of the cream separating demonstration at their store last Saturday, they will establish a cream station at the hardware store to receive and ship cream which the farmers who are equipped with a separator may bring to them. This will be the nucleus for a co-operative creamery business for Thorsby and vicinity which it is hoped will grow to be an extensive and profitable business. Watch The Union-Banner for their ad, which will appear shortly.

While the severe freezing weather of the past few days will probably postpone the shipping of strawberries for a week or more beyond the time it was expected to begin, it does seem likely that the crop is seriously injured, because the blooming of the plants was not advanced to a stage where the first bearing would be killed off. Some peaches, pears and plums which were further advanced were pretty hard hit. So much cold and wet weather is holding back the spring work of the farmers.

In spite of the fact that last Sunday evening was unusually stormy the Christian Endeavor Society met at its usual hour. The meeting was conducted by Miss Shannon. The topic that was discussed was the "Dangers of trifling with God, life, and the Soul." Only a small percent of the members were present at the meeting, but every one that was present took part. The society had the pleasure of adding Mr. Lewis D. Kesley's name to the already long list of active members. It gives us pleasure to add a new name to that list for it shows the interest that the society is creating among the people. Let us all come next Sunday.

WOCO PEP COMPANY HAS A BIRTHDAY

All dealers and agents of the Wofford Oil Company, makers and marketers of the famous Woco Pep benzol-blend motor fuel, will gather in Birmingham, Wednesday, March 19, as guests of the company at its annual "birthday party" celebrating the sixth anniversary of the introduction of Woco Pep to the public, it is announced here today by John T Ellis & Sons, local Woco Pep agents, who will leave for Birmingham, Tuesday to participate in the celebration.

The celebration will be the second of its kind held by the company and more than a hundred dealers and agents from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee will be in attendance. Sales conferences, sightseeing drives, novel contests, a big banquet and an evening theatre party are included in plans for the day as announced.

One novel feature of the entertainment will be a contest to establish a new world's record for filling an automobile tank with motor fuel. The present record of two and a half minutes from curb to curb, serving ten gallons of Woco Pep, is held by A. J. Little, Woco agent at Columbus, Ga., and numerous entrants will attempt to lower this mark. Winners in the contest will be awarded handsome medals and already challenges have been received from oil marketers in other territories.

At the Company banquet, new members will be initiated into the "Woco Club," recently organized fun-making body of the Wofford organization. The club is something unique in the oil industry, having been organized to promote goodwill and fellowship among the Wofford employees. Membership is attained by Woco dealers reaching their definite sales quota.

Woco Pep was introduced on Mch. 15, 1918, in Birmingham, being the first benzol-blend motor fuel marketed commercially in this country. Since that date the Wofford Oil company has extended its operations into Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee as well as throughout Alabama and the Woco Pep trade mark has become one of the best-known in southern motordom.

The Wofford Oil Company as an organization is now in its twenty-first year, having been organized in 1903 by G. T. Wofford, present head of the concern. Its growth during the past six years has been one of the romances of Southern industry.

Vitality and Strength Follow This Advice

Rockford, Ala.—"I had a bruised hip caused by being thrown from a horse. I was all rundown in health and had liver complaint. I tried all the medicines I could hear of with but little benefit to me. Finally, a friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, and after taking four or five bottles I improved so fast that I was soon going without my crutch. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets are the best medicines that I have ever used. I keep them on hand all the time and wouldn't be without them. Your children's food

The foods your children eat today, determine their strength and health in later years.

Remember this; they must have well balanced meals. Their food should contain the right amout of mineral salts. These salts act as bone building material.

Bakings that are made of good plain white flour and baking powder contain the necessary amount of mineral salts. Allow your children to eat heartily of these bakings together with fruits and dairy products. This forms an ideal food balance.

When making quick rising breads and pastries such as: biscuits, muffins, cakes, waffles, etc., don't fail to use Calumet—the economy Baking Powder. It contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—it's the purest and surest leavener made. That's why it helps make your flour foods light and easily digested.

Millions of mothers use Calumet daily because they are interested in their children's welfare—their present and future health.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court in Equity, February 22, 1924.

Alabama Machinery and Supply Company, a Body Corporate, Complainant, vs. Ralph Calloway and Mrs. Geneva Calloway, Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds that the Defendant, Ralph Calloway, is a non-resident and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Ralph Calloway, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 24th day of March, 1924, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 22nd day of February, 1924.

POULTRYMEN WILL HAVE ASSOCIATION

Membership Campaign Is to Be An Early Event. New Association To Be Ready Nov. 1st.

Auburn, Ala., March 10.—A State organization of the poultrymen of Alabama is to be formed this year. It will be known as the Alabama Farm Bureau Poultry Producers Association. Its purpose will be to market poultry and eggs and to handle poultry feed and supplies for its members.

Information that such an association is to be formed was made known by John E. Ivey, poultry specialist for the Extension Service, after attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in Montgomery. Although the plans for organizing this Association have not tbeen arranged in detail the general plans are known.

A special committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau officials and others directly concerned will meet in Montgomery at an early date, at which time details of the membership campaign will be considered and arrangements made for a meeting of a State-wide organization committee early in April.

This Association is to be organized and operated under the auspices of the Farm Bureau. Cooperation of county agents, home demonstration agents, district agents, and specialists of the Extension Service is assured. It is to be ready to begin business by November 1, 1924.

Keep Sinks, Drains and Pipes Clean

TRAPS and drain-pipes will clog. Ordinary soap is practically useless to clean them. The best way is to sift a little Red Seal Lye into the sink. Its powerful cleansing qualities quickly loosen the grease and dirt and the rinse water washes away the sediment, leaving the drain-pipe clean and sanitary. A can of Red Seal Lye saves many plumbing bills.

TWO CLANTON MEN TAKEN BY SHELBY CO. OFFICERS

On last Friday Sheriff Falkner and Deputy Frank Fallon of Shelby county came to Clanton and placed in the hands of Sheriff Littlejohn warrants of arrest for Armon Wagoner and Dewey Eubanks, charged with carrying concealed weapons and robbery, said crimes said to have been committed in Fungo Valley in Shelby county on Monday night of last week. Sheriff Littlejohn placed the wanted parties under arrest and turned them over to the Shelby officers, who took them to Columbiana and placed them in jail. We understand that Wagoner and Eubanks are denied bail. Some say that it is a frame-up proposition against these two men and that they are not actually guilty of the charges made against them. However, these men have been implicated in troubles of this nature several times before. Their preliminary trial will be held in Columbiana Friday of this week, it is reported.

ulation on this route as against a 70 per cent white population on the Prattville-White City route to Clanton. They said the tax values on the Verbena route are ten times what they are on the White City route. They said ten times more local people would be served by the Verbena rote than by the White City route.

At the conclusion of the appeal of the citizens of Verbena, the commission unanimously decided to order a survey of the White City route.

Answering a question from a Montgomery Advertiser representative last Monday, Chairman Rogers stated that work would begin on putting into shape the old Birmingham-Montgomery Highway from the Roy Bridge across the Alabama river to Marbury as soon as the plans could be drawn. A motion was then made that in addition to the $50,000 already voted for this work, an additional $8,000 be voted for the construction of a bridge across Mortar Creek just south of Elmore station. The motion carried unanimously. Three weeks will be consumed in getting the plans ready for calling for bids to improve this stretch of road from the Roy Bridge to Marbury. When this work is completed, there will be a fairly good highway from Birmingham to Montgomery which can be used until the permanent road is constructed. The counties through which this stretch of road runs will be expected to maintain it after the highway commission puts it into shape

SPEND-THE-DAY QUILT-PIECING AT THE COUNTY ALMS HOUSE

A very enjoyable day was spent Tuesday when Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gentry, keepers of the county alms house, entertained their neighbors at a spend-the-day quilt-piecing. Every one was busy with their needles until noon when a lovely dinner was served. After dinner the work was resumed, and at the close of the days work, by the help of "Julia" the faithful cook, three pretty quilt tops were finished. Included in the activities of the day were Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Varden, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Maddox, Mrs. Grover Jones, Mrs. Callie Teel, Misses Loutishie Bean and Byrdie Teel.

DEATH OF LITTLE MARY FRANCIS WILLIAMS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow me a small space in your good paper to write a few words to thank my good neighbors and many friends for their good help and kindness to us during the sickness and death of our darling little girl. She caught her dress on fire while at play at the wood pile where there was some trash burning. She only lived 15 hours after she was burned. We did all we could to save her little sweet life but it was not in our power to do it. The good Lord saw best to take her and she had to go, but oh how sad and lonely home is with out her. Her little place is vacant every where we go.

May God bless all of our good neighbors and friends and not only them but the good doctor, J. P. Hayes, who did all they could for her. We can not thank them all enough in our hearts. May the Lord be with them all is our prayers.

Mrs. Rosa Williams and Family.

NEW RECORD IN AUSTRALIAN RACE WON BY STUDEBAKER

Special-Six Cuts Over Sixteen Hours Off Best Previous Time Between Freemantle and Sydney, Aus.

Speeding across desert wastes, mountainous roads and rugged mainland, a Studebaker Special-Six touring car has just established a new record in a thrilling race against time from Freemantle to Sydney, Australia.

The car was driven by John Burton, a veteran Australian motorist.

It went through the gruelling grind of 2,889 miles in five days, 21 hours and 45 minutes. This is 16 hours and 12 minutes faster than the previous record of 6 days, 13 hours and 57 minutes.

In addition, Burton drove the Studebaker through to a new record in his race, by clipping off considerable time between Freemantle, Adeline and Melbourne. The Special-Six negotiated the entire 2,889 miles under extremely severe conditions and came through in perfect running order.

This new Australian record of Studebaker's comes on the heels of new marks recently established by stock model Studebaker cars in the Syrian desert and in the Union of South Africa.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in session at the court house Tuesday. The matter under consideration was the road work of the county, and we understand that they decided to buy one five-ton Holt tractor and some good graders to use on the roads of the county. A few other matters of minor importance were attended to.

STATE WILL BUILD 744 MILES HIGHWAY BEFORE JUNE, 1925

Plans For Road Building During the Coming Year Given Public After Sale of Bonds.

Program for highway construction in Alabama from June 1, 1924 to June 1, 1925, formally adopted by the State Highway Commission, and providing for construction of 744.76 miles of road in addition to bridges, in 46 counties, was made public late Tuesday. At the same time a tabulation was also made public showing highway construction either already complete or under construction in the remaining 21 counties.

In connection with the highway construction program for the period indicated, Senator John A. Rogers, chairman of the highway commission, said that the program had not been announced sooner for the reason that the carrying out of the program was dependent upon the sale of the $7,000,000 of state highway improvement bonds last authorized to be issued, and the provision through such sale of adequate funds for the construction work which the program embraces. The seven million dollars of highway bonds were sold by the state bond commission, Tuesday, to Ward-Sterne and company, of Montgomery and Birmingham.

Official Program

Space will not permit us to give a list of each road to be constructed from June 1, 1924 to June 1, 1925, as given public last Tuesday by the highway commission, but we publish below a part of the list, which we are sure will be of interest to our readers:

Chilton County, 34.30 miles; Shelby county line to Autauga county line.

Shelby County, 7 miles, Calera-Montevallo.

Autauga County, 25 miles, Montgomery-Birmingham road from Reese Ferry bridge to Chilton county line.

Elmore County, 16 miles, Wetumpka to Coosa county line.

ANNOUNCES FOR MEMBER OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

To oppose Mr. J. P. Dykes for renomination as a member of the County Board of Education, Mr. Wm. R. Baker of Clanton comes out this week for the nomination for that office. Mr. Baker has taught school in Chilton and Shelby counties for several years, and he is rather well known by the people in this county. He is at present Justice of the Peace in Beat 4. Mr. Baker's experience in school matters ought to make him well acquainted with the duties of the County Board.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness shown us during our recent bereavement, and for the many beautiful flowers.

Mrs. S. A. Johnson,
Mrs. H. E. Tarpley,
Mrs. L. C. Reynolds.

C. T. Walker and wife and their daughter, Mrs. Shoults of Lawley were in Clanton shopping Tuesday. While here they came to The Banner office and saw the Linotype machine set type.

FAVORS WHITE CITY ROUTE FOR MONTGOMERY HIGHWAY

Editor Union-Banner:

I noticed in your last weeks paper a letter about Mr. W. A. Gulledge and some others from Verbena going before the highway commission in regard to the new highway. They pointed out that the White City route would have only 70 per cent white population while the Verbena route would have 90 per cent. Now I do not think that fair or correct, since from reliable sources, I learn that there are only two or three negro families on the White City route.

I have talked with several citizens of this community and the people of this section have not the money to give as daubtless Mr. Gulledge and his friends have, but we are all willing to give the right-of-way, and you certainly can't build a road without a right-of-way. And furthermore, what could be better than having all the county seats connected together? The Verbena route would leave Prattville one and one-half miles west of the highway. To come from Montgomery direct to Prattville and White City on to Clanton would connect all the county seats between Birmingham and Montgomery directly together.

There are ten times more negroes around Verbena than there on the White City route. The tax values around Verbena hasn't a thing to do with the highway, and if the State can save $100,000 on the White City route, why pay that out extra just to please some folks who have money?

The people in this section stand ready to help in every way possible. The good citizens of Prattville should take hold of this proposition also.

Respectfully,
W. D. DYKES.

Verbena, Ala., March 17, 1924.

ANOTHER ANNOUNCEMENT FROM WALKER DISTRICT

Added to the announcement column this week is the name of Mr. J. F. Anderson of Pletcher for commissioner from the Third district. It will be remembered that Mr. Anderson ran for this nomination in 1908 when he was defeated in the primary by Mr. T. G. Milling.

Mr. Anderson has lived in Chilton county all his life except about five years which he spent in Bibb county, and he has always been engaged in some kind of public business. He is a carpenter, mechanic, saw-miller and has also clerked in a store quite a bit. He claims to have been a strict adherent to the Republican party, and after he was defeated by Mr. Milling in the primary, lined up and supported the complete ticket in the general election. The varied experience Mr. Anderson has had in business life would very likely make him thoroughly competent to attend to the duties of the office of county commissioner.

CHARLEY WILKINS OF BEAT 6 IS OUT FOR COMMISSIONER

To the list of announcements this week has been added Mr. Charley Wilkins of Beat 6, who is out for county commissioner from the Clanton or Fourth District. Mr. Wilkins has never run for any office before but served one term as justice of the peace in his beat and has been road supervisor or overseer practically ever since he was old enough to do road duty. He has spent his entire life in the beat in which he now lives.

SOLDIERS BONUS BILL WITH INSURANCE NOW ASSURED BY CONGRESS

No Effort Will Be Made to Defeat Soldiers' Bill Because of "Gag Rule."

Washington, March 17.—Passage of the soldier bonus bill providing paid-up endowment insurance policies for the veterans of the World War was made virtually certain Saturday night. Proponents of the full cash payment plan let it be known they will not attempt to defeat the bill under suspension of the rules.

Friday a movement was started to line up enough friends of the cash plan to join with those who are opposed to the bill on its merits to defeat it when called up under suspension of the rules, so as to force its consideration under some other parliamentary status that would permit the offering of amendments.

Under the suspension of the rules, or "gag rule" plan, no amendments are permissible, thus cutting off any opportunity to get a cash provision in the measure.

Two-Thirds Vote Needed.

Saturday, however, it was stated by the Democratic leaders, who have been the most active in support of the cash option, that there would be no organized effort to defeat the bill because of the "gag rule." There may be a few ardent advocates of cash to oppose it, but it is not expected they can muster enough votes to beat it, although a two-thirds majority is required for passage of a bill under suspension of the rules. Supporters of the cash bonus plan continued bitter in their denunciation of the "gag rule" proposition, however.

Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, pointed out what a predicament this method of bringing up the bill places the cash supporters in. It gives no opportunity for the House to say what kind of a bill it desires, the draft of the bill as it comes out of the ways and means committee, must be voted up or down without change, Bloom emphasized.

Yet, the New York congressman said, a vote against the measure when it comes up this way would not insure that it would be brought up in any other manner, and therefore, might leave a genuine friend of adjusted compensation for the soldiers in the attitude of having opposed the legislation.

Leaders responsible for the "gag rule" method, Bloom declared, frankly concede that its purpose is to prevent amendments. The bill formally was introduced by Chairman Green, of the ways and means committee, in its completed form Saturday.

Some of the additional details not heretofore stated since this plan was adopted, are:

The number of days to be counted in determining the amount due each veteran must have been between April 5, and July 1, 1919, with the provision that the term of service must have begun prior to Nov. 12, 1918. The first 60 days, which are excluded in figuring out the benefits under the present bill, are to be regarded as those served at home, where the basic compensation is at the rate of $1 a day, as against $1.25 for overseas duty.

Each veteran eligible for the benefits of the act must make application to the secretary of war or secretary of the navy, according to the branch he served in, not later than Jan. 1, 1928. The secretary then shall transmit to the veterans bureau a certificate showing the applicant is entitled to the insurance or cash if he has $50 or less coming to him, the certificates showing the number of days at home and abroad.

GETS SHIPMENT OF RED-STAR STOVES

The Retherford Furniture Company of Clanton, who recently secured the agency for the famous Red-Star Vapor Oil Stoves, manufactured in Detroit, have just received a shipment of these stoves. The Red-Star is said to be the very best in oil stoves, and several who have used them testify to the truthfulness of this record. Read Retherford's adv. in this week's Union-Banner.

MR. W. J. WATSON IN RACE FOR CO. COMMISSIONER

Mr. W. J. Watson, who lives a mile and a half from Clanton out on the Maplesville road, has added his name to the list of announcements for Commissioner from the Fourth District. Mr. Watson is a farmer and has always voted the Republican ticket. This is the first time that he has ever asked for a public office and says that he will appreciate the support of his friends if they see fit.

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

Arrangements are being made for Circuit Court to set in Clanton next Monday, March 24th. This will be a jury term of court and the Grand Jury will be in session.

THE BIRTH OF A NATION TO BE SHOWN HERE AT THE WADESONIAN

Southern Picture of National Fame at Wadesonian Theatre Here March 27, 28 and 29.

Ever since "The Birth of a Nation" was shown in all the big cities of America five or six years ago, we have been looking forward to the time when this wonderful production would be thrown on the screen in Clanton, and through the united efforts of the Ku Klux Klan of Clanton and Mr. C. W. Wade of the Wadesonian Theatre, this picture has been secured for Clanton and Chilton county on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, March 27, 28 and 29.

Several of our people went to Birmingham and Montgomery and saw the picture when it was presented there but most of us were denied that privilege. There will be at least six and probably seven productions of the feature in Clanton during these three days, which will give a goodly number of people around here a chance to see the best motion picture that has ever been filmed. intermingled with a love story between a Southern boy and a Northern girl, "The Birth of a Nation" describes very forcibly the horrors which the South underwent in the days which followed the Civil War—the reconstruction period. It depicts the new nation that was born, and brings out very forcibly the noble work done by the Ku Klux Klan in teaching the negro the difference in living in slavery and living in freedom, also the Klan's work in protecting the womanhood of the South during this period. "The Birth of a Nation" is a picture which every person in America should see. It brings a message which cannot be brought out by any other agency than by that of the motion picture.

"The Birth of a Nation" has been taken off the screen as a commercial picture, which makes it very difficult for it to be obtained for presentation anywhere. It is fortunate indeed that the local Klan in conjunction with Mr. Wade has been able to get the picture released and presented in Clanton. It will give the people of this vicinity a treat which is indeed a grand one and which everybody who sees it will enjoy.

We wish especially to call the attention of our readers to the fact that men and women over 65 years of age will be admitted to the matinees or afternoon shows free of any charge. It is the desire of those in charge of the picture to have as many old people see it as possible, since they are in better position to appreciate the story and the scenes than the younger people due to the fact that they have actually seen lots of the things in the picture happen right before their own eyes. It will be especially interesting to the older people, so everyone that possibly can should take advantage of this opportunity during these three days.

A special orchestra will be here to make music during the performances. Music is one of the main things in "The Birth of a Nation" and those in charge give the assurance that that part of the program will be amply cared for. There will be only 75 reserve seat tickets sold for each performance, so if you want to get a seat you had better get busy at once and purchase one. Reserve seat tickets are now on sale at the Alred Drug Company. The only regret that the management has is the fact that seating capacity is limited, and it is expected that the building will be crowded to capacity at every performance. So, if you want to see the greatest picture ever put on the screen—and you can't afford to miss it—buy your ticket early lest you may not be able to get one at all.

PROF W. M. DEVAUGHN WILL SING AT FRIENDSHIP

We are pleased to announce that Prof. W. M. Devaughn will be at the Friendship Church to sing next Sunday afternoon. This is the regular singing evening at this church, and it is hoped that a goodly number of singers will be present, who are asked to bring along their 1924 Showalter and Ganus song books. The singing will begin about 2:00 o'clock.

Everybody near here knows Prof. Devaughn's ability and talent as a singer of sacred music, and all the other singers in the neighborhood are urged to come out and help him. The Friendship society meets every fourth Sunday afternoon.

An effort has been made to get a preacher to take the place of Bro. Robinson, who is in the hospital, to fill his appointment at Friendship next Sunday, but so far no one has been found.

DRAINAGE OF SWAMPS NEAR CLANTON IS BEING PUSHED

Editor Union-Banner:

We have noticed several articles in your paper lately relative to the drainage project of the swamps in and around Clanton.

For your information and others interested we wish to state that the petition was prepared some time ago and signed by more than enough property owners to insure the drainage of our swamps. We have been in touch with several drainage engineers and were considering having the preliminary survey made as soon as the winter rains were over. This survey was to commence within a few days, but we were advised last week that it would be impossible to sell the drainage bonds as the law was materially amended by the 1923 Legislature and it will be necessary that a test case be carried to the Supreme Court and that they should uphold this law. We were further advised that such a test case is now being worked up and we expect to submit it to the Supreme Court at the April call. We expect a decision on it in May. They also advise us that is will be necessary to await this decision on the Supreme Court unless the project can be financed locally.

Yours Very truly.
GRADY REYNOLDS.

REV. W. W. ROBINSON IS IMPROVING RAPIDLY

After undergoing an operation at the Central Alabama Hospital last Wednesday, Rev. W. W. Robinson is getting along fine. Dr. Gragg and the nurses express themselves as being mighty well pleased with the way he is recovering from the operation.

This operation was another one which was done without the patient being put to sleep. The nerve-blocking system was used, and the preacher says that he could not ask for a more painless process than the one used on him. The operation was performed by Dr. V. J. Gragg, asisted by Dr. T. J. Marcus, and from all indications now it is a success from every angle. The patient is praising the doctors and the nurses at the hospital in the highest degree for the splendid service and care they have administered him snice he was placed under their care. Bro. Robinson says that he knows it is complete folly for people to be sent away from Clanton for such operations as he underwent, when we have such splendid accommodations right here in our own county seat. He says that he cannot express in words the splendid manner in which Dr. Gragg and the nurses have cared for him.

Due to the fact that Bro. Robinson is rather chicken-hearted, as some call it, it was feared that he might give down while the operation was going on, being as he was not put to sleep, but the doctors and nurses as well as the friends present say that he stood the knife as well as anyone they ever witnessed. He was perfectly conscious all during the process and his nerves never failed him in the least.

Bro. Robinson asks us to express publicly his appreciation for the kindness shown him by his many friends who have visited him and cheered him up so much during his illness. He also wishes to express his heart-felt thanks and esteem to Dr. Gragg and the nurses for the splendid care and attention they have so attentively given him while he has been in their custody.

STATE ROAD BONDS BRING BIG PREMIUM IN SALE TUESDAY

Commission Gratified at Transaction With Large Tennessee Company.

Highway bonds of the face value of $7,000,000 were taken at a premium of $102,000 by Caldwell and Company, investment bankers located at Nashville, Tenn., at a meeting of the State bond commission held at noon Tuesday in the governor's office at which competitive bids from various securities firms were received and passed upon.

Governor W. W. Brandon, John A. Rogers, chairman of the highway commission, and Harwell G. Davis, attorney general of the State of Alabama, who compose the bond commission, all expressed themselves as highly gratified at selling the bonds at these figures, and the opinion was generally expressed by men versed in financial affairs that the state had made a good bargain.

These bonds bear interest at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent per annum. Two million dollars worth of these bonds mature in 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929; two million more mature in 1937, 1938 and 1939, while in the years 1940, 1941 and 1942 $1,000,000 worth of the bonds will mature annually.

The issuance of these bonds marks a departure in the state's policy of financing the road work of Alabama. Heretofore, it has been the state's policy to use the proceeds of its road bond issue only to match that coming from the federal treasury for road development work in Alabama. With the successful disposition of these bonds the state of Alabama will embark on a program of road construction independent of the federal government.

TIME OF APPLYING FERTILIZER TOLD

Auburn, Ala., March 17.—Farmers throughout Alabama are now requesting information as to the best time to apply fertilizer for cotton. These requests have increased in numbers recently, and in replying to them Frank E. Boyd, of the Alabama Extension Service, points out that "it is entirely satisfactory to apply phosphate and potash fertilizers with the seed."

In discussing cotton planting further, Mr. Boyd said: "Land should be bedded for cotton. These beds should be prepared a sufficient time in advance of planting for them to be settled by rain. A customary and very satisfactory practice is to plant cotton seed and apply fertilizer with the same planter."

It is absolutely safe to apply acid phosphate, nitrate of soda, and muriate of potash or kainit in this way but fertilizer having an organic content, such as cottonseed meal or dried blood, should not be in contact with the seed if good stands are wanted. When in contact with seed at the time of germination they cause rotting.

Results of experiments conducted by the Experiment Station show that the largest returns from nitrate of soda on cotton are secured by applying one-fourth with the seed and the remaining three-fourths immediately after chopping

SURPLUS WAR MATERIAL NOW BUILDING ROADS

The Congressional enactment that surplus war material, useful in the construction of roads, be given to the several states for that purpose, has worked out to such good effect that more than $300,000,000 worth of trucks, tractors, shovels, graders, digging machinery, concrete mixers, and other instruments useful in road construction, are now actively at work in the several states carrying out the policy of Congress to further road building by the resources of the Nation as well as those of the states.

Proponents of the idea that the present Federal Aid plan, by which the Government gives money to the states to match their appropriations for road building, is but the forerunner of the day when the National Government will build, own, control and forever maintain a back-bone system of national highways, find in this co-operation of the National Government but another reason for the Nation to take over the building of from 100,000 to 200,000 main north and south and east and west highways.

It is contended by friends of this idea in Congress that if the Nation can give valuable property to the states to build roads, and give national money to the states to help them build roads, there is neither moral, legal, economic or political reason why the Nation can not give the whole cost of a main trunk line system to the states, thus nationally binding the states together in a closer brotherhood for the better unity and preservation of the whole body politic.

WAGONER AND EUBANKS RELEASED ON BOND $500 EACH

Armon Wagoner and Dewey Eubanks, of this place had a preliminary trial before Judge J. M. Leonard, of Columbiana, Alabama, last Friday, charged with robbery of a man near Pelham by the name of Bob Powell.

It developed from the evidence produced before the magistrate that Messrs. Wagoner, Eubanks and Walter Sanford of Clanton, were in Shelby county, in behalf of bondsmen, who were sureties on the bond of Mell Kimbell, and who incidentally are offering a reward of $300 for his arrest. These three men left here in a Ford together seeking the whereabouts of Mr. Kimbell, after securing pistols and a pair of handcuffs from the Sheriff's office. Not being familiar with the country around and near Pelham they stopped there and made inquiries relative to the location of a place they had heard of, that Mell might be located; also as to where Deputy Sheriff Fallon could be found. The first inquiry was made to Mr. Powell and another man, who told them that they would go with the three in their car to a Mr. Collum's house, who could give them the desired information. Upon arriving at this home, the defendants and Sanford got out of the car and went to see Mr. Collum, and when they returned to the car, they discovered that their pistols had been taken or stolen by the two men, whereupon after accusing these two men of stealing the guns, a fuss started, which resulted in quite a scrap about the guns, which were found hidden nearby the next morning, and are now in possession of the Sheriff of Shelby county. When the men first approached the prosecutor, he insisted that they were dry officers, which each denied. Mr. Powell stated that Wagoner and Eubanks, while the latter was beating him up relieved him of $60.15, which the latter denied.

After hearing the evidence, Judge Leonard bound the defendants Wagoner and Eubanks over to await the action of the grand jury, under $500 bonds, which were immediately furnished by Wagoner and Eubanks, and at that time he and the solicitor made the following statement: "We are confident that there was no robbery there; but only a free-for-all fight about the guns, and in all probability some whiskey, and we desire the two defendants to be summoned before the grand jury."

The State was represented by W. W. Wallace, the solicitor, and the defendants by Saxon & Pitts. Among the citizens of Clanton who motored up through the snow to attend the trial Friday were: W. W. Fox, Mack Broadhead, Tom Parrish, J. M. Robinson, Ed Wagoner, Leonard Eubanks, Walter Sanford and Percy M. Pitts.

SHOULTS NEWS

As I haven't seen any news from Shoults in several weeks, thought I would write a short note.

Health of this community is good at present.

The farmers are glad to see the sun shining and the white mantel melting off of Mother Earth. It was a great show to the children, for there isn't any children or grown people either under twenty years of age that has ever seen such snow as this. Maybe the farmers will make good crops this year, as I have heard it said that a big snow was good for the soil.

Our school closed Friday, March 7th, with Mrs. A. C. Maness, formerly known as Miss Ethelyn Reynolds as teacher. We, as patrons, think Miss Ethelyn did all she could to teach the pupils as far as she knew. Of course she is young and can learn more herself yet—we never get too old to learn.

The program for the day was carried out nicely, the little play being the best of all. The songs were also good. After the program a bountiful dinner was spread on the table, which was in the beautiful sunshine. After the table was graced by Mr. Frank Adams from Lawley, everyone ate all they wanted and carried some back home with them.

There was a large attendance, it being busy times for the farmers too. We are glad to see them lay down their work and help out in our schools and churches, because it takes co-operation to make a success at anything.

After dinner the crowd was entertained by a basket ball game played by the girls and boys of the school. Everyone seemed to enjoy the day fine. We all wish Miss Ethelyn much success.

Bro. W. T. Edwards filled his regular appointment at this place Saturday night. Those who were present enjoyed a good sermon. We were sorry that no more were present. We hope everybody that can will come and be with us the first Sunday afternoon in April, as that is Bro. Edwards' next appointment.

We meet every Sunday at 10:00 o'clock and have a good Sunday school. We would be glad that every father and mother would come and bring their children. We need you. We need your co-operation. We ought to get together and go to work. We have the material if we can get it together.

We have put a new cover on our church and have the paint at the station to paint it. We hope to have it fixed up right soon.

Miss Eva Hall, who has a position in the Gay Teague Hotel in Montgomery, spent the week-end with her father and sisters.

Mrs. G. C. Latham and children, and Miss Etta Mae Hall spent the day with Mrs. Latham's parents last Tuesday.

Mrs. Della Shoults has been with her daughter Birdie, who lives in Texas, ever since Xmas. We hope she will soon return.

Mr. E. J. Lawrence and family spent the day with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cassie Lawrence Sunday.

Mr. Chancie Bearden and wife from Plantersville motored up to Mr. G. C. Latham's Sunday.

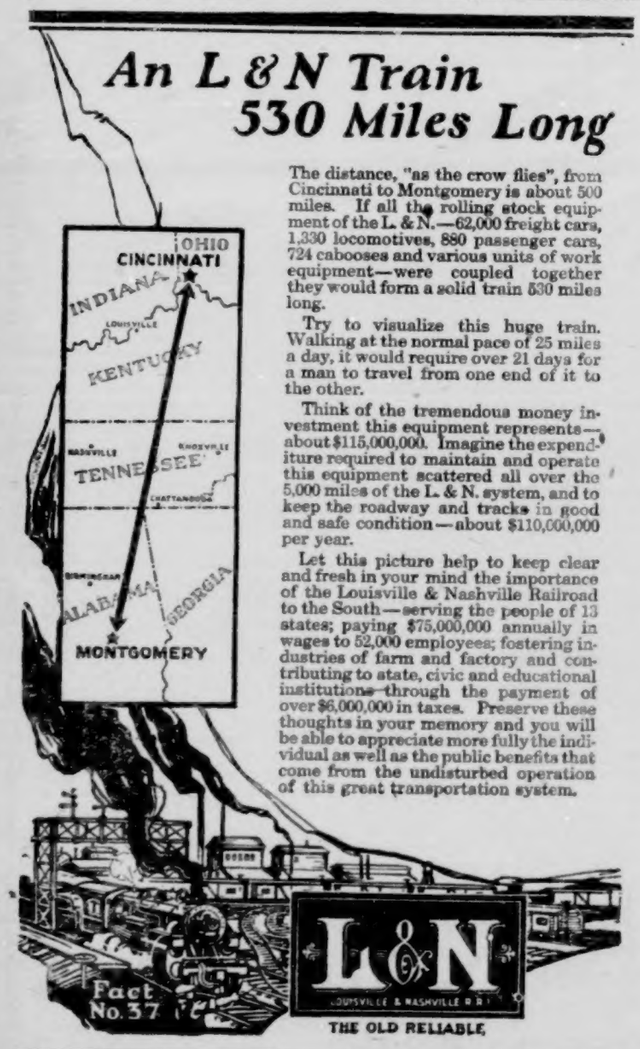
An L & N Train 530 Miles Long



THE OLD RELIABLE

The distance, "as the crow flies", from Cincinnati to Montgomery is about 500 miles. If all the rolling stock equipment of the L. & N.—62,000 freight cars, 1,330 locomotives, 880 passenger cars, 724 cabooses and various units of work equipment—were coupled together they would form a solid train 530 miles long.

Try to visualize this huge train. Walking at the normal pace of 25 miles a day, it would require over 21 days for a man to travel from one end of it to the other.

Think of the tremendous money investment this equipment represents—about $115,000,000. Imagine the expenditure required to maintain and operate this equipment scattered all over the 5,000 miles of the L. & N. system, and to keep the roadway and tracks in good and safe condition—about $110,000,000 per year.

Let this picture help to keep clear and fresh in your mind the importance of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to the South—serving the people of 13 states; paying $75,000,000 annually in wages to 52,000 employees; fostering industries of farm and factory and contributing to state, civic and educational institutions—through the payment of over $6,000,000 in taxes. Preserve these thoughts in your memory and you will be able to appreciate more fully the individual as well as the public benefits that come from the undisturbed operation of this great transportation system.

Weak Nervous

"I was weak and nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. Edith Sellers, of 466 N. 21st St., East St. Louis, Ill. "I couldn't sleep nights, I was so restless. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I would have such pains in my stomach that I was afraid I would get down in bed. . . My mother came to see me and suggested that I use

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

I felt better after my first bottle. I had a better appetite. It seemed to strengthen and build me up. I am so glad to recommend Cardui for what it did for me. I haven't needed any medicine since I took Cardui, and I am feeling fine."

Nervousness, restlessness, sleeplessness—these symptoms so often are the result of a weak, run-down condition, and may develop more seriously if not treated in time.

If you are nervous and run-down, or suffering from some womanly weakness, take Cardui.

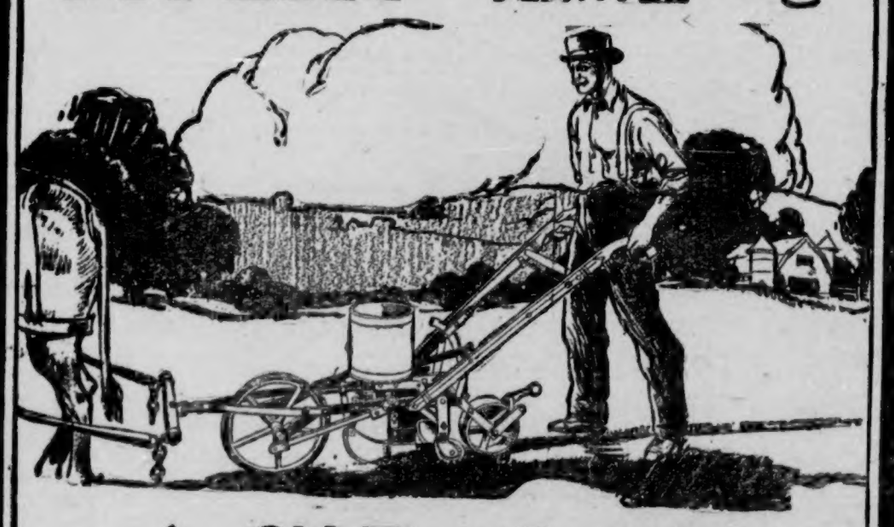
AVERY SHAWNEE JR. PLANTER



An Old-Time Favorite

THERE are no frills about the Shawnee Jr. It is simple and sturdy. It responds instantly to the operator's every desire. Depth of planting is accurately controlled by a simple movement of the handles, without stopping. In the same way the opener is lifted clear of the ground and planting mechanism is thrown out of gear at the ends of the rows. Perfect control means more and better work with greater economy.

The Shawnee Jr. has no sprockets to clog, no chains to break. A double pitman gives a simple, direct, trouble-free drive. Supplied with the Shawnee Jr. as regular equipment is a wide variety of plates. A standard picker wheel gives continuous force feed. Special picker wheels give intermittent spacing of seeds. Quantity of seed planted is easily and accurately controlled. Special hoppers, duplex and single seed, are supplied as extras. All changes in equipment are easily made without tools.

The Avery Shawnee Jr. abundantly supplies the farmer's needs for a walking planter that does all sorts of planting. We will gladly demonstrate it. Come to our store and see for yourself its many good features.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines

Mrs. Simpson Hostess in Honor of Mrs. Kyle.

Mrs. O. Kyle of Albany, Ala., who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Victor Heard was the inspiration of another beautiful party when Mrs. Hugh Simpson entertained at a bridge luncheon in her honor on Friday.

Those enjoying Mrs. Simpson's hospitality were Mesdames Arthur Johnson, Frank Callen, Hance Alred, N. S. Johnson, Guy Higgins, O. Kyle, and Victor Heard.

Study Club Meets.

Tall vases of lovely pink carnations were effectively used in decorating the reception rooms of Mrs. Eric Hart's home on Friday evening when she was hostess to the Study club. Mrs. N. S. Johnson presided over the meeting and after a brief business session an interesting program was enjoyed. A talk by Mrs. N. S. Johnson on Easter from the Old Testament was given, followed by general discussion of soul by the club. Afterwards delicious sandwiches and tea were served by Mrs. Hart, assisted by Mrs. Hosea Downs and Miss Hilda Hart. Besides the sixteen club members present the following were guests for the afternoon: Mesdames Higgins, Lyman, Kyle, Carrie Mullins, Hosea Downs, Simpson, Watts Moore, Hance Alred, Oscar Jones; Misses Bettie Mullins and Jessie Goodwin from Selma.

P. T. A. to Give a Social.

On next Friday evening, March 28, the Parent-Teachers Asociation will entertain at a "Carpet Rag" social, the place to be named later, for the purpose of paying for the second set of books recently purchased for the grammar school library.

All ladies are urged to come with a box of "dainties" and a pound of carpet rags which will be later turned into rugs and be sold for the benefit of same. Let's everybody go and enjoy an evening of fun and laughter and also contribute to a most worthy cause.

Look for the place in next week's paper.

Mrs. Arant Entertains.

A delightful social event of last Thursday was a birthday dinner given by Mrs. M. B. Arant in celebration of her (?) birthday anniversary.

The dining table wes centered with a vase of narcissus and covers laid for Dr. and Mrs. Ezell, Mr. and Mrs. George Polk, Mrs. Marion Gore, Mrs. Hosea Downs, Mrs. C. Reese Mullins, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Grady Taylor, Mrs. Mallie White, Mrs. G. E. Plier, Mrs. Clyde Jones and the hostess. A bounteous turkey dinner in four courses was served. After dinner several musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. Grady Taylor, after which a snow-ball frolic began.

Card Club Meets.

Mrs. Napoleon Johnson was hostess on last Wednesday to the members of her Card club. The reception rooms were given an added touch of beauty with baskets and vases of fragrant spring flowers.

The club prize, a couple of decks of Congress cards, were given Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Late in the afternoon a refreshing ice course was served.

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist church of Clanton held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home fo Miss Agnes Kemp. The meeting was opened with a song followed by the roll call. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Agnes Kemp. A round table discussion conducted by Mrs. J. E. Gowan concerned the clothing of a ten year old girl at the Baptist Orphanage at Troy, Ala. At the close of the meeting a delicious salad course was served to the following: Misses Mamie Smith, Sara Cox, Tommie Parrish, Juanita Connatser, Ires Carter, Erin Danforth, Jewel McDowell, Annie Bell White, Mary Wise, Myra Moore, Frances Moore, Jettie Popwell and Mesdames J. E. Gowan, Latham Ellis and Clyde King.

McAdoo, McAdid, McAdone.—New York Tribune.

Over 43 per cent of the inmates of State hospitals in New York are foreign born. Need anything more be said in order to show the need for a more stringent immigration law and more strict enforcement?

Mr. McAdoo wants to run for president on some such slogan as "Clean up Washington." Well, McAdoo's Washington connections brought him the most money he ever saw in his life—why should he complain? Why smite the hand that fed you?

During the Democratic administration large sums of money were collected illegally under the income tax law and since that time the Republican administration has had to pay some of it back to the taxpayers. The Democrats are hardly in a position to say that the repayments are improper for in some instances former employes of the Democratic administration are attorneys for the claimants for refund.

UP AGAINST REALITIES

Writing from London, Herbert N. Casson says that at the end of the first month of the Labor Government "Ramsay Macdonald has not shown himself to be half as dangerous a socialist as Lloyd George was. Macdonald is an idealist who is up against realities for the first time in his life. His chief difficulties are with his own followers." The trouble is that his own followers expect him to perform while in office in accordance with his talk while trying to get in, and Macdonald has sense enough to know that it can't be done. Responsibility for results has taken a lot of socialism out of Macdonald's head.

A MAN, A BOY AND A DONKEY

Way back about 1906 when the present editor of The Union-Banner was going to school to Prof. V. J. Gragg out at Pinedale, we remember having for a lesson one day in the old Third Reader a story entitled "A Man, a Boy and a Donkey."

This story took up a man and his son who started out on a journey and carried with them a little old mule. At first the boy led the mule and his father rode him. They soon met some folks who scorned the father for riding and making his boy walk. So, the man, desiring to please the folks, got off the mule and put his son up to ride. Soon they met some more folks who said that the boy was slothful for riding and making his father walk. The man and the boy saw that if either rode the mule and made the other walk, folks would scorn at them and criticize them, so they concluded to both get on him and ride. Very soon they met some more folks, who said that they were both mighty cruel to put such a heavy weight on the poor little old mule. They soon saw the folks were not pleased with that. This put them in a position that they were at a complete loss as to what to do. Everything they tried displeased someone. So they tied the mule's feet together, hung him on a long pole and put the pole on their shoulders, and continued their journey carrying the mule, instead of the mule carrying them.

The intention of this simple little story is to show that a person has a mighty hard time if he sets out to please everybody. In fact, a person who ever does anything does something which displeases somebody, for the simple reason that no two people see every little thing just alike. We even find that this is very true in publishing a newspaper. It is utterly impossible to please everybody. The only person who pleases everybody is the person who is dead. The best course a person can pursue is, after due consideration and thought, do the very best he knows, and face the scorn and criticism which is bound to come from some, with a clear conscience and a clean hand. Some people make it their business to find fault in others and criticise and knock, no matter how well a person performs his duty, but such should not be a discouragement to those who do the best they can.

HOT OIL!!

ANOTHER DETECTIVE AGENCY

Mr. Vanderlip has found a new employment for his millions. He has organized the "Citizen's Federal Research Bureau." The bureau will conduct a "vigorous scientific investigation of the Federal Government." What Mr. Bok sought to accomplish with our international relations, Mr. Vanderlip will seek in our domestic affairs. Mr. Bok put up a fortune for his "peace plan" demonstration, and the recipients of his money were eager to please their benefactor. He got what he wanted, namely, another endorsement of the league of nations. Mr. Vanderlip is offering another fortune, those on his payroll well knowing that what he wants to find is incompetence, corruption, and general inefficiency in the government. They will be found for him without a doubt—that is, rumors will be unearthed that all those things exist. That will be sufficient for Mr. Vanderlip, who was perfectly convinced that President Harding's sale of the Marion Star was filled with corruption, merely because some individual whispered it in his ear.

The Vanderlip research bureau ought to furnish an interesting sideshow for the Senate investigating committees. While the latter are the rallying points for all the radicals in political life in Washington, the former will be the lode-stone that will attract all the parlor pinks and reds in New York and elsewhere. In fact, Mr. Vanderlip admits that a number of "very important persons" have already associated themselves with him. He will have no difficulty whatever in engaging a numerous staff and in paying them salaries to find fault with the government. What an opportunity for the Constitution-wreckers, the government-ownership-pers, the Russian recognizers, and all the other political and economic heretics that dot our citizenship! Yes, Mr. Vanderlip will find plenty of persons to help him spend his money.

WALSH WELSHING

If it were possible to make a certainty more sure, Senator Walsh has accomplished that feat. His course in giving to the press the Coolidge messages which had no relation to oil while he kept secret as long as possible his own letters to Doheny, is enough to insure the re-election of Coolidge even if there had been any doubt about it before, which there was not. The American people will not stand for the Walsh kind of low down politics.

A SOVIET INVESTIGATION

Senator Brookhart of the Daugherty investigating committee has let it be known that the inquiry will be in no sense a trial of the Attorney General. It is to be a "summary investigation." Apparently the committee proceedings will closely resemble the work of a grand jury. Mr. Daugherty will be represented by counsel, but the rights of counsel will be strictly limited. While the committee members may summon any witnesses they choose and question them without restraint, Mr. Daugherty will be denied similar rights unless in each instance he can first obtain the committee's approval. That form of procedure, coupled with the fact that most of the committee members are known advocates of Daugherty's removal from the cabinet, indicates that the Attorney General will be severely handicapped in presenting his side of the case.

When the committee concludes the taking of testimony and submitted its report, the public will do well to bear in mind the circumstances surrounding the hearing and the mental attitude of the inquisitors. Despite the declaration of the committee chairman that the proceedings will not be a "trial," the people are apt to look upon them as such, unless they keep in mind the trend of recent Senate events. Secretary Denby was forced from office without any real attempt to learn the truth regarding his oil leases. The same Senate coalition that hounded Denby is now on the trail of Daugherty.

WHY THEY WANT HIS GORE

Mr. Daugherty committed an unforgivable offense against the Democrats and they seem determined to get revenge. He brought suits involving war contracts given during the Democratic administration and saved the Government $85,000,000 out of $88,000,000 of claims contested, recovered for the Government $3,500,000 that had been paid out illegally, got judgment for $1,225,000 more, and secured the indictment of 95 persons on charges growing out of war contracts written and approved by Democrats. Daugherty did this without parading the facts through the newspapers. Now the Democrats are going after Daugherty through the newspapers but not getting anywhere with specific evidence.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

INQUISITION AT ITS HEIGHT

Washington, March 17, 1924.—"Senate investigating committees are ignoring the letter and the spirit of that section of the Constitution which provides that the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects shall not be violated."

"Even the Democratic press is getting disgusted with the methods that have been pursued by the sensationalists in charge of the oil investigation. No one complains of any reasonable and proper effort to get all the facts bearing upon the policy and legality of the naval reserve leases and to punish anyone who may have been guilty of unlawful acts. But the present investigation has been permitted to take so wide a range as to bring under surveillance many transactions not in any way connected with the lease or claimed to be so connected.

"Wherever the Democrats who are conducting the investigation find the slightest excuse for bringing in the name or the business connections or affairs of any Republican, they do so, once having the name in the record, proceed to voice insinuations and cast slurs under the protection of that section of the Constitution, which says that for anything said in either House of Congress a member shall not be called in question in any other place.

"They seem to have forgotten that section of the Constitution which provides that 'the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated,' etc.

"Despite that provision, the Senate committee has called upon telegraph companies to deliver huge bundles of telegrams through which the committee searched in an effort to find something relating to the oil leases. A large proportion of the telegrams read by the committee had no connection with the oil leases whatever. Of course, most of those not connected with the leases were not made public, but they became known to the half dozen or more Senators who were members of the committee, and there were "leaks." Some telegrams not connected with the oil transactions were made public by the committee.

"If this can be done in one instance, it can be done in any number of instances. If communications can be secured by calling a telegraph company employee, individuals may just as easily be called and compelled to reveal their correspondence, even though it has no bearing upon the subject of the inquiry. The committee has no more right to a telegram than it has to a letter. It has a right to either a telegram or a letter if it has a bearing upon a question at issue in due process of law, but it has no right to demand indiscriminately any correspondence it takes a notion to look at and then reveal to the public all that suits its pleasure.

"One of the leading Democratic papers that has finally sickened of the recklessness and irresponsibility of the investigating committee is the New York Times. In a recent leading editorial that paper declares that 'It was a mistake to suppose that there was no limit to which the committee would not go in making public private telegrams.' After reviewing some of the instances of improper disclosures of private communications the Times rebukes the committee for 'the false scents on which the Senatorial hounds are all the time running off merely at a word.'

"All the pertinent evidence bearing upon the oil leases could have been presented in a week, but the committee has spent three months trying to spring sensations based largely upon irrelevant evidence, and apparently chiefly for partisan advantage."

Mr. H. B. Glenn of Maple Springs, candidate for County Commissioner from the Fourth District, was in Clanton hauling fertilizer Monday. Mr. Glenn says that he is planning to make a trip over the north-western part of the county within the next few days.

Mr. Oscar Lovelady was in Clanton a while Monday. While here he bought for himself two score and twelve issues of The Union-Banner, the first one to be delivered this week. We thank you Mr. Lovelady. This kind of business makes us love you the same as you love the lady.

POOR O

HIKING FROM TALLAHASSEE TO ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

On last Saturday two young men dropped into our office who gave their names as Robert T. Lewis of Georgia and Jack Kerns of Michigan, who said that they were on a hike from Tallahassee, Fla., to St. Paul, Minn., which trip they are makinng by foot. After they reach St. Paul, they are going to build themselves a boat and come down the Mississippi river to New Orleans. These young men had us to clearly understand that they were not beggars but that they were paying their own way. They both claimed to be college graduates, and they said that when their funds ran low they stopped some place and worked a while. They were going to stop in Birmingham and work a few weeks. They said that they expected to make the trip in about six months. Their purpose in making this pedestrial tour is to get some kind of a job as sportsmen.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE VERA MAE NICKERSON

On March the 9th God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to call little Vera Mae Nickerson home. She was in her second year. She was taken sick on Feb. 24th with colitis, was sick two weeks. She was carried to Central Alabama Hospital. All was done the kind and faithful doctors and nurses and friends could do, but all was in vain.

Little Vera Mae was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson. She was loved by all who knew her. She wore a smile for those who knew her and in death wore a smile such as a soul in God can wear.

Weep not dear father and mother and relatives for she is gone where there will be no more sickness, sorrow and death, for God will wipe all tears away from our eyes.

One Who Loved Her.

Mr. W. H. Robinson of Providence, candidate for commissioner from the Clanton district, was in Clanton on Monday. He went up to Jemison Monday afternoon on a little campaign tour. Mr. Robinson says that he is going to do his best to get the nomination for commissioner.

ATTENDING WOCO PEP 6th BIRTHDAY PARTY

Messrs. Latham and Erle Ellis of the local firm, John T. Ellis & Sons, Woco Pep dealers, went to Birmingham Wednesday morning to attend the birthday celebration of the Wofford Oil Company. Last Saturday the Wofford company was six years old, but they had their celebration on Wednesday of this week.

Their program consisted of a sightseeing trip all over the city of Birmingham, a visit to the Southern club, a festival at the Tutwiler Hotel and a theatre party in the evening. All the local agents for Woco Pep in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee were given this royal reception by the Wofford Oil Company of Birmingham.

This is a rather unique treat for Erle Ellis, the junior member of the local firm, since this occasion is in celebration of his own birthday as well as that of Woco Pep. Following is the complete program:

After registration and "tagging," we will have the contest for a new world's record for filling an automobile tank. Entries have already been received from four out-of-town agents as well as numerous local dealers.

At 12:00 noon each out-of-town agent will be Mr. Wofford's guest at a luncheon at the Southern club.

At 2:00 o'clock we will assemble at the Tutwiler Hotel for the picture and from 2:30 to 4:30 will have a general sales conference in the Tutwiler Ballroom.

At 4:30 all out-of-town visitors will be taken for a sight-seeing drive.

At 6:00 the annual Birthday Banquet lasting until 8:30 at the Tutwiler Hotel.

From there we will go to the Lyric Theatre where "Woco Night" will be observed.

Reservations are being made at the Tutwiler Hotel.

BOX SUPPER AT UNION GROVE

There will be a box supper at Union Grove Saturday night, March 22. Everybody is cordially invited to be present. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the school.

INDIAN GRAVE ITEMS

Health here is very good at present. We have all enjoyed a nice snow, which was about four and a half inches deep. It has delayed the farmers from plowing a few days.

The school will be out at Indian Grave the 21st of March. There was a nice crowd at Sunday School Sunday. Everybody is invited to come back next first Sunday. There will also be preaching.

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd in attendance. We invite everybody to come back next third Sunday. The directors for the afternoon were: Prof. J. W. Cagle, Mr. Olen Williams, Mr. Shepard, Mr. Hudson Williams and Mr. Alonza Askins. The organists were Mrs. J. W. Cagle and Mr. Hudson Williams. We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Cagle and daughter from Mitchell Dam with us. We invite them to come back.

Miss Isabel Messer dined with Miss Clara Belle Jones Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lemrick dined with Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Askins Sunday.

Mrs. W. W. Jones and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Adams.

Miss Jettie Adams spent Saturday with Miss Clara Belle Jones.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Mrs. Carl Langville and daughter, Vivian of Ensley, Ala., were week end visitors at the home of Mrs. Grathy last Sunday.

Mr. Waldemar Lefstead spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mrs. E. F. Mead entertained several of her friends Tuesday afternoon in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Engh, who will be leaving Thorsby for their home in Minnesota on Friday, March 21st.

Mrs. O. L. Jackson had several of her friends at a quilting party Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The evening service, with moving picture accompaniment, at the Congregational church last Sunday was very interesting and impressive. In a short sermon from the text, "Sin coucheth at the door," Rev. Joseph E. Sach called attention to the baleful influences of sin which is always at our heart's door and needs no invitation to come in at the first opportunity. He called attention to the lures of sin and its bitter fruits which rob us of the real joys of living and, without repentance, will rob us of eternal life. The pictures graphically portrayed the life of righteousness in Abel and the terrible load which sin compelled Cain to carry. As pictures, they possessed a good deal of artistic merit and were thrown on the screen by Mr. Graham in a way that gave plenty of time to the audience, a large one, to see each one well before it faded from view and another took its place, which seems to be a new feature in moving picture exhibitions.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland of Thorsby Institute faculty entertained Mr. and Mrs. Mills for the week end. They live in Mrs. Loveland's home town, Downers Grove, Ill., and are touring the South in enjoyment of their first vcation in many years. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Loveland arranged a sort of reception for them at the girl's dormitory which was greatly enjoyed by those present. Sunday they were kept on the go to see folks, places and things in and about Thorsby. Monday morning they attended chapel at Thorsby Institute and left on the morning train for Birmingham. They said they had greatly enjoyed their visit.

Mr. C. E. Lucas, president of the Bank of Thorsby, is still confined to his home where he has been for the past ten days suffering from an attack of lagrippe or influenza.

Mr. J. P. Sorensen has been shut in at home for the past two weeks by an aggravated case of ulcerated tooth but he is now sufficiently recovered as to be out again.

Mr. Robert Johnson, who has been ill for several days, is also able to be out now.

The dinner given by the ladies of the Parent-Teachers Association at Mr. Foshee's store last Saturday was a pronounced success, netting upwards of forty dollars as a nest egg for equipment of our new public school building.

A very enjoyable feature of the occasion was the presence in force of the Thorsby concert band, which furnished plenty of very enjoyable music.

Thorsby orchestra, composed of Clarence Bice, leader, Nels Peterson, C. R. Foss, Naemi Turnquist, J. O. Johnson and Chas. S. Howard, filled an engagement to furnish music at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton last Saturday night.

We are informed that Mr. Clarence Bice, a band leader of experience, has organized a band at Clanton.

Mr. John Carlson has as his guests Mr. Eric Carlson, his brother, and Mrs. Carlson, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Peterson of Rockford, Ill., Mr. Carlson's home before coming to Thorsby. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have been spending several weeks in Florida, and like many other southern tourists, even the birds, find Thorsby a very good resting place on the long journey back to northern haunts.

The fifth number of Thorsby Institute Lyceum course, given at Bates Hall last Saturday night, the Aeloian Concert Company, was an enjoyable entertainment in every way. Of the three ladies taking part it would be hard to say which was best as an entertainer.

Announcements are now out for the last entertainment of the course, a lecure by Mr. C. W. Hesson, manager of the Continental Lyceum Bureau, on Friday night of this week at Bates Hall. Subject of the lecture, "The Poetry of Living."

Last Thursday morning at chapel all the classes sang their class songs. After the seniors had sung theirs, "We march to Victory," Miss Olive Pearson, a visitor, sang beautifully "Just for Today."

Mr. J. B. Littleton of Wylam spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. J. B. Littleton.

Mr. Arthur Littleton has so far completed his bungalow near the public school house, as to move in with his family last Tuesday.

ILLITERACY WEEK WILL BE FROM MARCH 21 TO 28

The week beginning March 21st has been set aside by Gov. Brandon in his proclamation as Illiteracy Week, and during that time every citizen of Alabama is expected to do his part for this cause by buying illiteracy stamps, thus helping Alabama to "stamp out illiteracy."

Today there is no greater need, no worthier cause, than this, especially in Alabama, although one of the greatest and foremost states in the Union in some respects. She is certainly one of the most backward in her educational matters. How proud it makes us feel to hear Dr. Rankin, field director of the American Health Association Committee on municipal health department practice make the statement that Alabama is leading all other States in some lines of her public health work, but on the other hand, how ashamed it makes us to turn to statistics and find Alabama ranking second in native-born adult illiteracy.

Does it surprise you to learn that there are 276,082 illiterates over 10 years of age in our State, out of a population of 1,730,421, making a percentage of 16.1 and a ranking of 6th in number and 4th in percentage? Do you realize just how much we are losing in intelligent citizenship thru inequality in opportunity? Cora Wilson Steward says in the New York Times: "It does not take a vivid imagination to see the potentialities in this vast illiterate population or a mathematician to calculate what they might add to the nation if redeemed."

Let us quote Secretary Hughes on the subject: "The American ideal is the ideal of equal educational opportunity, not merely for the purpose of enabling one to know how to earn a living and to fit into an economic status more or less fixed, but of giving play to talent and aspiration and to development of mental and spiritual powers." Can we thus by selfishness and littleness deprive those less fortunate from getting more happiness from life and giving more service to humanity?

WATERS—PAVEY WEDDING

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pavey at 403 N 6th Street, Wednesday at 3:30, p.m., when their daughter, Miss Lela Elizabeth, was married to Mr. Norman Waters of Birmingham. Rev. C. B. Stephenson, president of the Alabama Conference S. D. A., officiated.

Mr. K. R. Haughey sang "O, Promise Me," and "I Love you Truly" was rendered by Miss Edith Stephenson. Lohregin "Bridal Chorus" was played by Mrs. K. R. Haughey as the bridal couple entered, preceded by Misses Maxine Farley and Louise Stephenson, the ribbon bearers. The bride was dressed in apricot crepe de chine and was given away by her father.

Misses Nondes Schmehl and Esther Farley presided at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Waters left immediately for Alberta, Canada, where they will make their home.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE IN CLANTON TUESDAY NIGHT

A narrow escape from a fire of more than a serious nature occured in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Roy on Fifth Avenue last Wednesday night about seven o'clock. Mrs. Roy went into her bed room and made up a fire and put her baby to bed. She then went out to her cook room to finish up her night work. In a few minutes she smelled something burning and on returning to her bed room found the bed in which she had put her baby almost ready to blaze. The baby was rescued by its mother but the bed was completely ruined and the room was considerably damaged.

Insurance was carried on the building and contents by C. Reese Mullins and the adjustment of the damage was made by him the next morning.

FREE — Your First Treatment with An-uric, my Kidney-Backache Tablet.

Result of 50 years of Analyses in a Great Hospital.

Fifty years ago, my father, the late Dr. Ray V. Pierce, established the famous Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y., surrounding himself with a staff of skilful physicians, surgeons and chemists. To this great institution comes a steady stream of patients from far and wide.

A great percentage of these patients are affected with kidney disease and many other thousands of kidney sufferers who do not come for treatment send samples for analysis.

So, here at the Invalids' Hotel, diagnosis and treatment of kidney trouble has been going on incessantly for fifty years.

Realizing the great need for an effective home remedy to correct kidney troubles in their early stages, I put our staff to work on the problem. In time they worked out an ideal formula, which, it was found, could be put up in handy tablet form.

I named this remedy "An-uric," because by strengthening the eliminative action of the kidneys, it works to free the sufferer from the evil effects of uric acid upon the nerves and joints.

I want all who suffer from weak kidneys, kidney backache and uric acid poisoning to have their first An-uric treatment at my expense.

It isn't necessary to write—just pin this advertisement to a scrap of paper bearing your full name and address and mail it to me.

This offer is intended for those who have to get up in the night, who are tired and lame every morning, who suffer with aching back, dizzy spells, mysterious headaches, darting pains, sore, swollen joints and any noticeable irregularity of the kidney action.

Dr. V. M. Pierce, Pres.,
Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Facts about Child-birth

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the Little One arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-72, Atlanta, Ga., for a free wonderful book containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all good druggists.

ANTIOCH NEWS

Our Singing Society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd. Everybody seemed to enjoy the singing. We are expecting the Pilgrim singing class to be with us next Sunday afternoon, fourth Sunday. Everybody is invited to come and be with us.

It is a mistake about being a dinner at this place fourth Sunday—there will be preaching Sunday morning as it is our regular preaching day, and singing in the afternoon, but there will be no dinner.

Miss Myrtle Sewell spent Saturday and Sunday in Billingsley with her friend, Miss Alberta Williams.

Mr. Johnnie Ratliff has returned to Tyler after an extended visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Ratliff.

Miss Minnie Headley spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss Era Klinner.

Mr. Charlie Carter was a visitor to this place Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ratliff from Birmingham spent the week-end with parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ratliff.

Mr. Charlie Deramus and Miss Eula Edwards motored over to Antioch Sunday afternoon, trying his new car.

There will be a box supper at Antioch Church Saturday night, March 22. All the girls are invited to come and bring boxes, and the boys with a pocket full of money. It's for the benefit of finishing paying for the new organ. Everybody are cordially invited.

SCHOOL MEETING AT CANE CREEK

Mr. Jno. S. Dennis, one of the trustees of Cane Creek School, asks us to announce that the patrons of that school are asked to meet at the school house on Thursday night of this week for the purpose of selecting a teacher for the school the coming year. All the patrons are urged to attend.

J. N. SCOTT ABOUT ROADS AND RACE FOR CO. COMMISSIONER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your good old paper for a few more of my ignorance drops. We have another campaign on hand this year, and I want to say that we should be very careful in our selection of men to fill the different offices in our county. Should we make a mistake, it means we have got to put up with it for another four years.

No matter how it hurts, what we need most in this election is to get good men for our Commissioners—men who will not want to tax just one class of people for the purpose of building and maintaining roads for benefit of all, on top of what they have already been taxed for that purpose by already paying daily 2c on each gallon of gasoline for road building. I want to say that we need commissioners who believe that it will take labor to build up our roads and who will contend for the men who live along the road-side that use the roads to put in some of their labor in place of so much money. Money never increased in amount on the way to where it was to go but decreases a little usually in each man's hands who handles it. For instance, take the road hand's taxes that live up and down the side of the road who are handy to work the roads. They pay $5.50, the Probate Judge gets a rake of 50 cents, so that leaves $5.00. Then there is a man employed in each Beat as overseer, who receives $2.75 per day for his time seeing after the roads, which will just about take the rest of the $5.00.

I was talking with one overseer, Mr. Foshee, on last Saturday about our roads and the arrangements on program for making the roads, so he stated that he is to work the mail routes first and work the road hands that have not paid their $5.50. So I stated that that would be all the roads we would get worked. Mr. Foshee stated that there had been $300 collected in this Beat and that he intended to spend it all in Beat 2. So I stated that that was not enough to fill the holes on the Mars Hill road, and where was he going to get his pay that it would take all of that to pay him to oversee the men who had not paid.

So I can't see yet where any of this money will get to the roads only in the way of a boss. Of course, Mr. Foshee will see it all spent in Beat 2 for it will all belong to him for his services on these roads. These ignorance drops are not very pleasant for some people to take, but I guarantee there is no harm in them, but if the directions are kept up with, they will de everybody good alike and land each one safely on the rock that is higher than I, as the poet says.

So I shall hollow, hurrah for W. H. Robinson for Commissioner in the Fourth District. I have known him for many years and believe he is competent for the place and would fill it with honor to himself and to the party. We believe in passing the pie plate around to other good hard-working Christian hearted citizens who believe in justice to all. So if I am deceived in old Brother Robinson I hope some friend will truthfully state so and in what way.

I will close just here, Mr. Editor, for a while, thanking you in advance for your space and wishing you and your many readers success.

The old doctor,
J. N. SCOTT.

Mr. R. L. Crim spent Saturday night at the home of his son, Mr. E. D. Crim.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

The Society met Sunday afternoon in regular session with a very large attendance. The house was filled to overflowing with good singers and a large crowd of attentive listeners, who seemed to have enjoyed the program very much.

We also noted a good number of visitors from all parts of the county, among whom were several from Clanton, Walnut Creek, Friendship, Verbena, Poplar Springs and Maple Springs. Space would not permit for me to give the names of all the visitors, but will say that we were indeed glad to see so many and invite them to come again.

We are still looking for that quartet that we advertised for in our last report—how about it Walnut Creek? Come on next first Sunday and give us a few good ones. We will appreciate it very much if you will. We still like 'em.

The following is a list of the ones who directed from 1 to 3 songs each: Lee Robinson, J. Z. Mims, L. T. Grant, J. R. Robinson, W. M. Devaughn, O. L. Devaughn and S. M. Yates, Jr. Organists were: Messrs. Lee Robinson, Ralph D. Grant, Miss Lena Mae Devaughn, and Mrs. Alice Baker.

We also had three splendid male quartets rendered by W. M. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, O. L. Devaughn and Ralph D. Grant, and as many mixed quartets which were equally as good rendered by Ralph Grant, Lena Mae Devaughn, Beatrice and Genie Grant and ye pen pusher.

In short, we feel like the evening was well spent in the service of song. At the close of the song service, Rev. J. E. George made a splendid talk and requested that the class sing No. 164 in A. J. S. book, after which Bro. George dismissed the congregation.

COLLINS CHAPEL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. The Society was called to order at 2:00 o'clock by President E. L. Glasscock. Prayer was offered by Mr. Robert Cost, and those who directed were: Jasper Oaks, Herlie Mims, Gordon Sorrell, T. A. Maddox, Gresham Lowery, Akins Collins and E. L. Glasscock, who directed the second time. Organists were Misses Gena Collins and Mattie Mims.

The singing was good and everyone present seemed to enjoy it very much. This was evidenced by the splendid attention given throughout the entire afternoon.

Mr. J. M. Mims spoke briefly on the need of a singing school and of the prospect of one being taught by Prof. Patton this summer at or near Thorsby. After which prayer was offered by Mr. T. A. Maddox and the Society adjourned to meet with Oak Hill next Sunday p.m. Everybody is invited to meet with us and take part in our song service at all times—and don't forget the next time and place will be Oak Hill next Sunday p.m.

TWO MONTGOMERY BOYS VISIT AT INDIAN GRAVE

Messrs. L. L. Vinsin and Elma Campbelle of Montgomery made a visit up to Billingsley on last Saturday afternoon and went over to the Indian Grave community. They spent the night and also Sunday out there and had an enjoyable time. They were the guests of Miss Alma Askins on Saturday night. They went to Sabbath School Sunday morning and singing in the afternoon, and say that it was as good as they ever witnessed.

LIBERTY HILL

The singing society met Sunday afternoon and rendered the best program that we have had for quite a while. We had with us visitors from Thorsby, Clanton, Pates Chapel and Cedar Grove. The directors for the afternoon were Messrs. Leonard Culp Glover Smith, Chester Maddox, Harrison Hayes, Misses Francis Lowery, Claudie and Neacie Smith.

One duet was sung by Messrs. F. E. Mastin and Glover Smith. One ladies quartet was sung by Misses Francis Lowery, Lillie, Neacie and Claudie Smith. Also one male quartet sung by Messrs. Glover Smith, Leonard Culp, Alphus and D. W. Ward.

The organists for the afternoon were Misses Bonnie Littlejohn, Lillie Smith and Marietta Callins. We were glad to have the visitors with us and hope they will come again. We use Ganus and Showalter books, and invite everybody to come and sing with us every first and third Sunday afternoon.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Rev. B. Lawrence filled his regular appointment here last Saturday and Sunday.

Our singing society met here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There were several visitors present whom we were very glad to have with us. Directors for the afternoon were: E. L. Glasscock, T. J. Maddox, Herlie Mims, Gorden Sorrell, Gresham Lowery, Jasper Oaks, Akins Collins; organists were Misses Genie Collins and Mattie Mims. Our society meets next Sunday afternoon at Oak Hill.

On last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Miss Antionette Gore entertained a large number of the young people at a party given at her home.

Misses Nettie Lou Graham from Clanton, Lucile Mims from Jemison and Antionette Gore spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mattie Mims.

Miss Genie Collins dined Sunday with Miss Irene Benson.

Miss Inez Hays spent Sunday with Miss Hazel Littleton.

Misses Mayme Walker and Jewell Bean were the guests of Miss Estelle Benson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Pate of Thorsby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mims.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hayes were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Murrah Sunday.

Road Work to Progress Throughout the County

New System Adopted by Commissioners is Proving to be Means of Doing Good Road Work.

Although the new road law of Chilton county has been in force only a few weeks, some mighty good work is already being done on some of the roads of the county. Of course the overseers have not been able as yet to work anything like all the bad places, but an effort is being made as hastily as possible to place the mail routes and main roads in passable condition and after this the work will be carried to the other roads. It is the intention of the Commissioners to try not to do a great deal of work on the roads until the people are finished laying by their crops. This is done in order that the farmers may be interfered with as little as possible while they are so busy in their fields.

The main and most admirable feature of the new road law is the fact that the money collected in each precinct will be used right on the roads of that particular beat. Besides the money received from the road fees of those who choose to pay instead of work, the county has appropriated a total of $10,000 from the county funds to apply on these precincts. This money will be applied to each beat according to the road mileage of the particular beats and ranges in amounts of from $450 to $600. This money, in connection with that paid in from each beat will be paid to men who live right on the roads where the work is being done who will be hired by the day to work the roads. No contracts will be let to people who live out of the beats and probably out of the county, but the money will be put back right where it was paid out from. The commissioners believe in keeping the money at home, which is a mighty good plan. Under this system, after the roads have been built, the people will have the roads and the money too. This is much better than letting the work out by contract and letting the contractor get the money and carry it away with him. And too, this money is to be used strictly on the country roads, as the highways will be kept up by the county with a different fund altogether.

The county has had for some time three Nash trucks doing road work, and to these has been added one five-ton Hilt caterpillar tractor, together with sufficient scrapes to go with it. This tractor has the reputation of being a mighty good road working machine, and it will be put to work within the next few days. These trucks and tractor will be used on the highways of the county and will also do work on the other roads of the county where the stumps and rocks have been removed so they can work. The work done by these tractors will be paid for out of the county funds and will not interfere with the road fee money and the $10,000 appropriated for precinct road work.

Another phase of the new law worthy of mention is the rain law, which prohibits lumber wagons and trucks hauling over the roads of the county for a certain period of time after a rain. Some opposed this law

IN REGARD TO COTTON MILL FOR CLANTON

Clanton, Ala., March 24, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to say a few words through your valuable paper in regard to a deep subject, one that has been under discussion for some time through the press, but discussions seem to be all there is to it. They don't seem to maetrialize into the object under discussion, that object being a cotton mill.

I am sure every citizen of Chilton county, especially those around Clanton, realizes the valuable asset a cotton mill would be to Clanton. I believe I'll venture to suggest that it would be more than an asset—it would be the making of Chilton county, financially speaking.

Being a Chiltonian myself, naturally I am interested in the things she does and aspires to do, and a brief five months spent in another county (Elmore), opened my eyes to many things. And although I just "thought about them"—O yes, keeping them in mind till circumstances brought me back to Chilton where I could see you all and have a real heart to heart talk, I feel a deeper impression, a deeper concern, a more urgent desire to offer a few weak suggestions that would stand out as strong points if they are given any consideration at all.

Being a resident of Tallassee for a short time—a town that, doubtless would never have been thought of if the cotton mill there hadn't first presented the opportunity, or made possible its becoming a town—gave me a better insight into the real thing of every business relationship than I should ever have dreamed had I not been allowed or circumstanced to learn those things by observation and experience.

Employed as I was, in a general merchandise store, brought me into close contact with the mills' employees as well as the other business people of the town, and realizing—considering, as it were, the size of both towns, setting them up side by side, in a business way, comparing their prospects, and Clanton having the better advantages, the greater resources, Tallassee is getting the cream, and just because she's got a cotton mill to her credit.

I didn't have to rest my eyes upon the four walls of one store to have them opened to the fact of business either. I could see it everywhere around me, even the air smelled of it.

Indeed, Tallassee has her dull days the same as any other town, but if you see her unusually dull, and the merchants wearing long faces, you can pretty well ascertain the cause if you happen to learn that the mill is failing to run regularly, or going on shorter hours causing lighter purses, but even then she is getting a better trade, according to size, than Clanton.

Facts summed up and analyzed, we realize that not only is a cotton mill a help to the merchant, but to the farmer as well.

ANOTHER SEEKS NOMINATION FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

W. J., probably more commonly known as Bill Easterling, of Clanton Route 1, has entered his announcement for County Commissioner from the Clanton District. Bill is a farmer who lives just off the Higgins Ferry Road out about four miles from town.

Mr. Easterling has been engaged in business a time or two in Clanton, he having run a meat market, and was also in business with Andrew Miner a while, the firm being known as Miner & Easterling. Bill comes out very highly solicited and recommended by a number of his home people. No doubt, if nominated and elected, he will make us a good commissioner.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER

Those in the county who have not registered should bear in mind that this week is the last chance you will have this year in which to qualify. The Board of Registrars are now at the court house and will be here until about 5:00 o'clock Saturday. Remember, this is your last chance to registtr this year.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETINGS

On next Sunday the Unity Baptist Association will hold two Fifth Sunday meetings, one at Big Springs and the other at Clanton, and the Chilton County Association will hold one at New Salem, near Thursby. Good heavy programs with prominent speakers have been arranged for all three of these meetings, and all the Baptist churches of the two associations are urged to co-operate in making them a glorious success.

ALL DAY SINGING, OAK GROVE

There will be an all day singing at Oak Grove the third Sunday in April. Everybody is invited to come, bring dinner and books—both Vaughan and Showalter. All teachers are especially invited, as we are looking for a teacher for this summer. Don't forget the date. 3t

GOOD ROADS ERA IS DAWNING IN ALABAMA STATES MR. ROGERS

Ninety Per Cent of County Seats to Be Joined During Brandon's Term, Claim.

At least 90 per cent of the county seats in Alabama will be connected with each other by good roads by the end of the Brandon administration, if present plans mature, according to a statement Saturday by Senator John A. Rogers, chairman of the state highway commission, and J. Freeman Suttle, commissioner of maintenance. Alabama will have by that time one of the best systems of highways of any state in the South as compared with the 600 miles of state highways now in use and the 700 miles under construction, they said.

Suggesions that all roads built in Alabama be of concrete were condemned by the commission on the grounds that it was impractical and was made for purposes other than of the public welfare. According to the statement issued, if all the highways were of concrete, 41 years would be required to complete the program now being used. The total income of the state highway department is approximately $2,380,000 per year, the statement added, and the cost of the construction of a mile of concrete highway is over $37,000.

Under the road program for 1924, outlined by Senator Rogers in recent statements to the press, roads will be started in all counties not boasting good roads at the present time, and the second unit will be started in 40 counties.

The statement also stated that if the $25,000,000 bond issue was sold, that Alabama would come to the front rapidly in good roads and many tourists now traveling through other states would come through Alabama.

An attempt is being made by the Birmingham morning newspaper referred to, the statement adds, to destroy the character of certain officials of the state highway department because they are not willing to ally themselves with the concrete interests, who, the statement charges, control the Birmingham morning newspaper. Highway commissions in other states have been destroyed by the ruthless power of this concrete trust, the statement concludes, but the Alabama Highway Commission intends to save itself and the people at the same time.

NEXT SUNDAY "GO TO CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY"

Govenor W. W. Brandon has issued a State-wide proclamation proclaiming next Sunday, March 30 as Go to Church and Sunday School Day. This proclamation applies not only to towns and cities but to the rural districts as well. Everybody who possibly can is urged to go to Sunday School Sunday and remain for preaching.

CHILTON COUNTY RECEIVES 5-TON CATERPILLAR TRACTOR

The big 5-ton Holt caterpillar tractor which the county commissioners bought a few days ago, arrived in Clanton Monday. A man was sent here to erect the tractor and get it in working shape. The machine was carried out Tuesday morning and tried out. So far, it has proven very satisfactory, and it is believed it will be by far the best road-working machine the county has ever had.

DR. GWALTNEY TO PREACH

Dr. L. L. Gwaltney, editor of The Alabama Baptist, who will be one of the principal speakers in the Fifth Sunday meeting in Clanton next Sunday, will preach at the Clanton Baptist Church next Sunday night. Dr. Gwaltney is a fine lecturer as well as an inspired preacher, and all who can are urged to come out and hear him.

GRADING SIDE WALKS

The Town of Clanton has begun the grading of the side walks along Second Avenue. They began Monday morning at the Cemetery and are working toward the court house. As soon as the grading is done cement side walks will be built. The Town is doing the work and the cost will be assessed against the owners of the property along which the improvements are being made. A competent engineer is in charge of the work.

Mr. Erlie Ray of Jemison was in Clanton attending court the first of this week.

Mr. Joe P. Gore left Tuesday morning in his Ford for Selma, where he pill spend a couple of weeks with his daughter, Mrs. T. L. Thompson.

Messrs. Jos. E. and B. L. Cobb of Jemison, Route 3, were in Clanton attending court the first of this week.

Coolidge Leads In the Race For Republican Nomination

CATCHES HAWKS AND OWLS AND THINGS IN STEEL TRAPS

Uncle Daniel Wyatt, pho lives just across the creek from town, tells us an interesting tale about him catching hawks, owls, etc., in steel traps.

About three months ago, after seeing something in the paper about a fellow catching hawks in steel traps, Uncle Daniel decided he would try it. He came to town and bought him half a dozen traps, and took them and set them down close to the creek in his pasture where the mud and water covered the ground and where there were lots of frogs and tadpoles. So, when the fowls come there to catch the frogs and tadpoles, they walk into his traps and he catches them. Up to the present time he has caught a total of 14 hawks, 11 owls and 1 yellow hammer. Uncle Daniel says it is great fun to set his traps and get out behind a big tree and watch the hawks and owls get into them. He has seen his traps catch several this way. We just wonder what he is going to be catching next.

MRS. LOIS SIMS ENTERS RACE FOR CO. TREASURER

The sixth name on the list of candidates for county treasurer is that of Mrs. Lois Sims of Jemison. Mrs. Sims is the daughter of that sterling old Republican citizen, Mr. T. J. Hubbard. It will be remembered that Mr. Hubbard served this county as tax collector for three terms preceding Mr. J. N. Dennis. A better man than Mrs. Sims' father and a more loyal worker for the Republican party could hardly be found within the bounds of Chilton county.

However, Mrs. Sims is not making the race altogether on the good name and record of her father. She is a splendid young lady and is held with the highest esteem and respect by the hosts of people around Jemison who know her. Mrs. Sims is a very loyal Republican and is thoroughly qualified to attend to the duties of the office for which she asks. She is a deserving young lady and assures the voters of the county that she will appreciate their support in the coming primary.

METHODISTS WILL HOLD SERVICE IN NEW CHURCH

The new Methodist Church building in Clanton has been sufficiently completed that Sunday School and church will be held in the basement next Sunday. Not much work has been done on the building for the past few months on account of the winter weather, but it is hoped that it will be completed this summer. This building will be a fine one when it is cmmpleted. The Methodist of Clanton are indeed proud to claim as their own such a magnificent house of worship.

W. H. Robinson, candidate for Commissioner from the Fourth District was in Clanton Monday shaking hands with the attendants at Circuit Court. We persume that he talked some in regard to his candidacy, also.

The political pot keeps boiling, but, so far as the Democrats are concerned, the winds are so variable that the escaping steam does not blow in any one general direction.

With the Republicans, it is different. The further the Coolidge band wagon rolls the more crowded it becomes. Soon it would appear to be all over but the shouting so far as the Republican nomination is concerned. Senator Johnson is making a brave but losing fight. There is not even a mirage in the desert of his disappointment.

No matter how he may explain this defeat in North Dakota, the fact remains that Senator Hiram Johnson lost a progressive or radical state to the conservative now in the White House, and one trouble spot in the Coolidge campaign has been obliterated. The Coolidge campaign managers are predicting a "walk in" for the rest of the way to the Cleveland convention.

The McAdoo supporters for the Democratic nomination, cast down a week before by the unsatisfactory results of the primary in Missouri, are elated now over the returns from Georgia.

Yet Georgia is not a pivotal state in the McAdoo campaign. It was important to the former secretary of the treasury that he carry the state. Of that there can be no doubt. Mr. McAdoo himself realized it and that is why he traveled all the way across the country to spend the last four or five days of the primary campaign in the Empire State of the South. Something was needed to give the McAdoo boom a further boost, something to offset the former McAdoo association with the Doheny oil interests in Mexico; something to offset Missouri. If Georgia had gone against Mr. McAdoo it would have been disastrous. Therefore, the victory was important, but it leaves Mr. McAdoo with the great bulk of his work still ahead of him. The pivotal states are yet to come and the way to the nomination is a long and hard one.

Gov. Al Smith, of New York, is as shy as a young gazelle when anyone mentions his name for the presidency. There is no doubt, however, that he will have the entire state delegation back of him when the Democratic convention begins right in his own front yard. From that point on no one knows just what is going to happen to the Smith idea. It is certain that Governor Smith is not worrying his head over the matter and is willing to let nature take its course all by itself. He will not permit the formation of an organization in his behalf.

Former Governor Cox, of Ohio, has thus far limited the use of his name to his own state. His permission to that extent has been hailed in Ohio with great enthuiasm and more may develop from it than now appears upon the surface.

Mr. Monroe Ramsey of Plantersville was in Clanton Tuesday attending to some business. Mr. Ramsey is a saw mill and lumber man.

WEST CHILTON

March is a record month this time. So cold and backward; but balmy spring will be here, annual reminder of man's ultimate restitution.

Pneumonia, colds and whooping cough have been prevalent here.

George W. Gothard has recently passed away, another good man gone. He will be missed.

Farmer Crumpton, a young man, died with pneumonia. We sympathize with his parents.

Little Fravis Crumpton, about 8 years old, died of pneumonia. His sorrowing parents have our sympathy.

H. H. Armtrong visited in Siluria Friday.

Miss Talor Atchison was carried to Birmingham for treatment of head trouble recently. She has recovered.

Mrs. Belle Smith carried her little girl to Jemison Sunday for treatment for tonsilitis.

Mr. McGee, originally of Oakley, has moved to the farm of Mr. C. G. Glass, one of our popular merchants.

We have a fine lot or candidates out in this quiet campaign. We know a portion of them—Mr. Glenn, apparently one of the truest men we even met; Mr. Wilkins, another good man; Mr. Vinson has been tried and made good; Mr. Walker is reported O.K., Mr. Robinson is reported worthy. We do not know the others—they are doubtless true.

Messrs. Littlejohn, Bice and Vinson would doubtless either fill the office nicely, with Miss Genie Collins equal to the best.

Do not know the candidates for the Educational Board. But this is important. We need men to elevate and purify the cause of education, so much needed, men who will respect the wishes of their constituents.

Give us teachers who will countenance nothing but what is elevating and conducive to real manhood and real womanhood from the opening of the school to the concert inclusive.

Some of the candidates will be defeated. Any candidate who cannot bear defeat gracefully had better never enter the race.

When the people have spoken let all, with the defeated candidates in the lead, rally to the nominee from the lowest to that wise and great American, Calvin Coolidge.

Let loyalty and full respect to the people's wishes be our slogan.

"Papoose Golf"

MANY queer present day fads had their origin over on the Pacific coast—chiefly, in or around Los Angeles, Calif. The latest reports from that city tell us of a new stunt for women golf enthusiasts—er, the married ones with children, of course. It has been dubbed "Papoose Golf" and above is a picture of the young mother who started the fad—Mrs. F. Tennyson.

The picture is self-explanatory. It shows there's no further need for mothers to turn in "terrible scores" because of worry over their youngsters at home. They can simply take the little tots along, parking them in their golf bags to be conveniently carried over one shoulder. Simple enough, isn't it?

Of course, mothers should be careful not to lay the golf bag on the ground absent-mindedly. The youngster might decide to make a round of the course on its hands and knees—and, naturally, an enthusiastic mother golfer wouldn't find much enjoyment trotting around perfectly good golf links looking for her offspring.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a very good attendance. The society was called to order at 2 o'clock with prayer by Rev. Falkner. Those who directed were E. H. Foshee, L. R. Cobb, Gordon Sorrell, A. H. Glasscock, Vester Campbell and E. L. Glasscock. Organists, Misses Emma Campbell, Flossie Cobb, Mattie Mims and Genie Collins.

The singing was good and everyone seemed to be willing and anxious to do their part in making it the great success that it was. We were so interested that the storm of wind and rain that came upon us about 3:00 o'clock did not disturb us but a very short time, and the class sung faithfully until 4:00 o'clock. Then we were dismissed with prayer by Bro. McHurren.

The Oak Grove class and other visitors were with us and helped wonderfully, which we appreciate very much. We invite them and all others to come and take part with us in these song services at all times and places. Come, we are always glad to have you with us. We also invite the Cooper quartet to visit us as often as possible.

SARDIS NOTES

Health of this place is very good at the present, and of course, we are glad to state that.

Come on young folks and let's make our Sunday School the very best. It is doing nicely already, but let us make it better. We hope soon to be able to say that we have 100 on roll.

Miss Eva Klinner spent last Saturday night with her most charming cousin, Miss Anthel Ratliff.

The box supper at Antioch was very fine Saturday night. There were 23 boxes sold and a nice sum was raised to help finish paying for their new organ. There was also a cake for the prettiest girl. The two girls which were put up were Misses Beulah Chambers and Era Klinner, and Miss Chambers had the pleasure of cutting and eating the cake.

A large number of young folks from this place attended the box supper at Antioch.

Messrs. Garland Foshee and Cyrus Hayes motored to Clanton Saturday.

The singing at Antioch Sunday afternoon was good and a large crowd was present.

Mr. Harmon Broadhead of this place has purchased himself a grist mill, house and lot at West End, Clanton.

Mr. John Fox of Fairview sold the boxes for us Saturday night. Come on Mr. Fox, you are doing fine. You will soon be considered an expert auctioneer.

Mr. Verge Christian of this place left same few days ago for Selma where he will remain for some time as he is working there now.

Miss Addie Christian spent Saturday night with Miss Bernice Broadhead.

Miss Bernice Broadhead is planning on going to Birmingham soon. We are wishing her a grand time.

LOMAX NEWS

Mr. J. C. Price, who is working at Gold Hill spent the latter part of last week with his family here, returning Sunday.

Messrs. McCord, Frank Noah and Clifford Bolan of Leeds were visiting in Lomax recently.

Mr. N. G. Ward of Liberty Hill community was in Lomax Saturday and Sunday visiting relatives. He also attended preaching services at New Harmony.

Miss Myrtle White of near Thorsby spent Saturday night with Misses Viluna and Alta Mae Shirley.

Misses Maries Traywick and Hattie Mae Jackson dined with Miss Estelle Jackson Sunday.

Mrs. Hollie Price and children spent Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Price.

Mr. Enoch Traywick and family spent Sunday with Mr. Arthur Traywick and family.

Will close, with best wishes to The Union-Banner and its many readers.

PINE DALE

Our school at this place closed Friday. We were all sorry to see our teachers leave.

Saturday night and Sunday were our preaching days, and large crowds attended and heard two excellent sermons by our pastor, Rev. J. M. Dubose.

Miss Tressie Mae Cleckler spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Leila Ellison.

Miss Lilla Heflin dined with Miss Lishie Heflin Sunday.

Miss Martha Rhodes dined with Miss Leila Ellison Sunday.

Mrs. Virbie Miner took dinner with Mrs. Florence Rhodes Sunday.

Miss Marion and Nora Bell Popwell visited Pine Dale Sunday night.

Mr. Albert Thompson, Mr. Jim Driver and Mr. Bernard Headley motored to Cane Creek Sunday a.m.

Mr. J. M. Thompson and family went to Lomax Sunday afternoon.

We have prayer meeting every Sunday night and every Wednesday night. Everybody is invited to come.

The biggest and best line of goods we have ever had, on One-Cent Sale this week,—Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Upchurch's.

ADVERTISING IN THE RIGHT WAY PAYS EVERY TIME

In the issue of March 13 The Union-Banner carried a nice clothing adv. for a Clanton merchant. A few days after the paper went out one of our readers from another hustling town in the county came to Clanton and went to this man's store. He told the storekeeper that one of his home merchants carried the same brand of clothing that he advertised but that he had come to Clanton to buy his suit just because he saw the adv. in the Banner and felt that the Clanton merchant would probably be better able to fit him. Another man from this same town later came to the Clanton merchant and bought another of these suits on the strength of the adv. in The Union-Banner.

This is only one of the many similar instances which we hear of every day. And yet, some of our merchants lament over the assumption that "business is too dull to advertise." How these merchants get this idea we cannot understand. Business might possibly get so good that advertising would be unnecessary, but it could never get so dull that advertising in the right way would not pay; in fact the duller a merchant's business is, the more he needs to advertise. If he is already getting enough business, what is the use to try to get more? The time a business needs to boost its trade is when its trade is at a low ebb. To wait till business is good to advertise is just like waiting until your neighbor brings you a mess of fresh meat and then you go out and try to buy you a mess after you do not need it. The time to advertise is when you want more business. And the place to advertise is in a newspaper that all the people read, take for instance, The Union-Banner.

6. Reading, "The House by the Road," Miss Carter.

THREE UNIQUE PRESENTS PRESENTED THE BANNER

On last Monday morning, when the Banner force opened up the office, we found that some time between that and when we closed up Saturday night some unexpected visitor had, without opening a door or raising a window or breaking in, entered our building and left with us three nice little presents, all very much alike. And just see if you can guess what they were. Our friends very often bring us a mess of turnips or a nice water melon or some kind of a freak of nature, but this time is was neither of these. Well we knew you could not guess it, so we will just tell you. It was three beautiful, soft, fluffy little baby kittens. We would not take anything for these little feline babies, and we expect in a week or so to have in them three of the spryest little pets you most ever saw. This uninvited and unexpected visitor, a big old tabby, was very kind and generous to us.

Mr. William Miner of near the Poor House was in Clanton Monday. He said that the storm Sunday afternoon was rather fierce up around him however, no real damage was done.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

There is a destiny that makes us brothers.
None goes his way alone.
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own.
I care not what his temples or his creeds,
One thing holds form and fast—
That into his fateful heap of days and deeds
The soul of man is cast.

Missionary Society Study Class.

The Mission Study on Building with India has created quite a bit of enthusiasm in the missionary society of the Methodist church, and was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Barney Roberts. There was a large attendance and 4 new members added to the class roll. The new members were Mrs. Osmond Middleton, Mrs. Katie Hayes, Mrs. Hosey and Miss Seawright. Several interesting talks and papers were given. After the program a brief business session was held. The hostess served a tempting salad plate. The home was made bright with baskets of yellow jonquils. The date for the Easter bazaar was named for April 10th and plans were made for dinner to be served today, Thursday, at the court house.

Mrs. Johnson Hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson entertained her card club on Wednesday afternoon at her home when the game was especially interesting. The reception rooms were given an added touch of beauty with vases of fragrant carnations and hyacinths of pink coloring. The score prize was awarded to Mrs. N. S. Johnson, being a pretty Japanese tray with a hand made tray cloth. This delightful affair was concluded with a lovely salad plate. Only club members, with Mrs. Guy Roberts and Mrs. Eric Hart substitutes, were present. Mrs. Willis Lyman will be hostess this week.

Mr. J. D. Norman of Montgomery was attending court here Tuesday.

Mr. Hub Davis from the University was home for the week end.

Mr. John M. Bridges from Bessemer spent Sunday with his family here.

Mrs. T. C. McSwain was a visitor to Birmingham last week.

Mrs. Robert Williams spent Tuesday in Montgomery.

Mr. F. M. Dobson was a visitor to our city last week.

Mr. Clarence Evans spent a few days with his mother here last week.

Mrs. D. Y. Johnston spent a couple of days in Birmingham last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sartor visited relatives in Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. Reynolds and Mrs. Percy Pitts were visitors to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. Cecil Armstrong from Cherokee Bluffs spent the week end in Clanton.

Mrs. Higgins and daughter, Frances, were visiorst to Birmingham on Saturday.

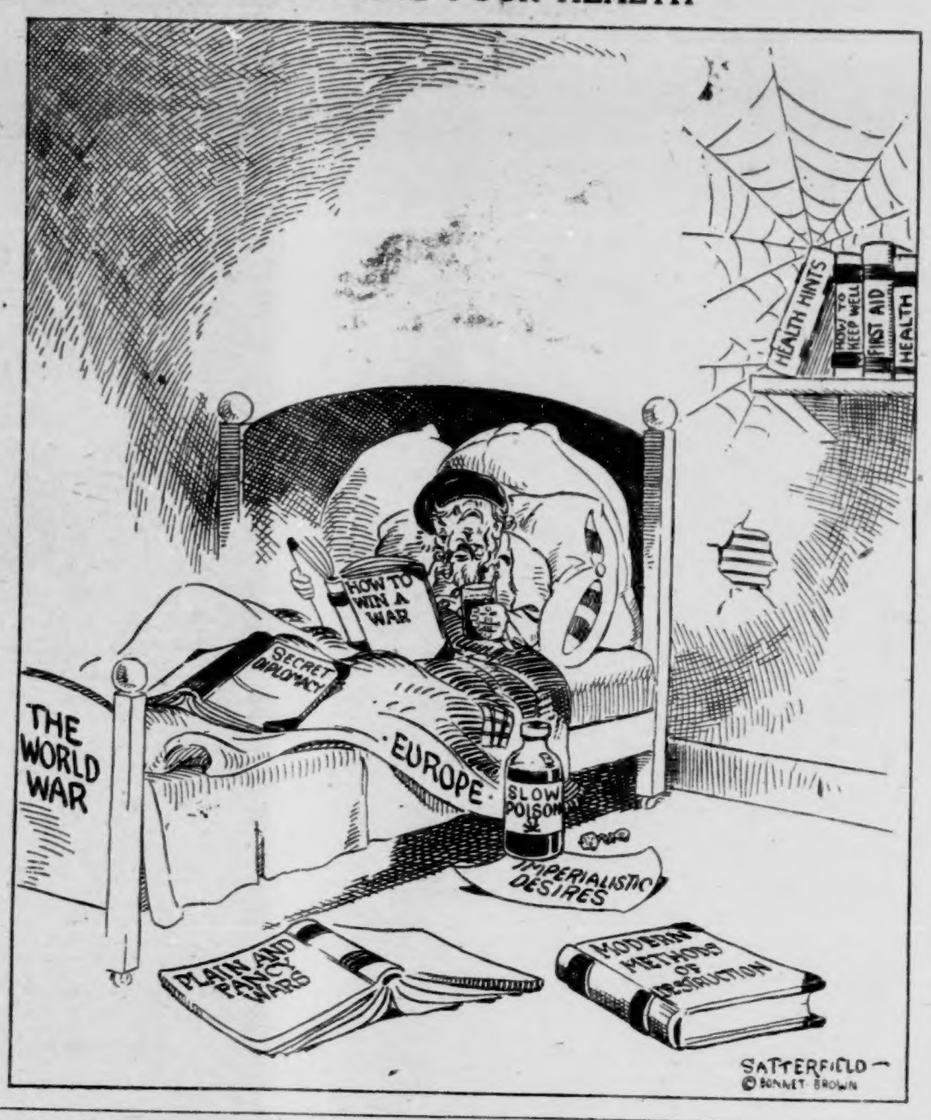
Sunday, March 30th has been designated by the Governor of Alabama as "Go to Church Day." The Methodist people are especially delighted to announce that on that day they will hold their first service in the basement of their new quarters. Everybody is invited to come.

ENJOYING POOR HEALTH



STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

A new bulletin from Alabama college at Montevallo, has just come from the press giving the announcements for the extension division of this division. The extension service was begun in the session of 1922-23 with five groups of teachers. This year there were eleven groups in six counties, all under the direction of Dr. H. W. James, director of Extension. Courses of study are offered in various subjects for teachers.

Underwood supporters at Florence are particularly pleased with the result of the election in Colbert, Lauderdale, Franklin, Lawrence and Limestone counties, all of which are contiguous to the Muscle Shoals district. Substantial majorities in each of these counties indicate that the people in this section understand and appreciate the fact that Senator Underwood is and always has been their strongest friend.

Charging that religious prejudice and the presence of some members of a secret order at the trial of the case influenced the $4,000 verdict given Miss Nellie Hamilton in her suit for damages aganst the Gadsden General hospital (Catholic) attorneys for the latter argued a motion to set aside the finding of the jury as excessive and not warranted by the evidence.

The state highway commission has voted to purchase two "lodometers." The lodometer is a device to ascertain the weight of a truck, two of the machines being placed under the wheels and "jacking up" the truck by which means the weight is ascertained. The lodometers will be used to prevent overloading on state highways.

The state highway commission has voted to pave a short stretch of road in the corporate limits of Florala linking the Opp-Florala highway with the Florida road system, provided federal cooperation could be secured. A further proviso was made that the town of Florala should take care of the excess over one mile in length of the road stretch sought to be paved.

Immediate building of a $25,000 annex may be had for the Bessemer post office, if a tentative proposal to this effect is accepted by the treasury department. There has been considerable agitation during the past few months favoring the annex, which has led to an investigation which was recently made by the treasury department.

Senator Wheeler, or Montana, says that Doheny financed a revolution in Mexico. Doheny says he loaned money to the Mexican Government to forestall a revolution. Now we shall be interested in learning who is a liar.

The Teapot Dome investigators in Congress have carried the oil investigations into such insignificant deatils that have absolutely no bearing on the matter in question that the whole affair is becoming a monumental joke. It is true that Mr. Fall fell from grace when he accepted that 100,000 bones from Doheny in regard to the leasing of Teapot Dome, but the Democrats are trying to tie up every Republican official in Washington with the scandal. The truth of the matter is that the actual leasing of the government's oil fields to individual refineries was no illegal process at all and we believe will eventually be proved a benefit to the government instead of such a tremendous scandal. The right will eventually come out.

The McAdoo promoters are asking for help and passing the hat for dollar subscriptions. That is a far cry from $100,000 fees and the appeal is probably as hypocritical as the principal for which it is made. There is a certain class of voters which would give much more than one dollar, individually, to see the quitting ex-Secretary made President. Happily that class has been reduced to a pitiful minority by recent disclosures.

There is some talk in Washington to the effect that if Mr. McAdoo can take a hefty enough trading contingent to New York he will have his strength thrown to Ralston, who is generally regarded as the most likely candidate for the Democratic nomination. What would be the quid pro quo? Well, it might be that McAdoo be the vice-presidential nominee. Why? Ralston would be in his 68th year at inauguration, and the cares of the Chief Magistrate are not such as are conducive to longevity.

SHIFT CAREFULLY

The Department of Agriculture does not believe in hysteria in farming. At least it does not under the present administration. After remarking upon the shifting of many farmers from one crop to another because last year's experience was not satisfactory, the Department says in a recent bulletin: "Many wise farmers hesitate to follow the crowd in these continual shiftings. They realize that the difficulties of this period are less to be met by chasing elusive price advantages of the moment than by following the tried and tested system and leaving no stone unturned to improve that system. Efficiency and rigid economy now mean everything, and continual change is a will-o'-the-wisp."

Switching from one line of farming to another means a new capital investment. The more extensive the shift, the more capital required. Moreover, if a grain farmer shifts to live stock or to fruit, he has much to learn and probably a lot of it by costly experience. The purpose of the Department's bulletin is that the shifting should be slight and carefully considered and consistent chiefly of endeavoring to produce as many as possible of the things the farmer will need for himself and family.

CHANGING DRIVERS

TURKEY AND THE HAY

There was once an old lawyer who needed an assistant, so he advertised for applicants to meet him in his office next day. When they were all assembled about his desk he told them a story somewhat as follows: A young man rushed into the house to get a gun with which to shoot a turkey that was sitting on top of the woodpile around the corner of the barn near the house. He got the gun and blazed away, but he was so near a pile of hay that it caught fire, and before it could be put out it had spread to the woodpile and burned it up. From there the flames leaped to the barn and destroyed it with all the horses and cattle that were in it, and had even partially burned the house before the timely arrival of the village fire brigade got the conflagration under control.

All the applicants for the position with the old lawyer thought the story was highly interesting and exciting, but only one of them inquired, "Did he get the turkey?" That man received the appointment.

All of which is respectfully referred to the Senate Oil Committee.

POLE-CAT POLITICS

Democratic gas attacks against the Republican stronghold are to be delivered in waves, or rather clouds. For some months we have read the deluge of rumor, innuendo, and plain libel. Just as the public is tiring of that, the Daugherty Committee gets under way with a choice list of hitherto unknown witnesses filled with hearsay testimony. In anticipation of the time when that proceeding, also, will pall upon the reader, the way is being paved for an investigation into the income tax division of the Treasury Department. The customary special committee of five members has already been appointed, and is busily storing up its ammunition to fire when the proper time arrives. It is just possible that public disgust will have reached such proportions by then that the character assassins will be ready to curb their activities.

The Home, the Family and Social Life

(Part of an address delivered by Dr. C. C. Davison, of the First Church, Decatur, Ala., at Howard College on Founders Day.)

We find two sinister forces undermining our home life. The true home is the strength of our republic. There is love and reverence and respect for things sacred. Home is a spiritual fact. It is an atmosphere. Home life has decayed. The old time fellowship is no more. The home, education and religion are the basis of society. A pastor called recently on twenty families in the evenings. In seven of the twenty, no one was at home. In four of them two elderly people only were in. In three others there were some small children. In no case did he find the entire family at home together.

The theatre, the movie, the dance hall and other attractions have marred and destroyed the holy relationships of life. In these are displayed infidelity, illicit love, robbery, swearing, drinking, and silly, profane, drunken, smoking girls and women while clergymen are jokes and clowns. A result is a disregard for parental authority. Children are pert and flippant and there is small respect for holy and sacred things. There is a widespread neglect of children accompanied with a lack of respect for parents and obedience to them.

Another sign of degeneracy in social life is the reign of the lap-dog instead of the infant. The coming of baby is fraught with great possibilities. It is a great event. The supreme test of civilization is the right estimate of the value of the child. The waste of motherly affection and instinct on dogs, not to speak of the $200,000,000.00 per year expended on them is a sure sign of social degeneracy. Hear the shocking silliness—"Come to its muzzer" and like expressions. A phyaician was called into an apartment of a friend to render some help. He noted a strange odor. The wife lay grief stricken with disheveled hair on the bed. Her pet dog lay dead beside her and when the doctor took it away she shrieked "My baby, my baby." Large apartment houses accommodating 2000 and 3000 people and more, allow no children, while dogs are welcome. Materialistic civilization is conspiring against the child and true home life. Couples with small children are "outcast tenants." There is no place for baby to lay his tiny head.

This sign of social decay is seen too in the realm of fashion. Our women are slaves to fashion. Style is their fetish. Many a woman has surrendered body and soul to be in style. We have seen the changes from the hoop skirt and the bustle, the ten gore skirt with the brush sweeping the sidewalk to the two gore hobble and the transparent skirt. We have seen the leg-o-mutton sleeve and the tight sleeve and we have come to the no sleeve. We have seen the high hat, the low hat and the wide hat and the narrow hat. We have seen the high collar and the low collar and the no collar. Many women are conformed to this world. They are just as much bound to fashion as the ignorant Chinese with her bound feet. The cigarette smoking, cock-tail drinking, pug dog nursing, half dressed, painted woman with her "c" collar and her "f" back is a menace. Viewing such, one man asked another, "Doesn't the Bible say that when Adam and Eve ate the apple they knew they were naked?" "Yes." "Then," he said, "it's time to pass the apples again."

Judge Choquette, of Quebec, says the Birmingham News on January 22, after viewing the film, "Flaming Youth" ordered the film seized and the exhibitor arrested. The chairman of the board of censors who passed the film testified that the girls in the picture dressed no worse than the members of the so-called best society and that the dances were the same as those witnessed in Quebec nightly. Conditions were such that Cardinal Begin forbade modern dancing and extremes in dress and behavior in his diocese. The sex idea is displayed in the theater, the movies, in literature, and in dress. "What is a fellow to do" said a young man. "We can escape the literature but we cannot escape our girls? I am physically clean but they will not let us be mentally clean."

Most nations, except America and a few others, have developed a beautiful, modest, healthful, national costume. Peter speaks of ornaments of a meek and a quiet spirit (I Peter 3:4). Paul says, "Women must adorn themselves with modest apparel (I Tim. 2:9).

My little boy a few days ago said, "Look at the new style." There was a poor girl exhibiting herself on the street with whitewashed and painted face wearing the extreme style in dress.

These modern conditions have developed until ten marriages out of every hundred result in divorce. The courts are kept grinding and this enemy of the home is on the increase.

This tendency to degeneracy is seen too in amusements and recreations. The very names given to modern dances suggest looseness, indecency and immorality. The dance is associated with vices that tear down and destroy the human race. It is in the dance halls that evil men ply their trade of seduction and ruin. Some churches even claim the dance is necessary to hold our young people. These will resent the idea that they are held by pandering to the fleshly side of their natures.

Closely allied to the dance is the theatre and the movie. The modern commercialized theatre has destroyed the drama. Stars are being feaurted less and less. It is the play, the equipment and the music which are advertised now. The plays are "noxious trash." The old time tone is gone. Real artists are dropping out of the business. Rabbi Wise, of New York, writes that, The theatre is the dirtiest business in America." "It is," he said, "a vulgar incarnation of impurity spun about a display of hosiery and underwear. It is moral leprosy. The carnival is a low type where lewd women dance the 'hoochee-koochee' of suggestive physical contortions every half hour for several days."

The theatre and the movie are Sabbath breakers. There are about as many theatres as there are school houses. Twenty million children attend our schools while 60,000,000 people attend the theatre. It is estimated that 100,000,000 people attend the movies each month. In them the children see scenes of immorality and crime, of murder and rapine. Christian people support these base institutions while they undermine the churches, break down the Sabbath and destroy civilization. They have practically destroyed respect for the home, womanhood and the Sabbath. These are the foundations of American civilization.

Next we consider the gambling craze. It is one of our oldest vices. It is born of avarice and nurtured by covetousness and selfishness. It is a losing game. Most of the ex-kings of Wall Street die poor. Many of them today are toiling for their bread. Gambling leads to other vices, unfits for serious duties of life and breaks up many homes. It is associated with drink, drugs and impurity. The gambling den, the saloon, the brothel, and the dance hall are usually connected. It leads to embezzlement, theft, forgery, murder, and suicide. The professional poker player, the negro crap shooter, and the society woman bridge player are all gamblers. Every state in the union prohibits lotteries and games of chance. Some church people use this means however to raise funds. To cure this national disease the fear of God must replace the love of gold. Public sentiment must be aroused. Parental authority must be established, a proper example must be set while honest endeavor must be recognized and rewarded.

One of the alarming tendencies of our time is the growing prevalence of social disease. The appalling vices and the flagrant indecencies of our age are tolerated in a guilty and a shameful silence and through a false modesty. They assail the sanctity of our churches, the purity of our homes, the good order of our state and the life of our nation. Our old enemy—false modesty—is illustrated by the action of two foolish girls in a Western state who clutched the arms of the two young men who were rowing them until a man drowned. They said, "Heavens, we can't take him in, he's naked."

Social disease enacts a terrible toll continually. Efficiency is murdered to the amount of $300,000,000 per year. In Alabama the draft revealed in class A men from Mobile, Montgomery and Birmingham 1,317 and 18 per cent infection respectively. What would have been the condition of classes B, C and D? The state loses 1000 citizens from social disease to one from crime. In the first draft 270,000 men were found unfit for service in the state of New York alone. The health commissioner of that state announced also that five out of eight of the young people and 60 per cent of the men were guilty and diseased. Sixty thousand girls in our land disappear annually and sink into the horrible pit of prostitution. In different cities 94, 96 and 97 per cent of the prostitutes were found infected. Prostitution is an open sewer of infection. "Girls on the quiet" and "charity girls" should be avoided just as carefully.

This physical horror causes 300,000 deaths in the United States annually. From 1914 to 1918 we lost as many from this cause as France did in the World War. These diseases cause most of the blindness in children, much of the insanity, many diseases of the eye, nose and throat, much premature invalidism, a large per cent of the barrenness, and a majority of the pelvic and abdominal operations in our women.

Many causes operate to make this social outrage possible. All restraint of tradition, custom and religion seems broken down Magazines, newspapers, theatres, movies, and the modern dance, together with the liquor traffic are all working together for the downfall of our race. Many girls and women are swept into the whirlpool of vice by the force of economic necessity while some choose it as an easy means of securing luxuries and fine clothing. Many hotels and apartment houses are filled with women who are supported by men from the outside. The Shonts case of New York was a flagrant example. The sacred powers of procreation are prostituted for gain. This illegal business is well organized and run by men for profit.

In Birmingham, Judge Martin said, "The auto is a great menace to morals." Commissioner Cloe said, "We voted out whiskey to save our men, we must vote out the auto to save our womanhood."

We must meet this awful situation. The sacred and vital facts of life must be dealt with frankly and candidly. False modesty and the conspiracy of silence will not remedy the situation. An advanced step was taken by our state when men requesting a marriage license were required to furnish a certificate of good health and freedom from venerial disease. Put the proper value on the health and happiness of the bride and have her family physician furnish the certificate for the groom.—Alabama Baptist.

POOR O

BIG PROBLEMS FACE GROWERS OF COTTON

Unless Improved Methods Are Practiced the South is Sure to Lose Monopoly, Says Ousley.

Auburn, Ala., March 24.—The South is no lonlger sure of holding its monopoly on cotton production for the world. The percentage of the total cotton supply produced in the South is gradually decreasing, and Clarence Ousley, formerly assistant secretary of agriculture, told bankers and farmers in conference here that unless the boll weevil is controlled and cotton produced in a more economical way the South is certain to lose its monopoly.

Mr. Ousley assigned several reasons for this conclusion. He declared that cotton can be produced in the Sudan region of Africa and in Brazil at a labor cost which is less than the cost of weevil control in the South.

In discussing cotton production in Alabama in 1923 Mr. Ousley said: "If you cannot make more to the acre than you made last year you will be better off not to plant cotton. The average production per acre in Alabama in 1923 was only 91 pounds of lint cotton, and it is impossible to make money growing cotton at this rate. There is no way to escape bankruptcy in doing so."

After discussing the pessimistic side Mr. Ousley became optimistic and declared that southern farmers can control the boll weevil if they will only follow the instructions laid down by the agricultural colleges and given to them through the press and by their county demonstration agents. "Alabama farmers can control the boll weevil if they will only follow instructions sent out from Auburn," the speaker declared.

Mr. Ousley went futher. He advised the bankers present not to lend money for cotton production without assurance that boll weevil control methods will be followed. He told them that it is just as safe to lend money on cotton stored in a warehouse without fire protection as it is to lend money for cotton production without assurance of boll weevil control.

TO TEACHERS

The Alabama Educational Association will meet in Montgomery April 3rd, 4th and 5th. Those teachers who attend this meeting will be paid as for time taught.

Reduced rates will be given to and from Montgomery and the certificates for receiving these rates can be procured from me. Also speak to your R. R. agent now so that if he has failed to get a copy of the special tariff allowed this reduced rate he may do so immediately.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,

INFORMATION FROM STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Ala., March 24.—From recent investigations it is now claimed that hookworms are more numerous in sandy soils than in the Black Belt section and efforts are being concentrated on the fight to eliminate them in the sandy sections of the State.

Dallas county, it is pointed out after an exhaustive survey, has no hookworm problem except in the extreme northeastern portion of the county where the soil is of a sandy formation.

Malaria, however, is not confined to any one particular section or soil, but is found to a greater or lesser extent in any section where mosquitoes if a certain variety are permitted to breed. The propagation of malaria depends upon the Anopheles species of the mosquito.

During the past few months a survey has been under way in that portion of Geneva county where the waters of the Chattahocohie River will flood when the hydro electric power plant is completed at Cherokee Bluff for supplying energy to the city of Dothan. This survey is being made for the purpose of determining whether or not the population adjacent to the river is already infected with malaria. Following the completion of this survey, instructions will be given the people there on the best method of successfully fighting malaria.

Health officers, both state and county, are determined to eradicate three diseases from Alabama—Malaria, Typhoid and Hookworm.

O'GWINN—DAVIES

The marriage of Miss Alice Alberta Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Davis, and John Henry O'Gwinn was solemnized on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride in Montgomery. A large number of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was impressively performed by Rev. O. P. Spiegel, pastor of the Central Christian church.

A program of wedding music was rendered on the piano and violin by Miss Pauline Freeling and Sam O'Gwinn who was best man. Mrs. Howard wore a beautiful gown of cocoa flat crepe trimmed with ecru lace. She carried an arm boquet of pink Killarney roses and maiden hair fern. The bride and groom entered together. The bride was beautiful in a gown of sand colored Georgette heavily beaded in cut steel. With this was worn a chic spring hat to correspond. Her boquet was a shower of bride's roses, lillies of the valley and orchids.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. O'Gwinn left for a wedding trip to New Orleans and Florida. On their return they will make their future home in Montgomery.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

What is known as "Plan No. 1" for the development of the port of Mobile, was definitely decided upon and adopted following a conference between the docks commission and Gov W. W. Brandon, who approved the plan. His approval was conditioned upon the commission being able to acquire the property involved at approximately the prices fixed by the board of appraisers, and to complete satisfactory agreements with railroads entering Mobile.

James Sibley, district club agent of the Auburn experiment station is mapping out the work of the ten boys' clubs just organized in Etowah county. They will raise corn, pigs, cotton, cows and poultry, but owing to boll weevil conditions Mr. Sibley states most of them will devote their time to cotton, using Auburn fertilizing methods. It is the purpose to make each demonstration club an object lesson to the farmers of the county and district.

Encouraged by the passage of an amendment by the legislature giving Alabama public service commission right to require railroads to build adequate passenger stations where they do not exist, the city of Attalla filed a petition with the commission asking that body to compel the Southern Alabama Great Southern, Louisville & Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroads to erect an entirely new union station at that place.

The Alabama public service commission has granted the petition of the Union Water company seeking approval of the transfer of all its properties to the Alabama Water company. The holdings involved comprise water works plants and system at Albertville, Russellville, and Boaz and certain franchises, rights and contracts to operate water plants at Hartselle Leeds and Irondale.

Upon recommendation of Dr. John W. Abercrombie, state superintendent of education, the state board of education has appointed Miss Rosa V Strickland, principal of the Powell School, Birmingham, and Mrs. R. L. Faucett, of Prattville, superintendent of education for Autauga County members of the state text book committee, to fill existing vacancies.

The Alabama Water Company agrees to comply with the wishes of the cities of Albany and Decatur in touching improving water pressure for use in case of fires. The Alabama Public Service Commission, states representatives of the city of Albany has given the water company until next August to put the agreement into effect.

Representatives from approximately seven states, as far west as Indiana organized themselves into what will be officially known as the Associated Heirs of the Bibb-Key Estate at the Chamber of Commerce in Birmingham to push their legal claims to holdings valued at approximately $1,000,000,000 in New York City upon which a 99 year lease has expired.

Miss Elizabeth Walker of Andalusia, is to take the difficult leading role in "The Magic Flute," to be presented in Nashville, Tenn., during the May music festival under the direction of Mr. David R. Gebhart, of Peabody College, with whom she has been studying for three years.

Construction and installation of electric generating facilities on the Chattahcochee River at Bartlett's Ferry, Ala., is proposed by the Columbus Electric and Power Company, in a petition for a certificate of convenience and necessity, filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Work has been started this week by the Fairview Methodist church on a new building. The building when completed and furnished, will represent an investment of $40,000.

The O. Henry memorial prize annually awarded for the best short story of the year has been conferred upon a Birmingham writer, Edgar Valentine Smith, assigned city editor of The News.

Sixteen communities in Walker county have organized troops of Boy Scouts in the past year with a total membership of over 560.

Bankers of group No. 1 comprising the north Alabama counties will hold their annual meeting in Sheffield April 7.

J. L. BURNETT ON A CAMPAIGN TOUR

Mr. J. L. Burnett, who is out for commissioner from the Third district, was in Clanton shaking hands with the voters Monday. Mr. Burnett left in the afternoon for Stumps Hills and his old home community, Collins Chapel, where he went to invite folks to vote for him. Mr. Burnett was reared in Collins Chapel community and is related to the Burnetts up there. He is also a first cousin of Will Bean and Dudley Collins. Mr. Burnett moved to his present location in Beat 7 several years ago.

FORD REACHES HIGHEST MARK IN ITS HISTORY

Swinging into its big spring production program, the Ford Motor Company on Wednesday, March 12, reached the highest mark in its history when its domestic assembly plants produced a total of 7,456 cars and trucks.

This record-breaking figure does not include the daily output of 500 cars and trucks for export, nor the production of the Manchester, England, and Ford of Canada plants which manufacture most of their own products.

The new production record is of especial significance as it indicates the enormous demand being made throughout the country for Ford cars and trucks and the company's endeavor to bring its output up to the point where it will attempt to fill all requirements as to avoid repetition of the shortage which existed last spring when thousands of persons were disappointed in not being able to secure delivery of cars.

Messrs. B. L. Cobb and L. A. McGraw of Jemison, Route 3, were among the attendants at court here Monday.

Mr. C. C. Edwards of Jemison, Route 3, was in Clanton Monday. While here he subscribed for The Union-Banner.

Health is Wealth

Health is one of the greatest things your family can possess. It brings happiness and success. But health must be safe-guarded by good wholesome foods that are prepared from the purest ingredients. This is especially true of bakings. If they are not properly raised, we all know that they are not easily digested. Many times when self-rising flour is used in place of good plain flour and dependable baking powder—the results are flat, soggy and heavy foods.

Don't take chances! Use a reliable brand of baking powder and plain flour. Then you will be sure of healthful bakings that are easily digested.

Remember, science has never found anything to take the place of the tried and tested method of using plain flour and good baking powder in preparing bakings. Millions of housewives now know by actual experience that many preparations that are claimed to take their place are worthless and dangerous to health because they fail to leaven. There is no comparison.

Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, is known to be one sure and positive aid to successful bakings that are always pure, sweet and wholesome.

That's the reason its sales are 2½ times as much as any other brand.

BEAUTIFUL ROADS IMPOSSIBLE WITH PRESENT ADV. METHODS

No matter how good the road surface, the scenery cannot be considered enjoyable if interrupted and confused in the eye of the beholder by a succession of vividly painted advertising signs. The movement to beautify highways by elimination of sign advertising gathers force, but meets strenuous resistance from those who contend that a man has the right to rent the land he owns for the erection of a sign, the rent of which will pay his taxes.

Regulation, rather than elimination is the compromise favored by advertising companies which secure sign rights to roadside property and resell the space to advertisers. They contend that the signs can not be eliminated legally but can be regulated as to size, color, distance and beauty.

In this connection, it is interesting to observe that Kansas City, Mo., in preparing for the convention of a hundred thousand Shriners next June, started an anti-sign movement sponsored by the Merchants' Association. Nearly all of its members signed the petition. Many other business men enlisted, and some of the largest and most offensive signs already have been taken down voluntarily. The proposed ordinance may include street clocks, barber poles, news and shoe shine stands, and other sidewalk obstructions.

FARMERS UNION SPEAKINGS

Messrs. W. R. K. Stanford and E. H. Littlejohn of Lawley will speak in the interest of the Farmers Union at Isabella school house Thursday night of this week. They will also speak at the court house in Clanton on next Saturday at 11 o'clock. All the farmers of the county are urged to attend these meetings. Mr. Stanford says that he is making a thorough canvass all over the county in the interest of the Union and co-operation among the farmers.

Mr. T. J. Hubbard and daughter, Mrs. Lois Sims of Jemison were in Clanton attending to business Monday of this week. Mrs. Sims announced for county treasurer while here.

CHILTON HI SWAMPS MARBURY

Chilton Hi of Clanton started the base ball season off with a decisive win over Marbury Hi last Friday afternoon on the former's grounds.

The Chilton Hi boys slapped the offerings of Smith and Alley to all parts of the park, for a total of 13 hits and 13 runs.

The game was too uneven to be called interesting, but there were a few thrills, especially base stealing by the Chilton boys. They stole 9 bases during the game.

Alley was all that Marbury had who did creditable work, although 5 runs were scored off him during the 5 innings he was in the box.

Marbury did not get but 2 hits during the game. Chilton uncovered a good pitcher in "Lefty" Mullins, who started the game, but did not finish on account of the cold weather.

Chilton Hi is out after the State championship and if they are not watched very closely she will run somebody a close race for the honors. They have a pitching staff that would do any high school credit. Mullins, a left hander, Burnett and Wagoner, right handers, compose the pitching staff.

Quite a bit of fun was had just before the game was called, when a foot race was indulged in between Dr. J. P. Hayes and Dr. N. S. Johnson. Dr. Hayes challenged anyone his age for a foot race around the new track inside the ball park, and Dr. Johnson immediately accepted the challenge, and everybody present enjoyed a fair foot race by the two. The runners started off at the count of three by Mr. V. J. Heard, and at the start Dr. Hayes gained on Dr. Johnson until they reached the halfway mark, when Dr. Johnson caught up with him, and it seemed just as Johnson was in the act of passing Hayes he either stepped into a soft place in the newly ploughed track or stumbled and feel, and Hayes kept on his steady gate and won the race.

The following are the results of the ball game:

	Hits	Runs
Clanton	13	13
Marbury	2	0

Batteries, Chilton—Mullins, Burnett, Wagoner and Thompson.

Marbury—Smith, Alley and Simmons.

GEORGE ANDERSON OF SARDIS HERE SATURDAY

Among the esteemed callers at The Union-Banner office last Saturday was Mr. George Anderson of Sardis community. George, although blind, is especially noted for his accomplishments as a singer and organist. He is also very efficient in writing on a typewriter, in fact he was in our office Saturday to get from us some paper to use on his typewriter. George is quite a wonder when it comes to doing things, even under the handicap of possessing no sense of vision.

While in our office George asked us to tell our readers that he was looking mighty good. George was looking good, but what we can't understand is how come him to know it. We are always glad to have him call to see us—or rather to talk with us—because George is a bully good fellow.

Some Prejudices of Ignorance Yet to Be Overcome

From their earliest history, the railroads of this country have been hampered in their development by the prejudices of the uninformed. It is recorded that in 1828 the school board of Lancaster, Ohio, refused to permit the schoolhouse to be used for a discussion as to whether railroads and telegraphs were practical.

"You are welcome to use the schoolhouse to debate all proper questions in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the Word of God about them. If God had designed that his intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of fifteen miles an hour, by steam, He would have clearly foretold it through His holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to Hell."

It is further recorded that the citizens of Frederick, Maryland, actually organized a fund of $10,000 to pay a railroad to keep out of their town.

In spite of such foolish, religious hysteria, superstition and prejudice, this country now enjoys the finest railroad transportation system on the face of the globe.

But, there are still those who, thru ignorance of railroad operation and railroad problems, are deeply prejudiced; and who would hamper further the development of the railroads.

Fact No. 38

Intelligent and right-thinking men and women will not permit their transportation system to be sacrificed on the altar of ignorance and prejudice. Get the facts about the railroad situation.

Haven't You Heard of the New Way to Grow Better Crops?

What Farmers are saying:

"——— best I've ever used."

"Your goods are fine crop-makers."

"My crop this year is far better than ever before."

"I can frankly say I have received the best results, by test, with Royster's."

"I am expecting a fine crop this year, and I give Royster's Fertilizer the credit."

"I will not buy anything else as long as I can get Royster's."

"Every time I use it I make money."

Cured Fertilizer—The Result of Years of Research

For a lifetime Mr. Royster and his large organization of farm experts have searched, tested and toiled to improve fertilizer and thus increase the earnings of farmers.

A Startling Development

One of the most startling discoveries has been the curing of fertilizer. Mr. Royster and his helpers found that after aging in bins for four to six months, fertilizer grew better crops! The various chemical elements combine with one another and the close association of these elements brings about a chemical action which makes every food element in the fertilizer available to the plant, just exactly as it is needed—from seed time to harvest.

Double Milled

After this aging, Royster's Fertilizer is re-milled (to prevent lumping) and then bagged. All this additional work and care certifies the quality of Royster's Fertilizers—and assures you of proper feeding for plants.

Be Sure to get Royster's

The name "Royster's" appears on every bag of Royster's Fertilizer. Look for it. Ask for Royster's Fertilizer by name—and stop guessing about brands.

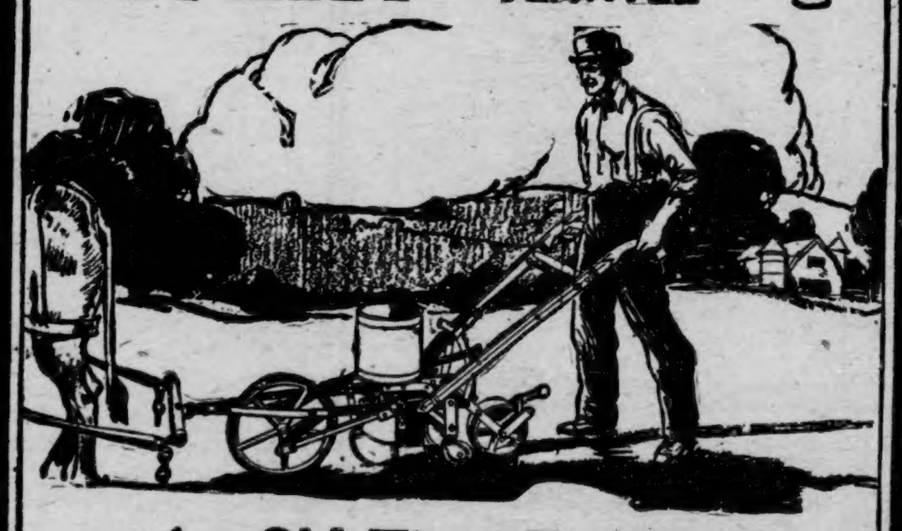
COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

"It requires more than one tree planted for each tree cut to reproduce our vanishing forests," says a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. "Each tree cut is the result not only of its own efforts but also of the assistance and support it received from numerous trees which grew about it during its progress toward maturity. The tall straight pines of the Alabama forests would have been low, limby and scrubby had they not been crowded during the early and middle portions of their lifetime by the other trees which started from the same seed crop. Generally speaking, it requires from one thousand to twelve hundred pine seedlings to fully stock an acre of ground. Most of these young trees drop out of the fight for existence before the timber reaches maturity. Meanwhile, however, before falling out of the race they have fulfilled the important duty of forcing the remaining trees to grow straighter and to shed their lower branches through the process of natural pruning due to crowding, with the result that the surviving trees possess tall straight stems free from limbs in their lower middle portions and contain a large percentage of clear lumber. These are the trees that contribute the greatest value to the forest and furnish the best material for the industries and for home building."

Mr. Lee Robinson of Verbena was in Clanton. He was here in attendance at circuit court.

AVERY SHAWNEE JR. PLANTER



An Old-Time Favorite

THERE are no frills about the Shawnee Jr. It is simple and sturdy. It responds instantly to the operator's every desire. Depth of planting is accurately controlled by a simple movement of the handles, without stopping. In the same way the opener is lifted clear of the ground and planting mechanism is thrown out of gear at the ends of the rows. Perfect control means more and better work with greater economy.

The Shawnee Jr. has no sprockets to clog, no chains to break. A double pitman gives a simple, direct, trouble-free drive. Supplied with the Shawnee Jr. as regular equipment is a wide variety of plates. A standard picker wheel gives continuous force feed. Special picker wheels give intermittent spacing of seeds. Quantity of seed planted is easily and accurately controlled. Special hoppers, duplex and single seed, are supplied as extras. All changes in equipment are easily made without tools.

The Avery Shawnee Jr. abundantly supplies the farmer's needs for a walking planter that does all sorts of planting. We will gladly demonstrate it. Come to our store and see for yourself its many good features.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows; tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

VERSATILE CHICKEN

ABOUT all the hens we ever knew were good for—that is, the barnyard variety, of course—was to gobble up plenty of feed and lay eggs. Now along comes little Richard Garlock of Hollywood, Calif., with evidence—see reproduction above—that he has a chicken that can do something else besides running up a board hill and occasionally contribute one of the chief items of little Richard's breakfast.

It's a "trick hen," Richard tells us. It has been his pet ever since he can remember. Shell' come at his call, climb all over him and do sundry other tricks such as playing "dead" on command, etc. Her name? Oh shucks, we forgot to ask Dick.

FLOYD NEWS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a space in the paper to say a few words about our Sunday School at this place, which is progressing nicely, considering the bad weather we have had this winter.

Last Sunday was our regular preaching day. We had a large attendance present who enjoyed the excellent sermon delivered by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Bailey, Jr. We also had two real good talks on Sunday School, one of them being delivered by the pastor and the other by Bro. Castleberry.

There were two presents given by the teacher of the intermediate class, Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter, to the pupils who had the best yearly attendance during the year 1923. The presents were two Bibles. Those who received the presents were Miss Levada Williams and Mr. Erskin Burkhalter. Miss Williams made 62 per cent attendance; Mr. Burkhalter mare 60 per cent.

We cordially invite every one to come and help us make our Sunday School one of the best in the county.

We sincerely hope the attendance for 1924 will be better than it was in 1923.

I was requested to typewrite this letter.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Mr. D. M. Paxson has been very ill with pneumonia for several days but seems to be making a good fight to overcome the disease. Mrs. Paxson has their daughter, Mrs. C. E. Hall of Birmingham to help her take care of him. Mr. Ben Dilger of Birmingham was a visitor at the Paxson home last Monday.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan entertained last Wednesday afternoon in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Engh. Among the invited guests were Mesdames. Erie Carlson, Herman Peterson, M. J. Soberg, Ernie Hansen, C. R. Foss, J. M. Bosworth, C. H. Howard, John Johnson and daughter, Beatrice.

Mr. Bert Bosworth and son, Marion, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. J. M. Bosworth and family in Thorsby.

Mr. Earl Mead made a one-day visit last week to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mead at their home in Thorsby.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby are pleased to announce the engagement of the world famous "Mrs. Jarley," with an exhibition of wax figures at Bates Hall Saturday evening, April 5th.

The Ladies Guild social will be held at the home of Mrs. Lewis S. Howard on Thursday p.m., March 27, instead of with Mrs. D. M. Paxson as announced last week.

Revs. Each, Butler and Long attended a meeting at Union-Congregational church, seven miles east of Mt. Creek last Sunday night.

Rev. J. M. Graham is expected to occupy the pulpit at the Congregational chucrch next Sunday morning, March 30th.

Arrangements have been made to hold regular quarterly prayer, business and social meetings of the Congregational Church Society on the first Wednesday evening of April, July, October and January. All citizens of Thorsby who are interested in the affairs of this organization are invited to be preesnt.

A Congregational Young Peoples State Conference has been planned to be held in Thorsby April 11, 12 and 13th. Miss Olive Pearson and Rev. Chas F. Fiske are announced as leaders, and it is hoped Rev. Neil McQuarrie will attend at least one day. Young folks of Thorsby and vicinity will be welcome.

We are pleased to note that Mr. C. E. Lucas, who has been ill for two weeks is again on duty at the bank.

If there is no more freezing weather this spring Thorsby will have a record crop of strawberries. It has frequently happened that a large part of the earliest and by far best berries, like the fish that got away, have been destroyed when in full bloom, or heavily set by late frosts or freezes. So far this year the continued cold weather has retarded blooming so much that it is hoped that there will not be enough cold from now on to seriously affect the crop.

Some people seem to be making preparations for cold weather in the future. Thorsby Institute and Howard Brothers each received a car load of coal and Thorsby Hardware Company is receiving orders for another car to come about April 15th.

The base ball season was opened on Thorsby Institute campus on last Tuesday with a game between T. I. and Clanton High, the result being 21 to one in favor of Clanton.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was delightfully entertained at a social on last Saturday evening. They met at the home of Mrs. E. W. Butler. Mrs. Charles A. Johnston of Montgomery, president of the Sixth District of Christian Endeavor had charge of the entertainment for the evening. He had a very interesting St. Patrick's Day program planned, the program as follows: "Chasing the Snakes out of Ireland," "Kissing the Blarney Stone," "An Irish Wedding," "A Green Contest," Match box Race, Game of Questions and Answers, Song, C.E. Benediction. Everyone present had "loads" of fun and all agreed that Mr. Johnston certainly knew how to conduct a social.

"The Personal Touch in Winning Others to Christ" was very vividly brought out last Sunday evening at the Christian Endeavor prayer meeting. A very interesting and inspiring program was carried out under the leadership of Miss Willie Littlejohn. We were very glad to welcome Mr. William Each into onr society as an energetic member. Mr. F. D. Greene was proposed for membership and he will be received into the society as an active member next Sunlay evening. Mr. Charles A. Johnston of Montgomery was a most welcome visitor to our society over the week end. Mr. Johnston is the president of the Christian Endeavor for this district. On Sunday evening at the Christian Endeavor service he gave a very inspiring talk on Christian Endeavor work in Alabama. His talk was well appreciated by the society and a rising vote of thanks was extended to him. Plans are being made for a Christian Endeavor Echo meeting to be held here May 17, of which a full announcement will be made later.

Helen Kellar Literary Society will hold a regular meeting Friday morning, March 28. It will be a Tennyson program. Mrs. Jenkins will act as critic. Biography of Tennyson—Etta Foshee; Friendship of Hallam and Tennyson—Ioia Gerald; Crossing the Bar—Cola Ruffin; Ring out the Old—Boys Quartette; Story of the Knights of King Arthur as used in Idylls of the King—Marcelle Wilder; Lady Clar—Myrtle White; a Solo, Sweet and Low—Claudie Smith.

Saturday night at 7:30 in Bates Hall the boys of the Athletic Association will give an entertainment entitled "The Bachelor Club". We guarantee a dollar's worth of laughs for 25 cents. Dramatis Personae, bachelors: Watson—Codie Bell; Swift—Hollis Pate; Gaywood—Ben Brown; Beach—Ronald Lucas; Brown—Eugene Davenport; Abbott—Spurgeon Kelley; Jones—J. J. White; Foster—Lewis D. Kelley; Tiptoe, suicidal expert—Arnold Littleton. Henpecked husbands: Pinkham—Edmund Lakeman; Penny—Hosie Wood; Thomas—F. D. Greene; Lewis—Palmer Lefstead.

The annual picnic of Thorsby Institute will be held April 1st, if the weather is favorable.

Spurgeon Kelley and Lillian McKee will submit essays to the American Chemical Society in their prize essay contest.

"Ride 'im Cow--er--er--Cowgirl!"

THIS fair young lady—Miss Donn Glover of the western plains—may not know much about bridge whist, afternoon tea dansants or smoking perfumed "fags" BUT—when it comes to riding a "buckin' broncho"—say, she sure wiggles a wicked spur. Look at her, perched up there in the saddle with her horse pawing the air. She's as comfortable in that position as a grandma in a rockin' chair.

Miss Glover started riding horses when she was old enough to be lifted into the saddle. And she's won no end of honors as a skilled questrienne at the many rodeos held in various parts of the west during recent years.

CLEAN GOVERNMENT AND A "SQUARE DEAL" FOR FARMERS

Safety and Prosperity of Nation Rest With Farmer, Who Has Never Failed Nation in Time of Crisis.

(By Gifford Pinchot)

Time for talking is past. Time for action is at hand. And that the time has arrived for American farmers to arise and take hold in governmental affairs is grievously manifest by the exposures now startling the whole country.

We all know that the trouble with agriculture is. We know what must be done to bring about the change. The question is, are we going to do what we must do to bring about the change? We cannot trust to the politicians, the middlemen, exploiters, the busines geniuses, the professional uplift agencies, to relieve the farmers of the nation. They have been running things their way for these many years. The best that they have been able to do is permit bankruptcy and distress to overtake the farmers. So widespread is the condition, it foreshadows grave national disaster in business and industry if not relieved. They have also permitted the development of government conduct which dissipates our national resources, scars the souls of many trusted men and puts graft and treachery of public trust to the forefront in public life. Farmers have never failed the nation in times of crisis. This is a time of crisis. The farmers will not fail now, however difficult their duty.

With this faith in the reliability and responsibility of our farmers, the time has come to do real things. I believe they can be done.

The long years of battling for existence have established these important things as necessary to be done to meet the situation and as I view it, constitute the farmer program:

Government aid, not by lending more money or devising new methods to loan the farmer money to get deeper in debt, but by assisting the farmer to organize in his own organizations and co-operative marketing efforts.

Stop middlemen and exploiters in their cheating of the farmer and profiteering on the consumer.

Stop false and short returns by dealers to the farmers.

Give farmer selling agencies the same discount and financial service accorded other busines and industrial interests.

Give farmer co-operative livestick and other selling agencies as fair and liberal supervision and administration as is accorded old-line agencies and the packers.

Stop the malicious and unfair attacks by dealers and middlemen through misrepresentation and false reports on farmers' co-operative institutions.

Put the farm work of the Government and all of its bureaus and divisions under the administration of farmers and farmer-minded men.

See that the Farm Loan Board is in the hands of sympathetic administrators.

Scrutinize every department of the Government dealing with farm affairs and clean out whatever personnel is found either unacquainted with the farmer problems or unsympathetic with the farmers. (A huge task but mighty important matter).

Prepare to get more farmers elected to positions of trust. There are too few farmers identified with the Government for the good of the industry and the welfare of the nation.

Recognize and encourage farmer organizations built up and directed by the farmers themselves and take their chosen and tried leaders as spokesmen for farmers who know what the farmers need and want. Let the voice of the farmer be raised in high places and let his counsel prevail in matters relating to his problems, and not the voice of those who farm the farmer.

Keep ever in mind that the safety of the nation, the stability of our Government and the welfare of all our people depend upon the American farmer; that his life must be both happy and prosperous if he is to continue his labors and if the children are to be kept on the farm to continue to produce the necessities of life for all and that in order to bring such a condition about, the farmers must come forward at this time and through the exercise of their constructive force, redeem their own industry and aid in cleaning up the regrettable conditions which cloud the honor and the integrity of many of our directing forces of government.

In a final word—clean government, preservation of our national resources for the benefit of all our people, and the restoration of farm life to happiness and prosperity is now the grave problem of the farmers' of America.

POOR O

PLETCHER NEWS

We were glad to see so many out at church Sunday but sorry to say the preacher did not come.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Houlditch and children from Billingsley dined with Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abbott spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams.

We were all surprised to hear that Miss Louise Caldwell got married.

Messrs. Leonard Culp and J. Foshee spent Friday night at the home of Mr. G. B. Williams.

Misses Ruth and Jewell Abbott, Sudie Keen and Mollie Bell Ouslay dined with Miss Gladys Williams on last Sunday.

Messrs. Kent Abbott and Jimmie Atchison from Autaugaville visited relatives here this week.

Mr. R. L. Weaver and daughter, Roberta, Mr. Mitchell Gray and Miss Ruth Williams visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams Sunday. Also a truck load from Fairview was there.

The singing at Antioch Sunday afternoon was a great success. The house was more than full. We had several songs and still about half of the directors were not used. We are looking for the Antioch class to visit the singing at Pilgrim the first Sunday afternoon and anyone else who wishes to.

ALL DAY SINGING

There will be an all day singing at Bethel Church on next Sunday March 30th. Everybody is invited to come and bring their old time song books and a well filled basket.

Yours truly,
A. T. DAVIS.

Backache on the Farm

The farmer's wife who bears and rears children, does her own housework, keeps chickens and has other outside work to do, needs a sound back to carry her burden of toil. So does the farmer, who has to work early and late, and to do much bending and lifting.

Unfortunately, it is a fact that more farm men and women than other people suffer with lame or aching backs, and it is a trouble that allows hardly a moment's peace, day or night.

Chronic backache is very often due to weak kidneys and for kidney trouble, Dr. Pierce has worked out a new and special remedy, "An-uric." Ask your druggist for it.

"An-uric," by increasing the flow of the urine, helps the kidneys to flush out of the system the uric poisons that cause the damage to the kidneys and bladder, the aching back, swollen joints and many aches and pains that are ordinarily called rheumatism.

"HUMAN SKYSCRAPER"

OVER in Los Angeles, Cal., there's a fellow who goes around "looking down" on his fellow man. Not that he has anything against the world in general, but nature has seen to it that he should tower above everybody else. And he does. His height is 8 ft., 9 1-4 inches, his weight, 303 lbs., and he makes 'em all gasp for breath when he strolls down the street.

His identity? He is John Aasen, a Norwegian lad and—mind you—he's only 23 years of age. If he keeps on growing what will his height be by the time he reaches 50? Figure it out.

In the above reproduction you see him being measured for a suit of clothes. The tailor found the giant so unusually tall that he had to scurry around for a step ladder in order to get the measurements.

And when he jotted down the figures, they tell us, the little tailor felt like putting in a hurry call for Omar the Tentmaker.

BIG CROWD AT SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP SUNDAY

About the largest crowd of people that has ever been at Friendship church was there last Sunday afternoon to attend the singing. As advertised last week, Prof. W. M. Devaughn was there, and besides there were a number of other fine singers from all over the county. This singing, however, was not unlike several others we have attended in that about the time the air got thoroughly saturated with music and everybody got to singing with all the spirit they had, a thunder cloud came up and scared nearly everybody off home. This happened just about one hour after the singing started. Nevertheless, some mighty good singing was done both before and after the flurry.

T. G. Wyatt opened the singing, and after the committee arranged the program, the following singers directed: W. M. Devaughn, Dewey Huett, L. F. Cleckler, S. M. Yates, Gresham Lowery, O. L. Devaughn, O. R. Robinson, Maxie Boswell, J. A. W. Mims. Among the other prominent singers present and who would have been used on the program had the cloud not interfered were: Akins Collins, R. M. Robinson, L. H. Henderson, W. H. Robinson, W. G. Culp, Riley Robinson, G. D. Retherford, Jasper Oaks and George Anderson.

After the class had sung quite a bit, Mr. Lewis Henderson was asked to make a short talk, which he did in his natural style. Mr. Henderson enjoys good singing and he enjoys telling the folks about it. Rev. M. J. Parrish also made a short talk which was throughly enjoyed.

The afternoon was a success as it was, but had the cloud not interfered all indications pointed to the best singing Friendship had had in a long time. It is hoped to try it over again in the near future, when probably the weather will not be so threatening. The society meets every fourth Sunday afternoon.

MRS. MARY PARKER DEAD

Last Sunday morning about 2:00 o'clock occured the death of Mrs. Mary Jane Parker, at the home of Mr. John Harris near Samaria. Mrs. Parker was 69 years old and was the sister of Mr. Silas Kelley of Clanton. Her husband, John Parker, who came with her from Coosa County several years ago, has been dead for some time. The remains were buried at Chestnut Creek Cemetery Monday, Rev. J. D. Hughes conducting the funeral services.

ROAD WORK TO PROGRESS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY

at first but after they have seen it work they admit that it is a mighty good thing. It is a well known fact that the most injury that is done our roads is done while they are wet. It would be best if all traffic could be kept off the roads during and just after rains, but this cannot be done on account of emergencies. The people of our county should give more thought to the care of our roads. You will not venture out in your fileds to plow when the ground is too wet, but most people will ask no odds to load up their wagon or truck and get out on the road when the water is standing and cut it up anywhere from two to fifteen inches deep. Our roads are about the most important things we have, so why should we not try to take care of them? It costs lots of money and work to build roads, and it is to the interest of every citizen of the county to take care of the roads as much so as possible.

There has been some criticism to the new road law, but this is no more than the Commissioners and everybody else expected. We do not suppose there is a law on the statute books that pleases everybody. It may be that the Commissioners have made mistakes in the framing of this law and we are quite sure that they have, but who is it that does not make mistakes? We feel sure that what our commissioners want is to build good roads and t do it at the least expense to the county. They surely have not got it in for any particular person or class of persons in the county. If a person makes it his business to find fault, he can find something wrong with anything he looks at. What we need to do is to take into consideration the good of a thing as well as the bad of it.

One of the main things the road law has been criticised for is the special tax that has been placed on trucks. Well, we will say that it does not look fair to tax trucks and exempt wagons doing the same kind of hauling. But the State law will not permit counties to tax wagons. It is a foregone conclusion that the lumber and cordwood haulers do much more damage to our roads than all the other hauling put together. So, what are we going to do about it? Is it fair to let the lumber haulers go by without paying anything to keep up the roads which they play a big part in tearing up? We are sure it would be much more fair if the wagons doing heavy and regular hauling could be taxed the same as trucks, but the State law will not permit this. So it is just either tax the trucks or not tax either. Of course, we had all rather get along without paying any tax at all, but if we ever have any roads we are going to have to pay for them. Some say that it takes labor to build roads. Others say that it takes money to build roads. We say that it takes money and labor to build roads. Of course labor is what actually builds the roads, but one can't generally get labor these days without paying money for it.

Some argue that the old pick and shovel way of working the roads is best. Well, that old work is kindly like the ox wagon. It was all right until people learned a better way. Three men can take a Fordson tractor and a scrape and do more work on a road in a day than two dozen men could do with shovels and picks. This is a rather broad statement, but we are sure that experienced men in the road working business will bear us out in this statement. We are now living in a progressive age, and the road working business should be kept up with the times the same as our other institutions and industries. Our commissioners are trying hard to make the new road working system a success, and it behooves every citizen of the county to do his bit toward pushing the good work along. Let's all be pushers and not balkers. That is what it takes to make a success of anything.

IN REGARD TO COTTON MILL FOR CLANTON

for eggs and see if it doesn't insult her. And you're doing mighty well if you get good ribbon cane syrup at $1.10 or $1.20 at any store.

Of course there's no end to the vegetables that could be sold there, to those employees in every line of business. The demand is great. The population is great, therefore a greater consumption of every soil grown eatable can and do cause more dollars to accumulate in the farmers' pockets than they could ever have hoped to realize had advantages, such as those, never been offered to them.

One business man of that town, a merchant, confessed to me that the first home he ever really owned was the reward of his raising and selling vegetables right there in Tallassee. He went so far as to state:

"That was the easiest thing I ever did, selling vegetables right here in Tallassee, and willing customers were a plenty."

Alike, the town and country folk enjoyed the advantages the Tallassee cotton mills afforded.

While the farmer sold his cotton directly to the consumer, receiving a better price, the merchant had the same fair chance with same said consumer in selling goods to her hundreds of employees.

Now, who's kicking against a cotton mill in Clanton? No one, I'm sure. I believe everyone is a booster for it.

I believe all the merchants would have cause to smile when they actually see one under construction, because it will be money in their pockets, and money in our farmers' pockets, and even if it does bring other merchants to our town, to share the profits, I'm sure everyone would enjoy a taste of rich cream far better than a big bait of skim milk.

Clanton isn't lazy—no, it's not that—she's got plenty of pep in her, and I know many a Tallasseean who knowing Clanton as the hustler she is, to be almost envious, I believe of her many advantages. Yet with whom they would not exchange places because of Tallassee's own asset —the Tallassee cotton mills.

If the need of a factory in Clanton can't be impressed upon a private concern who'd object to a whole lot of stockholders' fingers in the pie, just so it was good and produced favorable results?

If I couldn't offer a contribution I could pat my hands, offering "three cheers for Clanton's building a cotton mill!"

ERA SANDERS.

TICK ERADICATION OFFICIALS TO MEET IN CLANTON MONDAY

The State officials in charge of the tick eradication work in Alabama will meet with the Commissioners Court in Clanton next Monday. The purpose of this meeting is to devise some means whereby the few spots in the county infested with ticks may be cleared of these pests. It is reported that only a few herds of cattle in the county are now tick infested. The neighboring counties, including Shelby, we understand, are putting on a strenuous campaign to rid their cattle of ticks, and after this is done and the few that are in Chilton are cleared out, it will be easy sailing for us to keep the ticks out of our county.

It is hoped that the politicians of the county will keep off the tick question and that everybody will do their part toward destroying the ticks. We have been promised by the State, a man who will be reasonable in enforcing the law and will take charge of the work in this county and eradicate our ticks without making it a hardship on anybody. It is a settled fact that we have got to keep dipping until all the ticks are gone, and the best way out of it is to dip and get through with it if there is any such thing as getting through with it. By their failing to comply with the law in this matter the people have lost to Chilton county and themselves enough money and time to have eradicated the ticks two times over.

It is the desire of the State officials and the County Commissioners that everybody who has ticks go ahead and dip their cattle and get rid of the ticks without any further trouble and expense. Let's do it and get through with the business.

REV. P. G. CARTER IN CENTRAL ALA. HOSPITAL

Rev. P. G. Carter, former pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church and who now resides in Geneva, Alabama, was operated on for appendicitis at the Central Alabama Hospital last Wednesday. The method of local anesthesia was used in the operation, which it is said the preacher withstood quite well. It seems that this institution is becoming quite noted in the treatment of preachers as two have been operated on during the past few days.

The fact that Bro. Carter came all the way from his south Alabama home to Clanton to take this treatment goes to show that he still has confidence in the hospital which he played a great part in bulding and in the doctors of our town. Although Bro. Carter has moved to other fields, he still has a tender and binding feeling toward Clanton and its institutions, which he has plainly shown by his coming here for this operation.

When the editor of this paper visited Bro. Carter's quarters in the hospital a few days ago, we were reminded more of a hot house than we were of a hospital in that there was such a display of flowers all over the room. The preacher attempted to call over the names of the people who had sent the flowers there, but they were so numerous that he could not remember them all. Most of them came from people of Clanton, but while we were in his room a large box arrived from the good women of his church in Geneva. All of these flowers were certainly beautiful, and the spirit behind the giving of them was still more attractive than the flowers themselves. Bro. Carter has not been forgotten by his many friends in Clanton, as well as the church which he is now serving in Geneva.

No, indeed, Rev. P. G. Carter has too many fine and lasting monuments erected in Clanton for his memory ever to be forgotten. The splendd Central Alabama Hospital and the magnificent Clanton Baptist Church were built very largely by the untiring energy and unfailing determination of the little Englishman. Bro. Carter has left footprints in Clanton that will remain here long after he and the present generation shall have passed away, and most of the people of Clanton appreciate this fact.

So far Bro. Carter is recovering from the operation, and it is our sincere hope that he will be released in a few days thoroughly recovered from his ailments. He hopes to be out and able to attend service at the Baptist church next Sunday. If he continues to improve he hopes to leave for Geneva the first of next week.

LIST OF QUALIFIED VOTERS

The probate judge is preparing a list of all the qualified voters in Chilton County, which will be published in next week's Union-Banner. This list will not be final however, but the voters of the county will be given 10 days in which to make any corrections which might be necessary. So watch out for this list in next week's Union-Banner.

Mr. W. J. Watson was in our office a few days ago and said that he is getting along fine in his race for county commissioner. He says that he is getting quite a bit of encouragement from the voters of the county and has good hopes of landing the nomination.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY OF CHILTON COUNTY TO COURT

Inspections Made of Jail, Poor House And All Records of County Officials and Report Made

To the Hon. George F. Smoot, Judge of the 19th Judicial Circut of the State of Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury, impanelled at this, the January term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, beg leave to make this our final report.

We have examined 44 cases and 149 witnesses and have returned 41 true bills.

We have examined the bonds of the county officials and find them with sufficient sureties, except the bond of the County Treasurer, we find his bond placed at $35,000.00, and find that he has on hand $52,077.00, as per his statement to the Grand Jury. We recommend to the Court of County Commissioners that they require of the County Treasurer an adequate bond to secure the safety of the county's money at all times. We find that the bond of the Tax Collector is only $15,000.00. We recommend that this bond be increased in order that the county be protected at all times for all money collected by him.

We have examined the County Poor House and find 17 inmates, very few of them able to do but little work. We find the conditions of the premises as well kept as can be under the circumstances, and the inmates are well cared for as the money approprated could possibly care for them. We consider the appropriation inadequate to care for them as they should be cared for, and recommend to the Court of County Commissioners that the amount appropriated to the Poor House be increased to a reasonable amount to take care of the inmates with as much comfort as is possible. We also find the building very inconveniently arranged and the sanitary conditions are not what they should be, owing to the fact they are forced to use surface closets. These closets necessarily are situated some forty yards from the dwellings. We find them as well kept as possible. We wish to recommend to the Court of County Commissioners that they build a new building of not less than twenty-five rooms, equipped with an electric light plant and heating system and water works. We find no fuel to mention on this tract of land and we find seven fire places to be furnished with wood, which in the future we think will be more expensive than steam heat, to say nothing of the comfort it will afford these old people we are responsible for.

We find the jail in fine condition and well kept. We recommend that the heating system at the jail be repaired.

We find the fee book of the Probate Judge is neatly and correctly kept so far as we are able to ascertain. The Judge of Probate has complied with the law and filed with the Grand Jury a list of pensioners of Chilton county, which we hereto attach and mark "Exhibit A". (See list published in The Union-Banner, January 10, 1924).

We have examined the books of the County Superintendent of Education and they are neatly and correctly kept as far as we are able to ascertain, which we hereto attach and mark "Exhibt B."

Respectfully submitted,
JESSE BAKER, Treas.

We have also examined the Sheriff's feed book and find it neatly and correctly kept as far as we could ascertain.

We thank your Honor for your clear and impressive charge delivered to us and deem it much help to us in our deliberations. We thank the Sheriff and his deputies for the prompt service of all papers issued by us, and also our Bailiff for his prompt attention to his duties in attending on the Grand Jury. We also wish to thank our Solicitor and our Foreman for the assistance, advice and good judgment they have rendered us in our deliberations.

We now having completed our duties await the further orders of the Court.

HOW AVOID BEAN LOSSES IS TOLD TO PEOPLE BY AUBURN

Blight Resistant Varieties of First Consideration, Declares An Auburn Expert.

Auburn, Ala., April 1, 1924.—With the arrival of the main season for planting beans, Dr. L. E. Miles, specialist in plant diseases for the Agricultural College here, has issued a statement regarding the losses due to blight of beans and how to avoid it.

According to Dr. Miles, bean blight occurs in most Alabama gardens and greatly reduces the crop. Some times the loss is almost total, especially when it is accompanied by other diseases. The disease occurs on the leaves as water-soaked spots which gradually spread until the leaf dries up and falls off. The same irregular water-soaked spots appear also on the pods, turning them to a reddish color in a few days, after which they turn brown and dry up.

"The best prevention is by the use of varieties whch are largely or entirely resistant to the diseases," adds Dr. Miles. Among such varieties of bush beans he named. Rust Proof, Bountiful, Extra Early Red Valentine, Burpee's Stringless Green Pod, Longfellow Bush, Golden Wax Bush, Kentucky Wonder Wax, Tennessee Green Pod, and Extra Early Six Weeks. As resistant pole varieties he named Kentucky Wonder, White Seeded Kentucky Wonder, and Texas Pole.

The bacteria causing blight lives over on the seed, and to destroy it Dr. Miles recommends that beans be soaked for fifteen minutes at planting time in a 1 to 1000 solution of corrosive sublimate.

FISHING PARTY HAS SOME GOOD LUCK AT LOCK 12

On last Monday Rev. S. J. Ezell, Dr. E. E. Upchurch Mr. M. L. White and Dr. L. L. Gwaltney of Birmingham went out to the mouth of Yellow Leaf Creek just below Lock 12, and after fishing about three hours came back to town with a string of 85 nice fish, the bunch weighing exactly 50 pounds. Dr. Gwaltney in his sermon at the Baptist church Sunday night announced that he was going fishing the next day and expressed the hope that he have some luck. We presume that his desire was very well satisfied as he landed 27 and strung them to his credit. Dr. Gwaltney said that when he got to Birmingham and began to display those fish to his friends up there they would turn green with envy. This was indeed an enviable catch of fish. A picture of the whole string and the party was taken and the same will be printed in the next issue of The Alabama Baptist

For the past few days people from around town have been catching these government fish (Crappies) by the score, but the law prohibits them from being caught now for two months, from April 1st to June 1st. Elsewhere in The Unoin-Banner will be found the law regarding different kinds of fish.

LIST CONTEST CHALLENGES NOT YET STRAIGHTENED OUT

I have failed to get a complete record of the following persons who were challenged by Rev. C. D. Messer. I would appreciate it if each of the parties named below would come to my office or write me the exact day, month and year they were born, where they voted, who they voted for, where they registered and where they have paid all poll tax. I hope my friends will look over this list and help me to locate these parties, either come to see me, or write me where I can reach them by mail.

I want again to thank my friends for their loyal support and assistance they have given in helping me get the record straight of the voters that voted for me in the last election.

DR. GWALTNEY PREACHES AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Fifth Sunday program carried out at the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday was very fine. The principal speaker for the occasoin was Dr. L. L. Gwaltney, editor of the Alabama Baptist, who made interesting talks both at the morning and afternoon services. At the morning service Dr. Gwaltney told about religious, political and moral conditions in Europe, and his discorse along these lines was very interesting and instructive. He gave first-hand information on the conditions of these countries, he having spent three months over there about a year ago. In this speech Dr. Gwaltney brought out very forcibly the idea of religious freedom in America and the importance of separation of churches and state. By telling of the conditions in European countries where there is an adopted religion supported by the government, the necessity of the government having nothing to do with religions was forcibly brought out.

Several other interesting talks were made during the day by local speakers which were very good.

The good ladies of the Baptist church served a bountiful dinner in the dining room, to which all present were invited.

Dr. Gwaltney also preached at the Baptist Church Sunday night, his subject being "Behind every Rainbow there is a Cloud." In his discussion of this subject Dr. Gwaltney said that nothing worth while was ever handed to a people on a silver platter. The Bible, he said, came to us floating upon a river of blood, which will be found very true if the history of the book of books is carefully studied. This subject was a very deep one and the discussion of it required a great deal of historical knowledge and ethical information, but before the preacher left he made so plain that anyone could understand and appreciate the richness of it. Dr. Gwaltney is a talented editor and he is a talented preacher also.

THOMAS E. PAVEY LEAVES CLANTON FOR FLORIDA

Mr. Thomas E. Pavey, who has been secretary of the Alabama Tract Society, now known as the Alabama Book and Bible House, by his own request has been granted release from the duties of this office and will leave about the middle of this month for Fort Ogden, Fla., where he intends to take a long rest. Mr. Pavey has been doing various kinds of work for the Seventh Day Adventists for the past twenty years and the vacation which he is about to enter is a much needed one. Mr. Pavey has been in Clanton for the past year and a half, and the many friends he and his family have made here will regret to learn that they are leaving Clanton.

The office of secretary will now be filled by Mr. Chas. O. Franz from Nashville. We are glad to welcome Mr. Franz in our midst.

CHANGES IN POSTAL SERVICE

Mr. Tom Pyron has resigned as mail carrier in the town of Clanton, and Mr. Claude Baker has been elevated to that position. The position of Mr. Baker as clerk in the post office has not been permanently filled yet but Mr. M. M. Biles is holding down this job temporarily. It is supposed that Mr. Biles will be appointed to this position permanently.

H. M. DAUGHERTY OUT AS ATTORNEY GENERAL OF U. S. A.

Pledges Support to Coolidge in the Coming Presidential Fight.

As a result of the flurry caused by the investigations of the Senate Oil Committee of the public record of Harry M. Daugherty, the attorney general has resigned his post as a member of the president's cabinet. Mr. Daugherty says that he is still the dependable friend and supporter of the president and emphasized the fact that he held no personal feelings against Mr. Coolidge.

Daugherty declared he had no fears as to the future, did not wish to be considered a martyr and had no favors to ask, except the confidence of his friends and the public.

The former attorney general said: "No extended statement from me as to what has taken place and what it all means may be expected for some time.

"It's uselessness would now be chiefly personal and that does not interest my friends or me. I was fully warned that it was to be done. I did not think it could take place in free America. It did, however, take place, though I did all I could to prevent it. I stood against it, as a matter of duty and in saying this, I have no ambition to be considered a martyr.

"One thing, now, let me say, I have no personal feelings against the President. I am yet his dependable friend and supporter.

"I have no fears as to my own contented future and I have no favors to ask, except the continuance of

COMMISSIONERS COURT MEETS MONTHLY NOW

On account of passing the claims against the county for road and bridge work, the Commissioners Court of Chilton county have decided to meet monthly from now on instead of quarterly as heretofore. Beginning next Monday, which is the first Monday in April, they will meet and pass claims the first Monday in every month. Those working on the roads and bridges for the county need not fear any delay in getting your money.

TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Deputies Culp and Taylor went to Tuscaloosa last Sunday to carry Mr. George Marcus to the asylum. Mr. Marcus' mind has been failing him for the past three months, and it continued to get worse until he had to be taken away. Such an incident as this is indeed regrettable, and especially so when the principal cause of the whole trouble is alcohol. This unfortunate case should serve as a timely warning to the young men of this section who continue to allow this deadly drug to play a part in their lives. Whiskey is a dangerous thing to mess with and we would that it were impossible for a drop of it to be obtained in Chilton county except by the prescription of a physician. And another thing, which is just as deadly and possibly more so than whiskey, and can be had most any time and any where, and that is lemon extract. This stuff should not be sold to a person when it is reasonably certain that it is to be used as a beverage.

AUTOMOBILE TAXES PAY FEDERAL AID

According to statistics compiled and sent out by the State Road Commission of West Virgina, the total Federal aid bill of the United States is paid by automobile taxes, with a comfortable balance left over.

Since 1917, the Federal Government has collected from the automobile industry, in taxes, the sum of $589,012,021. In the same period the total of Federal aid for road building has been $264,782,216, or only 45 per cent of the special motor vehicle and accessory taxes. For the last fiscal year the Government collected $146,000,000 in these special taxes, and paid out for Federal aid to the States only $72,000,000.

Thus, the specal motor vehicle and accessory tax has not only, paid all of the Federal aid on road building but has left a balance in the Treasury of more than the amount paid out.

"First" States in Transport

Texas has the greatest total road mileage, 182,816 miles. New York is first in population, with 10,385,227. Little Rhode Island is first in the rato between population and Federal aid road mileage, having 3,640 people per Federal aid mile, against, for instance, Nevada, which has but 50 people per Federal aid mile of roads. New York is first in taxable wealth, with more than 15 1-4 billions. New Hampshire claims first place n State revenue from automobile and truck, getting an average of $25.72 from each. California gives most money to its counties from its automobile license fees, with $3,785,055 to be spent on roads. Pennsylvania gets more per mile in Federal aid than any other State, her takings per mile of Federal aid road being $19,338.

GREAT FEAST FOR THE EDUCATIONAL LEADERS

Dr. W. D. Agnew and his program committee for the Forty-Frst Annual Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Workers, has arranged a great feast for the Religious Educational leaders of Alabama.

More than fifty leading pastors and religious educational workers of the State will participate in the program. The old organization will be reorganized and representatives of all denominations in the State will co-operate in building a new program of work that will have for its goal, the reaching of the half million unreached children and youths in Alabama, tying them on to the denominational Sunday schools and training them for Christian ctizenship.

Some of the outstanding religious educational leaders of America will be present and deliver addresses during the convention.

More than one thousand delegates are expected.

Many thousands of programs and pieces of printed matter have been sent throughout the State, giving information regarding the great convention.

The ctizenship of Montgomery is co-operating with John W. Durr and his general committee, in their plans to make the coming convention the greatest in the history of the State.

Delegates will be entertained with bed and breakfast free and those who wish entertainment should register at once.

ENTERPRISE NEWS

The Union-Banner:

As I haven't had anything to write and nothing to say concerning the Highway, about the direction I think it ought to go, I would like to express my feelings about it. I try to think why that some people think the highway ought to go by Marbury, going from Clanton to Prattville. Why shouldn't we just say go by Maplesville? No, those people out there know it is too much out of the way. They are not going to ask the State to throw away surplus money.

Now let's see who it is kicking—is it any one on the direct route? No, the State knows the right of way is free 100 ft. wide. If they want it I have three 40's near the route, if it will do any good they can have a forty of it to build highways on; land that will make 40 bushels corn to the acre and two wells of water on it. Now, I am not going to do what The News said. I am not going to fight for it only in one respect. Anything I can do to get the highway through from Clanton by Entreprise to Prattville I am at your hand.

Now, about having to carry water through in a Thermos bottle. That fellow was just out of a subject. Chilton county's best drinking water and Autauga's best is direct on that route. Of course mud holes and creeks are not as thick, but you can't build a good road out of mud-holes and creeks. If you could, you could build a paved street through Coopers, Verbena and Mt. Creek.

Now about the population through there. Come down and see how many white children are there going to school at Enterprise—about 230 white; not a negro in five miles. I don't know how many are at White City, a greater number though I know; a junior high school at Enterprise and also at White City. So, we people are going to ask the Commissioners to use good judgment and that will suit us. The land free and water free, and I will reward any one that finds a fellow that couldn't get a place to spend the night through that country, if he was anybody at all.

Now how can a fellow ask the State to spend so much just to come by my store or my office; is it nerve? We will say so any how.

I am sending a copy of this letter to both county papers—both know how I stand. I am at Mitchell Dam and have been for three years. I am not writing this letter to no certain one, but to all. Out through our country is a free country to any and everybody except blind-tigers.

As ever, yours for goods roads,
J. W. CAGLE.

NEW RECORD SET IN FILLING TANK AT WOCO CONVENTION

A new world's record of 48 seconds in filling an automobile tank with motor fuel was set by F. F. Horn and D. C. Apperson of Birmingham during the annual Woco Pep Birthday Party held by the Wofford Oil Co. on March 19th.

The record was made during a contest in which there were entrants from three southern states and the winning mark was set on hand pumps. With the glass contained empty the pump was started when the front wheel of the automoble crossed a line 18 ft. from the pump. The tank cap was screwed off, 5 gallons pumped in and poured into the tank and five gallons more pumped into the container and poured into the tank and tank cap screwed on. Timing ceased when the rear wheel of the automobile crossed a line 18 ft. from the pump.

Winners were awarded a silver loving cup offered by the Wofford Oil Co. for the best time made during this contest. Second prize cup was won by Vann Bros. of Troy, Ala.

The tank filling contest was one of the features of the day's program of sales conferences and entertainment arranged by the Wofford Oil Co. in celebration of the 6th anniversary of the introduction of Woco Pep as the first benzol-blend motor fuel commercially marketed in America.

All out of town agents of this company were guests of G. T. Wofford, founder and president, at a luncheon at the Southern Club and the general sales conferences were held in the afternoon at the Tutwiler Hotel, which was headuarters for the occasion.

A banquet in the evenng attended by over 150 "Woco Peppers" at which announcements were made of Woco Dealers winning membership in the newly organized Woco Club and a theatre party at the Lyric afterwards, wound up the days events.

A large loving cup offered by the company to the Woco Station in the Birmingham District making the best sales record on Woco Pep, Woco Motor Oils and Woco coupon books was won by F. F. Horn and Wallace H. Duren, of Horn's Terminal Service Station.

The Woco Birthday Celebration is an annual affair with the company and has come to have special significance in the oil industry as marking the introduction of benzol as a component in a commercial motor fuel.

BETHEL SINGING

The Fifth Sunday Harp and Harmony singing at Bethel church was fine, according to the amount of singers there.

It could be seen that many of our singers were some other place—attending the Center Hill singing, maybe, but in spite of the fact we can proclaim it good, notwithstanding the fact that we all were a bit "off" due to our negligence in practicing as we ought to.

Splendid audience was in evidence. Every performer appreciates interested listeners. We believe it was a good day for all.

The good eats spread at the noon hour were fruits of hospitality, and welcome—a kind offering free to all, evidencing their appreciation of this wonderful day—and you, we wish to thank you, Bethel community, for contributing so much to make this the day it was.

In conclusion, let me repeat: The singing was good, but let's make it better!

The convention's just around the corner. Are we going to meet it with untrained voices, or will our practice reap the rewards of a good convention?

Which?

Everyone that can attend. Let's try to make it good—better—best!

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

It is easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows by with a song,
But the man worth while is the man with a smile
When everything goes dead wrong.
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years;
And the smile that is worth the praises on earth
Is the smile that shines through the tears.

Surprise Birthday Given.

One of the loveliest of the many spring functions was the dinner party given by Mrs. Watts Moore, honoring the birthday of her mother, Mrs. W. I. Mullins. The beautiful new home of Mrs. Moore, always lovely, was on this occasion a bower of springtime loveliness with a profusion of choice plants and cut flowers. The dining room was fragrant with John L. Mack roses in tall baskets. A handsome cut glass basket of this same flower also, but its fragrance and grace to the beautifully appointed dinner which was served in four causes. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

Philathia S. S. Class Entertained.

One of the most delightful meetings of the Philathia S. S. class was held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson when she and Mesdames Guy Roberts and Clyde Jones were joint hostesses. Vases of spring flowers were attractively arranged in the spacious living room. Mrs. Wilkerson and Mrs. Roberts greeted the guests and were ushered to the punch table presided over by Mrs. Clyde Jones. The president, Mrs. Macy Jones presided in her usual charming manner and the regular routine of business was attended to. Various committees were appointed and pledges for the year were made. Plans were discussed to raise money to equip the class room in the new church. A committee was named to select a play and stage it at an early date. Mrs. Guy Roberts was made chairman. The class will make mints and sell for special occasions. All orders will gladly be filled. Two new names were added to the roll, Mrs. A. S. Prince and Mrs. E. C. Powell. Miss Kate Atbey and Miss Gussie Rainer were guests of the class. During the social hour a lovely salad plate with ice tea was served. During which music on the Edison was enjoyed.

Mrs. Macy Jones Hostess.

The Wednesday Embroidery club was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Macy Jones last week. An attractive arrangement of spring blossoms gave an added touch of beauty to the home. Fancy needle work was the main past time and later in the afternoon the hostess, assisted by Mrs. McSwain and Miss French Evans served a lovely plate lunch with frappe. Included in this congenial group were Mesdames Geo. Polk, R. E. Luckie, M. A. Gore, Watts Moore, Petrey, Harvy Chandler, Pohn Armstrong, Thad McSwain, Barney Roberts and Miss Evans.

Miss Mullins Hostess.

The Card club spent a delightful afternoon on Tuesday at the home of Miss Kathleen Mullins when she entertained at bridge. The spacious living room was lovely with exquisite hot house roses and hyacinths. After several rubbers of bridge the top score was held by Mrs. Arthur Johnson, who was presented with a set of tea napkins. At the close of the game a lovely salad plate was served.

Mrs. O. Kyle, Mrs. Higgins and Miss Bettie Mullins were visitors for the afternoon.

Mrs. Lyman Hostess to the Card Club.

A variety of spring blossoms in Japanese baskets and vases were the attractive decorations used by Mrs. Willis Lyman when she entertained at her home on last Wednesday, having as her guests the members of the Card club.

After a spirited game the club prize, a luncheon cloth, fell to Mrs. Victor Heard, and later a tempting salad course was served. Besides the club members, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Guy Roberts and Mrs. O. Kyle were guests for the afternoon.

Class Enjoys Picnic.

The Hygiene class of the High school, chaperoned by Miss Inis Carter, enjoyed a lovely outing on last Friday when they went to Verbena. Hiking, wading and other outdoor sports were enjoyed and at noon a most bounteous picnic lunch was spread. Enjoying the outing were Misses Lurline Minor, Ruby Armstrong, Sara Luckie, Margarete Smith, Inis Carter, Inez Kittrell, Mary Wise, Nora Wood.

Mrs. S. A. Johnson from Montgomery, and Mrs. Harry Tarpley from Tuscaloosa are visiting Mrs. Claud Reynolds.

Miss Marion Seawright went to Montgomery today to attend A. E. A.

Mrs. S. E. Alverson and son, Earl, Jr., are the guests of Mrs. R. E. Luckie this week.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson is spending a couple of days in Birmingham shopping this week.

Miss Kathleen Mullins is in Montgomery attending A. E. A.

Miss Willadean Reynolds, a student at Montevallo, was home for the week-end.

ENJOYING POOR HEALTH

Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wade were visitors to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pipes spent Tuesday in the Magic City.

Mr. John Gore made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. J. Q. Wade was home from Russellville Saturday.

Misses Gussie Rainer from Elba, and Kate Rainer from Montevallo were the guests of Mrs. V. J. Elmore for a few days this week.

J. M. CALLOWAY HERE

Mr. J. M. Calloway, former Chiltonian, now warden at Spigener, was in Clanton shaking hands with freinds Saturday for the first time in ten years. Before going to Spigener Mr. Calloway was city judge in the city of Sylacauga. He was Bill Brandon's campaign manager in Talladega county in the last gubernatorial race. Mr. Calloway is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. C. Smith of this city.

FROM MR. WALKER

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice in the last issue of your paper that Mr. J. L. Burnett of Lawley has been over in Stumps Hills, I guess shaking hands with cousins and uncles. I don't know that I have any kinsfolk in Stumps Hills but I do think I have some friends over there who will kinder divide up on the 13th of May.

Now, Mr. Burnett did not ask me to go with him over there, so when I get ready to go myself I will slip off from him. Well, I am glad he went over first so I will have a chance to spoil out his tracks.

I want to say to the people over in Stumps Hills and elsewhere in the county that I am too busy to go over the county to see you, buy I want to say that the man you nominate on May 13th will be the man I will get behind and do all I can that is honorable to elect in the general election.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Biles will be glad to learn he has came back to Clanton to accept the position as mail carrier. They will occupy their former rooms with Mrs. M. A. Mullins.

Mrs. Dorcus Maddox made a shopping tour to Birmingham Tuesday.

ON TRIP TO FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McDonlad and son, Tom, of the McDonald Mercantile Company, left Sunday for a two weeks visit to Safety Harbor, Fla. They have gone there for Mr. McDonald's health. It is hoped that they will return with his health much improved. While they are away their store has been left in the charge of Mr. Clay Marcus.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING AT NEW SALEM SUNDAY

The Fifth Sunday Meeting of the Chilton County Baptist Asociation was held with the New Salem Baptist church near Thorsby. The meeting was opened at 9:45 a.m.; devotional conducted by Rev. T. J. Deason. Rev. Buford Lawrence was elected to preside over the body with Rev. B. F. Dykes acting as secretary. The following program was rendered:

Reports were given by Elders S. M. Adams and B. Lawrence on the religious survey of Chilton County Association. Many helpful thoughts were brought out by which the association was made to see the importance of renewed effort. Beginning at 10:45 the subject of Stewardship was forcefully and inspiringly discussed by Dr Hendrix of Howard College. At 11:15 a noble sermon was delivered by Rev. J. L. Whorton on the 75-Million Campaign. Many pledged themselves to support the work who had refused to do so before. The meeting was then adjourned until 1:30, during which time the ladies of the community served a most delicious dinner which was enjoyed by all.

The meeting was called to order at 1:30; devotional das conducted by T. J. Maddox. The importance of the minister giving his entire time to pastorial work and what it will take to bring it to pass, discussed by Dr. Hendrix. An inspiring and enlightening discusion followed on the Need of a Religious Awakening in our Association, by Elders T. J. Deason, W. P. Lowery and S. M. Adams.

The need of the B. Y. P. U. work in our Association was spoken to by Miss Lena Franklin, who is an experienced worker. The report of the Western District Convention at Tuscaloosa by Miss Ruth Martin, Misses Gordon Sorrell and Horace Franklin was given.

This meeting will be long remembered by all who attended, and it is believed that it will be of lasting benefit to the association and all our organized work since so many pledged themselves to support wholeheartedly the enlarged program of Southern Baptists to take the world for Christ.

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work, just couldn't go. I used and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. . . We tried all week to help her, . . . but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest. She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved and in a week she was up."

"Hoppin' the Freight"

More than 83,000 people are killed in the United States every year by accidents. Of this number less than 8½% are killed by the railroads.

"Hoppin' the freight" is a contributing factor to these accidents; one of the dangerous practices that the L. & N. Railroad is endeavoring to correct; one of many obstacles that the Road is striving to overcome in its unceasing fight for public safety. Every L. & N. station master—and train employee as well—is charged with the special duty of watching boys around the stations, to keep them from "hoppin' the freight", and other such hazardous pastimes. And it is a hard job.

Some accidents cannot be prevented; they are unavoidable. But "hoppin' the freight" and many other seemingly petty violations of railroad rules are unnecessary and preventable; and can be reduced to a minimum only by intelligent co-operation on the part of the public.

The traveler who boards the moving train; the man who can't wait until the car stops before he alights, and the motorist who neither stops, looks, nor listens at railroad crossings—each is needlessly imperiling his life, as much as is the boy who "steals a ride" on a freight. They, like the youth, too often disregard the warnings of safety until serious injury or death makes it impossible to continue these risky habits.

The L. & N. is constantly installing new and modern devices for the safety of its passengers. Therefore, if you yourself will be careful and take no unnecessary chances when on or near railroad property, you will help to reduce the number of accidents and injuries.

Statistics show that the safest way to travel is on the modern railroad train—the percentage of injuries from accidents being the lowest.

The Commissioners Court and the State Veterinarians are trying to devise plans to finish up the tick eradication work in Chilton County. This business, like a number of others, should not be used as a political tool, and it is hoped that everybody will try to treat it this way. We do not like the tick business, but we have to get rid of them and we might as well go ahead and do it. We only have a few beats in the county that are infested, so let's all co-operate and get rid of them.

The State Highway Department seems to be meeting with quite a bit of opposition to their plans down in Greene county. An injunction has been filed against the work in that county. It seems that we are having an awful time getting any highways built in the State. There is a heated argument on as to the route between Clanton and Montgomery of the B. & M. Highway. Some want it to go through White City and on into Prattville and from there to Montgomery. Others want it to go on through Marbury and go into Montgomery by the route near the railroad. We do not know which route would be best, but we do know that some route should be settled on and the road built. The department need not expect to please everybody. It is the business of those men to determine the best routes for the roads, the interest of all the people considered, and to build the roads. They are going to make about as many enemies as they are friends any way they go, so why not go some way and let the kickers kick as high as they please. Neither of the members of the highway board will ever be elected governor of Alabama no way. So let us have some roads somewhere right now.

The chief assistants and witnesses of the Senate committee engaged in persecuting Attorney General Daugherty are Gaston Means, now under Federal indictment, Frank Vanderlip, now facing a $600,000 libel suit, Roxie Stinson, divorcee and blackmailer, Tex Rickard, notorous prize fight promoter, gambler, saloon keeper, and defendant in criminal prosecutions, G. O. Holdridge, discredited former agent of the Department of Justice, Jap Muma, confessed violator of Federal statutes, and others of like kidney. Jack Dempsey, champion heavy weight, and his manager, Jack Kearns, are said to be included in a long list of witnesses whom the committee is preparing to summon. It will take something more than the testimony of that motley array to make the public believe Mr. Daugherty guilty.

Senator Walsh was one of the first to get on the anti-Doheny bandwagon. In 1919 Walsh made a speech in the Senate in defense of the leasing bill during the course of which he praised Doheny. As late as December 1923, Walsh wrote a letter to Doheny urging him to conduct oil development work in Montana. In that letter Walsh said that he would be pleased to be associated with Doheny in such an undertaking if his official position did not make it seem improper. Walsh wrote this letter in pursuance of correspondence which had not involved Doheny's name in any way, so it is apparent that the suggestion originated with Walsh. This is not the only instance of association between Walsh and oil men. When Walsh sent word to Montana Democrats that he still favored the nomination of McAdoo, he sent the message through an employee of an oil company. Republicans are not laboring under the delusion that everything associated with oil is evil, so they do not look upon transactions with oil concerns as criminal. But in view of all the insinuations the Democratic leaders have been throwing out wherever they can find a Republican in any way connected with oil matters, it is a little curious that some of their leaders have found the association so agreeable.

Consumers and tenants of rented property need to learn that taxes are a large part of the cost of doing business or of owning property and that, when taxes increase, prices and rent will rise, for manufacturers, merchants and property owners will not submit to reduction of their profit by the amount of the next tax if they can find a way of escape.—Portland Oregonian.

PAGE HENRY GEORGE

You can always depend upon a Democrat to think up some new way of levying taxes. Here, for instance, is Representative Andrew J. Griffin, of New York, with a proposal to increase Federal revenues by levying a Federal tax on idle land in order to produce $900,000,000 of revenue to be spent through the Government at Washington. From all accounts, it appears that the states, counties, school districts and road districts are already taxing land, both used and unused, so heavily that the owners find trouble to raise the money to satisfy the demand. Now comes the Democratic Congressman from New York with the proposal to add a $900,000,000 tax on only one class of land. With this tax affixed, he will probably be back at the next session of Congress with a proposal to tax used land. If it is proper for the Federal Government to tax idle land, which is bringing the owner no returns, it is much more desirable to tax used land, from which the owner gets a return. That is the argument that can and will be used. Congressman Griffin is careful to explain that his proposed tax is "in addition to present levies made by state, county, and local taxing bodies. Of course it is. Every tax proposed by Democrats is "in addition." It takes Republicans to cut taxes.

INDORSED OVER

When Italy entered the World War on the side of the allies, Great Britain and France agreed, in the event of victory and their own territorial aggrandizement at the expense of German African colonies, to compensate Italy. Great Britain is now about to extend that compensation through the cession to Italian Somaliland of a portion of Kenya. The part to be ceded is known as Jubaland.

The point to this incident is that Great Britain and France intended to take the German colonies unto themselves if they were victorious, and the cession of Jubaland proves that they have done so. The "mandates" under which the German colonies are nominally held are mere jokes, just as Americans knew they were when they were allotted under the terms of the League of Nations covenant. To all intents and purposes those African colonies are parts of the British Empire and the French republic and will never be released.

Standardized Layettes Assure Modern Baby Correct Wardrobe; Health Agency Gives Patterns

STANDARDIZED layettes assure the baby of 1924 that he will be as well, and as comfortably dressed on the day he makes his advent into the world, as he will at 21, when tailors and haberdashers cater to his sartorial needs. Health authorities agree that the modern infant's wardrobe is an important feature of the plans made for his arrival. Consequently, it is no surprise to learn that many visiting nurses include a full course of sewing instructions in their program of prenatal service.

Among other health agencies, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is carrying on an intensive campaign of education for the expectant mother. Visiting nurses in 4,038 cities and towns in this country and Canada are giving prenatal and post-natal care. The company's nursing service handled over 100,000 maternity cases last year.

French Canada was foremost among the territories having a large percentage of maternal cases last year, 60 per cent. of the nursing visits being of that kind. Nurses, working directly for the company, or under arrangements with local nursing associations, expect to develop the prenatal work on even broader lines during the coming year than has been possible in the past.

One of the objects of this work is to assist mothers during the trying prenatal period, not only by looking after their physical needs, but by advice and encouragement regarding preparations for the new baby. The making of layettes is an example of this feature of the service. Patterns for baby clothes may be had on request.

This help is especially appreciated by foreign-born mothers in crowded industrial centers. Modern welfare programs carried out by public health nurses, are gradually eliminating the dread with which mothers formerly viewed the advent of a new baby.

The Metropolitan nursing service was maintained during 1923 at a cost of $1,789,151. The company has 1,403 nursing centers, 279 being in the New England States.

During the coming year, in cooperation with other health organizations, and with the full approval of the medical fraternity, the Metropolitan will increase its efforts to reduce the maternal death rate in this country. In the past the average has been 20,000 deaths a year. Visiting nurses will see the expectant mother once a month from the time a case is reported until confinement. Following the birth of a child, both mother and baby will be cared for daily for eight days. If complications develop, the nurse is privileged to extend the period.

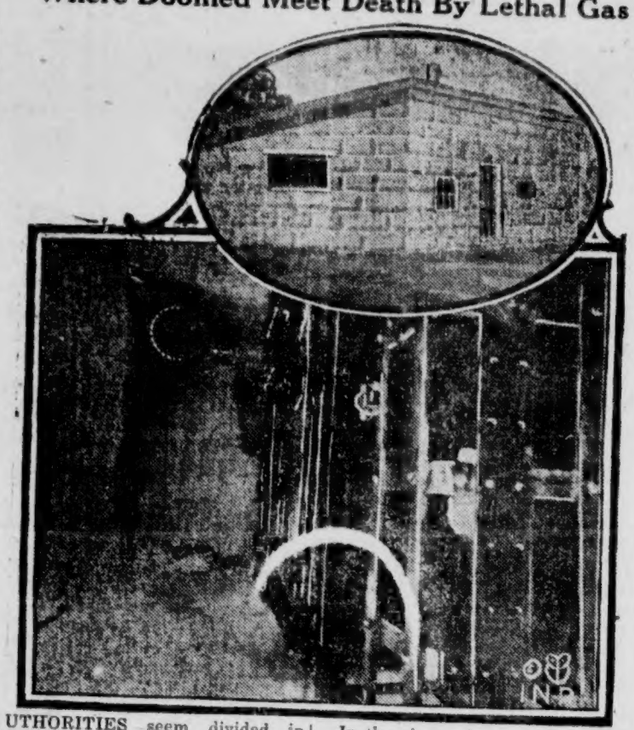
Where Doomed Meet Death By Lethal Gas



AUTHORITIES seem divided in their opinion as to the humaneness of Nevada's new method of meting out capital punishment to murderers—namely, death by lethal gas. The Nevada State Penitentiary officials who recently carried out the execution by gas of Gee Jon, Chinese slayer, however, maintain that it is more humane than either hanging or electrocution.

In the above photographs, you see the exterior and interior of Nevada's new death house as constructed in the penitentiary yard at Carson City and in which Gee Jon met his death. The chimney shown on the house—in the upper picture—was arranged as a vent to let the poison fumes escape. From the window in the foreground the witness watched the legal killing.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The entire Tennessee valley will be asked to join in an organization to promote good roads throughout North Alabama. A preliminary meeting was held by a number of committeemen appointed by civic clubs of the twin cities in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at Decatur, when a temporary organization was perfected with J. W. Clopton, chairman, and F. D. Peebles secretary. This organization it was pointed out is only temporary and a call will be made soon for a meeting to be attended by representatives from every section of the valley. The organization is expected to be particularly active in its efforts to obtain better highway communicaton through the Muscle Shoals district.

Over $100 worth of a new non-edible citrus, known as the tri-foliage orange and up to this time considered worthless, has been sold by M. F. C. Rigg and W. C. Harrell of Pleasant Hill, to satsuma growers in South Alabama. An experiment will be made to graft the new species with the satsuma in an effort to produce a frost-proof variety of satsuma.

Decatur's new streets will be improved with what amounts practically to permanent paving, according to officials, following decision of council on the character of paving to be used. All of the new streets will be improved with a five-inch concrete base with a double course of asphaltic concrete on the surface.

Out of 78 cases reviewed by the state pardon board and returned to the governor this month, 20 recommendations for parole were made. Two men who were released from prison six years ago were recommended for restoration of their civil rights. In 52 cases, petitions for parole were denied.

Birmingham's Traffic association in 1923 quoted 123,312 rates, checked 119,225 freight bills, discovered errors amounting to $51,077.50, paid 4,688 claims aggregation $87,085,82 and forced railroads entering the city to make adjustments of rates in 139 cases, according to the annual report of President E. Wilkinson.

Alleging that he was damaged to the extent of $5,000 by the cutting and deadening of trees on his plantation in Macon county, J. A. Bullock filed suit for this amount against the Montgomery Cooperage and Stave company. Mr. Bullock claimed the statute imposed a penalty of $5,000 for the destruction of the trees.

W. E. "Bud" Meyers, a former deputy sheriff and court bailiff, was convicted in the circuit court of Mobile of attempting to corrupt Charles Cogburn, a juror, who served in the first case of Thomas W. Cleveland, charged with the killing of Stephen Lossing, aged citizen.

Claiming that a cemetery belonging to the defendant company and adjoining her residence was not properly cared for, Mrs. Madora Dewitt won a jury verdict against the Union cemetery company. The case was tried before Judge Romaine Boyd in the Jefferson circuit court.

J. H. Scruggs, of the state highway commission, has notified the Dallas county board of revenue that he will go to Selma within the next few days to examine the bridge over the Alabama river, which was built 40 years ago and not designed for the traffic to which it is now being subjected.

Two sets of brothers, a Spanish-American war veteran, and a woman born in this country but deprived of her citizenship through marriage to an alien, were among 38 applicants given final naturalization papers by Judge Grubb in United States district court at Birmingham.

Houses are in demand at Jacksonvill, as the Spring term of the State Normal School has begun and there is a pouring in of teachers, who want to take the Spring and Summer courses.

City commissioners of Mobile have under consideration a proposal to increase rates charged for water consumed in Mobile, and if plans work out as suggested, the new rate will become effective about June 1.

GOOD INFORMATION TO FISHERS OF ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., March, 22, 1924.
The Union-Banner:

In order to better conserve and protect the fish in the fresh waters of this State, it is hereby declared a violation of law and shall constitute a misdemeanor to take, catch, kill or be in possession of any bass, trout, fresh-water trout or bream, from the fresh waters of this State, from the 1st day of April to the 1st day of June following, in each year.

Under the head of bream are the following fish:

1. (Lepomis Incisor) known as blue, Joe, blue perch, blue bream, blue sunfish, copper-nosed bream and blue gill.

2. (Lepomis Auritus) known as yellow-belly, red-belly, robin perch and long-eared sunfish.

3. (Chaenoovyttus Gulosus) known as goggle-eye, chub, muc-chub, red-eyed bream and warmoth, and white perch.

The above section of the Act, approved September 29th, 1923, does not apply to privately owned ponds, lakes, reservoirs, etc. However, it is believed that the true sportsmen of the state will be willing to refrain from fishing in private waters during the months of April and May, the spawning season on fresh-water trout, bass and bream, in order that later on there will be a great many more fish to furnish sport and recreation.

I. T. QUINN,
Commissioner of Game and Fisheries.

EVERS—FORD WEDDING

On last Thursday noon, at the court house in Clanton occurred the marriage of Mr. Will Evers of Mt. Creek to Miss Linner Ford of Montgomery. Judge L. H. Reynolds performed the ceremony in the presence of a small number of close friends of the contracting parties.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at childbirth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

We are pleased to learn of progress in the matter of a new public schoo building. The County Board of Education at a meeting last Friday appointed a building committee of citizens of Thorsby who will have charge of whatever pertains to the completion of arrangements for the new building. The members of this committee are: C. E. Lucas, chairman, Walter Littlejohn, a member of the Town Council, and Nat Bentley, Moyor of Thorsby. Working plans for the building have not yet reached the committee, but are expected soon. Preliminaries such as title to the land to be used and securing pledges from Thorsby citizens to cover the amount Thorsby must raise, being now assured, the character of the building, and its purposes must be given careful consideration Types of material with reference to durability and cost of upkeep must be studied and wisely selected from among a variety that have been time tested elsewhere and approved by experts in building material. Nothing must be selected because it is cheap in price only but that which will give most service for the money invested, and then have the material used under the personal supervision of some one who is known as a competent builder of such structures. Whenever it is practicable to use local material or labor, the committee or the contractor should give them preference, but never at the expense of the best ultimate results. Inferior material or workmanship is never good enough, though often used, for a public service building and will prove especially so in this case when consolidated schools are fast taking the place of the old type. If our work here is properly done it will attract attention of the surrounding communities to such an extent that they will undoubtedly want to come in, and if the work already done involves a heavy bill of expense for unkeep, it will prove a handicap in making provision for enlargement. It is to be hoped that every one intrusted with responsibility in this undertaking and our citizens generally near and far will visualize the possibilities for improvement in educational facilities for all of the children in an area that extends for beyond our own dooryards.

Quite a large delegation of young people from Thorsby Baptist church attended the B. Y. P. U. convention at Tuscaloosa last week. They report an unusual attendance and a splendid program. The Thorsby delegates were: Misses Lena Franklin, Ruth Martin, Dolly Correll, Martha Martin, Messrs. Gordon Sorrell, Joyce Sorrell, Curtis Billingsley, Horace Franklin, Gresham Lowery.

Mr. D. M. Paxon is reported to be recovering from his serious attack of pneumonia .

Mrs. Capitola Laird and daughter, Margaret of New York City, are visitors at the home of Mrs. Laird's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Paxon. They also had with them for the week end Mrs. H. C. Schimel and children, grand daughter and great grand children from East Lake, Birmingham.

Mrs. Harry V. Thompson of Birmingham was a Thorsby visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead have moved into the Harry Thompson house pending the completion of their own house.

A number from Thorsby went to Clanton Thursday of last week where they attended the production of the moving picture entitled, "The Birth of a Nation."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard entertained Mrs. Edward Howard of Ensley on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Christine Christiansen in Birmingham and Mrs. Villadsen's son, Reno, and his family at Jasper.

For Saturday night, April 5th in Bates Hall, the Ladies Guild of Thorsby have secured the world-famed "Mrs. Jarley" who will present her inimitable collection of Wax Figures. There will be an admission fee of 25c for adults and 15c for children under 12 years of age. The proceeds will be applied to the equipment fund for the new public school building.

Mrs. Charles W. Keyes of Washington, D. C., representing the Radcliffe Chatauqua Association, was in Thorsby a couple of days this week seeking to make arrangements for a three-days Chautauqua assembly in our town during the coming summer. Nothing definite had been done at this writing.

"The Jolly Bachelors Club gained many new members at their public initiation ceremonies at Bates Hall last Saturday night.

April 1st being "All Fools Day" and the time set for the annual picnic of Thorsby Institute, came in with a temperature and wind calling for overcoats and mittens, but clear. So the young people braved the elements and as the day advanced it proved to be ideal for a frolic, thus giving the participants what they had not expected. It is reported that about 80 were present and a very jolly time was had by the young fellows.

At the Congregational Church Sunday night following Christian Endeavor, there will be the monthly praise service. These singing services have come to be an institution in this church greatly enjoyed by large audiences.

Mr. Fred Krahmen, who was 86 years old last Thursday, was given a surprise party by some of his friends who took with them refreshments including a birthday cake. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson and daughter, Edith. Mr. Krahman was very much delighted to be thus remembered.

Mrs. C. E. Bice has received notice from the County Board of Education that she has been appointed as a member of Thursby public school faculty for the ensuing school year, on recommendation of the Thorsby local school board.

The Congregational Ladies Aid social will be held Thursday afternoon, April 2rd at the home of Mrs. Carl C. Petersen.

Rev. Joseph E. Each will immediately assume charge of two Congregational churches in adidtion to his duties as pastor of the Thorsby Church, one of them Union Church, located 7 miles east of Mt. Creek and the other at Stony Point near Deatsville. Mr. Each will have use of a Ford, dubbed "Congregational Service Car" furnished to him by the Congregational Home Mission Society.

Many Thorsby people will refember Miss Ida Lockwood, at one time office stenographer and business department manager at Thorsby Institute. She is now a full fledged Congregational minister and April 1st assumes charge of a group of churches in north-west Florida.

NOTICE TO THOSE THROWING TRASH IN PUBLIC ROADS

I wish to ask those of my district who have been plowing terraces out in the roads, to please refrain from doing this any more, as it will cause the roads to wash out in holes when it comes a big rain. I have noticed places where people have thrown large chunks in the ditches along the roads, which stops up the ditches and causes the water to overflow the roads washing out gullies. I wish to ask the people to be more careful about this matter also. Let's all work together to the end that we may have better roads.

Billingsley, Route 1.

OAK GROVE

Health of this place is good at present and everyone is enjoying the beautiful weather.

We are glad to see Miss Rosa Lee Martin out again after a treatment in Birmingham.

Our Sunday School is doing fine with a large attendance. We elected new officers and teachers Sunday: Supt., Mr. Oscar Cobb; Secy., Miss Jessie Cobb; Teachers—Class No. 1, Mr. G. P. Wilson; Class No. 2, Mrs. W. J. Northcutt; Class No. 3, Mrs. C. L. Martin; Class No. 4, Miss Ollie Glass; Class No. 5, Miss Lesta Cobb; Class No. 6, Miss Myrtle Martin; Class No. 7, Mrs. Lesta Northcutt.

Our B. Y. P. U. is also doing fine. Mrs. C. L. Martin had charge of the program.

The B. Y. P. U. social at the home of Mr. Thornsboro Saturday night was enjoyed by a large crowd. Miss Ivy Sutley and Mr. William Satterwhite won the tacky prize. Mr. Thornsbro got the prize for being the ugliest man. Several games were enjoyed, after which different kinds of cake were served. Everyone seemed to have a nice time.

Mr C. L. Martin of Wylam spent Sunday night with home folks.

Mrs. Lizzie Martin and family spent last week visiting relatives at Lock 12.

Messrs. A. W. and W. A. Glass motored to Maplesville Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Durbin and daughter, Agnes of Gadsden spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Satterwhite and family and Mr. L. R. Cobb motored down to New Salem Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Martin dined with Miss Jessie Cobb Sunday.

Miss Leta Mae Lowery dined with Miss Lest Cobb Sunday.

Misses Lola Mae Martin and Flossie Cobb dined with Miss Ollie Glass Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cobb spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little.

Miss Rosa Lee Martin spent Sunday with Miss Ola Glass

Mrs. C. L. Martin dined with Mrs. Jim Cobb Sunday.

Everybody remember the all-day singing the third Sunday in April, and in the afternoon the first Sunday.

Dr. G. Nash of Chicago, secretary of the Congegational Foundation for Education, was a visitor at Thorsby Institute last Friday.

THANKS FOR USE OF COURT HOUSE

Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me the privilege of expressing through the columns of your good paper to all who were responsible for tendering to us the use of the court house for worship during the construction of our church, our sincere appreciation. It has met our every need and enabled us to carry on our work unhindered.

C. C. WILKERSON,
Preacher in Charge.

CENTER HILL NEWS

Last Sunday was a great day at Center Hill, it being an all day singing in the Christian Harmony.

The service was opened by Mr. J. E. Cobb, followed by other direcotrs.

Then a lecture on Sacred song by Rev. George of Coopers. The lecture was really good and interesting,—one of the best, enjoyed by the people very much, and will long be remembered.

At noon the singers were abundantly provided for, as Center Hill always does. The writer and Mr. H. B. Glenn were nicely entertained by Mr. B. L. Cobb and his accomplished family in their hospitable home.

The singing was sweet and spirited. Directed by J. E. Cobb, J. H. Martin, J. N. Scott, H. H. Armstrong, C. W. Scott, J. D. Hodgens, Archie Glass, Mr. Castleberry, W. R. Scott.

The day was lovely, the crowd was large; a beautiful spirit prevailed. A day enjoyed by old and young.

Among the visitors we noted T. J. Hubbard, Archie Glass and Brother George, Y. O. Freeman, C. W. Scott, W. J. Northcutt, E. H. Foshee, D. L. Langston, H. B. Glenn.

Mr. Glenn, altho a candidate, was not canvassing; altho a stranger, he made a good impression.

We note with interest the candidacy of Mrs. Lois Sims of Jemison. She is accomplished and worthy. No disloyalty was ever found in the family of T. J. Hubbard, (father of Mrs. Sims). Among all the other efficient candidates for treasurer Mrs. Sims in loyalty, efficiency and worthiness is not surpassed. She, like all the other true aspirants for the suffrages of the people, will ever be appreciative of the people's support.

Long live The Union-Banner; long live Center Hill, and the Sunday singings.

Mr. J. C. Burke, good old Coosa County Republican from Rockford, Route 2, was in Clanton Monday. While here he took a year's subscription to The Union-Banner.

NEW SALEM NEWS

Our Fifth Sunday meeting was fine. A nice dinner was served and everybody reported a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Patterson spent the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burnett.

Mrs. Myrtle Parker and children spent the day with Mrs. E. L. Sunberg Sunday.

Mr. Johnnie Burnett, who has had the mumps, is up again.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Patterson spent the day with Mrs. Elijah Burnett Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clary Burnett, Mrs. Rose Foshee, Mr. Jack Parker, and Mr. Otto Burnett spent a few enjoyable hours with Mr. and Mrs. George Headley Sunday night.

Mr. Jasper Oaks took supper with Mr. and Mrs. William Martin Sunday night.

Mrs. Johnnie Jones, who has been sick for some time, was able to be with us at church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burnett spent a while Sunday night with Mrs. Myrtle Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Smith spent a whilt with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Robinson Sunday.

Mrs. Lula Thacker and Miss Pearl spent Sunday with Mrs. Dora Bates.

Mrs. Jadie Bean's baby is on the sick list this week.

JACKSON'S CHAPEL

Health of this community is very good at present. Farmers are busy preparing their crops with the coming of spring and the beautiful weather.

Our school closed Wednesday, March 26th. A good program was rendered by the children, and the co-operation of the teachers was evidenced in the interest and enthusiasm in the performances of their last day in school.

We are sure every one appreciates the efforts set forth in our school, and we thank the teachers for having done their best, which we believe they did.

We are mighty glad to know that we have Prof. Moore for our principal another term.

We are truly glad to have Miss Jessie Jackson, who has for some time held a position in Memphis, Tenn., with us again.

Several from here attended the singing at Bethel Sunday and reported a nice time.

WILL MOVE NEAR CLANTON

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Vines, who have been living in Pascagoula, Miss., for the past three years, have purchased the old Joe Cox place a mile south-east of town and will move there in about a month. Mr. Vines has been in Pascagoula attending the army vocational school. He intends to make a crop on his place this year.

COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

The Alabama Commission of Forestry estimates that the non-agricultural portions of the cut-over pine lands of Alabama easily may be utilized to produce new timber values at the rate of from two to four dollars per acre each year. This increasing wealth upon lands which would othrewise lie idle and unproductive finally culmnates in valuable crops of trees suitable for sawlogs, ties, piling or mine timbers which can readily be sold for cash. One of the most attractive features regarding this use of so-called waste lands is that in the great majority of cases it requires no additional investment on the part of the owner, and involves practically no cost of operation beyond merely keeping fire away from the land in order that the young timber may grow as nature intended.

SARDIS NOTES

Health of this place is very good at present.

There was a very large crowd at Sunday school Sunday morning and we had a good Sunday school, and everybody seemed to enjoy it fine.

Come on boys and girls, women and men, let us make our Sunday school one of the best ones ever known at Sardis this year.

There are enough people that we could have a B. Y. P. U., or Bible reading every Sunday afternoon, but nobody will make an effort—one waits for the other and that's why our church is not doing any better.

So boys and girls, let us see if we can't do better and build up our church.

There was a fruit supper at Mr. John Sexton's last Saturday night. It was enjoyed by a large crowd and everybody seemed to enjoy their supper especially.

Mrs. Jessie Blass from Selma was visiting here Sunday.

Miss Beulah Chambers and Mr. Ellie Mitchell motored out to Antioch Sunday afternoon.

Misses Era and Ulma Klinner, Miss Anthel Ratliff and Misses Minnie and Lennie Headley dined with Miss Eva Klinner Sunday.

COUNTY LINE NEWS

The health of this place is very good at present.

Come on young folks and let's make our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. the very best. Let's all go next Sunday.

Mrs. Minnie Smitherman and children spent last Saturday night with Mrs. Mollie Green.

Miss Lizzie Green is some better now. We hope she will soon be up. She has been in bed eleven weeks.

Miss Delene Littlejohn gave a party Saturday night. Everybody present had a grand time.

Mr. Heath Lawley and Mr. Ira Hambrick from Lawley visited this place Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Green and son, Haskell Green, and Mrs. Kate Stanford motored to the Hardshell church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mollie Green and son, daughter and Mrs. Ammer Green motored to the Hardshell church Sunday afternoon.

Miss Fairece Green and Miss Earlene Hall spent Sunday night with Miss Delene Littlejohn.

Mr. W. R. K. Stanford and son and daughter, Brant and Mildred, motored to Pine Flat Sunday.

Mrs. Jno. M. Bridges and daughter left the hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. W. T. White was in for a local operation last week.

confidence on the part of my friends and the respect of the thinking, patriotic, self-respecting American people. Of all this, I feel confidently assured."

Compliments Coolidge

Daugherty's statement was notable for its numerous complimentary allusions to Coolidge. These followed an intimation earlier in the day that he would support the President for the republican nomination, if successful in its candidacy for delegate-at-large from Ohio, and tended to dispel suggestions that the former justice chief might turn against Coolidge in the latter's candidacy.

"I took a difficult position with the President as a matter of duty and a desire to help him most in the long run," Daugherty said, and declared, "We should all pull together to help the President."

"He is honest," Daugherty said, "and is trying to put through a program that means much to the American people.

"To give up a place in the cabinet was not of a second's disappointment to me," the statement said. "As to the method employed against me, the rougher the work, the greater the benefit to the country as an object lesson.

"I happen to be in a position where I could stand it better than some others. I hope it stops with me. The President's cabinet deserves support from Congress and the country. He needs them and they are deserving of confidence, respect and gratitude.

Complete Story To Wait

"The complete story of this thing will wait," Daugherty continued. "The carrying out of a program agreed upon and known to be helpful to the country, will not wait too long.

"No one need waste any time worrying about the ex-Attorney General. He will take care of himself until reason is restored and time and truth fully vindicate him, as they surely will.

"Nobody's feelings are much hurt; if they are hurt at all, it doesn't amount to anything.

"Now is the time for cool heads, considerate counsel and help by all."

Daugherty said he would return to Washington Monday afternoon.

Beck Acting Atty. General

Solicitor General James M. Beck is acting as Attorney General until a permanent appontment is made. Among those likely to succeed Daugherty are mentioned Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg, of the Massachusetts supreme judicial court; Harlan F. Stone, dean of the Columbia University School of Law; Gov. Alexander J. Groesbeck, of Michigan; William S. Kenyon, former senator from Iowa and now judge of the Federal circuit court of appeals, Eighth district, and Secretary of State Hughes.

The President has given no consideration as yet to any particular person, but has decided that the man he selects as Attorney General must have a knowledge of law and must possess administrative capacity.

R. N. Wilkins of Billingsley was in Clanton Tuesday.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER HAS 79TH BIRTHDAY

Plymouth, Vt., March 31.—John C. Coolidge, futher of President Coolidge, observed his seventy-ninth birthday anniversary quietly at his home here today. Hale and straight in spite of his years and with few grey hairs, he gave as his advice to those who desire longevity, 'no worry, hard work."

There was no celebration at the white farm house where last August Calvin Coolidge was sworn in by his father as President of the United States.

He passed most of the forenoon in a neighbor's sugar lot, where he was persuaded to pose for camera men. In the afternoon he was called to a little general store across the road from his home to answer many long distance telephone messages of congratulations. Scores of letters arrived by the one mail of the day, and reading these occupied the rest of the daylight hours.

One letter was from President Coolidge and there was also a card from Mrs. Coolidge. The President's father said the letter from his son was "too personal" to make public. Among other things, President Coolidge asked his father not to work too hard and urged him to visit the White House as soon as possible.

On last Sunday morning occured the marriage of Mr. W. M. Miller to Miss Velma Muir. Mr. A. B. Baxley performed the ceremony at his home near Samaria. Mr. Miller is from Chelsea, Ala. and Miss Muir is from near Samaria.

THE BIRTH OF A NATION BIG SUCCESS IN CLANTON

"The Birth of a Nation" was shown six times in Clanton the last three days of last week, and it is reported that a good crowd attended every performance. The picture was shown at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton under the auspices of the Ku Klux Klan, and those in charge say that the picture payed for itself with a nice margin besides. "The Birth of a Nation" is a great picture and we are indeed glad that the people of Clanton and Chilton Ciunty were given the opportunity of seeing it.

UNITED FARMERS MEETING

A new ruling in the organization will be explained at the court house Saturday, April 5 at 2:00 o'clock. All members are earnestly requested to attend this meeting, whether you have paid your dues or not.

BENNETT EASTERLING DEAD

On Tuesday night of last week about 10:20 o'clock occurred the death of Mr. Bennett Easterling of Refuge community. Mr. Easterling was 69 years of age and was the father of sixteen children, three of which are dead. The living children are: Pate, Newett, Henry, Johnnie, Mary, wife of Charley Baker, Martha Jane, wife of Calvin Gentry, and five small children at home. The deceased was the father of Tom Easterling who died during the flu epidemic four or five years ago. Mr. Easterling had been married twice. Bennett Easterling was a brother to Bud Easterling and a half brother to Lewis, Charley, Andrew and Dave.

Mr. Easterling was a Christian man, having been a member of Walnut Creek Methodist Church for on to forty years. The remains were buried at Walnut Creek cemetery Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. Rev. G. B. Golden, pastor at Walnut Creek, preached the funeral.

Mr. Easterling was very highly respected in the Refuge and Walnut communities, and his demise will leave a vacant place in the hearts of hundreds of friends as well as in his church and his home. Our sympathy is with his bereaved relatives.

CLANTON LADY DIED LAST SUNDAY EVENING

On last Sunday evening at 5:40 o'clock occurred the death of Miss Emma Thomas, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Central Alabama Hospital by Dr. Benedict Wednesday morning of last week. The cause of her death is attributed to the fact that the operation was delayed too long.

Miss Thomas was the daughter of E. W. Thomas who died in Kellyton about 13 years ago. Her mother died here a little over three years ago. She leaves the following sisters: Mrs. W. D. Spigener of Clanton, Mrs. Mabel Levie of Sylacauga, Mrs. Annie Goodgame of South Pittsburg, Tenn., and Miss Bessie Thomas who is teaching in Andalusia. The brothers are: Max Thomas of Texas, S. J. Thomas of Kellyton, Frank W. Thomas of Talladega, and Curry D. Thomas of Clanton. All the brothers and sisters were present at the funeral except the sister in Tennessee and the brother in Texas.

Funeral services were held at the home of W. D. Spigener Monday at 3:30, Rev. Wilkerson conducting the services, assisted by Rev. Ezell. The remains were buried in the Clanton cemetery.

ANOTHER ASPIRES FOR MEMBER OF CO. BOARD

Added to the list of candidates for member of the County Board of Education to take the place of Mr. Dykes, we are carrying this week the name of Mr. W. B. Green of Lawley, Route 2. Mr. Green is a farmer and is quite well known in the south-western part of the county. He has been engaged in the mercantile business, has been a saw mill man has been a cattle trader.

Mr. Green has always lived in this county with the exception of 7 years which he spent in Bibb prior to 1907. He is the son of W. B. Green, former county commissioner, who served during the administration of S. M. Adams as probate Judge. It will be interesting to note that the aspirant for the above office is a descendant of General Nathaniel Green of Revolutionary fame.

About twenty years ago, while Mr. Green was in Bibb County he ran on the Republican ticket for county commissioner from that county. Mr. Green made a very encouraging race in this campaign and, although defeated, he was very commendingly spoken of even by his opponents.

ROBERT JONES CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon about 2:00 o'clock, Sheriff Littlejohn, assisted by Deputy Foshee and Federal Officer J. L. Gore, caught Robert Jones with about three pints of whiskey. Jones was caught at the home of his mother, Mrs. Margett Jones, about two miles north-east of town on J. M. Wyatt's place.

The officers got to the house soon after Robert had gotten there. As Sheriff Littlejohn entered the house, Foshee went to the back door and Gore went around to the side of the house. Jones, running out of the house with the whiskey in a glass jug in his hand, ran right into Foshee, who took charge of him and the whiskey.

Young Jones was brought to jail in Clanton, after which he made bond and was released.

HOW HAWKS, OWLS, ETC. ARE CAUGHT IN TRAPS

A few weeks ago we published a news item in The Union-Banner telling about Mr. Daniel Wyatt of Route 1 catching hawks and owls in steel traps. Since that time we as well as Mr. Wyatt have received inquiries as to the exact method used in catching the fowls. Uncle Daniel received one communication from a man up in Virginia wanting to know the method, and another one was received from Buffalo, Ala. We have found out the method used, which we publish below:

First you cut a hole the size of your arm about eight or ten feet long, cutting one end square and sharpening the other. On the square end you tack a board about 4 by 5 inches in each corner of which is driven a nail or staple left sticking up an inch or two. The steel trap is set and placed on the plank on top of the pole, the staples or nails being used to keep the trap from sliding off the plank. The trap is not fastened to the pole except by a long wire or small chain, so that when the fowls are caught they cannot fly off with the trap. The poll should then be taken and stuck up in the ground in a low place where the ground is covered with grass or mud and water and where there are no trees or large shrubbery. It is the nature of hawks and owls to alight on stobs or polls sticking up, so when they alight on the traps they are caught.

Up to the present time Uncle Daniel has caught 16 hawks, 17 owls and one yellow hammer. This seems to be about the best method yet out for getting rid of hawks and owls, since these fowls are so shy that one can't do much killing them with a gun.

CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS OF ALA.

The general convention committee, with John W. Durr as chairman, is planning to make the forty-first annual convention of the State Sunday school workers, to be held in Montgomery, April 21-23, 1924, the best entertained convention in the history of the State.

Dr. Durr has appointed the following chairmen for sub-committees:

Dr. W. D. Agney, chairman program committee; Rev. O. P. Spiegel, badges and banner; Judge Wm. H. Samford, banquet; Mr. W. L. Sprouse, information check room and pages; F. G. Salter, churches, halls and publishers exhibits; W. F. Black, entertainment; W. A. Bellingrath, finances; Haygood Paterson, decorations; Prof. C. Guy Smith, pagent and music; Prof. T. C. Calloway, official pianist; Sidney H. Blan, press and publicity; Hon. A. G. Patterson, railroad rates; Hugh Foster, recreational, Tom Edwards, automobile; Henry W. Parrish, ushers; Judge Walter B. Jones, registration; Claude Hendrix, reception and public comfort.

The above chairmen have selected their committee and are on the job to take care of every detail of the great convention, which will include a great pagent, entitled "The Commonwealth of God," in which about three hundred people will participate.

The music and pagentry will be under the leadership of Prof. C. Guy Smith, the noted music teacher of Montgomery and Prof. T. C. Calloway will preside as official pianist.

The world renowned leader of music and pagentry, Prof. H. Augustine Smith of the Boston University will direct the pagent.

The delegates who are fortunate enough to attend the convention will be thrilled with this magnificent pagent.

Montgomery will entertain delegates for bed and breakfast without charge. All railroads will give reduced rates.

WILL HAYES HURT

Mr. Will Hayes, who was working on thhe lumber yards in Clanton was slightly hurt last Thursday about noon when a freight car which was being switched on the yard struck him. His head was bruised up in a couple of places and he sustained a slight injury on his chest. He was confined to his home for a few days, but we learn that he has already gone back to work on his job.

SATURDAY LAST DAY TO ANNOUNCE FOR CO. OFFICES

The oil investigators in the U. S. Senate have about run out of anything to investigate. In the Teapot Dome the Democrats hoped to make a scare-crow with which to oust the Republican party from Washington, but they have done this like the Democrats generally do such things—they have run it in the ground and broke it off. The "scandal" has not had the desired effect since the people of the country are wise as to the motives behind the "investigations."

Mr. J. M. Williams and charming daughter, Miss Ruth, from New Harmony community were in to see us Tuesday. They brought us a year's subscription and a news letter from their community.

SELMA AND CHILTON HIGH BATTLE 13 INNINGS TO TIE

Scores by innings:

															R	H	E
Selma	2	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	4	7	2

Batteries: Selma, Wilson and Mallory; Clanton, Mullins, Burnett and Thompson.

With one thrill piled on top of another, tenseness carried thru from the first inning until the last, the baseball season was officially opened on Saturday afternoon with Selma High School entertaining Chilton County High in a battle that went 13 innings to end in a 4-4 tie.

The crowd Was disapointing, but not one in the crowd was disapointed. Both teams played in mid-season form and had very few bobbles chalked up against them. Only one of these counted in the scoring, that in the eighth inning when Hooper let a roller get away from him in center field, allowing Clanton to chall up the third of the three runs tally. This run together with one made in the ninth that tied the issue enabled the visitors to stay in the running.

Selma Scares First

Selma boys scored first in the initial frame. Hooper and Mallory scratched hits to make the runway Woods got a life when he beat a throw to first, but Lester was out on an infield fly, when Hayes at short took his sky seeker. Holiday whifed at three fast ones and sought bench.

With but one down and two on the paths McKenzie came thru with a screaming single to left that scored Hooper and Mallory. Billie made second the throw in but died on the paths when Austin sent an infield fly to Wyatt.

Selma increased their lead in the seventh, chalking up two more on the right side of the ledger, Hooper again starting the fracas on a single to right. He advanced to second when Wyatt was slow taking care of Mallory's grounder and went to third on Wood's bingle. Lester furnished the punch that sent the runs over the platter, a sweet hit to center that had a thru ticket, and Holiday ended the innings when he took three.

Clanton Comes Back

Naturally the Selma boys were jubilant over their 4-0 lead. Possibly this was partially responsible for their downfall, because, in the next inning, even tho the game seemed to be on ice, Littlejohn started operations after B. Burnett had died at first Littlejohn took second when wilson cut loose with a wild pitch and thumped Curlee on the south side and Thompson, who played a good game all the way, connected for the long swat to center that got away from Hooper. When the dust had settled it was realized that three runs had come over the platter. Jones skied one to McKenzie and Wyatt went the way of all flesh when Mallory took care of his foul.

Ruffin got the run that tied the tally in the first of the ninth, a Texas leaguer to center giving him a life. He went down to second on J. Burnett's out, Lester to woods and scored on a slow roller that Wilson coulden't retrieve in time to get to the plate.

From then on, it was anybody's edge. In practically all of the over time frames Selma got men on base and in the eleventh and thirteenth and the cushions populated, but was unable to produce the punch that would convert a tally.

Burnett Is Good

Burnett relieved Mullins for Clanton in the eight and showed a world of stuff, tho he was a trifle wild. He has a high hard one that whistles over the platter in big league style and has a fast breaking curve that is more than deceptive.

Wilson worked all the way for Selma and won a real home. He was as steady as a veteran and got out of most of the bad holes by using his head to advantage. He was also accorded excellent support all the way, McKenzie showing up especially good in the outfield and Lester, Holiday and Heinz taking care of the hot ones on the infield section.

Clanton pulled off a fast double in the eleventh that stopped Selma rally, Ruffins, Wyatt and Jones figuring Selma's infield, Lester, Heinz and Woods figured also in a double death.

Because of the fact that there was no official scorer on hand a box score was not kept.

The boys were sportsmanlike all thru with both teams stepping on the accelerator and putting up an unusual brand of ball.

Bob Reed of the Selma Times-Journal umpired.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT CLANTON BAPTIST S. S.

Deserving of much special mention was the special Missionary program rendered at the Clanton Baptist church last Sunday morning by the Sunday school classes. We have neither the words nor the space to numerate all the fine things that were done and said by the children and officers at this service. To say the least of it, the service was as well arranged and as well presented as any we most ever saw, and for one to witness it and go away without being moved on the question of missions, one would have to possess a mighty stony heart.

Judging from the way the children can perform, the Clanton Baptist Sunday school is doing a wonderful work in the training of the men and women of tomorrow. The little tots as well as the larger ones took part in this program and certainly performed their duties well. The officers and teachers of the Sunday school are certainly to be commended for the splendid work they are doing in training the young folks of Clanton.

After the Sunday School program, there was no regular sermon preached, but the church observed the ordinance of the Lord's Supper.

COMMISSIONERS COURT MEETS AND CONSIDERS TICK WORK

The commissioners court of Chilton County met in regular monthly session at the court house Monday. Besides disposing of regular work, they took up the matter of finishing up the tick eradication work in Chilton County. Dr. Jackson of Montgomery and Dr. Strickler of Selma met with the Board and discussed with them eradication work in this county.

Dr. Strickler was placed in charge of the eradication work in this county, to take the place of Dr. Lewis, who has had charge of the work for the past couple of years. The work of cleaning up the Beats of the county which are still infested with ticks will be taken up within the next few days.

FOX-WOOLLEY WEDDING

At the Methodist parsonage in Clanton last Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock occured the marriage of Mr. W. W. Fox of Clanton to Mrs. Mattie Woolley. Rev. C. C. Wilkerson performed the ceremony in the presence of a small group of close friends of the contracting parties. Shortly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Fox left for Birmingham, from where they went to Blocton to visit the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ware.

Mr. Fox is a well known business man of Clanton, and his charming bride is the sister of Mrs. W. A. Reynolds of Clanton. They will make their future home in Clanton on 4th Street and 3rd Avenue South.

OIL SESSION WASTED; NO NEW SCANDALS

Colorless Oil Probe In Washington Hears Four Witnesses and Adjourns.

Washington, April 7.—The Senate oil committee devoted another featureless session Monday to its inquiry into stories of oil deals and oil contributions in the political campaign of 1920.

Four witnesses followed one another in quick succession at the big committee table and none of them added much information.

Wilbur M. Marsh, of Iowa, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, testified that he must consult the committee's books before he could tell how much E. L. Doheny contributed to the Democratic fund in 1920. W. L. Kistler, an Oklahoma oil man, disclaimed any connection with Republican campaign collections in that year.

J. B. French, of Oklahoma, told the committee that Jake Harmon had informed him of expenditures of $400,000 in the 1920 election and of $25,000 to pay the hotel expenses of Harding convention headquarters in Chicago.

Robert E. Wolfe, publisher of the Ohio State Journal at Columbia, insisted that he had no first hand information about the famous 2 o'clock hotel conference on Harding's nomination and never had heard until recently of an attempt to make an oil deal for the nomination of Leonard Wood.

SURVEY OF WHITE CITY ROUTE IS FINISHED BY SURVEYORS

The survey of the new route for the Montgomery-Birmingham highway from Clanton to Montgomery by way of White City and Prattville has been completed. As the new survey goes, the highway will leave the old road at the L. D. Popwell place just south of Clanton and will go in to the back of Mr. Jasper Dendis' house. The route then makes a curve toward the west, crossing the railroad at the fill just below Mr. Dennis'. It then turns due south and takes a straight shot for Enterprise School House and on by Gray's store and saright through White City and on into Prattville. The new survey stays close to the old Mt. Pisgah road keeping all the way on top of the ridge where the old road runs.

The surveyors figure that the distance to Montgomery from Clanton by the White City route will only be 42 miles, which is four or five miles nearer than the route by Marbury. It appeare now that the highway will very likely be built through White City and Prattville and from there on into Montgomery.

ORIGINAL

SPEAKS WELL OF MISS GENIE COLLINS FOR TREASURER

Thorsby, Ala., April 7, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

I have been a citizen of Chilton county for eight years, but have been contented to be silent in politics, but this year brings a new item to my mind and gives me more than usual interest in the party.

We, for many centuries shunted the women out of politics and denied them the right of citizenship, but at last we awoke to the fact that they had a right to and were competent to help make up the great forces of our nation.

No one doubts that the average woman is more dependable and more sincere in her desires for a square deal than the average man, yet for some reason, not yet explained, we have allowed ourselves to vote the man in office, and give him the pie and let him go and hire a hard-working honest girl to do the work of the office for a small part of what it pays. This I must admit has been just in the past for no woman or girl has offered them selves for election and of course got the only thing they could hope for a job in some office.

This year voters of ChiltonCounty is different, we have a lady in our County asking for the office as County Treasurer of the county, a lady who has been holding one job for small pay and who has proven beyond a question of doubt that she is competent, and whose honesty no one questions.

She is not only competent and honest but deserving to the last letter. I am quite sure that I am telling the experience of others when telling of many visits to the court house and not finding the officer wanted in his office, this lady would stop her work and take pains to give me all the information she could, and in her own office she has always been so careful that I never had room to question a single thing she did.

I believe the voters of Chilton will roll up a nice and sufficient vote to place her in office.

The lady to whom I refer is Miss Genie Collins of Thorsby.

I don't just know what the people are going to do, but as for myself I am going to show my appreciation of the ladies in politics and cast my vote and influence for one of the fair sex every time one so deserving as Miss Genie offers. I have no doubt that there are good men in the race for treasurer, but none more deserving than Miss Genie Collins, and since they are men, all things being equal, why should the lady not be first, for a man can make a livelihood at many things that a lady can't do.

Hoping that every voter in the county will consider these few remarks and show that we men are not only willing to ask the lady to vote for us but that we are willing to give them an office as well.

I am sure I need call to the attention of the lady voters of the county that their opportunity has arrived.

Very truly,
G. J. THOMPSON.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

We haven't seen anything from Maplesville in quite a while, as we understand the writer has been away. Altho we are not all dead, but have a lot of sickness. Mr. P. C. Pullian is ill. Mr. Homer Atchison who has been ill for quite a while with rheumatism doesn't seem to be improving any, but we are hoping him a speedy recovery.

Mr. H. M. Nix was carried to the hospital in Selma last week. We are hoping she will soon be back home again.

Our Sunday school is still progressing very nicely, tho we would like to have more of the parents out.

The farmers are all busy farming this beautiful spring weather. We are hoping to reap a large harvest.

Mr. Bonnie Ray of Andalusia is spending a few weeks with Mrs. Ed. Smitherman.

Mrs. Thomas of Brent is visiting Miss Alpha Smitherman this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cherry of Marbury spent the week-end with their daughter, Mrs. Homer Atchison.

Mr. David Seales of Hampton Roads, who has been in the Navy 2 years, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seales and other relatives.

Mrs. Brady McAfee of Bessemer is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Seales.

Mr. Wheeler spent the week-end with home folks.

Mr. Oren and Miss Edith Fox of Birmingham spent last week in Maplesville.

Mrs. Fred Oden of Shoults spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Anna Latham.

Mr. A. W. and M. A. Glass of Jemison were down here on a business trip last week.

Mr. L. L. Seales was in Selma last week-end visiting his daughter, Mrs. Bert Blass.

Mr. G. C. Kemp and family have moved to Birmingham. We are very sorry to see them leave as they will be missed so much.

Miss Velma Seales spent Sunday with Miss Marie Roberts.

Misses Mattie Mae and Olys Seales spent Sunday with Miss Victrola Hayes.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

The Chestnut Creek Singing Society met in regular session Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Chairman W. M. Devaughn called the house to order and sung one song, after which Bro. Henderson led in prayer. The Society accepted the resignation of W. M. Devaughn who has been our chairman ever since the society was organized about two years ago, and L. T. Grant was elected chariman and O. L. Devaughn re-elected secretary. Then the following directors directed from one to three songs each: Messrs. J. W. Cagle, O. L. Devaughn, L. N. Henderson, J. A. W. Mims, R. E. Powell, L. T. Grant, J. R. Robinson, Ralph Grant and W. M. Devaughn. There were several other directors present, but for the lack of time were not on the program—among whom were R. T. Grant, J. Z. Mims, Willis Bishop, S. M. Yates, Jr., L. E. Little, R. E. Miller and others. We invite you all to come again, and we will try and place your name on the program.

The ones who performed at the organ were Lee J. Grant, Mrs. Jesse Baker, Lena Mae Devaughn, Mrs. J. W. Cagle and Ralph D. Grant.

The Walnut Creek Quartet was present and rendered two splendid selections. We were glad to have them with us and give them a cordial invitation to be with us as often as you can make it convenient to do so. The Cooper Quartet also rendered two good selections but perhaps one of the best features of the evening was a sola by Miss Lena Mae Devaughn, entitled: The Beautiful Garden of Prayer. We had several short but very interesting talks during the evening by D. S. Robinson, L. N. Henderson, C. D. Hughes, S. M. Yates and Rev. J. D. Hughes.

Space would not permit for me to tell you all of the good things that is said and done in these meetings but we invite you to come and see for yourself.

FROM C. L. WILKINS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me a little space in your paper to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County. You will find my name in the list asking the people of the county for a job as commissioner from the Fourth District. I would be glad to have the job. I would like to have a chance to help the people of Chilton County. It seems to me that there is still room for improvement.

Now, it is not just because I need the job that makes me ask the people for it. Yet, I am a poor man, but I think I have an honest living at home. I have always tried to make my living by working hard and trying to be honest with my fellow man. I think I have an interest in our county. I would like to see her out of debt and to see it crossed up with good roads, which I believe can be done with good judgment and hard work.

I do not believe a man can build a good road out of sand by itself, neither do I believe he can build it out of clay, but I do believe it can be done with rock and gravel, sand and clay. We have plenty of these four kinds of road material and I believe we have plenty of good men to use them.

I have worked the roads ever since I was 18 years old, and almost all of it has been overseer. If I live to see next Thursday I will be 34 years old, and I have never had any trouble getting my hands to work. When we worked the road, we all worked just like we were getting pay for it. I never asked a man for more room for a road but that I got it, and sometimes him to help move the road.

Last year I worked the road from Swift Creek at the Weldon bridge to four miles east, and in our work with ten hands we handled around seven hundred good loads of gravel and put on the road. Now, I don't want any honor for this at all. I just think I tried to do my duty. Let us all try to work up a spirit among our people that will get all of us to do our bit. If you wanted a man to help you, you would not go to him and tell him he had to do so and so, but you would say, John, I would like for you to help me just a little; I am in a little tight.

You can always lead a man better than you can drive him.

Now, I don't wish any of the older men who are running against me any harm at all, but I would like to have the job, and if the voters of the county will elect me to this place, I will pledge myself to you all to do my very best to serve the people, as I would like for you to do for me if I had you hired to help me on my farm.

I am going to try to see as many voters as I can, but I have got to work some at home; so, if I don't get to see you, don't think that I would not appreciate your vote and influence. If you can help me, I will do my best to make you proud of it. So, please don't forget me on the 13th of May.

C. L. WILKINS.

ARTHUR MIMS FINED IN MAYOR'S COURT SATURDAY

Last Saturday Arthur Mims was tried in the mayor's court of Clanton for public drunkness and driving a car while intoxicated. Mims was fined $32.10 and in addition to the fine was forbidden to drive a car on the public highways of the State for a period of three months. This is the second or third time this young man has been arrested under charges similar to the above.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'. E-100

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Nelson Thursday, April the 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss are rejoising over the arrival of a baby boy which arrived at their home last Saturday morning.

Mrs. Nels Petersen and children are visiting Mrs. Petersen's parents at West Point, Ga., this week.

Mrs. John Johnson and daughter, Miss Altha Parker and Mrs. W. L. Leary went to Birmingham Tuesday morning.

Mr. F. E. Gronquist is doing some carpenter work in Birmingham and sent for Arthur B. Littleton and Mr. H. O. Bean to help him.

Mrs. Captain Hutchinson was a visitor at Montevallo early this week.

Mrs. S. B. Kelley of Midland City was a visitor at Thorsby Institute last Tuesday, where two of her sons are students.

Mr. T. C. Sims, who supplies merchants and families in Thorsby with ice, is fitting up the garage opposite Mrs. Villadsen's house, where he will store ice in small lots to keep a supply on hand for prompt service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard and family are making good use of their Maxwell car. They seldom go out for a ride without inviting neighbors who have no car to enjoy a ride with them.

Miss Margaret Laird, grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Paxson, who is a concert singer of considerable ability, gave a benefit entertainment Wednesday night at the Wadesonian theatre. The proceeds were donated to the public school fund.

The attendance at Bates Hall last Saturday night to see "Mrs. Jarley" and her Wax Work Automatons, as portrayed by members of the Ladies Guild of Thorsby, was sufficient to net about $30 for equipment for the public school. Mrs. Loveland as Mrs. Jarley was an unqualified success, her collection of animate wax figures, personified by ladies of the Guild, represented living illustrations of the jingles found in old "Mother Goose" rhymes, gave glimpses of the moving pictures of 100 years ago.

Mrs. Carl C. Petersen was "The old woman who lived in a shoe" who had children a plenty. "Little Bo-Peep" as represented by Mrs. Robert Davenport, was a picture one will long remember. "Mother Goose," a character taken by Mrs. G. F. Harper, brought a graphic picture of that wonderful woman of our childhood. Mrs. Chas. S. Howard, as "The bachelor who lived by himself" was very effective in the scene in which he brought his wife, Lorena Graham, home in a wheel barrow and spilled her in the road.

"Elisabeth, Eliza, Betsy and Bess" in quaint costumes as similar as "Peas in a pod" by Mrs. F. E. Mead, Mrs. J. M. Graham, Mrs. O. L. Jackson and Mrs. Ed Piper, made an interesting picture. The original "Old Curiosity Shop" had but one "Little Nell" but "Mrs. Jarley" had so many "Figgers" in her collection on this occasion that needed winding up to make them perform that she brought two competent assistants, both of whom she called "Nell" but who in every day life were Christine Bosworth and Ella Howard. Space forbids a full description of other characters, all of which were good, except to mention names and the part they represented: Old King Cole, Mrs. Gerald; and his fiddlers three, Mrs. Lucas, Agnes Leary and Gladys Flummer. One remarkable feature was the singing by one of the Automatons which not only had to be wound up but as Mrs. Jarley explained to the audience, must be blown up, to make the young lady sing. This she proceeded to do, and there was real singing by the huge doll in the person of Agnes Leary. At the close of the entertainment all the figures were blown up, 35 of them' occupying the whole back stage, sang in good style, "Good Night Ladies."

The whole affair was a manifestation of a good deal of latent ability in our staid matrons and must have taken a lot of rehearsal to get the whole performance to run so smoothly and withal such a delightful entertainment. We would not forget to mention several piano solos by Miss Parker, which interspersed the program and were enthusiastically received.

The meeting of the United Singing societies at the Thorsby Baptist church last Sunday afternoon was well attended and very much enjoyed.

Rev. N. A. Long and family are leaving Thorsby this week. Mr. Long has received and accepted a call to become pastor of a church in Atlanta. His wife and children will visit the home of Mr. Long's parents at Midland City until Mr. Long has made ready for them to join him in Atlanta.

Miss Althea Parker, as director of music in Thorsby Institute, has in training a chorus choir of high school boys and girls who are doing really good work. They form a nucleus for the choir of the Congregational church and last Sunday night at the praise service gave some very creditable choral singing also led the congregational singing under direction of Miss Parker. She also has a group of male singers who are able to render good service in song.

The outstanding event in Thorsby this week will be the Young Peoples Christian Service Conference at the Congregational church. Indications are that there will be a good attendance of delegates from the Congregational churches scattered all over Alabama and north-west Florida. Addresses will be given by some of the most prominent field workers of the denomination. The people of Thorsby and vicinity, especially the young people, are cordially invited to attend these meetings. The program is as follows:

Friday, April 11th, 4 p.m., Vesper Service.

7:30 p.m., song service and Christian Endeavor social at the dining hall.

Saturday, April 12th, 9 a.m., Devotional service.

9:20 a.m., Bible study, led by Rev. Chas. F. Fiske, D. D.

10:10 a.m., "Who we are and Why" and 11 a.m., Conference hour.

2, p.m., Devotional service, and 2:30 p.m., Bible study, Dr. Fiske, leader.

3:00, p.m., Conference hour, "My Life and how to Use it," Miss Olive Pearson.

7:30, p.m., Song service, and 8 p.m., "Snap shots of folks whose lives hase counted in a large service."

Sunday, April 13th, 9:45 a.m., Sunday School, and 11 a.m., Dr. Fiske will preach.

2:30, p.m., Service of Devotion and Consecration; Communion.

An error was made last week in the statement that Mrs. C. E. Bice had been elected as a member of the Thursby public school faculty for the coming year. Her appointment was to membership on the local school board, from which she resigned when she became one of the public school teachers last year.

The Thorsby Institute base ball team won a thrilling game from the Thompson high school of Siluria last Friday oy the score of 3 to 1. The feature of the game was the sensational pitching of Littleton who fanned 21 on the Siluria batters. In addition to this he cracked out a home run in the third inning.

Very few of Thorsby's players have ever played on a team before, yet they play good ball. Other games are being arranged for and they are expecting to make other favorable showings.

Batteries—Thorsby: Littleton and Pate; Siluria: Fulton, Hodge and Eddins.

On last Sunday evening, April 6th the Christian Endeavor Society held its regular meeting. The meeting was attended by an unusually large crowd. The leader for the evening was Miss Fellie Stephen. A very interesting program of "How Jesus loved and served" was carried out during the meeting. As last Sunday evening was the first Sunday of the month, the secretary called the roll, and I am glad to say that there was only three members absent. William Each was cordially received as an active member of the society. We are delighted to know that there are others here who wish to join in our work for God.

On Friday evening of this week a social will be given at the girls' dormitory by the society. It is expected that there will be a large number of young people from all over the State present at this social. We cordially invite the members and friends of the society.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.
